THE DREADED WAR NOW ON

The Greatest War in the World's history has just begun. The war carried on by Alexander the Great—the Caesars, Hannibal, Napoleon and the Crimean war were nothing compared with what this will probably be in the loss of life. At the present time on the one side are Germany and Austria, and against them are England, France, Russia, Serbia and Belgium—Other nations may yet be drawn into the maelstrom. It is impossible to forecast the outcome of this war. It would seem only reasonable that Germany and Austria would be defeated, but the price this will cost will be enormous.

The Echo will give a summary of the war every week, and the latest war bulletins can be seen on our windows.

Montenegrin Writes About Balkans

The following is a statement that appeared in the American Review of Reviews and was written by Dr. Ivan Jovitchevitch of the High Court of Control of Montenegro, one of most distinguished men in Europe.

Volcano, of Three Craters

He likens the situation in the Balkans to that of a volcano with three craters, any one likely to break out independently of the others and cover the country with ruin. What he said about the second crater is worth quoting in full at the present time.

"It is the very great animosity," says he, "which exists between Austria-Hungary on the one hand, and on the other hand, the Serbian people living within that empire and in the two free kingdoms of Serbia and Montenegro. This bitterness of feeling dates from far back. It has been deepening day by day since the Treaty of Berlin, when Austria-Hungary really took over the Serbian provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina—devoured by Serbian Blood in the terrible wars of 1870-7 against the Ottoman empire—where these provinces were not actually annexed by Austria-Hungary until 1908. All Serbia, from the diplomats to the peasants, are well aware of the anti-Serbian policy of Austria-Hungary, which has taken for its motto 'divide et impera,' and which has always worked towards the separation of Serbia and Montenegro and the disintegration of the Slavic elements in Austria-Hungary."

Since this third crater has burst into flames it is not necessary to follow the author into the arguments that show the probability of either of the other two causing destruction. A few weeks ago it was thought that the first crater, in other words the relations between the Greeks and the Turks, was most likely to overflow. Dr. Jovitchevitch naturally espouses the cause of the Greeks, and points out that the policy of the Turks is to make life intolerable for the Greeks living in Asiatic Turkey. Something might be said on the other hand, of the policy of the Greeks to make life impossible for the Mohammedans living in the country which as recently as 1913 was under Greek control. The third crater is constituted by the Albanian question. Here the Mohammedans might well be expected to espouse the cause of Serbia since they are opposed to William of Wied and his Prince is accused by the author of being a mere tool of Austrian aggression. It is to be regretted that the present war is not likely to settle both the other questions that have in them the germs of a second and third struggle. It would appear that as man is born war, and upon the stormy horizon there is nothing that promises to give the territory permanent peace.

Grey and Bruce Counties

OWEN SOUND.

The town of Owen Sound has made a good sale of debentures to the total amount of sixty-two thousand dollars, covering the fifty thousand loan to the Union Trust company and also three thousand dollars to the park commission. The sale was ratified at a special meeting held yesterday when the offer of the Dominion Securities Corporation of Toronto for ninety-eight and eighty-five hundredths was accepted. The Clerk read the majority's minutes calling the special meeting to consider the offer for the town debentures arising out of the cement law loan and the three thousand dollar debenture grant to the Parks Commission.

The mayor explained that the cement company had been asking for the loan that the ratepayers had granted them, and also the parks commission had been asking for the money as a considerable part of the work for which the three thousand had been asked was now completed and the rest of the work was being done.

PORT ELGIN.

It is likely a Liberal picnic will be held in Naugeon within the next few weeks. It is understood that a number of prominent Liberals of the Township of Bruce and Naugeon believe it a good idea to have a gathering of this nature at which there will be addresses by a couple of prominent speakers, Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M. P., being mentioned.

Mr. Douglas Wilkie, of Glasgow, who spent the past five years with the McMillan Publishing Co. in Hong Kong and Calcutta, India, visited his uncle, Mr. Peter Wilkie, in town this week. He left on Friday for a holiday trip to Germany, before returning to India.

On Friday afternoon it is estimated that between 300 and 400 people gathered at Inverhuron to give a farewell picnic to Engineer Hough of the Public Works Department who for the past two weeks has been busy with the assistance of Capt. John Smith, Mr. Murdoch McKeen and Mr. Arthur McDougall taking soundings. The report will be given to the Department before being made public. Addresses were made by Messrs C. S. Wood, W. D. Cargill and Mr. Brough and the ladies served a hot supper.

The Committees of the Town and County Councils composed of Wardens MacWhinney, Messrs Izzard and MacLennan, members of the County Council and Mayor Lippert and Councillor Henne of the Town Council, who were appointed to superintend the erection of the new span to the West-end bridge met here on Saturday and awarded the contract in connection with that work. Mr. McKinnon, of Enderwood, was given the contract for the concrete work at $1,850, while the Hunter Bridge and Heller Co. of Kincardine, will do the steel-work. It is expected that the actual cost of the bridge will come below the estimated cost of $2,000.

SOUTHAMPTON

Rev. A. J. L. Judge is here from Meaford for a month's vacation. He arrived in time to be one of the preacher rink at the bowling tournament.

Mr. Chris. Wolfe has purchased the Methodist parsonage and has moved in. Rev. W. H. Stier is occupying the house formerly occupied by Mr. Wolfe in the Grasses Terrace. A new parsonage will be built but the site has not yet been decided on.

The second annual tournament at Southampton commenced Tuesday afternoon with 84 rinks entered in the draw. This away ahead of the attendance at any except the larger cities and shows that the tournament here is handled correctly and that Southampton is the place they all like to come to. Conditions have been ideal in every respect and visitors have expressed their appreciation. The ladies have helped nobly, both in supplying accommodations and assisting in furnishing and serving refreshments which has been a heavy task with the large crowd. A number of famous rinks were here and competition was keen. Southampton had twelve rinks entered and as none of the rinks were framed up to win, they did well and a number of them were in the running for a long time. There was a Town Council Rink composed of Mayor Montgomery, and Councillors McGregor, Bell and Johns, and they had as much fun as any of the rinks. The Colt Rink skipped by Otto Mouck made a fine showing. The Rowman Club's Trophy along with the upholstered rockers went to Wright of Owen Sound, who won the final from the Southampton rink, skipped by E. F. Short, ya editor.

WALKERTON.

Because he resided in town, Joe Abell, the local larrikin junk dealer thought he was entitled to the home trade in old metal, rags and bones, and consequently when Isaac Swartz, of Chesham, and his two Jewish sons invaded Walkerton on Tuesday in search of old junk, they ran foul of Abell, who protested in loud terms against them encroaching on his territory. After wrangling for a time they referred their dispute to Chas. Ferguson, but while the latter was attempting to arbitrate between them, they gave the Chief the car-ache by reopening fire and renewing the wordy war. Looking patience, the officer shut off the air force and drove them from his presence, but afterwards shadowed the parties around town to see that they didn't discard their coats and battle with their fists.

The Army Worm is reported to have reached this section and considerable damage to crops in various parts of Bruce is being done. As a result the Agricultural office at Walkerton is being besieged with requests to send help to fight the pests. Messrs. McKay and Freeborn who are both versed in the ways and habits of bugs, grubs, and beetles, are superintending the battle in Bruce against this worm. It does not seem to molest the pea crop but it is very destructive to oats corn and other grain.

Mr. William Walmesley of Ripley was brought to the Bruce County House of Refuge on Friday by J. H. Martin, Chief Constable, accompanied by Reever Wilkinson. Mr. Walmesley had a good home with his daughter in Ashfield and has the income of a house in Ripley. There was no necessity for him to spend his last days in a charitable institution says the Ripley Express. He insisted, however, and is now enrolled with the poor of the County in the Paupers Retreat. The strict discipline of the house may have a soothing effect on his enthusiasm for the institution, as has been the case for some others who have un成功地 crossed the same threshold.

The battle which Adam Knox has been waging against the Temperance forces of Greenock in an effort to secure a license for his hotel in Victoria, resulted in a temporary victory, at least, for the dry forces, according to a decision handed out by Judge Klein when the matter was aired in the court at Walkerton last week. Knox, it will be remembered was granted a license by the Centre Bruce License Commissioners on the strength of a petition which he presented to the Board, but the Temperance forces appealed from the local Board to the head of the Ontario License Department, Toronto, with the result that his license which had only been running a few days was cut off, on the grounds that there were irregularities in the petition that rendered it void and useless. Judge Klein upheld the view of the Department here last week and threw the petition out, the main objection being that the petition was not properly headed by the certificate required by the Act. The Judge also disallowed several names on the petition, which brought the signatures below the required number. Pinkerton will consequently remain dry for a time at least, and if a license is to be secured, a new petition will have to be circulated and submitted to the Board.

Editorial

THE Ford automobiles have dropped $80 again in price.

AUTOMOBILES appear quite numerous on the Mohawk.

THE regatta at Oliphant, Friday, promises to be as well patronized and as interesting as ever.

IT is reported that the recent Election in North Bruce will be protested on the usual grounds.

AUSTRALIA will send 20,000 men to the Motherland in the event of Britain being involved in war.

OWING to the fact that many of our readers do not take a daily paper we are publishing a summary of the War News.

IT is altogether probable that an extra session of the Dominion Parliament will be called to deal with the war situation, and it is estimated that from 20,000 to 25,000 men will be sent at once to the aid of Britain if required.

IF there is a general European war there will be some abnormal prices. During the Crimean War wheat went up $2.50 per bushel, and if it touches $20.00 this time no one need be surprised. Anyway flour at $12.00 per bushel would be no higher than most bread at 30 cents per pound, and we have the interest in the war well seen by the crowds who gather to read the latest bulletins at The Echo office. These bulletins are put out about 5 o'clock p.m.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK

WITH the greatest war in the world's history going on, and a poor crop in the West, there are not many who are optimistic about the situation. However the one thing to be noted is that, in addition, there is absolutely no ground for one.

Canada is still prosperous. Our financial situation is solid, and Eastern Canada has a good crop and there is every reason to suppose that the Eastern farmers will get rich during the war. Prices for all classes of produce will no doubt go up just as they did during the Crimean and the American Wars. The rural towns, therefore, will share in this prosperity.

Industrially, however, the case will be different. If the war continues it is here where the pinch will be felt. Both manufacturer and employee will probably remember the year of 1914-15.

It is probably true that during the past years of prosperity we have been going a pretty fast pace, and now we will be obliged to cut a bait. With prudence and foresight the situation will have to be met, and if this is done Canadian will weather the storm, and come through all right.

Stand by Your Town

The Ridgeway Dominion in its last issue had the following. One of the most notable facts in connection with a country newspaper of to-day is the large increase in the amount of advertising of local business places. The change has taken place gradually and has been marked especially during the past year or so. Local merchants have found that without a doubt, honest advertising pays also that it is necessary to call attention to their goods because of the immense competition they face from the departmental stores in the big cities. These great establishments advertise their wares most lavishly and the metropolitan newspapers which contain these advertisements are distributed over the whole country, some one paper of which enters nearly every home. The result is that these establishments have built up an immense mail trade. In Ridgeway there is no cause for out-of-town trading, in nine cases out of ten just as good bargains can be obtained here. Duty of citizens is plain; and where other things are equal, preference should be given the local dealer who has invested his capital and helps daily to make Ridgeway a better town. It is only fair that in return they should receive your patronage. To turn trade elsewhere, even in the line of small purchases which are great in the aggregate, is to invite the decline of property values in Ridgeway. One word more. There is considerable pride in the fact that the cities that should be done in Ridgeway.

The Town Council

A short session was held Monday evening. The Chief wants a by-law which will give him authority to see that the weeds are cut on town lots. He believes the Ontario Statutes are explicit upon this matter, but when he tells people to cut their weeds, they tell him to mind his bees wax.

He has also been seeing that this factory of McFarlane, Berford Street north, complies with the fire by-law.

It appears that the town dock is in a perfectly poor condition, and the government absolutely refuses to repair, consequently the gentleman who damaged that institution will be asked to repair it at once under the supervision of Mr. Oliver Springstead.

A by-law was then read and passed authorizing the town to borrow $15,000 from Toronto firm to assist the Canada Casket Co. The town is given a year to sell the dentures and is protected against any loss at the time of sale.

Burn Burned In Koppel

Mr. Samuel Johnston's barn, Concession 2, S. C. D., Koppel, was totally destroyed by fire last night, with all its contents. Mr. Johnston was a wakened about half-past nine, by his dog barking, and on going out to see what was the matter, saw his barn in flames. Nothing could be done to save it or any of the contents, and the whole was soon a pile of ruins. Among the contents of the barn was a quantity of new hay. The loss is about $8,000, partially covered by insurance. How the fire started is a mystery, as no one had been near it for several hours. The only explanation is that some tramp had wandered in and dropped a match or spark from a pipe.

SUSPENSE CONTINUES

Britain Retains From a Statement of Her Plans.

Sir Edward Grey Says He Has Assured France That England Will Not Permit the German Fleet to Attack the Northern French Coast—German Hints to Belgium—Radicals Against War.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Great Britain has mobilized her forces and war events. To-day she is not a belligerent power, nor is she a neutral one. The Government has given France assurance that the British fleet will not permit the German fleet to attack the French coast. It has not yet decided whether to commit an army to the continental war.

The British Government regards with the deepest distrust Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality, but makes no declaration as to whether it considers that measure provocation for war.

This pronouncement of the Government's policy—the result of two days' almost continuous deliberations—was made in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. Therefore the trying hour of suspense for the British people is prolonged indefinitely.

Meanwhile the German Embassy in London is exerting every effort to induce Great Britain to hold aloof from the conflict and to bring public opinion to Germany's side. The ambassador of the German Embassy is making a strong appeal for the neutrality of Great Britain, asserting that Germany would agree to keep her hands off Belgium if the British fleet would pledge neutrality, and argued that England would gain more in the long run by standing outside the European war and using her influence as mediator between the warring powers.

Referring to this suggestion, the British Foreign Secretary said: "I have only heard that shortly before I came to the House."

He raised his voice and rapped the table before him sharply, declaring: "But that is far too narrow an engagement."

Sir Edward Grey dispelled the shadows of doubt which flickered over the British State in the minds of many Liberals by exposing some misconceptions in the history of the rapprochement, revealing it as essentially a national one with France, with out definite obligations.

When the House reassembled the Foreign Secretary made his statement with respect to Belgium. He said: "A message has been received from the Belgian legation here, stating that Germany sent to Belgium at seven o'clock last evening a note proposing to Belgium friendly neutrality."

He said that the free passage through Belgian territory of German troops, promising the maintenance of Belgian independence at the conclusion of peace and threatening, in case of refusal, to treat Belgium as an enemy. The time limit of 12 hours was fixed for the reply.

This statement was received with murmurs from all parts of the House, and then Sir Edward Grey continued: "Belgium answered that an attack on her neutrality would be a flagrant violation of the rights of nations, that to accept the German proposal would be to sacrifice her honor, and being conscious of her duty, Belgium was firmly resolved to repel aggression by all possible means."

The Belgian reply was received with loud cheers by the members, and Sir Edward concluded with the declaration that the British Government took the situation into grave consideration and that he would make no further comment.

The mobilization of the British naval reserves was completed yesterday morning, according to a statement issued by the Admiralty. Hundreds of sailors anticipated the orders which were given only Sunday evening and the streets were full of them Sunday, wearing their uniforms and carrying kit bags. The public supposed they had summoned to the ports, whereas they were only to carry that they proposed to be prepared to jump on the trains at the first signal.

The mobilization of the army will begin to-day. It includes regulars, reserves and territorials.

A proclamation has been issued authorizing the Admiralty to requisition British vessels in home waters. The Shipping Gazette, has discontinued the publication of sailings from British and Continental ports lest it give information to a possible enemy.

APPEALS TO BRITAIN

Belgian Monarch Sends Urgent Plea For Protection.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The most important feature of the diplomatic situation in Europe yesterday was the appeal of King Albert of Belgium to Britain to preserve the integrity of his kingdom. The King's appeal followed an offer from Germany to Belgium to recognize the latter's neutrality if she would permit the German fleet to attack the French coast.

KING ALBERT OF BELGIUM.

transportation of German troops across her territory. This was firmly refused, and King Albert sent the following telegram to Britain: "Remembering the numerous proofs of Your Majesty's friendship and that of your predecessors, the friendly attitude of England in 1870, and the proof of the friendship which she has just given us again, I make a supreme appeal to the diplomatic intervention of Your Majesty's Government to safeguard to integrity of Belgium."

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The British cruiser Berwick left Havana at midnight Monday with all her lights extinguished. It was currently reported in London yesterday that Lord Kitchener would be made Minister of War.

The New York clearing house at a meeting yesterday decided to issue clearing house certificates to meet the currency situation brought about by the European war crisis.

It is reported that the Constitutionalists are slowly closing in on the capital of Mexico from three points. General Carranza moved southward from Tepic Del Rio Sunday.

A severe earthquake shock was felt in Kingston, Jamaica, at 6.32 o'clock yesterday morning and caused considerable alarm among the inhabitants. Little damage, however, was reported.

The directors of Belleville yesterday voted upon a bylaw to confirm an agreement between the city and the Trenton Electric and Water Co. for the lighting of the city. The result was a victory for the bylaw.

BERLIN IS CALM.

Mobilization Is Proceeding With Very Little Excitement.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The mobilization of the German army proceeded yesterday with absolute calm. There were few signs in Berlin that anything extraordinary was happening, with the exception of great crowds at the railway stations and the lack of taxicabs, half of which had been requisitioned by the army authorities.

An open air religious service, attended by many soldiers in marching kit, was held yesterday around the Bismarck monument, outside the Imperial Palace. All joined in the Lord's Prayer.

A notice was issued by the police stating that the Emperor's strength and that of the army were not impaired by the work he was doing and that it was not proper for him to be disturbed by popular demonstrations.

In accordance with the Imperial constitution the Kings of Bavaria, Saxony and Württemberg have placed their armies under the command of Emperor William.

Cured of Piles and Eczema

By Using Three Boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Abram Ruhr, Herbert, Sask., writes: "I want to say that I was troubled with eczema and piles and suffered greatly from the itching burning sensations caused by them. I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and used it for a few days and this did me so much good that I bought three boxes and used them. My eczema was cured of both eczema and piles."

This is a kind of letters we receive daily from people who have been cured of these distressing skin diseases by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. No matter how skeptical you might be, you will find it a relief for many days without consulting a doctor. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain cure for these ailments.

POURING INTO DUCHY TO PROTECT BUSINESS

German Movement Into Luxembourg Goes On.

It Is Believed That Germans Intend to Cross Belgium In Order to Cut Off the Paris-Calais Route—Keen Suspense Prevails In Antwerp Which Is In a State of Siege—Libau Is Bomarded.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 4.—At four o'clock yesterday afternoon the Germans were still pouring troops into Luxembourg. A force of 100,000 is already massed along the Belgian frontier opposite Dinant. An undiminished force was received that the Germans are massing another army on the frontier of Limburg.

May Cut Off Paris-Calais Route. LONDON, Aug. 4.—The dominant idea of Belgian mobilization is that Germany will attempt to force a passage across the narrow neck of Belgium territory below Liege and Namur, the main route from Cologne and Aix-la-Chapelle into northern France above Rheims. To capture this route southward would mean the cutting off of the Paris and Calais route from the main French forces.

ANTWERP, Aug. 4.—All telephonic and telegraphic communications with the interior are stopped except for war purposes, and all messages are censored. There is no communication of the engagement between the French and Germans at Nancy. Tidings of the occupation by the German troops of the Duchy of Luxembourg and of their crossing the frontier into Belgium are received here in an agony of suspense, but with unflinching courage and calm. Business is at a complete standstill, and all the large shops and offices are shut. In every public place notices are posted, signed by the Burgomasters and the Mayor of Antwerp in a state of siege and appealing to fellow-citizens to preserve order. There are no signs of panic, though every family has a flower of its manhood at the front.

GERMANS TAKE POLISH CITY. BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The German border troops from Lublitz, Sillesia, yesterday, after a short skirmish with Russians, took possession of Ciesnochozna, Russian Poland. Benzin and Kalisz, Russian Poland, also have been occupied by the Germans.

The Germans completely surprised the garrison at Ciesnochozna, and before the Russians realized what was at hand they had been almost completely surrounded. The German artillery shelled the fortifications sharply, after which the cavalry and infantry moved in and soon were in complete possession.

GERMANY BOMBARDS LIBAU. BERLIN, via Brussels, Aug. 4.—The small cruiser Libau has sent the following report to Berlin by wireless:—"An bombardment of the naval harbor at Libau was made by the principal sea-powers of Russia, and is located on the Baltic Sea one hundred miles or more north of the German coast."

The German protected cruiser Augsburg is of 4,000 tons displacement, and has a chief armament consists of twelve 4.1 inch guns. Her crew aggregates about 400 men.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The report circulated in London yesterday that there had been a naval engagement in the North Sea, between British and German warships is untrue.

Aviators Fight In Mid-Air. LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Standard says: "In the engagement between French and German troops yesterday near Longwy, a German aeroplane was shot down by the French position, when a French aviator made an ascent, flew about the German aeroplane and descended to the level behind him."

The French aviator shot the German aeroplane with a pistol inflicting a mortal wound. The pilot of his machine, which fell to the ground from a height of 300 feet and was destroyed. The German aviator was killed by the fall.

Tried to Poison Wells. LONDON, Aug. 4.—Telegrams from the chief of the German general staff received at the German embassy here assert that a French doctor, with two assistants, tried to poison the wells near Metz, with cholera microbes. The three were captured by the Germans and then shot.

Another French party, according to the same source of information endeavored to blow up a strategic tunnel near Cochem on the Moselle. All were shot.

Dosen Freighters May Go To War. WINNIPEG, Aug. 4.—Premier Roblin issued the following statement early yesterday: "At a meeting at Government House to-day, I decided, in the event of the mother country becoming involved in actual hostilities, to organize and equip a battalion of infantry from the Canadian west may be Canada's most useful contribution."

James Carruthers, president of the Canada Steamship Lines, said yesterday that the grain freighters might be called into commission for war purposes. This day has been taken into consideration by the company and the steamships are ready in Canadian ports.

World Saved Money to Americans. NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The United States government has saved $1,500,000 in gold for the relief of distressed American countries was proposed by New York bankers yesterday, and Benjamin Strong, president of the Bankers' Trust Co., left for Washington to make the suggestion to President Wilson.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT STANDS BEHIND THE BANKS.

Hon. W. T. White Announces That the Dominion Stands Ready to Issue Dominion Notes Against Securities Deposited by the Banks—Banking Houses May Make Payments in Notes.

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—After a cabinet meeting last evening, Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, issued the following statement: "Having regard to the world-wide financial crisis which has developed upon the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, and in view of the action of the Imperial Government for conserving the financial and commercial interests of the United Kingdom, the Minister of Finance announces on behalf of the Dominion Government, that while it is not probable that such action on its part will be required, it stands ready to issue Dominion notes to such amount as may be necessary against securities deposited by the banks and approved by the Minister of Finance."

"The Minister of Finance further announces that the Government has authorized the chartered banks of Canada to make payments in bank notes instead of gold or Dominion notes until further official announcement in that behalf. This action will tend to conserve the Canadian gold supply against demands from foreign sources, a course now being followed by all the leading nations of the world."

"The Minister further announces that the Government has authorized the chartered banks of Canada to issue excess circulation to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent. of their combined paid-up capital and undivided profits and reserve fund from this date until further official announcement."

"Any necessary special legislation will be obtained at the next session of Parliament."

"The Minister further announces that the Government is prepared, if necessary should arise, to give every possible assistance in order to prevent any avoidable interruption of stable business conditions, and for this purpose it will not hesitate to use the full extent of all existing powers, and to ask further powers from Parliament if that course should seem necessary or expedient."

When the Minister spoke at 10.40 o'clock last night the Prime Minister stated that he had no further announcement to make. He had received no news from the Imperial Government.

Yesterday was a day of suspense among the Canadian people never seen before. The report of Sir Edward Grey's speech in the British Commons was read with profound interest and was felt that this was only a matter of a very short time, perhaps only a matter of hours, before Britain would be drawn into the great European struggle and Canada's part would be to take her place by Britain's side. There were conferences among the members of the Cabinet yesterday morning and the Cabinet met both afternoon and evening. They received copies of all press despatches received by cable during the day.

A number of important steps were taken yesterday in preparation for the impending crisis. There included precautionary measures to protect the financial system of the country, the establishment of a system of censorship, including the press censor and representative in each of the cable offices, the placing of the shipping passing up and down the St. Lawrence under military supervision, and the calling for volunteers from ex-navy men to man the cruiser Niobe.

There was a report here last night that the Government was negotiating for the purchase of three Dreadnoughts to be built in British shipyards for Turkey and Chile. They would be ready in six months. Parliament would be called to vote the money to pay for them.

Naval Recruits Wanted. OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—The Canadian naval service department is looking for recruits for service at Halifax. George J. Debarats, deputy minister and controller of naval service, makes the announcement that the naval service department is prepared to recruit experienced naval men, especially experienced engineers and sailing services at Halifax, the men to be recruited as naval volunteers, and to serve just when called out. The department particularly desires men who have served in the British navy, pensioners or reservists who have not been called by the Admiralty.

Manitoba Offers Men. WINNIPEG, Aug. 4.—Premier Roblin issued the following statement early yesterday: "At a meeting at Government House to-day, I decided, in the event of the mother country becoming involved in actual hostilities, to organize and equip a battalion of infantry from the Canadian west may be Canada's most useful contribution."

James Carruthers, president of the Canada Steamship Lines, said yesterday that the grain freighters might be called into commission for war purposes. This day has been taken into consideration by the company and the steamships are ready in Canadian ports.

World Saved Money to Americans. NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The United States government has saved $1,500,000 in gold for the relief of distressed American countries was proposed by New York bankers yesterday, and Benjamin Strong, president of the Bankers' Trust Co., left for Washington to make the suggestion to President Wilson.

Flour and Sugar Go Up. MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Flour and sugar prices here are higher. A bulletin received yesterday afternoon states that the flour mills have advanced the price by 20 cents per barrel, owing to the increased demand from wholesalers and retailers. Sugar has made an advance of 10 cents per hundred pounds for the same reason.

When you buy a watch from us.

There is one main advantage in ever getting it away from home. This is it:—If the watch doesn't come up to your expectations, why you always know where to come to have the trouble adjusted or the watch exchanged.

If we guarantee a watch, that guarantee is binding.

It means what it says.

If the watch goes wrong—and it's the watch's fault, we are here to make it right with you.

Buying away from home it's different—very different you'll find out if you have to have the experience.

Watch prices are low here as anywhere in the land—for equal values.

The Spirit of the Press

(The Fort Eggin Times.)

All the up-to-date and serviceable weekly newspapers must raise their rates in any case to meet the advanced cost of all printing materials. Of course to the publisher who cares not how his paper looks, whether it is issued on time, and who puts no personality into the written articles, to him there is not a very bright outlook. Even the country merchant is beginning to ask, "Is your paper a live one? What is its circulation?" If a country publisher cannot answer satisfactorily or cannot make his readers feel his is a live paper, then there is little hope of better remuneration from the advertiser. Service is the essential in this day and generation. If the country weekly can give this service then the rates should be consistent. If the country merchant refuses to measure up the service given him in his home paper and pay a profitable rate, then it is fit and proper for the country publisher to offer his service to the outside advertiser.

(Bruce Times.)

The Royal Hotel, which is the oldest established tavern in Walkerton, and which has been flourishing here for nearly half a century, will put the padlock on its beer pump and bid farewell to old King Alcohol with the striking of the clock at 11 o'clock Friday night.

The following morning, Saturday, August 1st, will see it emerge in the lily white garb of a Temperance house, and instead of the wine that is red and the brands that are feared will be exposed for sale such as bolts of innocence as butter milk, wet drinks and local option beer. The drying up of this pioneer booze counter will leave Walkerton with but four hotels, in contrast with seven moisture plants of a few years ago, which is strong evidence in making even in this wet section of Bruce, The late John Klump.

who conducted the Royal for 35 had the unique experience of not having a conviction registered against him during that time, and had been still at the helm it is questionable whether the Royal would have lost its license, although it was long felt that there were too many hotels in Walkerton. The axe may have fallen elsewhere. But his demise presented an opportunity for doing away with one of the bars and the license board awaited their selves of the opening.

The crop reports from the West are not very optimistic. This means less buying on the part of Western farmers and, consequently, fewer sales by Eastern manufacturers. The prospects for brisk times in manufacturing centres this fall and winter are not very cheerful.

(Christian Guardian)

Colonel Roosevelt has resigned his position on the staff of The Outlook of New York. In doing so he intimates—in polite language of course—that The Outlook is too confusing for the kind of fighting which he feels he ought in future to be doing for his country. Not only is the Republican party to receive his attention, but the present Administration, which he insists, has betrayed the national honor. That there will be "things doing" when the Colonel breaks loose may be anticipated, but just what they will be is not easy to imagine.

(The Orange Sentinel)

The men who are charged with the leadership of the parties in Canada may learn a lesson from Mr. Asquith's dilemma. When they are faced with the loss of office or the making of an alliance with unpatriotic forces, their own peace and the welfare of their party require them to get out of office. They can do this with honor. They cannot surrender to disintegrating factions without paying a price far in excess of the value of their places in the Government of the country.

There are Canadian instances that have been as disastrous to Canadian leaders as the Redoubt alliance has been to the Liberals in Britain. Sir Charles Tupper had his lesson in 1890. The late Sir Geo. W. Ross had his in 1905. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had his in 1911. Sir Rodmond Roblin received his on the tenth of July.

THE COST OF WAR

(Toronto Telegram)

The cost of a modern war is so appalling that it is one of the few factors which still hold back the powers of Europe from a step which would almost certainly produce a continental conflict. It is estimated that the employment of the whole war strength of Europe would cost over fifty million dollars a day. A German writer calculates that his country would have to pay $10,000,000 every day the Imperial army was mobilized.

In view of these tremendous figures, it would seem that Armageddon would as likely be brought to an end by bankruptcy as by carnage. An army, as a great general declared, "travels on its belly." War could not continue longer than the war chests of the world were able to pay the food bills of eight million men. A general conflict would be terrific, but there are prophets who figure that it would be brief.

Nor is the expense ended with the enormous outlay on the forces of war. That would be but a fraction of the losses entailed upon the peaceful industries which would be shut down through lack of men and lack of custom. War would carry Europe to the verge of starvation and plunge it in the field of battle than in famine stricken towns outside the zone of actual conflict.

The suffering would extend beyond the nations immediately involved, for though they might keep out of the military struggle, they would have their share of the industrial havoc. The commerce of the world is so bound together that one country cannot but suffer from the misfortune of another. The closing of the Toronto Stock Exchange, thousands of miles from the theatre of war is an index of what a dear price the industries of this country would pay from a catastrophe in whose causation it plays no part. In one day on the local bourse stocks were thrown on the market at a loss to the holders of almost a hundred thousand dollars. The loss through other exchanges would probably carry the figure close to a half million dollars. Scores of bank balances have been wiped out by the imminence of war. With an actual outbreak of hostilities between the European powers the plight of Canadian investors would become infinitely worse. It might necessitate a new "Broadstreet."

PALE AND SICKLY BOYS AND GIRLS

Need All the Strength That Good Red Blood Can Give.

Youth is the time to lay the foundation for health. Every boy and girl should have plenty of pure red blood and strong nerves. With this impure blood they start life with a handicap too great to win success and happiness. Pure, red blood means healthy growth, strong nerves, a clear brain and good digestion. In a word pure blood is the foundation of health.

The signs of this impure blood are many and unmistakable. The pale, irritable boy or girl, who has no appetite or ambition, is always tired out, melancholy, short of breath, and who does not grow strong is the victim of anaemia, or bloodlessness—the great enemy of youth.

There is just one thing to do for these boys and girls—build up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. You cannot afford to experiment with other remedies for there must be no guesswork in the treatment of anaemia. Through neglect or all treatment anaemia gradually develops into the pernicious form, which is practically incurable. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills work directly on the blood, giving it just the elements it lacks. In this way these pills build up every organ and nerve in the body, thus developing strong rugged boys and girls. Miss Anna Toeske, Grand Forks, B.C., says: "I think that before taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was one of the most miserable girls alive. I was hardly ever free from awful headaches, was as pale as a ghost, and could not go up stairs without a rest. Now since taking the Pills the headaches are all gone, my appetite is good and I am equal to almost any exertion. You may be sure I will always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to the Dr. Williams medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHEN YOU ARE NERVOUS

you have the first symptom of a run-down system, and nervous people too often conceal their aches and pains and suffer in silence, while, if suggested, this condition often becomes most serious trouble. If those so afflicted would stop taking medicine containing alcohol or drugs which weaken the foundations of health, and just take the pure, strengthening nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, it would create new blood to pulsate through the organs, refresh their bodies and build up the whole nervous system. It is rich, satisfying nourishment, free from vices, alcohol or drugs. Show substitutes.

Mr. Piery gave several of his recitations, one of the most enjoyed being, "How Bill Hawkins won the battle of Waterloo." The feature of the evening was the patriotic address by Mr. C. J. Mickle on the subject of "War" an inspiring oration that kept the hearts of the audience to patriotic zeal. Miss Laura Gregg of Winton sang "Leave me True." ## THE TOBERMORY WIRELESS TO BE PROTECTED

When the war broke out no one ever dreamt of the importance of Tobermory as a strategic point against the Germans and Austrians. It is said that there are a number of Austrians at Dyers Bay, but they hardly know that there is a war. Well, the unexpected has happened. There is a wireless station at Tobermory—one of the few on the Great Lakes—and in order to protect it Capt. E. B. Clark has been ordered to proceed there with 15 men. They will be boss of the job. Tobermory has often seen deer hunters, now they will see soldiers, the real thing. How long they will be there is hard to say—perhaps until the war is over. Those who accompanied him to do duty at this point are: S. G. Camp, Bugler G. Baker, A. Spier, W. Smith, A. O. McFarlane, H. E. McFarlane, W. McFarlane, K. Burley, G. Wakefield, J. Jones, M. Porter, Lloyd Legg. They went on the Meaford Tuesday evening and were given a hearty send off on the dock. Rob Ward got to the wharf a few minutes later with a box of cigars for the boys. Capt. Clark, Warkenton, who has charge, appears to be the right man in the right place.

Mr. Holmes gave a very interesting account of his seven years' work in the land of the rising sun and explained very clearly just why missionaries are still needed in Japan although there are quite a number of self-sustaining Japanese churches.

When Mr. Knight was called on he gave a very graphic account of his last automobile ride from Warkenton to Lions Head. Those who know the road to Lions Head appreciated his account best, he is very energetic and enthusiastic, and started the revival of interest in League matters which we hope will be productive of good results. Then refreshments were served and the very interesting service came to an end.

THE MOUNTAIN FREIGHTER

Picturesque Figure Fast Disappearing From British Columbia.

The distinguishing marks of a real freighter in his industry are of the horse-over which he holds strange domination. He loves to tell his experiences and adventures on the trail, but he will always include the horse in his recital.

Chief among the old historic trails of British Columbia is the old Cariboo. It can be seen from the cushioned seats of the C. P. R. passenger coach as it winds along the edges of the mountains, crosses the valleys and rivers to again lose itself among the hills. It now shows the devastating effects of time in the rotting bridges and crumbling rock cuts. The lure of gold is a call with a ready response. The rough, hardy elements of mankind are ever found in the game of hazard. They are the men who take life as a gamble, who penetrate the distant unknown, and trumpet the call to the rest of their kind. They were physically strong men, endowed with imagination. They, too, have mainly gone as the old trail is going. They trod the trail in the days of the gold rush with the accompanying hardships and the careless quest of adventure. But when there were the horses of the pack trail. Romance was alive; they sang of the horse.

Oh slowly then I paced the deck that bore me from my home. There were strangers all around me, and I found myself alone; There were strangers all around me, I knew not what to do. But I still kept up my courage for the gold in Cariboo.

In speaking of the miner we say: "The lure of gold." In speaking of the freighter we can say truthfully: "The lure of the trail." Many men cannot break away from the clutches of the desire for gold, or the quest of adventure. But when there were the horses of the pack trail. Romance was alive; they sang of the horse.

Like the ancient bard he told strange stories of prowess, but it was the prowess of his horses. He may have been a man of common intelligence, from his own view point; but his horses were uncommonly intelligent.

When the Ashcroft trail was in the zenith of its glory, and thirty teams stood hitched to the big freight wagon and the trailers, the day of the jerk-line train; the day of the real freighter. The freighter then was no mean man of affairs. He had a pride in the expert management of his freight train that no railway president ever felt. Unlike the train of the railway, the freight train was almost human—no doubt far in excess of some humans. The horse of the jerk-line train knew every turn in the road. Guided by a jerk or a pull, the leaders manifested every trait of intelligence. Governed by a word, the wheelers forced the wagons into the desired position, while the string would leap over the lead chains at the word of command.

The freighter had his honor! He had no camp following, but alone with his six or four-up he bailed his heavy freight wagon over the hills and through the valleys. He met each trouble as it came. He did his breakage repairs mainly with an axe. Even when the trouble was beyond repair he knew the tricks of his trade. With a tongue broken he knew how to lock so that he could reach assistance. He was a resourceful man, he had no such word as "can't."

The lesser freight trails are along the different lines of construction. The first trail is the forerunner of the railroad; the completion of the railroad is the knell of the freight trail—the establishment of limitations and social restriction for the individual—the death of the old order of romance in the birth of commercialism—Orrville Deville in British Columbia Magazine.

Organized Labor Grows.

The third annual report on labor organization in Canada, covering the year 1912, has been issued by the Department of Labor. At the close of 1912 the strength of organized labor in Canada stood approximately at 176,000, an increase of nearly 16,000 over the figures at the close of 1911. The estimated membership for each of the three years during which reports on organized labor in Canada have been issued, has been as follows: 1911, 151,132; 1912, 166,120; 1913, 176,739.

Of the total numerical strength of organized labor for 1912, the membership owing allegiance to international organizations reached the large proportions of 149,577, leaving for all other organized bodies a membership of 26,152.

Toronto leads with 131 unions and a membership of 20,992. Montreal is second, with 121 unions and 18,556 members.

Advised Not To Come Here.
The congested conditions in the Canadian labor market, and the fact that in some parts of the country there are large numbers out of work, has caused the Government, through the Immigration Department, to begin advertising in British papers advising mechanics and laborers not to come to Canada. Only agents of the Immigration Department are for the present encouraged to emigrate.

It is the first time in history that such steps have been taken, and a decrease of fifty per cent in immigration this year is estimated by Sept. 30th.

Town Has Doubled.
Only seven people now live at Warton, which in the days of the Klondike had a population of 10,000. The seven it is said only two are whites.

Baby Eczema Becomes Chronic

Causing Great Suffering and Anxiety—Prompt Relief and Cure by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This is one reason why every mother should know about Dr. Chase's Ointment, since it is an unfailing cure for all itching skin diseases. Mrs. P. Clarke, Belmont, Mass., writes: "My baby had eczema, and nothing seemed to do her much good. Hearing of the remarkable cures Dr. Chase's Ointment was making, I sent for some, and after the third application the skin began to heal. I am glad to say that it is quite well now, and we are giving another trial of Dr. Chase's Ointment. We cannot recommend this preparation too highly."

Here is another letter, which tells of the cure of a five-week-old baby: Mrs. W. H. Mearns, River John, N. S. W., writes: "My little girl had eczema when she was five weeks old. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her much good. I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I bought some. I used it for a few days, and the eczema disappeared. I am glad to say that she is now well, and I am giving another trial of Dr. Chase's Ointment. We cannot recommend this preparation too highly."

A PERSON OF SOME IMPORTANCE

By
LLOYD OSBOURNE

Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"How clever one has to be—to like you. One mustn't say this; one mustn't say that. It's a complicated game, and terribly being a poor sailor like myself. You must forgive me for being blundering and stupid. I hardly know anything about young white ladies."

Miss Marshall laughed outright at being thus described. "I never thought of myself as a young white lady," she said, much entertained. "It sounds as funny to me as though you called me a young pink lady, or a young blue lady. Oh, dear," she went on softly. "I don't want to be too hard on my poor sailor, who's awfully alone and winning, even if he is stupid, and doesn't know the right word. Let's just admit that I like you and that you like me—and perhaps in some queer way it was inevitable."

This unexpected admission made Matt's heart leap; again there was that dart of pain, that sense of over-whelming and somewhat sinister happiness. The fragrance of that enchanting young womanhood was in his brain. For a while he remained silent, as though under a spell he was unable to break. "I don't believe I can laugh any more," he said at last, looking up at her with a smile. "I don't believe I can even go on talking as we have done. I would like to go away as I did yesterday, and think and think and think."

"That's what I did, too," she returned in a voice that was almost a whisper. "When great things happen one wishes to be alone, doesn't one?"

"Tell me your name," he said, still in that wondering tone. "It's incredible, but I do not know it."

"Christine, though they call me Chris—always call me Chris."

"And mine such a horrible one—Matt—then—and it's always Matt, you know, which is even worse."

"I like it. Matt and Chris—it sounds old-fashioned. Doesn't it, like some of the old-fashioned names?" he asked, and Matt's face was a picture of surprise and understanding, with a sober and upstanding in the fear of God, yet with all the pilgrim made his above one Christine Marshall, saying for her—

"Go on—don't stop there."

But she did stop there, looking down at him with eyes like stars, all wonder and tenderness and shining, girl-like with just a quiver of the pretty mouth.

Alas for the life that came back to rest, accompanied by a peremptory knocking on the pulpit pane, and the apparition of a very impatient young man in a high collar.

"Say, brother, ain't you ever going to give us that recitation?"

"It has been unobtainably postponed," said Matt bravely, rising, as Miss Marshall did the same. He pleaded with her to remain a little longer, but she would not. It seemed that by this time the general would be in a roaring fit, and prudence dictated a return. They found him not exactly roaring but certainly fretful, not to say cross, and his recognition of Matt was of the scantiest.

"For heaven's sake let us get out of this place," he said, smothering an expletive. "You might have had some thought of the horses even if you hadn't for me. Come along."

"Oh, papa, wait. I've invited Mr. Broughton to have tea with us tomorrow—about 4." She then turned to Matt. "Please come, won't you?"

"Still look forward to it," snapped the general, with the manner of a person temporarily blocked in a burning building. "Good night, good night." And with that and the pressure of a slender, gloved hand, Matt was left alone—more alone, so it seemed to him, than he had ever been before in his life.

CHAPTER V.
HEART BEAT WILL.

He rose the next day a very different man from the night before. A pitiful consideration of his circumstances, begun at dawn, and carried to the bath, had shown him facts as they were—the dismal facts imaginable and as gray as the first peep of that gray morning. Who was he, to be calling on aristocratic young ladies and whispering things in pretty pink ears? He whose fortune amounted to less than $4,000 and who had had to strive very energetically to keep his somewhat large red ears above the surrounding waters. His business was indubitably miles—not to linger in foolish perambulations, waste money and time, and drift into the most heart-breaking of his positions.

He tried to put that sparkling face out of his mind; tried not to linger on those girlish admissions that made his pulses beat; called himself, oh, so many times, a fool—a crazy, silly fool—and vowed all sorts of tremendous things. He would excuse himself from that tea; would leave the next day for Kenucky; would get back to dry land and mules and sanity. But he did not wish to appear rude. He would have to have his action unobscured. He would go at 4 after all, and if the occasion presented itself would tell her the truth quite frankly—that he had hardly any money, no profession, and a long, uphill fight in front of him. Though how idiotic he was to talk it all seriously—himself and her and the whole affair—as though it were any more than a passing flirtation. It was just the incurable way of the army and navy of everything—of making mountains out of molehills. He laughed at himself a little forlornly. What an ass he was, to be sure. What an ass!

After breakfast he made it up handsomely with Daggoncourt, expatiating on mules with much ardor and enthusiasm and gradually recovering the militia's sorely shaken confidence. He proved his sincerity by promising to leave for Kentucky on the morrow. They shook hands on it, and any inkling of the fact that the girl had been felt disappeared in that hearty clasp. But there was still a weight on the militia's mind. He stammered out something about the fact that the money—bought that it was all right—ought to be made good.

"Excuse my mentioning it," he said, "but you know well that I need it, and I don't want to see it go to the garage till."

"Oh, that's all right," returned Matt. "It ought to be coming along soon, and it doesn't do to keep it. Don't you worry about that. It's added reassuringly. 'It's one of those splendid jewelry stores with diamond necklaces in the window and is good for a hundred times the money.'"

But Victor's concern remained. He had kept better tally on the dates than Matt. It was exactly twenty-four days since the letter had been written, in his own words. Victor asked for the receipt and examined it closely. "That's all right as far as it goes," he said, handing it back with a relieved expression. "Though they don't have to buy the ring if they don't want to or change their minds."

"If people like Good & Hargreaves offered $500 for the ring it's pretty sure to be worth it," replied Matt. "Even if they backed out we could sell it somewhere else."

"Yes, that's true," said Victor, recovering his cheerfulness. "And maybe for a better price, considering you took the first bid they made. Depend upon it, you could have raised them a few hundred dollars."

They hugged awhile longer, talking about the $300 commission Victor hoped to get on a second-hand car and the advisability of taking $1,000 cash for the garage or a thousand down and another thousand on a nine months' note.

Perhaps Matt kept closer to the verge than most of the usual, for it was warm and sunny and likely to tempt the presence of Mrs. Sattane with her rocking chair, her darning and her interminable tongue. For once Matt was eager for Mrs. Sattane, and when at length she appeared he was very agreeable and friendly, drawing up beside her, with his pipe, instead of dropping it, as he ordinarily would have done. After a few false starts he got her on the subject of the Marshall, and though as a narrator she was as uncertain as a rabbit not to give conversations jumps in the most random directions, Matt always contrived to bring her back again running again to the way he would have her go.

The general when a young cavalry officer, hardly indeed then a boy, had made a runaway match with a Miss Koenig of Philadelphia, who was so rich that people used to call her Miss Koenigsgate. He had thereupon given up the army and taken to law, instead of from law had graduated into politics and congress. After seven or eight years his wife had died, leaving him with two little boys, who were now middle-aged men, one a traveler and writer of some reputation and the other an ironmaster on the lake, with a railroad of his own and a fortune of some $1,000,000.

own people, and marry in her own land, his regard for courts and court life being none of the best.

He kept up three establishments—one in Washington, another at Bar Harbor, and the third, his big, comfortable old colonial house at Fair Oaks, about four miles out of Manassas—moving from one to another as the humor seized him. Fair Oaks was his favorite, as he had owned it ever since his first marriage, and had never closed it, partly from sentiment and partly from the political advantage of preserving a roof tree in his native state. He was a Connecticut man, and there was the proof of it for all to see.

It was a very dragging afternoon for Matt. He was restless, could settle to nothing, was both stirred and depressed at the prospect of his call at Fair Oaks. He had dressed with such care that he was afraid to sit down, or to leave the porch lest his immaculate shoes might suffer, and was horribly conscious of the unclean nature of his fresh white waistcoat. No girl could have been in more of a tremor. Periodically he went upstairs to look at himself in the glass, to make sure there was a hair on the back of his coat, to brush and brush and brush again that his hands were so large and so unburned.

He had ordered a buggy for half past 3, a buggy and a man to drive it, for he meant to take no chances of missing his road. It came too early and caused him renewed agitation in consequence—a quarter of an hour too early, when, as a matter of fact, he would not dare to start before the half-hour—giving him a whole fifteen minutes, therefore, to be dawdled through, with more crinkling of white waistcoat and more risk to shoes and a whole new access of that suffocating feeling which he supposed to be pleasure, but was in reality much nearer agony.

Punctually to the minute he took his seat in the buggy and was just starting when of a sudden he was halted from behind. The driver pulled up and Matt turned to see an oldish man in a silk hat, still breathless from running, who had evidently been exerting himself to overtake him.

"Hold on there!" he exclaimed. "Hold on—stop!" and relaxing his pace, came up slowly on Matt's side.

"What's the matter?" he asked, looking back at the man who had halted him.

"I'm a little out of breath," said the man, "but I don't think you are. You're a young fellow, aren't you?"

"Yes, I am," said Matt, "but I don't know your name."

"My name is Broughton," said the man, "and I'm a friend of your father's."

"My father?" said Matt, "but I don't know your father's name."

"Your father's name is Broughton," said the man, "and I'm a friend of your father's."

way back. For God's sake, young man, don't go on thumping me like that! I can't tell you how pressing it all is, how peremptory and urgent. Only halt an hour—if you know what was at stake you could not refuse what an hour."

Matt was thunderstruck. Such importunity was startling, yet he had not a moment to spare if he were to be on time at Fair Oaks. Nothing should come between him and Fair Oaks, and the delay already incurred put him in a fever. "Go on," he cried to the driver, and with that the expostulating gentleman was deserted—in the middle of the road, with his message still unsaid and his arms waving madly after the retreating carriage.

Matt was very much thrilled and tantalized, but at last came to the conclusion that he had been mistaken for some such sake. Nobody could want to see him on a matter so secret that it could not be divulged except in private. Though possibly—and here was an idea—he was again the victim of that newspaper lie, the "King's kidnapping" and all the rest of it. He put his visitor out of his mind and settled back to dream of Miss Marshall with undisturbed content and joy.

They passed through a stone gateway of a massive and towering design that reared its head like a mausoleum in the lonely woods. The winding road led through a grove of tall, straight trees that the trees met overhead and the air turned chill in the dense below. It was a very big place, the driver said—like a mile or more, and did not find his whip in the direction of unreluctant light landmarks. It hadn't been worth taxes did the wood pulp business begin, and now even the stumpage would bring all of $10 an acre.

"A stroke of luck for the general, wasn't it, what with pulp getting dearer every day—though he just let it like it was, and did not find his whip in the direction of unreluctant light landmarks. Mr. G. Kaster donated a horse to Major Fletcher of the 32nd Brigade, to be used for military purposes as needed.

The past week has been the kind of weather to make good crops. Roots and corn are looking exceptionally good, and the crop of oats will beat the record.

As a large part of Bruce County is under Local Option, we are informed that the Ontario Government purposes to put the whole county under one license inspector. There are three at present.

For sale cheap for cash or will exchange towards purchasing an auto a C.M. Motorcycle nearly new, guaranteed in perfect running condition, not a scratch on enamel or tires. H. J. McElroy Aug 12/14

Fred Eckleton, night watchman at Whitcher's mill Colpoys, who is on the British Army Reserve list received orders to report at Portsmouth and left on Tuesday for there. He leaves a wife and three children at Colpoys.

For some time the price of stock has been so low that it is where it will end is difficult to determine. A good cow is worth now $75 and up and yearling worth easily $35, in fact there does not seem to be a settled price for stock, it is up, up.

The Echo would advise its readers, who do not take a daily paper to subscribe for one if they want the complete news about the war. The Daily Star and The Daily News can be obtained for $1.50 each per year, and the Daily Globe and Daily Mail and Empire $3 each per year.

Market Prices—During the past week the prices have begun to climb up—butter is now 33 cents per lb., eggs 28 cents per doz., and hogs sold Monday at $9.00. New potatoes are worth about $1.25 per bag, but as the crop will be a good one that price will not last very long.

Postmaster Allan has received instructions from Ottawa that he is not to accept mail for Germany, Austria, Hungary, German Colonies or Luxembourg. And further he is to carefully examine all parcels addressed to such countries than Great Britain and her colonies.

The Owen Sound Times excursion to Sarnia and Detroit is in its way a popular one, and this year twenty-three took advantage of it leaving there last Friday for these points. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watt, Miss S. McCartney, Miss M. Hunter, W. Reckin, Bert Scott, George Ewald and Fred Bruin, Lions Head.

The mechanics are still busy at work on the building of the Canada Cattle Co., which when completed will add very considerably to the industrial appearance of this town. On the west corner of Frank and Berford street this structure is in course of erection. It will be 4 storeys high, and in length and breadth 187x60. It will thus be soon that it will be a very large building, and there will be room for 100 to 125 men. Within a month the building will be completed and will proceed to manufacture as hard times do not interfere with the demand for their product.

The consumers were notified that milk would be 7c per quart Monday. It appears that poor pastures are not the cause, but cows have got high. And then it is war times with high prices on every side.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Last Thursday James King, of Korpel, was found dead in his bed by Matthew McGarvie, who went to his shack for a pal to water his horses as he had been working King's farm for the past year. Getting no response to his knock he walked in and the painful sight was before him. As the deceased was in town Tuesday afternoon it is supposed that he died that evening from heart failure, and as he lived all alone his body might have remained there sometime had Mr. McGarvie not occasion to go to the house.

The deceased was 70 years of age, and was one of the veterans who responded to the call to repel the Fenians. He is survived by a widow, two sons and two daughters. Interment took place Saturday at Bayview cemetery.

FOR SALE—1 buggy, 1 cutter, and robes, all in good condition. Apply to A. V. Gilbert.

R. Sylvester, Park Head, had the misfortune of having a team of horses struck by lightning Tuesday morning and instantly killed. The team was valued at $500.

J. B. Farrow, Colpoys Bay, had two splendid cows killed by lightning early Tuesday morning. For one of them he had refused $95 and the other was easily worth $75.

A severe electric storm passed over this district about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, which put a large number of telephones out of commission and caused considerable loss.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday, Aug. 23, the Minister will preach at both services—Morning subject "The Working Church." Evening subject "The Test of Manhood." Good music, strangers welcome.

Fred Bruin, Lions Head, dropped into town Tuesday morning, having returned from the Detroit excursion, and to learn that their hardware store had been burned that morning by lightning. Bruin Bros., who are a most reliable firm, carried a stock of $6000, and their insurance was only $4500, so they are losers, but here is hoping that they will come back stronger than ever.

What is the lumber situation—asked The Echo of a saw mill gentleman this week? There is no situation, he replied. We have not sold a car load for three weeks, and if our stock was hemlock and cedar instead of hardwood we would close down to-morrow. The outlook is certainly not very hopeful that there will be much doing the coming winter in the woods.

Communication

Just now, right in the very best of the summer, when fields and gardens are at their best, trees luxuriantly green, fruit and harvest beginning to ripen, there is no drought, gracious rains are being sent to keep the nature green, so that cattle may have food, everything looks as if a beautiful harvest in this district—and yet on the 14th of August, our local milk dealer notifies his customers that the price of milk is up—as he has practically the whole trade of the town he boldly tells anyone who protests, that he can sell his milk supply at his own price and if you don't want to pay the price you need it. Now the wiser can see the good and justifiable reason for the price of milk going up just at this time. It is not costing any more to produce, or for labor, or to deliver to customer—that it has done all summer, pasture is better even three times as good as it was at this time last year; he has not to feed his cattle and even if he had, hay is not as high as it has been other years. Why then the raise at the time? The very surely has nothing to do with a food supply produced in this district, other means and first all over Canada, are today agreeing that they will not unnecessarily raise the price of foods thus showing their patriotism and their Christianity; many of these at a heavy expense for their products in freight shipments and large output for labor which our milkman does not have. Anyone who knows anything about how cows know that there are times, when for no apparent reason, a cow will not give as much milk as at another time is likely to happen at any time and a dealer going into a dairy business knows that this is a contingency he has to be prepared for, but whether it has or always been so, is considered a good and sufficient reason for raising the price to the consumer—and why does the consumer stand helplessly by looking at each other and saying "this is the price of milk is up" and tamely submit to it at this time this necessary burden. There are means of dealing with this sort of thing surely. It seems to me that a Housewives' League in this town would have a wonderful effect.

Value of Rheumatism From the Court

Judge Barbours was Relieved of Rheumatism After Doctors Failed.

If you have tried many other remedies and doctors' treatments for Rheumatism and found they failed, do not be skeptical about trying RHEUMATISM. Read the testimony of Judge John Barbours of Fort Laramie, O.

It is now two years since I used the remedy, and I am still as well as ever. Previously I was a cripple, walking with crutches. Such testimony should be convincing. 50 cents of W. J. Manley's guaranteed."

The entertainment in aid of the Regatta Fund was almost equal to the first, Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, Rev. Mr. Piercy, Miss L. Gregg, Miss M. King, Miss Clark, Miss Engel and others furnishing the entertainment. Short speeches were given by Hon. Pres. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Mickle. One popular number on the program was a song on Oliphant composed by Miss Ellen Clark for the occasion and sung by a quartette to the tune of "Put your loving arms around me Honey."

THE SHORE TEAM
You baseball nine—you are so fine
We sure do like
To see you play, each sunny day—
It is some sight;
Oh you Stewarts on the job, hear the cheering of the mob,
You Van and Clark, Floyd and Perry—It's not mean
To work so well, your work will tell,
to beat that island team;
The Mainland score must stand, must stand, must stand.

PAST PRESIDENT MR. STEWART
President, Past President, we sing to you.

You smile so bland, your willing hand; twas up to you
To give the prizes, all away that were won Regatta Day.

Your speeches fine, were quite in

Had much to say about the day, fun, we have to go.

And say good-bye to lake and sky,
we love you so;

But we'll meet here next year, don't fear, don't fear.

OWEN SOUND

On Wednesday, August 15th, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mortley celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding, when the family and a number of neighbors assembled in memory of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Mortley were married at Dorchester on the 7th of August, 1889, and lived in the vicinity almost continuously ever since. A family of two sons and seven daughters resulted from the union, and all are still at home to give comfort to the parents in their advancing years. Many pretty and useful presents were given Mr. and Mrs. Mortley, the family being a valuable silver tea service. Short addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Mills, Mr. Robert Hay and Dr. J. L. Smith.

This week saw a number of Owen Sound's sailers home for a lay-off of an indefinite period, owing to their ships being tied up on account of the war. The Canadian Steamship laid up over thirty of their lake freighters at Montreal, and in some cases the whole crew from the captain to the cook has been laid off. They may be called again at an early date, for it is thought that the ships will begin to operate again within the next three weeks. It is another of the results of the present war. The ocean carrying trade has been so curtailed and so disarranged that the grain lying in the elevators at different points is not being moved over the ocean. When grain ceases moving the reason for the operation of many of the lake carriers immediately ceases and as a result many are now tied up to the docks. With the resumption of trade this will not continue very long. Quite a number of sailor boys from Owen Sound are among those temporarily thrown out of employment by the condition of affairs on the lakes.

The President of the Horticultural Society, Mr. Thomas Finlay, desires to call the attention of the schools to the fact that the society's annual exhibition is close at hand, and they should prepare for it with every effort to win exhibition prizes. Four cash prizes, $10, $5, $3, and $1, are given to the best of the following: flowers, special prizes for best collection of flowers, open to all schools, $1, $2, and $1. Since will be reserved for exhibit from each school, and it is also intended to have the pupils' art work on exhibition. Scholars and others intending to exhibit should get busy at once as the exhibition is on August 26 and 27. Entries close at 1 o'clock noon the first day of the exhibition. It is expected that an excursion will be conducted from Toronto, and the fact that the South American will be in on the second day of show makes it likely that a record crowd will be in attendance. Several other features which will be made known later, on Thursday, will help to swell the crowd in town. The day of the exhibition. Mr. Vair, director of Barrie, has accepted the invitation to act as judge and an doubt will be cordially welcome to our town.

Some time last night the store of T. J. Thompson, Limited, was entered and the cash drawer cleaned out. The thief or thieves, for there is nothing to show whether there was more than one, got in by sawing a pane in one of the back windows and crawling the iron bars, which are set fairly wide apart. Or they went straight for the cash drawer, in which some money had been left; and also investigated a cash box in which there were some change and postage stamps. The total loss is a pretty respectable one—about $30 in money, and $3.00 in stamps. Nothing else appears to have been disturbed. There is only a slight clue to the guilty parties.

The electrical storm last night left its mark in this district by burning several barns, one being that of Mr. L. Cranney, of Presque Isle, on the old Wilson farm. With the barn went practically all of Mr. Cranney's crop hay, fall wheat, barley and some of his oats. His loss is heavy. He had just completed an addition to the barn following a recent loss by fire.

Another heavy loss to Mr. James McCullough of Meaford road, near Elliott's school, who had his fine big barn and the greater part of this season's crop destroyed. A considerable amount of implements also were destroyed.

Mr. P. Witherspoon of Derby, had three cattle killed by lightning, a loss of over two hundred dollars.

Lots of people would rather send a dollar to the heathen than give the poor at home a pleasant look.

KINCARDINE

During the excitement due to war times Postmaster G. D. Morrison will leave the lobby of the post office open for a short time each evening after the arrival of the late train, so that box holders may secure their mail and papers. This is exceedingly thoughtful on the part of Mr. Morrison.

A young Englishman in Kinross Town, ship sends the Ripley Express the following message: "My term of employment will expire in a week. Will you put me in touch with the officers. I am a reservist and prefer war to working on the farm. They never touch me in the boat fight and don't seem to be hit by any German bullets. Have every thing ready for my trip to Montreal." Another Englishman, Harry Turner, in employ of Robert Bell, blacksmith, was so anxious to get into the war that he left Ripley on Monday morning for Toronto to enlist. He says he is sure of a dollar a day and board and other considerations, and has a chance of a free ride to England.

On Monday afternoon a meeting of the ladies of the town, with Mayor Mitchell in the chair, and Miss Mather acting as Secretary, to consider the best way of raising a general contribution towards the Hospital Ship, which is being fitted out, and by the Women of Canada to the Red Cross of War. It was agreed to ask these owning autos to loan them on Friday afternoon to call at the homes of those living in the country, and on Saturday afternoon to call at the homes in town. All autos and canoes to meet at the Town Hall at one o'clock each day. The sum of $270.00 was contributed at the meeting, but it is hoped that this sum will be greatly increased before Saturday night. Would the ladies in town try and remain home Saturday afternoon so that the collectors may not be obliged to call again. The following committees have the matter in hand and will look after the canvassing: Mrs. Wm. Mitchell, Mrs. (Dr.) McKenna, Mrs. J. J. McPherson, Mrs. L. Miller, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. A. J. Miller, Mrs. A. M. Smith and Mrs. J. A. Mather. Any who may be overlooked in the canvass, may leave their contribution at either of the banks.

TARA

A meeting of Tara Council was held on Thursday evening of last week with the Reeve and all members in attendance. Messrs J.E. Grant and Wm. Morrow waited on the council asking for a reduction of 4 mills off their assessment on property used as farm lands. The Reeve strongly opposed any action being taken, although some of the councillors were favorable to giving the matter consideration as other ratepayers in the town have a reduction on their assessment under somewhat similar circumstances. The matter was left over and Messrs. Grant and Morrow may take their case before the Judge. The School Board asked for an appropriation of $2000.00 but the Reeve strongly opposed this amount and it was cut down to $1000.00. The board will have to borrow money before their year ends. The tax rate was fixed at 27 mills in the dollar as an increase of two mills over last year. The clerk was ordered to frame a by-law prohibiting the erection of any frame buildings on Young street from the bridge to the Presbyterian church. The Reeve was instructed to have the cement walk repaired in front of C.R. Tobey's store.

CHESLEY

In a letter received from Rev. R. A. Atkinson, a former pastor of Geneva Church, he informs us that the residents of Sydney, Humber, and Glace Bay are living in great fear of the mines being blown up by the German cruisers, which are loitering in this vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson are spending their holidays in this vicinity. He also informs us that he has a brother under arms in defence of the Empire.

AYTON

Dr. Shield, a Veterinary Surgeon, of Mount Forest, one of the bunch who gave a demonstration here in town some time ago, was summoned to appear in the court house, here in Ayton, last Saturday, to give an account of himself. Magistrate Ryan and Portman officiating. The blue paper headed him called for being indicated on Local Option Territory. The Local Option Territory being the Boundary Line between Egremont and Normandy. Dr. Shield put up a defence. Lawyer Clark of Mount Forest pleaded the case, while Cameron, M. P. of Owen Sound acted for License applicant Allan the Plaintiff. Several witnesses were called who almost made the case clear for the defence. The road travelled was merely proved to be the road of the witness given evidence to show that the car that carried the occupants ran on the Normandy's side of the road, while others said it was wherever the road was best. A hard battle had been fought by both sides from 10 a.m. till 4 p.m. The magistrates found a case and fined the Dr. $20 and costs.

HANOVER

PLANNED—MILITARY NUPTIALS
A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Matthews Lutheran church (Rev. Deuff) on Tuesday afternoon, August 11th, at 3.30 o'clock when Miss Charlotte Christine Plann daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Plann of Hanover and Mr. Herman Miltz were made man and wife. Rev. Mr. Deneff officiated. The bride wore cream silk, with emerald and diamond collar, with a bouquet of white asters and evergreen. Miss Mary Wendorff acted as bridesmaid, wearing a white dress. Miss Plann was the best man. After the ceremony the guests numbering about 60, repaired to the bride's house where a dainty supper was served. Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Rousch and Mr. Milton Plann of Waterloo. Mr. Charles Becker, wife and son Wesley of Berlin, Mr. John Hamel, wife and two daughters of Midway, and the Nelsons of Plann and Lena Plann of Neustadt. Mr. Miltz is a very valued member of the Hanover band, and the band boys went around in the evening and offered congratulations and played some delightful music. Mr. and Mrs. Miltz have taken up residence in town. The model school opened in Hanover on Tuesday of this week with twenty-eight candidates in attendance. It is expected that about half a dozen more will report shortly. The candidates are from a radius of 25 to 30 miles. We welcome these coming teachers to town.

"He's a perfect doctor of a doctor!"
"For heaven's sake don't tell people so."
"Why not?"
"Naturally, they'll think he's a quack."

WALKERTON

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Friday evening for the purpose of striking the tax rate for the present year and after some discussion and deliberation it was put at 20 mills on the dollar. With the assessment at a little over $300,000 this will give the council some $60,000 for expenditures this year. This would seem to be a large amount, but when it is taken into consideration that 34 mills of the taxes imposed on the citizens are required to meet uncontrollable expenditures, such as the paying of debentures, schools, etc. it will be seen that after all, this year's council are conducting the affairs of the town on a comparatively small amount, the total sum being with the water rate in the neighborhood of $2000.00 of which $4000 was expended in repairs at the pumping house and reservoir. The taxes of late years have been rather high, but after 1917 a considerable reduction in the rate can be looked for as on that year the last payment will be made on some of the town's debentures, which will considerably reduce the town's annual expenditures.

Mr. A. E. Vaino of Brant will harvest a large quantity of onions this fall. Mr. Vaino planted three-quarters of an acre in onions and is expecting a yield of some eight tons. As an excellent price is being quoted at this time, he will realize a good figure for his labor.

Martin Schumacher, a farmer about 70 years of age, of Cullors, appeared before Magistrate Tolson on Thursday afternoon and was sent up for trial, charged with having attempted to set fire to the barn of Mr. Louis Keller his neighbor on Sunday July 20th. In the evidence it was brought out that the two farmers had been on unfriendly terms for some time, and on returning from church on Sunday 20th, Mr. Keller found the rail fence near the barn burning, the fire fanned by a strong wind blowing across in the direction of the building. The blaze was undoubtedly of incendiary origin and suspicion pointed strongly to Schumacher who was subsequently arrested. He is at present out on a bail on a bond for $500 which he himself furnished.

Dr. John Standish, for many years a veterinary surgeon at Walkerton, died at home in Equestrian township, near Georgetown, on Wednesday last in his 64th year. The deceased, after enjoying a long and successful practice in Walkerton, retired from the veterinary profession and took up farming on the Durham Road, east of Walkerton. Here he remained until his removal about eight years ago to a farm near Georgetown. During the past few years he has been a lecturer in the Agricultural College at Bruce, Nova Scotia, returning after the school term again to his farm. He was a well informed, widely read man, and during his residence in Walkerton, held the position of mayor of the town, besides serving for many years as a councillor. Besides his wife, he leaves one son, Nelson, and one daughter, Eliza, both. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon at St. Jude's cemetery, Oakville.

The public school will re-open after the summer holiday on Tuesday, 1st September next. The Board has re-engaged Mr. Willoughby as principal for the coming year. It will be remembered that Mr. Willoughby was taken ill in his wipitor and the Board had to procure substitutes for over six months of the year. His many friends will be pleased to hear that his health has been completely restored and that he is now in better shape than he has been for years. Mr. Willoughby is an excellent teacher and we are sure that he will keep up the high standard that the school has always maintained in the past.

Capt. Arthur and Lieut. Gordon McNally, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McNally of Walkerton are among those who have enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Capt. McNally joined the Irish Fusiliers at Vancouver and was stationed there since the war commenced. Lieut. McNally is a member of the 12nd Highlanders and is stationed at Vancouver. He is in company with the other members from his regiment expects to be sent to Prince Rupert in the near future to do coast service.

ALENFOR

Mrs. Hackett, Sr. and Mr. P. Hackett and family left for London on Tuesday night last. Reports from Mr. Hackett, since his departure indicate continued improvement. Alenford and vicinity attended the Methodist church in large numbers on Wednesday night to hear a missionary address by Rev. C. P. Holmes, missionary from Japan. He returns to his home in Japan on the 20th of August. He was accompanied by Rev. Mr. Night of the London Conference, who also gave a fine address.

Capt. Denard and a number of the members of his country were in Tara on Saturday night.

Ben Henders of Zion enjoyed a shoot with the locals on Saturday.

The morning service in Alenford is now 11 a.m. The Derby service is at 8 p.m. Rev. Matthews and Mrs. Beattie, Sr. are slowly regaining their strength. Mr. Kurray is not again in town. Sunday evening Philip Shannon and John Roberts, two Englishmen who for some time have resided at Zion, were examined by the doctor with a view to enlistment with the First Canadian Division.

PAISLEY

Mrs. N. McDonald of Warton, and Mrs. W. Wilson, of Saint Joe Marie, Ont., are visiting Mrs. J. A. McNeill at Lockport.

Some farms in Carleton Tp. were almost halloed out on Sunday week. One farmer on H. Line had his root crop, also oats and barley almost completely threshed out. The hail stones were about three-fourths of an inch in diameter, and shattered window glass. Old residents say that it was the worst hail storm that ever visited Carleton.

Piper Donald C. McLeod, who has been employed here for several weeks is the first man leaving Paisley to go to the front. He left to join the band of the 1st Highlanders, Hamilton, the regiment containing this week for Val Cartier.

Mr. Arch McCormick, who has been visiting his parents near Glenside, left last week to visit his sisters in Detroit before returning to his home in Yorkton, Alberta. He has been away six years accumulating much wealth in the west. He also has several brothers living nearby, all of them owning large tracts of land. McCormick is a trained soldier of the First Regiment at Winnipeg. He expected that he might possibly be called to active service—Review.

Paisley is to have a brass band! A meeting for organization purposes was held on Friday evening last, when the following officers were elected: President R. J. Nelson; vice-pres., J. H. Laidlaw; sec.-treas., F. C. Ryan; band master, J. R. Laidlaw. For a long time the people of Paisley have wondered really why there was no band in the town, as there have always been a number of good players here. Now that there dreams have materialized, it is to be hoped that the effort of the players themselves, who took it in hand, will be fully appreciated by the public in general. We understand that just as soon as the players get into a little practice together, it is their intention to give open air band concerts in the park or at the land stand at the market square. Here's wishing them luck in their venture, and hoping to hear them in the near future.

"What business are you going to put your son in, Brown?"
"Well, haven't decided yet, but judging from the hour he keeps I should say he was naturally suited for a milkman."

Had No Power Over the Limbs

Locomotor Ataxia, Heart Trouble and Nervous Spells Yielded to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It would be easy to tell you how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures locomotor ataxia and derangements of heart and nerves, but it may be more satisfactory to you to read this letter. Mrs. Thos. Allan, R.F.P., J. Somers, Ont., writes:—"Two years ago I suffered a complete breakdown, and frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that illness I have had dizzy spells, had no power over my limbs (locomotor ataxia) and could not walk straight. At night I would have severe nervous spells, with heart palpitation, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improved after using the first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing the treatment can now walk, eat and sleep well, have no nervous spells and do not require heart medicine. I have told several of my neighbors of the splendid results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box of 12 for $4.50, all dealers, or Edmondson Sales & Co., Limited, Toronto.

FIRST ATTACK FAILS

French and British Driven Back on Second Defences.

Heavy Loss on Both Sides Is Reported by French War Office, Which Says That Reserve Was One of Unforeseen Difficulties. Spots of Men Unimpaired and Offensive Operations Will Go On.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The French War Office issued the following announcement last night:—

"The French and British, the plan of attack having failed owing to unforeseen difficulties, have retired on the covering position.

"West of the Meuse the British army on our left was attacked by the German army, which, by holding its ground with traditional steadfastness.

"The French assumed the offensive with two armoured divisions, the first in the front line, carried away by their eagerness, were received by a murderous fire. They did not give an inch, but counter-attacked by the Prussian guard they were obliged to retire, only, however, after inflicting enormous losses. The Prussian guard especially suffered.

"East of the Meuse our troops advanced across an extremely difficult country and made a vigorous attack when they emerged from the woods, but were obliged to fall back after a stiff fight south of the River Semoy.

"On our right, the British and the British troops withdrew to the covering positions. Our troops are intact; our cavalry has in no way suffered, and our artillery has asserted its superiority. Our officers and soldiers are in the best of condition, morally and physically.

"As a result of the orders which have been issued, the aspect of the struggle will change for a few days. The French will be on the offensive, but at the same time, to be decided upon by the commander-in-chief, it will resume a vigorous offensive.

"Our losses are heavy. It would be premature to enumerate them. It would be equally so to enumerate the losses of the enemy. It is not, however, that they were obliged to abandon their counter attacks and establish themselves in a fresh position in the morning.

"We delivered four attacks Sunday from our position north of Nancy, inflicting very heavy losses on the enemy. As a result of the general situation, we have the full use of our railroads and retain command of the railway lines. The British have been obliged to come into action and penetrate the heart of West Prussia. It is to be regretted that the offensive was not able to achieve its purpose as a result of difficulties impossible to foresee. It would have shortened the war, but our forces were not in a position to do so.

"Every Frenchman will deplore the temporary retreat from Lunéville, the temporary retreat from the British had occupied and certain parts of the national territory will suffer from events of which they will be the theatre.

"The ordeal is inevitable, but temporary. Thus detachments of German cavalry have been sent to the detached division operating on the extreme right have penetrated to Roubaix, six miles north of Lille, and the Tournai district, which is defended only by territorial reservists.

"Our valiant people will know how to find courage to support this trial. The first line of defence at Valenciennes, which is not to be doubted. In telling to the country the whole truth, we give it the strongest proof of our absolute confidence in victory, which depends only on our perseverance and courage.

"The military situation was discussed at a special meeting of the Cabinet at Elysee Palace last night, presided over by President Poincaré. The deliberations lasted three hours.

First Namur Defences Taken.
LONDON, Aug. 25.—It was officially stated by the war press bureau yesterday afternoon that the British troops were defeated in the great battle (which has been raging for three days in Belgium) south of the front line, extending from Mons to the Luxembourg border. The British forces fought till it was too dark to continue, and then retired to the ground. The first line of defence at Namur was taken, causing the retirement of a portion of the British force from the line of operations on the Scheldt.

In addition, the German troops, as an effect to the attack of the allied armies at Mons, invaded French territory in great numbers, capturing Lunéville, where 150 guns were seized; Amance and Dieulouard.

An unconfirmed report from the Department of Meurthe-et-Moselle, a city of 103,000 inhabitants, has fallen into the hands of the Germans. At the same time, it was known earlier that an attack was being made on the city. Otherwise the French front has not been modified.

It is apparent that the Kaiser has hurled his entire army of 2,000,000 men, active and reserve, against the French and British. The German army broke through the line of the allied armies and forced an entrance farther than the British had expected. The British army actively engaged in French territory before the arrival of the Russian army.

TRUMPION SAY GERMAN.

Kaiser's Officers Lay Claim to a Big Victory.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—(By wireless telegraph from Nauen, Germany, to Seydlitz, Long Island.)—Official announcement was made yesterday that the German army commanded by Grand Duke Albrecht of Wuertemberg has defeated a French army at Valenciennes.

It captured many guns, flags and prisoners, including several generals. German armies under Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm and Grand Duke Albrecht are vigorously pursuing the French.

The army under Rupprecht captured on hundred and fifty guns at Lunéville, Blamont and Cleiry, in the French Departments of Meurthe and Moselle.

The army commanded by the Crown Prince pursued the French beyond the Meuse.

The Germans are west of the River Meuse, and advancing against Maastricht. They have defeated a British brigade of 10,000 men.

Another Version.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The German Embassy yesterday received the following message from the Foreign Office in Berlin:

"The army of the German Crown Prince has won a decisive victory north of the Meuse over five French army corps. The retreat of the southern French wing on Verdun has been cut off. The French troops were routed and are in flight in complete rout. The Crown Prince's army, giving chase, took many prisoners, and it is declared the French troops are unable to face the terrific fire of the German infantry."

TELEGRAPH BUREAU.
Winning will not buy any more German goods. This was the emphatic resolution of the Board of Control yesterday.

A German biplane captured at Cernay has been added to the 22 guns and other trophies to be placed at the foot of the Alsace monument.

The Paris Excelsior yesterday published a message from Nib, Serbia, saying that an Austrian mine struck a mine in the Adriatic and was destroyed. The crew perished.

According to a newspaper published in the Netherlands, a friend of Roland Garros says that Garros is alive and well and that he did not smash a Zeppelin airship, as had been reported.

Election protests have been lodged by Liberals against Sir Rodmond Roblin, Dr. McFadden and J. J. Garneau, the candidates of the Conservative party in the provincial election.

The first case of desertion in Kingston was reported yesterday. A member of the 14th Regiment doing duty as a soldier, tired of his life and leaving his uniform on the railway tracks at the foot of Queen street, he left the city.

SPIN SECRET KNIVES.
Guards at Fort Henry Got a Score—Austrian Convict Gets Away.
KINGSTON, Aug. 25.—A score was created at Fort Henry yesterday when it was found that two of the German spies incarcerated there had concealed a couple of knives on their persons, which had been given to them to eat their meals. They were confined by a guard.

The horse, by the Austrian convict, who made his escape from the penitentiary, was found tied to a tree by a sergeant. The convict was taken back to the penitentiary from Kingston yesterday afternoon.

J. H. Berger, an ex-German officer, was taken here from Windsor. He is now a prisoner at Fort Henry. He was placed under charge of a guard from the 14th Regiment.

First British Casualties.
LONDON, Aug. 25.—The first list of the casualties sustained by the British expeditionary army on the continent was published here yesterday.

RUSSIANS ADVANCING

Army Crossing East Prussia With 70-Mile Front.

German are Retreating Wasting the Country. The Russian Battle is Likely Within a Few Days—Russia Now Holds All the Important Railway Junction Points in the District.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—The victorious Russian army is now advancing through East Prussia along a front of 70 miles.

Taking Napoleon's famous battle fields of Eylau and Friedland, 25 miles southeast of Königsberg, as the spot of war which might fall to the Russian forces is indicated with sufficient exactness.

The Germans are retreating along the entire front, burning and wasting their own country as they go.

Those in a position to know predict that the Russian army will be in a position to take care of Germany without any more help. It is well recognized that Italy's assistance would make the victory more sure and certainly much quicker.

German Pressure Fails.
ROME, Aug. 25.—The German Ambassador here has been actively trying to induce the Italian press to advocate Italy's intervention in behalf of Germany. The inducement being a solitary article in favor of the German view.

So far the Ambassador's efforts have failed completely. Not a single newspaper, not even those which were Antisemitic before the war, has published a solitary article in favor of the German view.

Russia's two armies are now army advancing along an unbroken front of more than seventy miles.

WEEKEND THEM OUT.
Doctors at Valcartier Will Make a Right Test of Men.

VALCARTIER, Que., Aug. 25.—Lt.-Col. A. T. Shillington, of Ottawa, medical recruiting officer, assisted by the superintendent of the hospital, will decide the fate of many of the militiamen captured here to-day.

The process was begun, and it will probably take more than a week medical tests. The first of the captured men were taken here yesterday.

Ten tents have been erected for the purpose. Despite the fact that a stiff examination of all recruits took place at the Valcartier camp, the inspection here will be more severe, and there is a possibility of many being struck off the rolls.

The men found to be unfit for service will be sent to their respective homes immediately.

There are nearly 15,000 men in camp to-day, the majority yesterday having been taken from the Montserrat camp. Only three regiments reached the camp, the 53rd, 54th and 84th, all from the eastern townships.

ATTACK ON CHARLEVOIX.
French Troops Still Holding Belgian Town Says Correspondent.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—"Since yesterday morning the Germans have been attacking Charlevoix, a definite report has been received. The Daily Mail's correspondent, telegraphing Monday, 'The Germans invaded the town from the Montserrat side and came out by the turning bridge in front of the railway station.'"

There was a hot fight for the possession of the bridge as well as for the railway station and other buildings.

ITALY TO TAKE PLUNGE

Indications Are That She Will Actively Support Entente.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—There is good reason for believing Italy soon will be involved in the great conflict, and that she will come in, not on the side of Germany and Austria, with whom she constitutes the triple alliance, but with the allies.

While it is impossible to obtain definite information as to the tremendous pressure is being brought to bear upon Italy by both sides. The allies are considered the representatives of Germany and Austria will be, if they have not already proved, definitely to be ineffective.

There is a great tension with leaders pointing out the advantages accruing to Italy if she joins the allies, even to the extent of discussing the spoils of war which might fall to Italy in the way of provinces recovered and additional territory secured from Austria.

There are persistent rumors in diplomatic circles here that the Italian Government already has decided upon the fateful step. While the allies do not doubt the ability to take care of Germany and Austria without any more help, it is well recognized that Italy's assistance would make the victory more sure and certainly much quicker.

ROME, Aug. 25.—The German Ambassador here has been actively trying to induce the Italian press to advocate Italy's intervention in behalf of Germany. The inducement being a solitary article in favor of the German view.

So far the Ambassador's efforts have failed completely. Not a single newspaper, not even those which were Antisemitic before the war, has published a solitary article in favor of the German view.

Russia's two armies are now army advancing along an unbroken front of more than seventy miles.

NAMUR IS CAPTURED.
British Official Bureau Announces Fall of Stronghold.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The London Times in its news summary this morning says: "Namur has fallen. This is, in the words of the official communiqué, 'the most important strategic point of the Belgian frontier.'"

The official Press Bureau also announced yesterday that the British forces were engaged in a day on Sunday and after dark with the enemy in the neighborhood of Mons, and held their ground.

Namur, a strongly fortified city at the junction of the Meuse and Sambre. It was confidently expected to present a formidable obstacle to the German advance. There is as yet no explanation of its sudden fall. No doubt the Germans have attacked the allies in this part of Belgium with all the available forces.

The French Minister of War, in an official statement, reminded the nation that the huge extent of the front along which the armies are engaged, and the enormous number of troops upon that front, make it impossible to estimate the importance of any momentary developments.

"The battle now raging from Mons to Charlevoix will last several days, and it is essential to await a definite report before a sound conclusion can be reached as to the full effect of this first great engagement."

TUNGTAU BLOCKADED.
Siege of German Port in China Begun by Allied Fleets.

PERKIN, Aug. 25.—The blockade of Tungtau, the fortified seaport of Kiaochow, has begun.

British, French and Russian vessels of war are taking part in the movement. The fortified seaport of Kiaochow, has begun.

Up to the present time only British regiments have received orders to co-operate with the Japanese in the operations against Kiaochow on the land side. The French, however, are expected orders to assist the British.

RUSSIANS STRIKE HARD

Three German Army Corps Routed, Say Grand Duke.

Official Statement from St. Petersburg Declares That After Four Days of Fighting the Germans Fled Back on Saturday With Russian in Pursuit—German City of Interberg Is Occupied.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 24.—Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, yesterday issued the following statement:

"Battles fought on August 17, 18 and 19 were fought with the utmost desperation. The spirit of the troops is excellent. Our battle front extends for a distance of over 400 versts (about twenty-six miles)."

"The Russian troops occupied Monday and Tuesday. The retreat of the German army corps near Liepzig resembled a rout. The enemy's troops are evacuating the frontier in the direction of Wittenberg. The German population is abandoning the villages and fleeing northward."

"On the Austrian frontier up to August 20 no collection occurred. The Russians forced an Austrian battalion to evacuate Burgard and Baranau. On August 19 the German army corps Gumbinnen engaged three army corps and tried to envelop the Russian right wing, which was being pushed into a fierce, the Russians took the offensive in the centre and captured many guns. The enemy asked for an armistice, but was refused, and was refused. On August 21 victory crowned the efforts of the Russian army. The Germans, having suffered enormous losses, fled, pursued by the Russians."

Four Millions Under Arms.
LONDON, Aug. 24.—More than 4,000,000 Russian soldiers are mobilized to-day in readiness to strike at Germany and Austria in support of movements already begun, according to a dispatch from St. Petersburg, dated August 24.

Washington, who is now on his way to that city, having left his native country when the troops were gathered. Captain Vassiloff said that in his opinion the great force would soon begin operations. Already 500,000 Russian troops are said to be in German soil, with reinforcements of more than 300,000 on the march.

Following Up Victory.
PARIS, Aug. 24.—A despatch to the Havas news agency from St. Petersburg, says an announcement from an authorized source sets forth that the Russians, after their victory at Gumbinnen, succeeded in capturing the German and occupied Interberg, Germany, 30 miles from the Russian frontier, in the direction of Königsberg.

Russian Victory Confirmed.
ROME, Aug. 24.—The Russian embassy here yesterday evening confirmed the reported Russian victory at Gumbinnen in east Prussia, where three German army corps were put to flight, the Germans retreating in great disorder.

It was also stated that further resistance on the part of the Germans is impossible, as Russia is penetrating German territory. The force is seven times greater than the German can put in the field.

The Russian force, it is said, plans to advance on Berlin by forced marches.

LOSSES IN LORRAINE?
Gen. Joffre Is Said to Have Lost Forts at Lunéville.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—In Lorraine it is evident that the French have sustained heavy losses. The force of the Germans, for it is admitted that Lunéville, a fortified place ten miles inside the French border, is now occupied by the Germans, while the French, presumably under Gen. Joffre, the commander-in-chief, have fallen back on the ring of forts surrounding Metz.

This is a serious reverse, for the Germans at no time before had obtained any real footing in French territory. Lunéville is a town of 20,000 inhabitants. Details of the fighting, in which Gen. Joffre was forced to retire, are awaited with anxiety in Paris and here. The progress of the French troops into Lorraine has been so swift and easy that the news has been greeted with a great shock to France.

In Alsace there is no news of any further fighting; presumably the French are holding their own there.

SERVIANS ROUT AUSTRIANS.
Several Days' Struggle Along Drina Is Complete Triumph.

ROME, Aug. 24.—Telegrams from Nish, the capital of Serbia, state that the rout of the Austrians in the battle of the Drina, which has been waged along the River Drina, is complete, and that the Austrian army has lost its food, weapons and ammunition in chaotic flight. Forces of Bosnian and Serbian troops as they retreated and hurled bombs at them.

Protect the Heart from Rheumatism

RHEUMA Purifies the Blood and Throws off Complicating Diseases.

Weakening of the blood tissues by continued attacks of Rheumatism affects blood in fact to ward off other diseases and restores rheumatic conditions from the whole system. Recommended for all forms of Rheumatism. 50 pains in my back. After using two bottles of RHEUMA, the Rheumatism has en-

Message to Germans

Mr. W. D. Euler, mayor of Berlin, has issued the following message to Germans in Ontario:—

The two greatest world powers of Europe are in a world contest. We Germans, whether immigrants or born in Canada, feel the weight of the blow deeply.

The love for the old fatherland is born in us. And the respect we have for our new home should not bring dividing feelings to us.

Canada, the Great Dominion, part of the powerful British Empire, invited us to make our home here. We must not forget the years of peace and prosperity that we have enjoyed under the British flag.

We have enjoyed here the same freedom as the English and all other nationalities. The Union Jack has floated over us; under it our children were born, Germany's victory or defeat will change nothing in our relationship to our adopted Fatherland, our new home.

Show yourselves grateful for the years of freedom and hospitality that is offered you here; show that you possess the well-known tact of the German nation; do not let yourselves be drawn into demonstrations of any kind. Avoid arguments with the members of other nations.

Be quiet and bear with these heavy times with honor, and show that you are true Germans, grateful to the land that has received you, and in which you have found a new home.

Duty and honor demand that we show ourselves worthy of our new home.

The young lawyer has been very long-suffering in his closing speech of his first real case, and nothing the judge giving evidences of his weariness, he said: "Your Honor, I shall soon be through now, I trust I am not trespassing too far on the time and patience of the court."

"Young man," responded the judge with a smile, "You have long ceased to trespass on my time and patience. You are now encroaching on eternity."—Phi-adelphia Public Ledger.

AN INVITATION TO SICKNESS

down in Your Health.

Impure blood is an invitation to sickness. The blood is at work day and night to maintain the health and any lack of strength or purity in the blood is a weakness in the defence against disease.
Anemia is the doctors name for lack of blood. There may be no actual loss in the quality of the blood, or one or more of its constituents may be lacking. Its truest symptom is pallor. Anemia is particularly common in young girls. It is not however confined to them alone, for it is this same lack of blood that prevents full recovery after La grippe, fever, malaria and operations. It is also present in old age and in persons who have been under unusual mental or physical strain. If you are suffering from this trouble take
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale people.
They make pure, new blood with every dose and this new blood means health and strength. Thousands have proved the truth of these statements among them
Mrs. Minnie Hartman, Annapolis, N. B., who says: "Following the birth of my third child I was completely wreck. I felt and looked as if I did not have a drop of blood in my body. My heart would palpitate so violently that I could not walk up stairs with being completely exhausted.
Night after night I would have to lie in bed to get my breath. I had no appetite and suffered from severe headaches.
I was taking doctor's medicine all the time and eventually felt a little dis-improved. While in this deplorable condition my husband brought me home a couple of boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before they were gone I could feel some improvement. I gladly continued their use until I had taken, I think ten boxes, when I was completely cured, and I never was so well in my life as I have been since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams
Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Malcolm Ferguson the obliging hostler at the Pacific stables had the misfortune to practically go blind a little more than a week ago, and no eye had been of much service for some time, but the other failed him almost instantly. The trouble is, we understand, a cataract and an operation will restore the sight.

A very violent electric storm passed over this district last Thursday night. The whole sky seemed like a sheet of lightning for upwards of two hours. The losses reported so far are a house of Mr. Smith Colpoys, and a barn belonging to Robert Playford, Ixonia, which was destroyed with contents, Barnes belonging to William Tomlinson, Koppel, and George Ottowell, Amabel, were struck but little damage was done. D. Poor, Spry, had three cows killed.

Tuesday next is the last day for receiving tenders for the Wlarton post office, and so far we do not know of any local firm being in the race. The marked cheque for $3,000, or more, which has to accompany the tender, and which has to stop with the Department if the tender is accepted, as security for the completion of the contract, makes the ordinary mortal hesitate to have anything to do with it, and thus those marked cheques make a big hole in a bank account, and not more than 10 out of 12 can stand having $3,000 lying idly at Ottawa.

Chief Glover maintains that on Monday evening an attempt was made to burn his residence, Frank street. His wife had just gathered the clothes from the line, packed them in a basket which was in the woodshed, and in a few minutes fire was discovered in the basket and it was soon put out. He believes the work to be the act of enemies he has made in the fearless discharge of his duty as an officer of the town. This statement is serious and calls for rigid investigation. ## Laid to Rest

On last Saturday, the body of Miss MacAulay aged 17 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John I. MacAulay was laid to rest in the family plot at Southampton. On Friday evening service was held at the house, conducted by the Rev. J. E. Thompson and was largely attended. Among those present was Mrs. B. Miller and all the girl members of the Mission Band of St. Pauls church, of which the deceased was the Secretary, and on Saturday the body was taken to Southampton for interment a number of friends accompanying Mr. MacAulay to that town on his sad errand.

The illness, of which the deceased suffered was the result of a cold contracted last Spring, which developing into an acute form, soon ran its course. In fact she had attended classes at the High School until practically the close of the session, but was unable to write on the examinations. During the two months she was ill all that love could do for her was done, but last Wednesday the "one clear call" came and she met "her Pilot face" to face. The deceased was a clever student, and particularly brilliant in music, very low indeed at her age have had her attainments in this respect, and it was always a pleasure for her to play so that she might entertain others.

Seldom indeed has a death caused more widespread and sincere sympathy, both on her account, and on account of her parents. She was of lovely character, cheerful disposition and beloved by all her friends. All of those who attended the Public and High School with her, felt her death as the loss of a sincere friend. But it is in the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacAulay where she will be most missed, there she was the sunshine and they can rest assured that everyone in this town has a most sympathetic feeling for them in their bereavement. During her illness her room was constantly filled with flowers sent to her by her friends, and the floral gifts at the time of her death were most beautiful. Among those who sent flowers were Mr. Alvin Norton, Mr. Harold Hay, Mr. Norman Hoover, Howard Hoover, Wilfred Symon, Garney Jernyn, anchor, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dolson, spray; Capt. and Mrs. Macnab Owen Sound, spray; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baines, spray; Mrs. S. W. Cross and Miss Grotz, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hunter, spray; Mr. and Mrs. J. The German steamer "Schoenefeld" that was seized by the British in the Mediterranean recently, carried a large consignment of tea for the Salada Tea Co. which was unfortunately insured. The war risk paid was in the neighborhood of six cents per pound of tea. It is now anticipated that the "Schoenefeld" will be tied up at Gibraltar until the close of the war.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the only way to do this is to take a course of Scott's Emulsion, which is nature's food-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

William Powell brought two large harvest apples in the office last week and he claims that they are off a ohevan, where she will join her husband. Prior to her departure she was presented with a Bible and a handbag by the Ladies Aid of St. Pauls Church of which she was an active member.

The Town Hall Filled

The Patriotic Public Meeting Monday Night a Great Success

A patriotic meeting was held in Warton Monday evening, and the meeting had the right ring. Every man, woman and child, who packed the town hall, was a British subject, and was proud of it, and the hearts of all went out to the Mother Country in the hour of her need. The hall had a fitting display of painting for the occasion. The Union Jack was everywhere in evidence, and the three pictures that graced the hall were those of the King, Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the Boy Scouts marched into the hall, dressed in uniform and with rifle over the shoulder. They were followed by the Pipe Band, Mayor Tyson, who was appointed chairman, remarked that there had been another session similar to the present during the Riel rebellion. He touched upon the question of loyalty and quoted "Breathes there a man with soul so dead etc." Just here we will quote sentences from different addresses.

B. B. Miller: "This is the most serious war in history, all Europe is aflame, and it is our duty to assist those who go to the front. We must be prepared to sacrifice a little."

Rev. Mr. Masters: "The flag with its red, white and blue still speaks to us to be brave, to be pure and to be true. This is not a selfish war. Great Britain is the champion of little nations. The call to us is that if a man has gone to the front his wife or child must not suffer."

D. M. Jernyn: "There is as much British loyalty in Warton as in any other town in this country. Every nation pays honor to England. Our boys will bring home glory to Canada as they did in South Africa."

Rev. J. E. Thompson: "This is not a war against the German people but against a military despotism, which would rule all Europe, and in the end the people who will receive the greatest benefits are the Germans themselves."

Rev. Mr. Bradford: "All have confidence in Grey Kitcheners even in a man, the country is safe in his hands. There is not another man in Britain who can take his place. The success of the British army depends upon the Divine Blessing."

The pipe band, the silver cornet band, and a large choir who sang many patriotic songs contributed to the success of the meeting. The hall rang with the sounds of the Maple Leaf and Rule Britannia. Mr. R. E. Trout sang "Men of the North" in his masterly way. The Rev. Mr. Piercy recited "How Bill Adams won the Battle of Waterloo" which pleased the audience. Miss Hazel Parke presided most efficiently at the piano, and the patriotic evening was a decided success.

Saturday will be Tag Day

Do not forget this fact, and have plenty of money in your pocket, and be in a place where you will be easily found. The town has been divided into districts, with three captains and about ten girls under each captain. Every house will be visited, so every man, woman and child will come in for a tag Saturday. The Mayor thinks we should raise $500. On Friday afternoon a number of autos will go to different points in the country and solicit contributions from the farmers towards the patriotic fund. This fund will be wisely spent. A committee has charge of it.

All Honor to Colpoys

When the war broke out there was a British reserve at Colpoys, who was called home and the residents of that village have shown their loyalty by taking care of his wife and children. The men in the mill are giving so much of their wages each week. Mr. R. Bell has provided a house, and Mr. C. E. Wheeler is furnishing the house with fuel. This is practical patriotism which speaks louder than words.

The World's Press On The War

Goings To Keep Out Of It. Philadelphia Public Ledger:—"The United States breathes free air. It is shocked by no extraneous interests that threaten its peace. Naught but the wildest imagination can conceive a necessity for mobilizing militia on the Pacific coast. We are outside the tragedy, and we are going to stay outside, and we betide any men, citizens or not who attempt to drag us in."

A Plea for the War Correspondent. Baltimore News:—"War is not fought for the entertainment of the multitude. But the interests even of people not directly involved in this war are so enormous as to warrant keen desire to know more of what is going on than they are at present permitted to know. If in the past two wide a latitude has been given to the war correspondent it is not at all certain that in the present conflict there has not been carried much further than the necessities of the situation demand."

Need Not Fear Japan

New York Sun:—"And if the Italian Government, bound by all the sacred obligations of treaties a generation old, could not face down the public opinion of its own citizens and stand with the Triple Alliance who is there that fancies that England, whose public sentiment is far more controlling than in Italy, will ever permit any treaty arrangement to compel it to assist in any assault upon the United States by Japan which lacks that provocation this nation will never give? Nor should it be forgotten that in the Pacific the views of Canada and Australia conform to those of our own country."

A Prolonged and Bitter Struggle.

London Daily Mail:—"The hour has arrived when, in the words of one of the noblest patriots, 'we must make ourselves familiar with the thought of every kind of sacrifice and of death.' A prolonged and bitter struggle is before us. But our cause is just; we are fighting for the smaller States of Europe as well as for the liberty of our own homes and to protect them against the lawless violence of that single Power which in four days has without cause attacked in succession five separate peoples."

Holland Germany's Breadbasket.

Springfield Republican:—"The main opportunity for the delivery of foodstuffs to Germany will apparently lie through Holland, and for this reason, if for no other, the German Government must carefully refrain from violating Dutch neutrality as they did that of Belgium. To interfere with

The Italians Skip Out.

Frank Bondi and Charles Bondi, two natives of Italy's sunny clime, who were engaged in the fruit business here took to the Kings highway last Friday night leaving for parts unknown. They claimed that they were reserves in the Italian army and had been ordered to report for service and were leaving Monday morning, but on Friday night they took their heels and if the Italian war office can locate them they will be pretty wise.

The fact remains for some reason or another they wanted to get out. Apparently they did not owe anyone here, and it is known that they went away with $1000 good Canadian currency, which they had cleaned up in the fruit business in this town. They certainly understood handling fruit and a dozen of bananas ceased to be a luxury while they were here for they imported them by the car load.

Garage Changes Hands

Harvey Krontzweiser, who has been the energetic agent in this town, and who has conducted a garage for the past two years, has conferred the Chesley district by that company, with headquarters at Chesley, and has accepted. He will wind up his business here within a month or so. He is an active young man, thoroughly honorable and he will succeed in business in that town. His business here has been taken over by Harold Hay and Norman Hoover.

Reaping What She Sowed.

New York Sun:—"The ultimatum of Japan to Germany is like that of Austria to Serbia in that the demands were manifestly drawn with the deliberate intention of making compliance impossible and war certain. The first thought in every impartial mind will be of the outrageous utility of this proceeding on the part of Japan at a time when the German Empire is fighting for life against three of the greatest of the world powers. The second thought will be that Germany, in the hour of her distress, is reaping what she sowed 20 years ago, when the Kaiser for his own purposes, stepped before the German people the fruits of the far East and the fruits of her victory over China."

Russia's Record

Victoria Times:—"The Germans have professed to hold the Russian menace on their eastern frontier in contempt. But we should remember that they also entertained a poor opinion of the fighting qualities of the Bulgarians. It is likewise worth bearing in mind that it was Russia more than any other nation which destroyed Napoleon; that were it not for Russia the other allies, Prussia and Austria would have sued for peace even when, after his retreat from Moscow, Napoleon fought with his back to the wall. In those days Napoleon found it child's play to crush the German armies whenever he met them. He was extended to his limit to beat the Russians."

England is Aimed At.

London Times:—"It is not a question of Serbia, nor of Russia. It is a question of isolating England in order that when isolated she may be compelled to submit to German dictation. It is a question of destroying the security of the Mediterranean, through which England's route to Egypt and India and the bulk of her food supplies pass. It is a question of circumventing the independence of Holland, Belgium, and Luxembourg which England is pledged to maintain. It is a question of more, which guards her most vital interests at home, the control of the Channel, through which German shipping and German warships must pass before they can prey on British merchantmen on the high seas, cut off British food supplies, and detach our overseas Dominions from the Mother Country."

The Defences of Paris

Half a Million Men Necessary to Invest the French Capital.

Washington—The fortifications of Paris with their ability to resist a siege are receiving the close attention of military observers now that Paris is the announced objective point of the German forces, and since the French Ministry of War was adopted urgent means of strengthening the city's means to the utmost.

While details of the city's defences are guarded with strict secrecy by the French military authorities, yet their general character and formidable strength are well known to military experts, who recognize them as among the strongest fortifications in the world.

The fortifications consist of three distinct circles sweeping around the city—first, the solid wall of masonry 18 feet high, extending for 22 miles around the old sections of Paris; second, the system of 17 detached forts arranged at intervals, two miles beyond the wall, and making a circuit of the city 34 miles long, and, third, an outer circle of forts 75 miles long on the heights commanding the Valley of the Seine.

Each of these circles of masonry and steel is a complete defence in itself, the forts being linked together with redoubts, with bastion and glacis, which permits a cross fire against approaches from any direction. The magnitude of the system is shown by its area, which extends 400 square miles.

Third Line Is Modern

The wall around Paris and the 17 detached forts two miles beyond the walls were built by Louis Philippe. They sustained the German siege of 1870-1871, and the forts have since been greatly strengthened. The third line of forts, on the hill of St. Germain, Cormilles, and Villiers, are of modern construction, with the latest types of batteries and heavy guns. The inner wall about Paris surrounds the best known and most important sections of the city, including the business sections along the grand boulevards, the residence sections of the north and west of the city and the Latin quarter and other sections of the left bank of the Seine. Outside of the wall a circle of suburbs extends for many miles, including Neuilly, Argenteuil, Versailles, Vincennes, and many others. The forts of the second and third line of defence are dotted among these suburbs, protecting them and the approaches to the capital. The wall contains 93 bastions and 67 gates. Some of these have been abandoned owing to the pressure of modern construction and trade. But recent advances received here from Paris state that all the gates, still existing are now closed at 8 o'clock at night, with rigid regulations against movements from within or without.

The second line of forts includes the famous fortress of Montvalerian, which was the centre of attack in the German siege of 1870. It is strengthened by two groups of works—Pauces and Bruyeres and the Chazillon fort and batteries. South of the city is the row of forts at Ivry, Bietre, Mont Rouge, Vanves and Issy north and east of the city are three great forts around St. Denis, and two others at Fort Aubervilliers and Fort Charenton commanding the approaches from the great wood of Bondy.

Defences Require 170,000 Men

The outer circle of forts, which are of the most modern type, have from 24 to 60 heavy guns, and 600 to 1,200 men. In all the three lines of defences require 170,000 men to operate them, not counting troops assembled within the city. According to military experts, it would require a force of 500,000 men to invest these defences.

General Count Von Moltke, field marshal of the German forces at the time of the siege of Paris of 1870-71 stated in a report on that siege that the French artillery armament consisted of more than 2,600 pieces, including 200 of the largest calibre of naval ordnance. There were 500 rounds for each gun, and a reserve of 3,000,000 kilograms of powder. Count Von Moltke emphasized that the bombardment of a fortified place in the heart of an enemy's country was difficult, if not impossible, unless the invader was master of the railways or waterways by which heavy siege artillery could be brought up in full quantity. He explains the failure to bombard Paris at the outset of the siege by saying it would have required 200 heavy guns with 500 rounds for each gun. The movement forward of these heavy guns would have required 4,500 four-wheeled waggons and 10,000 horses, which were not available.

At a later stage the Germans brought up their big siege guns attacking the ancient and other ports, and dropping 300 to 400 15-centimetre shells into the heart of the city. Notwithstanding the fury of the German attacks, Paris withstood the siege for 132 days. Since then the entire new and outer third line of defence has been erected and military experts say the fortifications as a whole are far more formidable than those which resisted the siege of 1870-71.

Ten Men Face Great Difficulties

The embargo is lifted it will certainly have a good effect on the tea trade, for as it is we will have no tea in three weeks or less," said the manager of the Salada Tea Co. when told that a cablegram stated that the tea embargo was to be raised, "although we are cutting down all orders to the smallest possible dimension. For instance, we had orders from Detroit last week for 42,000 lbs. We cut these down to 20,000 lbs., so throughout the United States we will be Canada. It is a fact that the embargo is to be taken off will still take five weeks to get teas here from London, and it may take very much longer, because of the difficulties of getting steamers to carry."

To be sure we have lots of difficulties with which to deal besides the embargo, freight has nearly doubled, war risk insurance, the impossibility of obtaining exchange on London, which, none of the banks here have to sell, at least they had not two or three days ago when we were trying to buy."

To add to our troubles, on Friday last we received a telegram stating that the S. S. Kedong had arrived at Boston with a lot of tea for us which we wish to have rushed here, but the American Express Co. who were to rush the shipment up here, advise us that the steamship company are holding up the whole cargo. We have other teas on the "City of Norwich" and the "City Durham," both of which are some place in the Mediterranean, but away behind time.

As to the future of tea—we are just as much in doubt as though we were not in the trade at all. We have never had so much worry and trouble in our forty years existence. This has been chiefly brought about by abuse from our customers for not delivering their orders in full, when we positively have not the tea to deliver.

The public can depend on the Salada Tea Co., serving them as it has for twenty-five years back, with the finest quality of tea at the very lowest price at which it can be sold.

HOT WEATHER AILMENTS

A medicine that will keep children well is a great boon to every mother. This is just what Baby's Own Tablets do. An occasional dose keeps the little stomach and bowels tight and prevents sickness. During the hot summer months stomach troubles rapidly turn to fatal diarrhoea and cholera infantum, and if Baby's Own Tablets are not at hand the child may die in a few hours.

Wise mothers always keep the tablets in the home and give their children an occasional dose to clear out the stomach and bowels and keep them well. Don't wait till baby is ill—the delay may cost a precious life. Get the tablets now and you may feel reasonably safe. Every mother who uses the Tablets praises them and that is the best evidence there is no other medicine for little ones so good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Tea Embargo Removed
Price Drops Five Cents

Salada Tea Company Announces Reduction—Will Buy Tea from Grocers.

The Salada Tea company announced Tuesday that they had reduced the prices of their teas five cents a pound. They make the following announcement:

The embargo on tea has been definitely removed in England, and however temporary this may be, we have taken advantage of it to immediately reduce our prices five cents per pound.

This is in spite of the fact that war risk insurance and freights are still abnormally high, and that no shipments have yet been made from Ceylon or India.

All these considerations leave the tea situation, while relieved somewhat from last week, still in a very difficult condition and it is impossible to see a week ahead.

We are undertaking to take back all the tea we shipped last week from the grocer, and pay him for it exactly what he paid us. The cost of this will be very large, but we know this is the only way in which the interests of both the consumer and the grocer can be safeguarded.

A DISTINCTIVE COW

Sandwiched in among ordinary yields there are occasional extraordinary yields that make the heart of the good cow's owner because he has taken the trouble to record her actual production. While the ordinary cows in July were giving their meagre doses of seven hundred or six hundred pounds of milk and twenty four or twenty pounds of fat, a grade cow in Quebec gave 1,579 pounds of milk, testing 5.8, yielding 74 pounds of fat.

A cow like that is surely accomplishing something. In six months of such work she would give as food for humanity more digestible nutrients than would be afforded by live average dressed steers. She is giving far more back than the energy contained in her food than the best skilled engineer can obtain from a quadruple expansion engine for the fuel consumed. It pays to feed good cows well; it also pays any farmer to find out, by keeping record of each cow, just what each produces. In ordinary way, the above excellent cow would be lumped in with the "average" of the district, while she really deserves a distinct niche to herself in the hall of fame. Perhaps dairy records will discover some distinctive cows in your herd. Build your herd of selected individuals.

Don't Grow Bald

It cures dandruff, it cures itching scalp and makes the hair soft, abundant and radiant with life. Really good for men, women and children—every one needs it. A large bottle of this delightful hair tonic can be had from W. J. Manley's or any drug counter for 50 cents. You will say that Parisian Sage is no other "just-as-good"—Try it now.

PARK HEAD

(Two late for last week)

Miss Mary Cook, of Midway, spent a few days visiting friends in and around Park Head.

Miss C. Holland, of Owen Sound, is holidaying with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith went to Owen Sound from Saturday to Monday.

Stanley Bourke has returned from the North West where he has been for a number of years.

Mrs. J. C. Milne and two children, Alvin and Vidal returned to their home in London a few days ago.

Mr. Walter Spencer, of Battle Creek Michigan is at present visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Mrs. M. N. Barr, of Owen Sound, spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith.

Rev. Wallace Johnston, of Shallow Lake occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church here Sunday Morning. Rev. Mr. MacLennan taking Mr. Johnston's work at Shallow Lake.

A severe electrical storm passed over this district on Thursday evening, torrents of rain fell and the lightning was very sharp. Very little damage reported other than many fields of grain which were in the stock were well soaked with rain and would delay the harvesting.

Misouri is a funny place. Last week a lad from the backwoods came further north and seeing a young lady playing the piano, ran to his brother saying, "Oh Bill, come and see this girl. She is knocking regular thunder out of a burr." Two state senators were boasting one day of their qualifications as Jeffersonians. One said, "I am a minister," the other said, "I am a lawyer, and I'll bet you ten dollars you don't know the Lord's Prayer." The money went up and the Missouri clergyman began, "Now, I lay me down to sleep, etc." "It is your money," said the lawyer. "I did not believe you knew it. I have not heard it all before in twenty years."

HOW TO GET STRENGTH

After sickness is purely a matter of nourishment, whether the attack was an ordinary cold or severe illness, the weakened forces cannot rebuild disease germs, and this is why a relapse is so often fatal or why chronic weakness often follows sickness. Restoring strength to millions of people has been the motto of the great need for taking Scott's Emulsion after any sickness; nothing equals it—nothing compares with it. The pure, medicinal, sweet-tasting, free from alcohol or opiates, promptly creates rich blood, strengthens the nerves and lungs to avert tuberculosis.

THESUROR'S SALE OF LANDS FOR ARREARS OF TAXES.

COUNTY OF BRUCE, TO-WIT:

By virtue of a Warrant issued under the hand of the Warden of the County of Bruce and the Seal of the said County, bearing date the 20th day of June, A.D. 1914, and to me directed, commanding me to levy upon the several parcels of land hereinafter described for the arrears of taxes respectively due thereon, together with all costs incurred, I hereby give notice that, pursuant to The Assessment Act, R.S.O. 1914, and By-law No. 17 of the County of Bruce, designated "A. By-law to divide the County of Bruce into three districts for the purpose of tax sale of lands," I shall, unless such arrears of taxes and charges are sooner paid, proceed to sell by Public Auction no much of the said lands as may be necessary for the payment of the said arrears of taxes, costs and charges thereon at the following mentioned time and place for each of the several districts mentioned in the aforesaid By-law:

The camping season is now practically over and most of the summer residents of Oshington and other resorts have returned to their respective homes. Last week saw a large oxodus from Lake Huron.

Already some threshing has been done and while fall wheat, rye and oat showing us was expected, yet oats will be an exceedingly good crop going as high as 50, 60 and in some cases well on to 75 bushels per acre.

While there is still work in town for all day laborers and nearly all the mechanics, yet in many other towns the factories are running only two or three days in the week, so the laboring classes in Warton have reason to be thankful.

Port Henderson, Shallow Lake, was in town Saturday. He stated that the hardware store in the village had been looted, but the thieves were soon caught. They were located in Owen Sound with a few watches and jewellery in their possession.

Bob took them a box of cigars, which was duly appreciated, and Major Fletcher left them his fine new tent for a mess room. W. SYMON & SONS*Ladies' Jackets

This season's showing is undoubtedly the largest and most complete we have ever shown. The styles are new and up-to-date and not freakish. We have endeavored as far as possible to avoid repetitions so that except in the case of plain blacks, blues, and neutral shades in tweels, you may depend on getting an individual garment, one that we guarantee will not be duplicated in the town. We advise an early selection. Our range is very large, nearly 100 garments, but already the demand has started. As you know, there is always a pick and choice even though the actual value does not differ is practically complete. We were fortunate enough to get our purchases of Old Country goods to a large extent delivered before the war. Our range of the fashionable fabrics was never better for Suits and Dresses. Plaids and Roman Stripes are the new features. You will find both well represented here, and notwithstanding the fact that prices of goods—particularly silks, ribbons, etc.—have advanced very considerably, we guarantee that not a single advance will be made on any article in our huge stock. We believe we are patriotic enough not to wish to take advantage of a situation such as at present exists.

$7.50 to $23.75

Our Range of Fall Suitings, Cloakings, etc.

Trapped in the Baltic or Germany's Greatest Mistake

(SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, NEW YORK)

Thus far, the most important lesson that by the great European war is the supreme importance of the command of the sea. A few days ago, the German fleet most formidable in numbers and second to none in its fighting qualities was free to steam where it would upon high seas, and the flag of its merchant marine was flown on every ocean and in every great port of the world. To-day the German battle fleet is shut up in the Baltic, its cruisers, hurried by the more powerful armed ships of the allies to establish the supreme command of the seas, for want of coal, and the ships of its truly magnificent merchant marine are either sheltering in neutral ports or are being led as captives to the home ports of the enemy.

Furthermore, so swift have been the moves of the allies to establish the supreme command of the seas that already within two weeks of the declaration of war, Great Britain has been able to notify her merchant fleet that the customary routes of travel have been cleared of the enemy and as she holds the North Sea so completely in her hand that she has already landed over 100,000 troops upon the German right flank in Belgium.

To our minds the most convincing proof of the catalytic nature of the upheaval in Europe is to be found in the fact that the opening of the war found both the German navy and its vast merchant marine totally unprepared for the emergency. If it does not prove that, at least it proves that Germany had not the slightest expectation that the British navy would be brought into the conflict. Had there been the slightest suspicion, at Berlin, that the violation of the neutrality of Belgium would have brought the whole British Empire to the relief of the little kingdom, it is certain that some provision would have been made for the recall of German cruisers on distant stations, and for the withdrawal of the richer prizes of the German merchant marine to the home ports of the empire.

For many long decades to come and, indeed, until the secret and inner history of the war shall have been disclosed it will be a profound mystery that Germany should have so ruthlessly sacrificed the far-flung fleet of her merchant marine for among the many great things that Germany has done in the last forty years there is nothing finer than the seal, ality, and brilliant success with which she has built up her merchant fleet and strung out her world-encircling lines of foreign commerce. Hence the wonder of it all, that rather than sacrifice a pre-arranged strategic line of attack upon the enemy Germany should have submitted to the submitted to the absolute wiping out of the wonderful system of ships and commerce which she has so patiently built up through the past fifty years of her existence.

For the United States, this tragedy (if it is nothing else) carries an obvious lesson. There is every probability that the conclusion of this war will find us in the possession of a numerous and well equipped merchant marine, and if we are wise to pay heed to the warning which is so plainly written that "who runs runs away," we shall see to it that our naval strength is increased in such proportions, that such a disaster as has swept away the great German merchant marine can never overtake our own.

Value of Rheuma From the Court

Judge Barhurst was Relieved of Rheumatism after Doctors Failed.

If you have tried many other remedies and doctors' treatments for Rheumatism and found they failed, do not be skeptical about trying RHEUMA. Read the testimony of Judge John Barhurst of Fort Louisa, O.

"After treatment by three doctors without result, I have been cured of a very bad case of Rheumatism by using two bottles of RHEUMA. It is now two years since I used the remedy, and I am still as well as ever. Previously, I was a cripple, walking with crutches."

Such testimony should be convincing. 50 cents at W. J. Manley's guaranteed.

Richards QUICK NAPHA THE WOMAN'S SOAP

Editorial

LAST week a new Pope was put in the Pontiff's chair, Benedict XV, but so great is the interest in the war news that this election did not receive much notice.

AND so Germans in the United States are reported to have said "On to Canada." Well, let them come, and there will be thousands of Veterans again ready to meet them.

IF the Ontario Government is going to spend money on the highways in order to make work for the unemployed it would be a good time to build the centre road on the Bruce Peninsula.

THE following despatch from Ottawa will be significant of many more which will be similar for some time on account of the war—"Immigration to Canada during the first quarter of the present fiscal year, April to July, totalled 105,631, as compared with 250,906 for the corresponding period of last year. The decrease is 145,275, or fifty-eight per cent. British immigration from April to July inclusive was 32,312 or 60,862 less than last year. Immigration from the United States was 34,903, a decrease of 19,110. Immigration from all other countries totalled 38,389 a decrease of 59,373.

God and Victory

(The Presbyterian)

THE Emperor of Germany has repeatedly expressed his confidence that the cause for which he is fighting in the present war is the cause of Heaven, and has been prompt to ascribe the successes which his soldiers have won to the favor of God.

One cannot help feeling that the Kaiser's piety would be more admirable if it were touched with humility, if it were not so complacent in its assurance that God is on the side of Germany. Apparently the Imperial mind finds no difficulty in believing that the Almighty Judge was a consenting party to the breach of faith involved in the invasion of Belgium, and is disposed to bless and prosper the proceedings based upon that act of dishonor.

The Kaiser is probably not alone in thinking that victory in battle is a token of divine approval and defeat a token of divine displeasure. Neither supposition is necessarily true. If we were, we should have to suppose that the all-conquering Assyrians were in their day, the favorites of heaven—the nation to whom the prophet: Nahum declared, "Behold, I am against thee, saith the Lord of Hosts."

The highest mission a nation can have is to be an instrument in the hands of God for the elevation and advancement of the human race. As in the case of an individual, so in the case of a nation, God's instruments may sometimes have to be perfected through suffering, "Whom the Father loveth He chasteneth."

Defeat and humiliation may sometimes be appointed by God for those whom He would fit for the highest service. Suffering, as the other hand may be the purgatorial judgment for it is the conquering nation that is most apt to acquire the pride that goes before destruction, the haughty spirit that is the prelude to a fall.

For a nation, as for an individual, only one thing really matters—that is to be on the side of God. Happy are they who, in defeat, can say, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea." Happy are they who, when victorious, are kept from arrogance through faith in God and who realize that they have been allowed to conquer only that they may the more effectually serve.

PURE BLOOD MEANS HEALTH

Pure Blood Can Best Be Obtained Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

If people would realize the importance of keeping the blood rich and pure there would be less sickness. The blood is the means through which the nourishment gained from food reaches the different parts of the body. If the blood is impure the nourishment that reaches the nerves, bone and muscle is tainted with poison and disease follows. The blood is also the medium by which the body fights off disease. If the blood is thin and watery this power of resistance to disease is weakened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood. They increase the ability of the body to resist disease. They strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, cure headache, backache, and any disease caused by thin or impure blood.

If you are suffering and your blood is thin or impure there is a large probability that your condition is caused by the condition of your blood. You should study your own case. If you lack ambition, are short of breath after slight exercise, are pale or sallow, have no appetite are not refreshed by sleep, if you have backache or headache, rheumatic pains or stomach trouble the treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is worth investigating. You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PAU REPORTS VICTORY

British Force Annihilates the German Imperial Guard.

Crown Prince Said To Have Been In Midst of Regiments Wiped Out By British Troops—French Wing of the Allied Line Was Also Successful—Germans Forced To Retreat.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—A Boulevard des Capucines report received from Gen. Pau, announcing a victory by the allied forces under Field Marshal Sir John French, commanding the British, and Gen. d'Amade at Verdun, about 25 miles north of Paris.

"The allies were drawn across the northern line with the centre at Perle, and the British troops were on the left, and the French on the right. The former had in front of them the Imperial Guard, under Crown Prince Rupprecht, of Bavaria.

"On both wings, it is reported, the allies were successful. The German line was held by the French and retired to the north. It is reported that the Imperial Guard, who were ordered to surrender, were annihilated by the British. It is reported that the crown prince was in their midst."

The official bureau says: "Gen. Joffre's plans are being steadily carried out. The allied forces, on the offensive, have been successful in checking and forcing back a northern drive of the German forces opposed to them."

The French War Office has made the following official statement:—"The allies are now engaged in a general action on battle lines extending from Nanteuil-le-Hardouin through Meaux, Soissons and Vitry-le-François, extending as far as Verdun."

"The fighting is very vigorous and the action of our own troops is powerfully assisted by the British army."

"The German troops, who had advanced day before yesterday and yesterday as far as the region of Comblanchette and La Perle, are in the department of Seine-et-Marne, last evening were compelled to retreat."

The following official communication was issued last night:—"First, the allies have advanced the left wing without energetic opposition from the enemy."

"Second, the situation is unchanged in our centre in the centre of Verdun, our forces alternately advancing and retreating. There have been some partial successes on our right in the Vosges."

"Third, the advancing troops and the allies defending Paris have had several combats on the Ourcq river with the results in favor of the allies."

"Fourth, the Minister of War has telegraphed to the governor of Meaux, expressing the Government's admiration for the heroic defence, and saying: 'You stop at nothing to prolong resistance until the hour of your approaching deliverance, which I hope will be soon.'

"The commander-in-chief has placed the name of the governor of Meaux, and the name of the day for his splendid defence."

It was officially announced last night that the Germans are retreating from the line of Nanteuil-le-Hardouin to Verdun after a vigorous action with French and British troops.

An earlier official statement given out in Paris yesterday said that a general action had started on the line from Nanteuil-le-Hardouin to Verdun, a distance of 120 miles. It then said that thanks to the vigorous action of the French troops supported by the British the Germans had "started retreating." Unofficial advice from Berlin also has indicated that a battle of tremendous importance was being fought in the territory described.

Source disclosed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The French Embassy announced yesterday that it had received a cablegram from its Government at Bordeaux saying that the French army at Soissons was evacuated by the allies, and that the north and south movement of the German army continues.

The despatch was as follows: "On Sept. 6 the north-south movement of the German army continued. Counters and Epernay are the base of the German army. This army was attacked by us at Saint Soupplets, on the right bank of the River Ourcq."

"Soissons has been evacuated by us. On the road from Montfaucon to Châlons the second army has sent its advanced guard. As for the third and fourth, the heads of their columns are on the road from Châlons and Burey."

"The head of the fifth army has reached the road from Triancourt, moving through the Argonne. Our 20th corps was fighting at Gerberviller against the sixth German army."

SITUATION IS CRITICAL

Everything Depends on Outcome of Present Battle.

Army Which Loses In Operations East of Paris Will Be In Danger of Strains Says Strategist—Allies and Germans Now In About Equal Strength—Kaiser Believed To Be In the Field.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—News received here from the theatre of war in France shows that more than 4,000,000 men are engaged on both sides in that country. Of that number, 2,000,000 are Germans and the rest are with the allies. The number of British, French and Belgian troops is said to equal that of the invaders.

According to unofficial advice, the German army have been driven back. The French army under Gen. Joffre, and the forces commanded by Sir John French, are reported to be in a critical position and that a defeat for either would be fatal. The battle line extends over an irregular line of 120 miles from east to west and 60 miles from north to south. The reported defeat of the Germans from Lille is declared to be due to their lack of attack in an army of British and Russian reinforcements believed to have landed at a port on the English Channel.

Reports current in military quarters say a portion of the British expeditionary force is at Maubeuge, a French fortress on the first line of the Department du Nord, assisting the French garrison there in a defence which is being stoutly maintained. Official German reports admit that the fortress still resists.

Military experts agree with French officers that Paris will not be besieged as long as the French and British armies remain active in the field. It said the possession of the city itself would have a sentimental value. The German general staff is believed to realize that fact and consequently more depends on the battle now raging than on any move since the war.

In the region from Vitry-le-François to Verdun, the German strength is declared to be enormous. Most of the German forces withdrawn from Alsace-Lorraine are supposed to be attacking the allies round Verdun. The armies of the Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, the Duke of Albrecht of Wurttemberg and the Crown Prince of Bavaria are also included in them.

The Kaiser himself, it is reported, has been directing the new movement. He is reported as having joined the army that is directed by his heir. The Emperor's presence on the battlefield there has not been confirmed, however.

The present move of the Germans is supposed to be an attempt to crush the allies, especially the French centre and right, which include 13 or 14 army corps. The German military science says the operations in the east of France on which the Germans are now engaged, is a critical one, and that it may lay open the way to a most damaging offensive. The Germans are apparently engaged in a line of considerable magnitude. The general opinion favors the allies beginning an offensive movement. The French army on the left is reported to be moving forward to co-operate with the French armies to the right of the line. The allies are expected to take advantage of the situation and to force a decisive struggle.

A cablegram from the French legation at Antwerp confirms the previous announcement of the success of the Anglo-French troops in driving the Germans back 15 miles beyond St. Quentin, indicating terrible losses to the enemy.

The news contained in the French official communication that the Germans had fallen back before the vigorous advance by the allied troops on the line from Nanteuil-le-Hardouin to Verdun indicates that the Anglo-French army has gained the flank of the German right wing, which passed by Paris on the north and was marching eastward to join with the crown prince's army coming south.

It has been suggested by military experts that Gen. von Kluck's movement to the southeast was taken as a matter of precaution before the movement by the allies from the coast. It is possible it is this new army which has reached Nanteuil-le-Hardouin, thus cutting Gen. von Kluck's flank. The engagement took place Sunday, and that evening the Germans began their retirement.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company yesterday gave out the following German official statement:

"The German army administration reports that in the west, the allied armies are in retreat between Paris and Verdun, and that the German troops between Paris and Verdun are empty, and the only scene of action there is around the railway stations, which are filled with thousands of fugitives. The German papers do not consider that Paris will defend itself to the utmost."

Word received says that train service between Paris and Dieppe has been suspended.

Triple Pact Important.

ROME, Sept. 8.—(Via Paris).—The Corbis Italia, commenting yesterday on the undertaking signed by the powers of the Triple Treaty, in which it was agreed that none of the three would accept terms of peace without the previous consent of the other two, says that the undertaking will have enormous importance in the event of a war in Germany. It will serve as a warning to certain Balkan states, the paper declares.

BRITISH CRUISER LOST.

German Mine Destroyer Pathfinder—City of Crewe Sunk.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—It is learned on reliable authority that the captain and fifty of the crew of the British cruiser Pathfinder, which was sunk by a mine in the North Sea, have been picked up.

It was officially given out last night, that four men were killed and thirty-four saved, and 24 men are missing; of the missing about fifty have been picked up.

The destruction of the Pathfinder occurred about forty miles Saturday afternoon at a point ten miles northeast of St. Abbs Head, Scotland. While she was patrolling the coast the cruiser struck a mine which exploded near her magazine. Travelers 10 miles distant felt the shock. From Eyemouth, 14 miles from the scene of the explosion, a huge cloud of smoke was visible on the horizon.

The Pathfinder was literally blown to pieces. The sea was strewn with the wreckage. The devastating effect of the explosion on the Pathfinder is emphasized by the fact that the ship, which was the St. Abbs motor lifeboat, which first arrived to give assistance. He says that for a mile and a half the sea was covered with wreckage of every conceivable description.

A message received in London states that in addition to the motor lifeboat several steam drifters hurried to the spot where the Pathfinder was sunk. The British navy, on reliable authority that the captain of the Pathfinder and some 50 or 60 of his crew were saved.

About ninety of the crew of the Pathfinder, dead and wounded, were picked up by torpedo boats and taken to a hospital at the naval base. Capt. Leach and his officers and crew were saved. According to an official announcement the casualties among the officers were killed, and one seriously wounded, and one slightly wounded.

The Pathfinder was built for scouting purposes of Gosport, Hampshire. She entered the service last October and was reported a short time ago as having engaged a German cruiser.

TO INVADE HUNGARY.

Two Russian Armies Make Unexpected Move Against Hungary.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 8.—Two Russian armies are marching to invade Hungary from the north, while the third is forcing back combined Austrian and German forces that are trying to avert a Russian advance straight on to Berlin, according to an announcement made by the general staff yesterday.

The entrance into Hungarian territory, probably will be made through Borgo and Zsek passes, in the Carpathian Mountains. The way to the north is being cleared by the capture of Cserowitz and Lemberg. The forces that will proceed through Borgo Pass are said to be five army corps, 200,000 men, and three headed for Zsek Pass eight corps (320,000 men).

The Russian advance covers a line that extends from Tiliat, northeast of the fortress of Koenigsberg, and extends across Poland, through Mlawka, and into the Russian territory, the province of Radom into eastern Galicia.

The Austrians are in Russian Poland are being pressed hard, and the Germans are rushing reinforcements to the help of the Austrians. The German forces sent to reinforce the Austrians have fortified positions along the line of the San, but so far their artillery has not come up, and the Russian advance is being pushed forward by close surveillance before they are made more formidable.

SUMMARINER DARING FEAT.

British Craft Penetrated Harbor Under German Fleet.

HULL, Sept. 8.—Early last week the destroyers and submarines of the British fleet, by close surveillance, discovered a passage between the mines which the German destroyers used in coming out to the North Sea. With that information in hand, a flotilla of submarines and destroyers proceeded to round up the boats to which the German fleet was attached. The German fleet was not seen, and had been given up for lost, when suddenly reappeared with a flotilla of submarines.

The submarine had actually penetrated into the harbor of Bremerhaven, where she fired two torpedoes which sank the German battleship. In the midst of the panic the submarine "went to sleep" on the bottom of the harbor.

For hours the ship remained there while the harbor was being trawled, but fortunately the trawlers were not successful. It soon was considered it was safe for the commander gave the order to proceed out of the German harbor, the submarine which had been in the North Sea without any mishap.

Trying To Escape China.

PEKING, Sept. 8.—Presenting to the Foreign Office, communicating yesterday on the undertaking signed by the powers of the Triple Treaty, in which it was agreed that none of the three would accept terms of peace without the previous consent of the other two, says that the undertaking will have enormous importance in the event of a war in Germany. It will serve as a warning to certain Balkan states, the paper declares.

ARMY WRECKLESS

Austrian Force Completely Destroyed—Organized by Defeat.

London General Staff Give Out Complete Story of the Operations on the Galician Frontier, and Reports That Capture of Austrians and War Supplies Have Been Huge, Says Bulletin.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 8.—(Via London).—The Russian general staff yesterday issued the following account of the "strategic" movement of the army of Lemberg, capital of Galicia:

"In the offensive against the Lublin-Kholm front, the main Austrian force deployed on the Zolochov, Zhanoff, Bigoray, Tomashoff and Sela line. The second Austrian army, composed of the third, eleventh and twelfth corps and five divisions of cavalry, gathered in the region east of Lemberg in order to cover this operation."

"When the Russian troops were taking the offensive the Austrian concentration had not been completed, and the Russian army, by a series of serious and successful attacks, compelled the enemy to reinforce this army still more with the troops of the repulsed thirteenth and fourteenth corps, thus making a total of twelve divisions and several brigades of the Landsturm."

"Our troops broke the Lishch, Dubno and Proskurov districts crossed the frontier on Aug. 20 and marched on Lemberg for the purpose of thwarting the Austrian offensive movement and acting against the flank of the enemy. This offensive was hampered by the numerous affluents of the Dniester river, and the Russian army, by a series of successful attacks, forced the enemy to retreat in a desperate contest."

"Between Aug. 21 and Sept. 1 in one district of the upper course of the Gullia Lipsa alone, where the enemy was concentrated, the Russians lost 12,000 men killed and wounded."

The retreat of the enemy after his defeat at Lemberg, was characterized by disorderly flight and panic, and the Russians took 200 guns, together with baggage and tens of thousands of prisoners. It is believed that the remnants of the second Austrian army is now no longer at any military value."

"Concerning the operations of the Russian army in Galicia official reports say that the enemy is retreating from the region of Lemberg, leaving 4,000 dead on the field. The Russians took 32 cannon and railway material."

WAR CARRIED INTO AFRICA.

Three British Colonies Have Had Minor Clashes With Germans.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Fighting has now taken place in three African colonies as a consequence of the European war in Europe. In Cape Colony, and in German East Africa, and in German Southwest Africa.

In Cape Colony, the Germans have invaded the Orange District from a fortified position on their side of the Orange river, where there is a railway and communication with Luderburg, the port of the German diamond industry and with Windhoek, the capital of Southwest Africa.

The Germans keep 3,000 white troops in Southwest Africa, besides 5,000 black troops and there is a military system compelling German settlers to bear arms. There are about 5,000 white troops in the South African defence force under Gen. Botha, have checked this invasion at Upington, a village on the Orange river, where the population is 3,000, many of whom were attracted by the local copper mines.

The fighting in East Africa is said to have been undertaken by Boers and gunboats. This is not surprising, for the Boers who trooped there during the South African war, fell out with the Germans, and crossed the frontier. They have not forgotten their grievances against the Kaiser's administration.

Whatever is the result of the war, it is difficult to imagine that the system of government by mailed fist will continue in the German African colonies. Herr Dernburg had much difficulty in pacifying the German settlers in the colonies when he toured the colonies when he toured the colonies. There is a large population of British Indians at Dar-es-Salaam, who trade with Zanzibar, but a practical experience is that they will no longer be able to purchase goods, because the German silver currency is not likely to be accepted by Indian traders just now.

FRENCH LOSSES HEAVY.

Out of Total Casualties of 100,000 About 90,000 Are Dead.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Standard's Paris correspondent in a telegram yesterday says that the losses of the French army in the battle of the Marne were estimated at 100,000 men. The Standard's Paris correspondent estimated that the majority of the missing are dead, and the total number of dead is said to exceed 100,000.

Another estimate, however, made with the same probability of accuracy, but it is thought that the French army has lost more than 150,000 men, of whom between 10,000 and 15,000 are estimated to have been killed.

Headquarters of Enemy Broken—Says Russian War Office.

Now Evident, Says Official Statement—Austrian Despatch Admits Capture of Lemberg and Says Huge Battle Is Now In Progress Near Hrubieslow.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 8.—The following official announcement was given out yesterday:—"The Russian army is now engaged in a battle between the River Vistula and the River Bug are retreating with enormous losses."

"The resistance of the enemy has been broken. There are evidences of the possibility of a final breakthrough. The Russian general staff, in an official communication, last night says:—

"The sphere of operations around Lubawa (32 miles northwest of Lemberg, in Galicia), the Russian forces continue a number of serious and successful attacks, which have taken numerous prisoners, together with artillery and ammunition trains."

"Five hundred Austrian soldiers are in the hospitals suffering from dysentery, which is said to be ravaging the ranks of the enemy. On the Russian front there have been only insignificant skirmishes."

Awaiting Aid, Say Austrians.

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The main Austrian army invasion, commanded by Gen. Moritz von Auffenberg and Dankl, are desperately engaged to try with an offensive movement to force between Hrubieslow, Russian Poland, and the Galician border.

The Russian troops are commanded by Gen. Ruzhicki, who recently forced the Austrians to evacuate Lemberg, and it is stated here that the Russians outnumber the Austrians four to one. The Austrians are heavily entrenched and are fighting on the defence, pending the arrival of reinforcements from Romania.

Gen. Von Auffenberg in his official report admits that his armies are badly pressed.

In Galicia the Austrian forces of the San river have been reinforced and the Germans are bringing up their heavy guns. The centre of the Russian army is the fortification at Przemyel, west of Lemberg. The Austrian position there is heavily fortified and new guns have been mounted which command a sweep of the river. These guns proved very effective, and the Russian supply train was completely destroyed.

Surrounding Przemyel.

ROME, Sept. 8.—An official report from Russia says that Russian troops are now surrounding Przemyel, a strongly fortified town in Galicia, fifty miles west of Lemberg. It is known that the town soon will be taken by the Russian army. The fall of Przemyel, it is said, would mean the loss of the last Austrian stronghold in Galicia. It would then clear the way to a Russian forward advance to the junction of their forces in the East Prussian frontier.

Unofficial news which has reached here state that the Austrians will continue their fight southwest of Lemberg.

Will Open Road To Berlin.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The "Times" correspondent wires from Petrograd that if the overthrow of the Austrians in the battle now raging in southern Poland is as complete as that around Lemberg, the road to Berlin will be wide open.

The Austrians have made despairing appeals to Germany for help. Military observers in Russia believe that the German plans in France may be profoundly modified by Russia's successes in Galicia.

Fortifying Vienna.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—After the news of the fall of Lemberg, became known in Vienna, the correspondent of the Havas Agency says more than 20,000 men were sent to work with feverish haste on the fortifications of Vienna, and many thousands of others began fortifying the banks of the Danube.

DINANT DESTROYED.

Germans Burn City and Shoot Hundreds of the Citizens.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—An Ostend despatch to Reuters' Telegram Co. says:—"The Germans in a few hours, by shell fire and incendiary, destroyed Dinant, the Meuse. Hundreds of male inhabitants were shot, including one party of one hundred prominent citizens, who were executed together in the Field d'Armes."

"The Germans alleged that the civilians had fired shots into Dinant from the heights. While the shooting and burning were going on the women residents of the city were confined in the convents."

"Among those shot were M. Hummer, the wealthy manager of a large weaving factory, and M. Poncelet, son of a former Senator. The latter was killed in the presence of his wife and children."

appeared at a branch of the National Bank, where they demanded the cash in the safe. The manager, M. Waelaere, refused to hand it over, whereupon he, together with his two sons, was shot."

Is Chasing Hungarians.

MONTELUPI, Sept. 8.—The Watson Navigation Co.'s steamer Walsingham reported on arrival here yesterday that she picked up a wireless message from the Australian Dreadnought Australia, then in Halmahera waters, saying that she was in full chase of the German cruiser Nürnberg, which left here Sept. 1.

The Warton District meeting of the Methodist church was held yesterday in Tara. It was attended by all the Ministers of this denomination from Tobermory to Dobbington. The work was chiefly financial and planning for the future.

Last year there were 256 tickets sold at the Warton station for Toronto during the fair, and this year there will not likely be 50. The reason is not hard to seek. Those who have gone this year have done so for business reasons pure and simple. This is, not the year to waste money on travel, and everyone is taking time by the forelocks.

This meeting is in harmony with the wish of the heads of the various denominations in Canada, who have sent out a circular asking that all people pray for peace.

A few days ago a stranger appeared near Hepworth and was begging for food. He could not speak the English language, and when it was discovered that he was an Austrian the people decided to not quickly. Just what he might do they didn't propose to wait and see. Accordingly he was arrested, brought to Warton, put into the cooler and in due time brought before the Police Magistrate. He was a vagrant, so the case was clear, and he eventually was a little dazed, so he was sent to goal.

This season's showing is undoubtedly the largest and most complete we have ever shown. The styles are new and up-to-date and not freakish. We have endeavored as far as possible to avoid repetitions so that except in the case of plain shades, blues, and neutral shades in tweeds, you may depend on getting an individual garment, one that we guarantee will not be duplicated in the town. We advise an early selection. Our range is very large, nearly 100 garments, but already the demand has started. Our range of the fashionable fabrics was never better for Suits and Dresses. Plaids and Roman Stripes are the new features. You will find both well represented here, and notwithstanding the fact that prices of goods—particularly silks, ribbons, etc.—have advanced very considerably, we guarantee that not a single advance will be made on any article in our huge stock. ## The World's Press on the War

The People Versus the Sword

New York World:—"The new treaty of London can have no other meaning than that all the resources of men and money of the greatest Empire ever known have been enlisted for the war and are to be thrown into the balance. It will take time to make them available, but with a resolute spirit behind them it is certain that eventually they will bear heavily upon their adversaries. The prospect is gloomy enough to impress even those who are at peace, for it foreshadows a strain upon civilization such as has never before known. It is to be a contest not so much between peoples and empires as between systems. It is British self-dependence, British sea power, British commerce and British wealth, world-wide in their extent, in a life-and-death struggle with consolidated German autocracy and militarism, which for forty years have hardened mankind with armaments and menaced it with war. "It is the rule of the people or the rule of the sword, not in Britain alone, not in Germany alone, but throughout the earth, now and for generations to come."

The Truth about Germany

New York Times:—"Some of the chief men of the Empire have put forth a book that is professedly written as the appeal of Germany for the sympathy and support of the people of the United States. Among the authors of the volume are a former Chancellor, a Field Marshal, a President of the Reichstag, several university professors, prominent men of business and finance, and some of the princely title. A case that enlisted plauders of this high distinction must in truth need buttressing, and it is an occasion for regret that they have not been able to make a better defence. The blame does not rest with them. No voice or pen, however eloquent or gifted, can convince an impartial world of the justice of Germany's cause or change the rooted belief of right-thinking men that she is battling for ends that, attained, would retard the advance of civilization and make the peace, the prosperity, and the happiness of the nations less secure."

Keying on Britain

Echo de Paris:—"We have never doubted the decisions taken in London. They mark one of the greatest events of history. Rarely has Great Britain been seen to interfere with all her forces in a war between the peoples of the continent. That only happens about once in a century, and when she has intervened the conflict has never terminated until the power which she was fighting for supremacy has been beaten and the equilibrium of Europe restored."

MILLER LAKE

Mrs. John Rouse and son Jim were over to Lions Head on Friday. We are pleased to hear that Will Rouse, who has been at the sister's Mrs. McCutcheon of Ferndale, and who has been sick, is getting better. The tag Queen and scow were in at Pine Tree on Wednesday loading lumber for Philip Forbes. J. T. Rouse was over to Lions Head on Wednesday. That seems to be a good move for every farmer in Bruce County to give one bag of oats as a gift to British cavalry as no one would miss a bag, yet when everyone gives one it makes a lot. Archie Ward and an insurance agent from Warton were up here on Friday. Archie was buying lambs and the insurance man was offering to write out some accident policy. We just see that happy-go-lucky Archie once a year but we were always glad to meet him. Allan Ashley, of Warton, and a couple of friends autoed up here on Monday on a pleasure and business. Messrs. Jensen and Hyatt, of Mar, were up here on Tuesday buying cattle. They went from here to Tobermory. E. R. Parkes and another agent were up here on Tuesday. Ernie did

Must Be Permanent Peace

Spectator:—"But suppose as in the past, confident they will, the German ideals of autocracy and militarism and monolith do not beat those of freedom and national independence, then there will be a great duty imposed upon us and upon the States with whom we are in alliance—a very difficult duty, and one which, the longer and harder in the fighting, will be the more difficult to accomplish. That duty can be expressed in a single sentence. It is to yield to no temptation, however great to let peace, when it comes, be merely a truce, a peace that shall have in it the seeds of future wars, which shall store up disaster for the future as assuredly as did the Peace of Frankfurt."

Worse Than Attila

Manitoba Free Press:—"The region around Louvain has from the earliest times been the theatre of war. It has witnessed the strife of many centuries. In more modern days the legions of France and Spain have again and again rolled past Louvain. But the recurring periods of peace always found the treasures of Louvain undisturbed. It has been left to modern Germany, ruled over by an Emperor who claims a close alliance with the Almighty, in the year of grace 1914, to plunge the world back into barbarism and savagery. What the fury of the Huns did not seek to accomplish has been wrought for us by the withering, paralyzing hand of German militarism."

Song and Victory

London Telegraph:—"Let no one think that a great war-hymn is a mere literary exercise. It is far more than that. It is a living thing. When nations are stirred to their depths they may be moved to frenzy by the song or the hymn which suddenly is found to be what, for fault of a better word, we call inspired. "Think of some of the songs which have stirred nations to their very souls. "Happy is the army which goes on singing longest, for where there is song there is victory."

What the Navy Has Done

Observer, London:—"There has been as yet no great naval action, but who amongst us realizes sufficiently what has already happened? Our own trade routes are exposed more fully than they ever were at the outset of any previous war. We have begun to capture and harry the enemy's colonies. We are sweeping up his ships. We have rigorously suppressed his ocean-borne commerce. If anything corresponding to these things had happened in land operations the whole world would have rung with it. They are things which strike to the very vitals of an opponent."

not have a horse that would die on him, and what he did have we could not give a name but it was something like a cross between an auto and a lumber wagon. Rob Shaw and Jim Nickless were on our settlement on Wednesday buying cattle and lambs. Jim Hawke, of Pine Tree was down to Warton this week after a gasoline engine to put in a new boat. When he gets it fitted up he will have a fine little launch. Frank Steip was down to Stokes Bay on a business trip on Thursday. Murdoch Martin, of Stokes Bay, was up here on Wednesday delivering enlarged pictures that he had taken orders for some time ago, and every one who got a photo enlarged is well pleased with it. Michael Sadleir made a business trip to Lions Head on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. John Noble were down to Bryn on Saturday and Sunday visiting the latter's mother Mrs. R. Hark. Mark Wise went down to his home at Lions Head on Saturday. He will soon be through with Noble's house. Henry Bouse Sr., of Cape Chin, is visiting his son J. T. Bouse, here. D. E. Jackson, in conducting a series of meetings here in the interests of the Pentecostal people here,

War Costliest in World's History

Paris—No war has been chronicled by history will have devoured such huge sums of money as the present battle of nations. The minimum cost is estimated here by economists at $2,000,000,000. The figures given by military writers coincide and agree that about 8,500,000 men are under arms for land warfare. To these must be added 340,000 seamen. If the Balkan War can be taken as an example, the cost of each man mobilized amounts to $2.50 per day. This gives about $22,100,000 daily, or $663,000,000 monthly. This figure is, however, considerably short of the mark, because it does not take into account the maintenance of the armies and fleets. The German Reichstag authorized extraordinary expenditure to the extent of $1,250,000,000, to be obtained by a loan, and a further sum of $70,000,000, to be drawn on the gold and silver reserve of the empire. It is now well known that the tax of 5 per cent, on the stock of notes issued by the Reichsbank over and above its reserve in metal has been suppressed. The German Government must therefore secure the loan required by an issue of bank notes uncovered by a reserve of gold and silver. This issue reminds one of the assignats of the first French Revolution, of which a few samples are kept as curious heirlooms in French families. It is said here that the Austrian army on the war footing costs the empire $4,000,000 a day, but the Austrian Treasury was emptied by the mobilization during the Balkan Wars, which drained the financial resources of the Empire for more than a year and it is hard to see where the Austrian monarchy can find the $120,000,000 required to keep the imperial and royal armies and navy, during the great war just ing.

The above figures are probably for short of reality, and it is therefore difficult to see how the Central European empires can support a long and arduous war from the financial and economic point of view.

HOWDEN VALE

Wm. Mattoer and his brother Isaac spent the week end on the "Model" and returns home on Monday. We have been nearly surrounded by threshing machines the past week three at Mar and three near Pike Bay. If competition is the life of trade there must be a good deal of life in the threshing business on the peninsula. The model garden products will be on exhibition at Warton, Hepworth and Lions Head.

A WEAK HEART

When the heart is weak or irregular in action, when the blood is thin and watery remember the blood-forming qualities of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by its use food the system with rich, red, vitalizing blood. This is Nature's way of restoring weakness and disease. It is the only way to secure lasting benefits.

The collectors for the Patriotic Fund are thoroughly canvassing the townships and are doing well. Miss Alex. Smith and son of Stokes Bay were business visitors to town last Monday. Dentist Dais bring a nice number to town monthly. A quiet wedding took place on Wed. Sept. 15 at 4 o'clock at the home of John H. Stewart sr. when his daughter Sarah was united in holy bonds of matrimony to William son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bridge of Ferndale, with the immediate relatives being present. We understand the young couple intend to live on the Burgess farm for the present. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Bridge all success and happiness in their journey through life. The Tur Queen brought in a load of lumber and timber last week from Johnston's lumber for Brain Bros. for their new store which they are building. Mr. J. Oswald launched his new motor launch last week. An accident which might have been very serious happened to Charles, oldest son of Charles Williams Jr., when he was drawing an automatic revolver from his pocket discharged the bullet striking the lad in the left leg and passing through about 4 inches above the knee. He is doing as nicely as can be expected and we are pleased to report that no bones were broken. Miss Martha Sharp, who had her arm broken some time ago, returned to Lions Head on Wednesday to assist at the millinery in Miss Tackaberry's parlors. Miss Schales, who has been visiting in the Rectory, returned to her home at Purple Valley this week. J. A. McLennan, Stokes Bay, came over for a load of freight last Monday. The steamer Menford called in port last Saturday night with a good supply of merchandise. Mr. and Mrs. Neil McCullum, of McCullum's Corners, were in town last Monday. K. B. McLeay was a visitor to town last week.

Mr. Earl McLaren has just returned from the Vale Cartier Corner, where he was engaged with a gasoline trenching outfit. This is a new way of digging ditches, and a trench 64 feet deep by 5 wide takes one machine about 12 hours. Earl saw all the life of the camp while there, the parades, the rifle and artillery practice, cavalry etc. The contractor he was engaged with having finished his work, he decided to return home.

Richards QUICK NAPTHA THE WOMAN'S SOAP

Editorial

THE Listowel High School has an attendance of 164.

MAYOR Kent, of Meaford, favors the raising of money for street improvement as a means of relieving the depression in labor.

A FEW years ago the Boers were the enemies of the British, while to-day they are anxious to aid Britain in her war against the Germans. It does not take long to discover that it is worth something to be a British Subject.

IF the Women's Institute wish to beautify the town we know of no place needing more immediate attention than the cemetery, and this paper will give them all the support in its power to do it's work no matter what obstacles may be in the way.

IT would be a good thing for the Patriotic Leagues in this district to not forget the volunteers on guard at Tobernory. Pacing up and down during the night doing sentry work with a cold breeze off the bay, is no snap. It is not warm but it is far more comfortable in bed. Tobernory is part of the wireless system across the continent and has to be protected. Remember the boys who are there.

PERHAPS instead of praying for peace it would be better for us to pray for the triumph of the British arms, or those of the allies. Everyone knows that war is hell, the nations know it, and everyone knows too, that for many years Germany has been preparing for war, while we have been moralizing on peace. There cannot be any permanent peace in the world until the power of Germany is crushed, so while it is good that our thoughts be on peace, this is no doubt the wish of Providence, yet we must remember that victory and a smothering defeat of the Germans must precede it.

THE nation which caused the war will have an awful day of reckoning. That Empire will be stripped of all its colonial possessions. France will get back Alsace and Lorraine, Belgium will get a portion of the spoils, the commerce which was built up by years of industry is ruined, and the industry that Germany will have to pay the allies will be tremendous. Britain will probably see that her fleet will be a thing of the past and possibly Germany will hereafter be a buffer state.

Although the war has only been in progress six weeks the offensive movement began by Germany is probably over, and with that nation it will be a defensive war from this to the close. It may take many months yet before the end is reached, but this much is certain, Germany is conquered, and will be crushed and humiliated.

Motors Make Dear Tea Says London Paper

Tea, all except china, has gone up in price from two-pence to fourpence a pound since this time last year. The finest Indian has gone up fourpence, ordinary Indian and Ceylon tea two pence a pound.

The reason, curious as it may seem, is the fact that more and more people are buying motor-cars every year.

Brisk selling in the motor world means a growing demand for rubber for wheel tires.

This led in the time of the rubber boom to a sharp rise in the price of rubber. It so happens that rubber and tea are two crops that require exactly the same conditions of soil and climate, with the result that ever since the beginning of the rubber boom more and more tea plantations have dropped tea for rubber. The effect of the shorter supplies of tea is just beginning to be felt in the present rise of price.

So that is why our tea is dear. If your tea merchant is not raising his price he is giving you poorer quality for your money. The cost of your cup of tea is going to rise further, too.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

A POULTRY owner's troubles and losses do not actually begin until he has a few scores of baby chickens on his hands. Success or failure will be determined at this point.

Chickens do not require food for the first thirty-six hours after hatching. One of the best foods that can be fed the first few days is stale bread soaked in milk. This should be crumbled fine and placed where the chickens have free access to it and where they cannot step on it. One of the difficult problems for the poultryman is to devise some means for feeding little chickens so that they can consume the food without soiling it. If placed on the floor of the brooder or the brooder run the larger part of the food will be trampled upon and will soon become unfit to eat. Small, narrow troughs or troughs are easily made and answer the purpose of keeping the chicks from tramping on their food.

Granulated oats (with the hulls removed) make an excellent food for young chickens. There is perhaps no better grain for young chickens than oats prepared in this manner. It may be fed to good advantage after the second or third day in connection with the bread soaked in milk.

The chickens should have free access to some kind of grit after the first day. Coarse sand makes an excellent grit for young chickens. As they get a little older some coarser material may be used.

Milk is an excellent food for these young fowls, but it requires skill in feeding. One of the great difficulties in rearing fowls is to carry young chickens through the first two weeks without bowel disorders. Too low temperatures in the brooder, improper food and injudicious feeding, even if the right kinds of food are given, each plays an important part in producing these disorders. After the first ten days milk may be given more freely perhaps than during the earlier stages of the chick's existence.

A mixture of fine middlings, wheat bran, cornmeal and a little linseed meal softened with milk makes a valuable food. Hard boiled eggs may be fed from the beginning, but, like milk, require more skill than the feeding of bread soaked in milk. On farms where screenings from the various grains become really a by-product these form a cheap and efficient food for chickens. Wheat screenings especially form one of the best foods if they contain a considerable portion of good kernels that have been cracked in threshing. Then, too, the screenings contain a number of weed seeds that have some feeding value and are relished by the fowls. They not only provide sustenance, but give variety, and this is a measure improves the general health.

A good mixture of grain is equal parts of whole wheat, cracked corn and cut or crushed oats. Some poultrymen prefer to feed wheat one day, corn the next and oats the next. This is all right either way. Grain once a day is sufficient if a variety of other food is obtainable. A cheap and valuable food is stale bread or rolls which bakeries and restaurants sell at 1 cent a pound. Hotel and restaurant table scraps may also be obtained at a small cost. All kinds of vegetables, raw or cooked, may be used. Meat scraps or ground bone may be fed sparingly with mash. Give the grain in a clean litter cart in the morning, mash at noon and vegetables, softened bread or gruel in the evening. Make the mash with skim milk if it is available. Sour milk and whey are good substitutes now and again for mature fowls.

Where fowls are kept in confinement it will be necessary to supply some meat food. Finely cut fresh bone from the meat markets is one of the best, if not the best, kind of meat for laying hens. Unfortunately it is not practical for many poultrymen to depend wholly on this product, for the reason that it is often inconvenient or impossible to obtain, and when once secured it cannot be kept in warm weather without becoming tainted. Tainted bones should be rejected as unfit for food. Stimulants may be substituted wholly or in part for meat food without a decrease in egg production, provided the proper grain ration is given.

If pear trees flower heavily a row of the smaller blossoms on each tree should be thinned out.

TO LABOR IS TO PRAY.

A priest was called upon to pray over the barren fields of his parishioners. He passed from one inclosure to another and pronounced his benediction until he came to a most unpropitious place. He surveyed the sterile acres in despair. "Ah," said he, "these men, no more to pray here! This needs fertilizing."—Argonaut.

The District Meeting

The District meeting of the Methodist church Warton District was held at Hepworth on Tuesday Sept. 8th. There was a good attendance of ministers and lay delegates. The usual financial business was done and the work of the church especially in the north part of the peninsula was given most earnest consideration.

The following resolution was passed unanimously.

We wish to record our pleasure at the continued success of the temperance cause. We rejoice that varied interests contribute to our success. Even the present colossal war has furnished its tribute to the temperance propaganda. The German Emperor is endeavoring to win victory by a sober army and navy, Russia remembering that strong drink contributed to her defeat at the hand of Japan has issued orders to her officers to abstain and see to it that the men keep sober. The most pronounced declaration comes from Norway where to prevent the use of food-stuffs in the manufacture of warlike weapons is considered as a patriotic duty. We wish also to express our pleasure because in the press and on the platform during the recent Provincial Election both political parties expressed their ardent desire to do away with the traffic in strong drink.

We urge all our people to continue as in the past, to lead in every movement to bring in and to maintain Local Option. We recommend in harmony with par. 344 of the Discipline that Oct 11th be the day set for a simultaneous setting forth in all our churches in the Warton District of the claims of temperance, and that our people be given an opportunity of intelligently and liberally supporting this worthy cause.

A MISTAKEN IDEA

There are some people who still resort to drugged pills or alcoholic syrups to overcome colds, nervousness or general debility, and who know that the pure, unadulterated nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is eminently better, but refrain from taking it because they fear it may lead to excessive fat or obesity.

This is a mistaken idea, because Scott's Emulsion first strengthens the body before making flesh. Its blood-forming properties aid nature to throw off sickness by building health from the very source, and flesh is formed only by its continued use. Avoid alcoholic substitutes for SCOTT'S.

GERMANS TAKE STAND

They Are Reported to Be Resisting Attack on River Aims.

French Official Statement Says Left Wing of Allies Has Caught Up With German Rear Everywhere and Even With the Main Body of the Fleeing Troops—New Line of Defence Prepared by Enemy.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The French official statement, issued last night, says that French troops have reoccupied Amiens, which was abandoned by the Germans, but that the Germans are making a stand on the River Aisne.

The statement is as follows: "On our left wing we have everywhere caught up with the rear guards, and even the main body of the enemy."

"Our troops have re-occupied Amiens, abandoned by the German forces."

"The enemy appears to be making a stand on a prepared front along the River Aisne."

"On the centre, similarly, it would seem that the enemy intends to resist on the heights to the northwest and to the north of Rheims. In the region between Argonne and the Meuse he continues to resist."

"On our right wing, in the Woëvre district, we have succeeded in relieving the fort of Troyon, which has been stubbornly attacked since the time again during the last few days. (Troyon is 12 miles south-southeast of Verdun.)"

"In Lorraine our pursuing detachments are keeping, as everywhere else, in touch with the Germans."

"The morale and sanitary condition of our armies continue excellent."

"The following communication has been issued by the War Office:

"On our left wing the enemy had prepared to the north of the River Aisne, between Compiègne and Sedan, a line of defence. Detachments which the enemy had around Amiens have now retired on Peronne and St. Quentin."

"On our centre, likewise, the German had organised a rear defensive position, which they have not been able to hold. In Argonne they have fallen back northwards, beyond the forest of Belleuve and of Triancourt. On our right wing, the enemy's retreating movement, which is general now, extends from Nancy to the Vosges mountains. Last evening all the French territory in that quarter was completely evacuated."

A batch of German prisoners, composed of a general with his staff and six other officers and 800 men, arrived to-day at Noyah-les-Bois, 50 miles northeast of Paris, whence they were sent to the south."

Unrelenting pursuit of the rapidly retreating German armies by the British and French forces continued yesterday with extraordinary vigor, according to the French statements.

Despite the great numbers composing their various armies which operated yesterday against the allies, the German withdrawal movement is being carried out with great rapidity and cleverness. The whole body appears to be approaching the Belgian frontier, where the German left wing seemingly is gaining shelter in German Lorraine.

So far as known, the fleeing invaders, who, after wonderful forced marches, the French made such a stern attempt to break through the solid lines of the allies' defending Paris, have abandoned more than 60 cannon of various calibres and 30 machine guns, because their exhausted horses were unable to drag them fast enough to keep abreast with the foot-soldiers. Enormous amounts of ammunition and war stores also were left on the route of the Germans, which through a difficult mountainous country, rendered almost impassable in the past few days, and which threaten to stagnate.

The allies, on the other hand, it is asserted, display no signs of fatigue. They are represented as stirred by unexpected and brilliant victories to a state of elation that they are able to keep close on the heels of the retreating enemy, whom they harry day and night.

"We are now neutral only in appearance. The action of Italy might definitely turn the scale in favor of the Triple Entente."

Official German Statement.

BERLIN, Sept. 15. (Via wireless).—The Belgian garrison in Antwerp has been repulsed in its ally against the Germans. The army of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm is attacking the forts between Verdun and Louvain on both sides.

Prince Juchacz arrived yesterday in Berlin, and has been lodged in Bellevue Palace.

Monday night's official details of the battle to the east of Paris can not yet be made public.

TO ATTACK ANTWERP.

German Hope To Take City With Their Heavy Siege Guns.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—In a despatch from Antwerp, the correspondent of The Evening News says:

"According to the German commanding officer from Antwerp, who is now in prison here, the Germans firmly believe that the Antwerp forts are no match for their 11-inch siege guns, of which they say they have 50. Some of these guns are about six miles, and each piece can be fired only 30 times. While confessing that the Germans are unable to spare enough men to invest Antwerp, this officer says he believes the siege guns will enable them to take a couple of the forts, thus driving across to the city. At a bombardment would be destructive to Antwerp, such action is not contemplated, because it has no value as an asset for Germany."

BELOIUM DREW ENEMY.

She Occupied Two Army Corps Badly Needed in France.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Evidence accumulates that the German commander-in-chief has been compelled to weaken his force in France owing both to the Russian menace on the east and to Belgian attacks from Antwerp.

Petrograd despatches speak of ten German field corps transported to the east, and at least one German division has been fighting with the Austrians in the Lublin government.

A despatch from The London Convention's Mailer says: "The German army, which last week conducted a four-days' vigorous offensive in the triangle of Brussels, Malines and Louvain, has now retired under the shelter of the Antwerp forts with the intention of making a stand in their own defence, but have undoubtedly contributed to the defeat of the German right in France."

"On our left wing we have everywhere caught up with the rear guards, and even the main body of the enemy."

"Our troops have re-occupied Amiens, abandoned by the German forces."

"The enemy appears to be making a stand on a prepared front along the River Aisne."

"On the centre, similarly, it would seem that the enemy intends to resist on the heights to the northwest and to the north of Rheims. In the region between Argonne and the Meuse he continues to resist."

"On our right wing, in the Woëvre district, we have succeeded in relieving the fort of Troyon, which has been stubbornly attacked since the time again during the last few days. (Troyon is 12 miles south-southeast of Verdun.)"

"The following communication has been issued by the War Office:

"On our left wing the enemy had prepared to the north of the River Aisne, between Compiègne and Sedan, a line of defence. Detachments which the enemy had around Amiens have now retired on Peronne and St. Quentin."

"On our centre, likewise, the German had organised a rear defensive position, which they have not been able to hold. In Argonne they have fallen back northwards, beyond the forest of Belleuve and of Triancourt. On our right wing, the enemy's retreating movement, which is general now, extends from Nancy to the Vosges mountains. Last evening all the French territory in that quarter was completely evacuated."

A batch of German prisoners, composed of a general with his staff and six other officers and 800 men, arrived to-day at Noyah-les-Bois, 50 miles northeast of Paris, whence they were sent to the south."

Unrelenting pursuit of the rapidly retreating German armies by the British and French forces continued yesterday with extraordinary vigor, according to the French statements.

Despite the great numbers composing their various armies which operated yesterday against the allies, the German withdrawal movement is being carried out with great rapidity and cleverness. The whole body appears to be approaching the Belgian frontier, where the German left wing seemingly is gaining shelter in German Lorraine.

So far as known, the fleeing invaders, who, after wonderful forced marches, the French made such a stern attempt to break through the solid lines of the allies' defending Paris, have abandoned more than 60 cannon of various calibres and 30 machine guns, because their exhausted horses were unable to drag them fast enough to keep abreast with the foot-soldiers. Enormous amounts of ammunition and war stores also were left on the route of the Germans, which through a difficult mountainous country, rendered almost impassable in the past few days, and which threaten to stagnate.

The allies, on the other hand, it is asserted, display no signs of fatigue. They are represented as stirred by unexpected and brilliant victories to a state of elation that they are able to keep close on the heels of the retreating enemy, whom they harry day and night.

"We are now neutral only in appearance. The action of Italy might definitely turn the scale in favor of the Triple Entente."

Official German Statement.

BERLIN, Sept. 15. (Via wireless).—The Belgian garrison in Antwerp has been repulsed in its ally against the Germans. The army of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm is attacking the forts between Verdun and Louvain on both sides.

Prince Juchacz arrived yesterday in Berlin, and has been lodged in Bellevue Palace.

Monday night's official details of the battle to the east of Paris can not yet be made public.

TO ATTACK ANTWERP.

German Hope To Take City With Their Heavy Siege Guns.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—In a despatch from Antwerp, the correspondent of The Evening News says:

"According to the German commanding officer from Antwerp, who is now in prison here, the Germans firmly believe that the Antwerp forts are no match for their 11-inch siege guns, of which they say they have 50. Some of these guns are about six miles, and each piece can be fired only 30 times. While confessing that the Germans are unable to spare enough men to invest Antwerp, this officer says he believes the siege guns will enable them to take a couple of the forts, thus driving across to the city. At a bombardment would be destructive to Antwerp, such action is not contemplated, because it has no value as an asset for Germany."

AUSTRIA ADJUSTS SLOW

Seventeen Days' Battle Has Crushed Chief Army.

One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Prisoners and Nearly Fifteen Hundred Guns Complete Record of Russian Success—German Army Defeated at Mianwa Retires from Russian Poland.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—A despatch to The Central News from Rome says telegraphic advices received there from Petrograd are to the effect that the seventeen-days' battle of the Russians against the Austro-German forces ended with the following result:

Prisoners taken, 150,000; field guns captured, 450; fortress artillery captured, pieces, 1,000; transport wagons taken, 4,000; aeroplanes captured.

The Russian Embassy in Rome, according to the correspondent of The Central News, says that the German army commanded by Gen. Von Hindenburg has been defeated near Mianwa, Russian Poland, and that the German army has retired, suffering a loss of 50,000 men. The Ambassador adds that the Russians have as yet not commenced to lay siege to Koensberg.

A despatch to The Central News from Copenhagen says Berlin messages received in Copenhagen admit that the chief Austrian army has suffered an enormous defeat, but claim it is really in a position to fight.

"Gen. Von Auffenberg's army," the correspondent continues, "is said to be in a dangerous position, being cut off from the main army. The Austrians have had terrible losses."

Big Captures by Russians.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 15.—The following official communication was issued last night:

"On the Austrian front the Russian troops are crossing the San River. On taking position near Rawa Ruska the Russian troops captured 30 cannon and 8,000 prisoners, and also many stores of war material and provisions."

"The results of the pursuit of the enemy in that territory are still unknown."

"In the marches of Belgorod the Russian found some more Austrian batteries sunk in the mud, abandoned during retreat."

"The general army, while repulsing the last desperate Austrian attempt to break through the Russian lines, took the offensive a great number of prisoners and guns, the total number of which has not yet been determined."

"Gen. Brusiloff declares that his troops have proof of great energy, determination and invulnerability."

"The Russian army," he says, "led their units with impervious coolness, snatching victory from the jaws of defeat on one occasion at critical moments."

"Gen. Brusiloff particularly commends the activity of the Bulgarian general, Radko Dimitroff, in the fighting."

"On the right bank of the Dniester river the Russian troops are occupying the town of Bakhmach, 65 miles east of Smolensk."

"Czeroniv, capital and chief town of the province of Bukovina, and all the neighboring regions have been occupied by the Russian armies without resistance."

A semi-official communication says the slowness of the Russian operations in East Prussia are not due to lack of energy, but to the importance in such a gigantic struggle.

An energetic attack has begun in the district of Tschetokhov, where the Russians took a strong German position by storm on Saturday.

A Series of Massacres.

ROME, Sept. 15.—A despatch from the Agency Tyrol says that Italian troops have returned wounded from Galicia, and report the fighting there as a series of massacres. They declare that the two sides in operation until the end of one year, and if war is not then terminated at such date as shall be fixed by an order-in-council.

"I understand that to-morrow, for the general convenience of the House of Lords, the debate on this bill."

The Marquis of Crewe, speaking in the House of Lords, ventured the opinion that when the Irish bill was placed upon the statute books there would be a rush of Irishmen to enlist in the army.

SOLDIERS USED BURN CORN.

German Ran When They Thought Turcos Were Upon Them.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Incidents of the recent fighting in France between the Germans and the Anglo-French troops, related by members of the House of Commons, are passing through Paris yesterday, show that the Kaiser's troops have a mortal fear of the black soldiers brought from Africa to fight with the allies.

Taking advantage of the German's timidity in this respect, the white French troops blazed their faces with burnt cork to make themselves look like the dark-skinned warriors. "You should have seen the German run the next day, when we charged them, uttering fearful shrieks," said one of the soldiers who had blackened his face. "They took us for real blacks."

TO DELAY HOME RULE.

EDU Will Be Made Law, But Operation Will Be Defered a Year.

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 15.—In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Mr. Asquith said:

"Procrastination may take place this week, as I said last night ago. It is our intention that two bills, which have been passed by the Parliament Act, Home Rule and Welsh Disestablishment Bill, shall be placed on the statute books, and I shall introduce to-morrow (and should have done so to-day) but in my regret, we cannot proceed without notice, objection having been taken to the bill, to provide that no steps shall be taken to put the two acts in operation until the end of one year, and if war is not then terminated at such date as shall be fixed by an order-in-council."

"I understand that to-morrow, for the general convenience of the House of Lords, the debate on this bill."

The Marquis of Crewe, speaking in the House of Lords, ventured the opinion that when the Irish bill was placed upon the statute books there would be a rush of Irishmen to enlist in the army.

BEIIGIANS TURN TABLES

They Administrator Defeat to a German Army Corps.

They Have Reoccupied Termonde, Nearly All of East Flanders, Antwerp, and Limbourg—German Waiting For War Levy Boys Despatched to French Front—Guns Taken at Demande.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—An Oxford despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. says:

"The Belgian Corps have just gained an important success at Termonde, between Louvain and Brussels, capturing a German corps and taking a number of prisoners. The line toward Liege has been occupied by the Belgians."

Reports say that King Albert is constantly at the front with his troops.

Harassing the Enemy.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Antwerp gives the following official communication:

"The Belgian army has reoccupied Termonde and nearly all of East Flanders, as well as the provinces of Antwerp and Limbourg, which are free from the enemy. The operations resumed by our army at Antwerp are progressing satisfactorily. The Germans are suffering important losses, principally from our heavy field artillery, which is doing remarkable service."

A despatch from Ostend says that since Sept. 9 German reinforcements numbering 60,000 have been moving toward Lille by way of Roubaix, Belgium. The despatch adds that German troops who have been waiting at Bruges to receive the war material have been ordered to the French frontier.

Germans have been seen laying mines under the German roads which the allies are likely to take while following the retreating German forces.

Captured Guns From Uhlans.

OSTEND, Sept. 14.—Sixty bands of Uhlans are still prowling in the neighborhood of Ostend. A sharp action was fought yesterday morning at Dunaude between the Belgian infantry and Uhlans accompanied by a machine gun mounted on an automobile. The Belgians dispersed the enemy, who numbered several hundred, captured the machine gun, and inflicted considerable loss on the Germans.

Uhlans are reported south of Ostend. Railway communication with Ghent is now open. The news from the German right wing, which is being pursued by the British, is still feeling in disorder.

OFF ALAND ISLANDS.

Part of German Navy Seen Cruising About in the Baltic.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 14.—(Via London).—A despatch from Raumo, Finland, says that according to the reports of pilots and fishermen, a German fleet has been cruising for the last two days in the waters south of the Aland Islands. The fleet included seven dreadnoughts and cruisers of the fleet, two big cruisers, a torpedo boat of the first class, and a lot of coal and repair vessels. Aboard the cruiser Blucher the flag of Chief Admiral Prince of Prussia was hoisted, which would indicate that he is in command of the fleet.

A PERSON OF SOME IMPORTANCE

By
LLOYD OSBOURNE

Copyright, 1911, by the Bennett-Barnett Company

"Go away," she cried. "No, I can't let you go away—I can't, I can't, unless you don't care—unless the old broke off, looking at me all politely, only to be crushed in the strong arms, overborne, blotted, painted and deliciously helpless and ill used. Of course he loved her, loved her better than anything in the world would crush him again for ever doubting it. No, she had to admit how cruel she had been, how wicked and unkind; but to her he would hurt her more, obstinate little wretch that she was. But it seemed that she wasn't an obstinate little wretch at all, only terribly smothered and gaspingly eager to be forgiven, and anyhow how was she to know when she was cold and distant and talked about going away—that he really and truly did love her—as though anybody who loved anybody would go away and leave anybody to break her heart?"

Nor was she a clinging, helpless, impractical young lady person without any sense or ideas. No, indeed, she wasn't! They were in a very serious predicament, and she meant to be mouse to the poor, battered, aged, whiny loa and rescue him somehow. To all of which Mr. Looa acceded meekly, with a divining sense that there was a stronger nature than he had dreamed behind those dark eyes and a courage and self reliance that shamed him in the contrast.

"Unfortunately papa has to be left out," she continued. "General Blom would have a fit at the least notion of my living anybody's house but a town house and a country house and a yacht and a castron social position, studded with iron nails and spiked on top, and family heirlooms that his great-grandmother wore at Washington's inauguration. That's General Blom's view, and he's likely to squeak terribly at a poor little hundred-and-twelve-dollar loaf! That's the bad part of it; the good is that when I'm twenty-five, I come into my millions—three hundred old New York houses, filled with dentists and doctors and subletting old ladies who have seen better times—somewhere between $5,000 and $20,000 a year. Isn't that nice? Mr. Looa: isn't that splendid? Come, cheer up, and say it is worth waiting for. Yes, two years and ten months to wait, and then a fearful General Blom comes and me. If you are still of the same mind—that is, and haven't gone off in another direction? Though?"

"Oh, Chris!"

"But this is a secret—I have to be sure you love me first."

"You know I do."

"But awfully, awfully well—better than anything—just terribly."

"Yes."

"Don't smile about it. I said terribly."

"I was thinking of all that money; it frightens me even while I'm glad to be called a fortune hunter and heaven knows what yet I didn't know how was I to know? It's staggering, Chris. I—I am trying to get used to it; why, we—we can get married."

"That's the secret—before then, perhaps?"

"Before then? Oh, Chris, Chris!"

"I don't care if it's only one room: I'm not afraid, Matt—only sorry about papa, and the way he is sure to take it. You must stay here and get something to do, no matter what it is, and as soon as it is enough for two to come, Matt, dear—I'll come if it's only $75 a month."

CHAPTER X.

General Mouse's View.

MATT gave an appalled glance about the room—at the pictures, the tapestries, the rich, dark, old furniture—that the elegance, luxury and beauty that everywhere surrounded him. "You couldn't," he exclaimed, overcome. "You don't understand what it is to be poor. You see it staved and dressed up, and with a row of footlights, and roses climbing over the cardboard cottage; but it isn't like that at all, Chris; it's ugly and detestable, and I should be the most selfish brute alive to let you do such a thing."

"It couldn't be ugly and detestable, Matt," she returned, with a tender, reproving seriousness. "The trouble is that poor people are usually poorer still in taste, and are horribly ill-dressed, and given to chronic fidgets and screaming green carpenter. We won't be that kind of poor, and if you fight about it any more I shall think it is because you really do not love me."

"Oh, Chris, I am a God. God knows it isn't that. I—I am a God, and I—"

She drew his hand to her bosom. "The mouse was so much help that she murmured with a happy little laugh. "Looa thought he was at the jumping off place, but mouse caught this beautiful brightened last just in time—though it took an awful big mouse to save him from going over—and now she is going to him him for being a dear old home work boy, and ready to fight the whole world rather than let her go."

"It's going to be a hard business, Chris."

"I know it—but you mustn't get discouraged."

"Anderson, the survivor, might give me a job. I know something of that you know—a great deal."

"Then this is the mill."

"All too skilled for me, I'm afraid and unskilled."

"The telephone company?"

"Yes, I'll try them. The electric branch was very thorough at the academy. I could take a dynamo to pieces once, and what's more, put it together again and make it go."

"You see, you know lots more than you thought you did."

"And there is Beckler bank. Beckler is such a funny old fellow, Chris; I've been about the islands and especially about the girls. His dream of grand Turk, the fat old scoundrel."

When I said the prettiest woman in the Pacific came from Honolulu and Uahine he carefully wrote down both names, and then, with the most awful expression you ever saw, right in the middle of stocks and bonds and mortgages."

"And Doty. Be sure and remember the Doty. Doty, Matt. He likes you awfully, and you can look up to you tremendously."

"Oh, I'll manage somehow—some way. And then $75 a month and you."

"But try to save every penny of what you have, and I'll begin saving my allowance. I don't want to live at your horrid Mrs. Sottane's. We must have a little home all our own."

"Well, that's a long way off. The important thing now is to land pay envelope every Saturday night, isn't it?"

"Important? Oh, Matt, you just must!"

"And then you'll come—really come? Chris, I don't care to believe it."

"You will when you've got $75 a month."

"I may not even reach that all at once. God knows, it may be hard to get that."

"That will be start, anyway, and if we do have to wait a little my allowance will be mounting up."

"We shan't wait if I can help it. I'll turn the old town upside down. Oh, Chris, why you to work for what couldn't I do?"

Matt strode homeward in a state of indescribable joy, though with many a care running blackly through the right wood of his hopes and rapine. He was pledged to a desperate plan and one that would bring down on him a universal reproach. Such a marriage would shake Manawani to its foundations and unleash a torrent of gossip that would be harder to endure than poverty itself. Alternately he gloated over Chris' fortune—those "three snags old houses"—and then inadvertently walked through them. Matt was a proud man, and the thought of being misrepresented and misjudged was more than galling. What a humiliating figure he would be before his father when the inevitable day of reckoning arrived! He would be seen as an adventurer preying on innocence and wealth. Yet ever before him was Chris herself, with upraised lip and quivering body and misty, haunting eyes, all her young womanhood he took by the divinity of divine rights.

The boards, assembled at supper, found him at first very backward and moody, while he found them altogether unendurable. There was a new board, a heavy, gray haired, defensible man with a gold tooth, who was ceremoniously presented.

"Two good fellows ought to know each other," said one of the boards, taking it over himself to make the introduction. "Mr. Broughton—Mr. Bates."

Matt politely expressed his gratification, and the two good fellows subsided into their respective seats. Mr. Bates, as it appeared later, supplying out the last of the shoe factory and had been very much impressed by the possibilities of Manawani—yes, sir; very much impressed. At this Matt walked up and cultivated Bates as a potential dispenser of jobs, grew very animated and friendly and was more than pleased to learn that

Mr. Bates' company maintained the principle of the "open shop."

There was certainly a chance for a position man, or a shanty chance, anywhere, and with shoe factory possibilities dancing in his head, absorbed himself in the conquest of Mr. Bates. After supper, over a pipe and a cigar, he continued the good work, even broaching the subject tentatively and receiving encouragement.

With a feeling that he already had a bulldog grip on the shoe business, Matt said good night and went up to his room, more than satisfied with his evening's work. As he lit a match, however, and touched it to the gas, he was confronted by a sight that drove all these reflections from his head. The bureau drawers were open; the room had been searched in his absence, and the moment he recovered from his astonishment he knew by whom. They had been there, seeking a clue, a scrap of paper, anything that might put them on John Mort's track.

Impelled by an unaccountable instinct he ran to the window and looked out. There below him under the street lamp were two men in close conversation.

All at once they turned and gazed upward, revealing the faces of Mr. Bates and Mr. Kay, and then they passed on.

The next morning Matt was scarcely surprised to learn that Bates had departed. The representative of the shoe company was no more—in any border sense—and all that remained of him was a two-dollar bill on his dresser, and Miss Gibbs' recollection of sundry crackings and tipplings in the middle of the night. Yes, he had vanished, that quiet, deferential, gray haired person with the gold tooth, and with him also vanished Matt's job in the mythical shoe factory. The marvellous boards would have marvelled more could they have known of Matt's disappearance, but this he kept to himself, and professed to be as much in the dark about Mr. Bates as any one else.

Afterward he sallied forth in his best clothes, and as he approached well groomed as he could make himself, to seek work. The first place he tried was Mr. Beckler's bank, a small brick structure with plate glass windows and a red headed cane in a case. Mr. Beckler received Matt firmly in an inner office, proffered a chair, and seemed rather than over to talk about south sea muffs, and the respective allures of Honolulu and Uahine.

The most of Matt's dream was frankly and unpleasantly gone. Matt, though far from squeamish, was disagreeably affected. The atrocious hypocrisy of the old fellow jarred on him. He would have been interested in a greater enthusiasm. Instead, he switched off to the subject of his job with a suddenness that made the great Frank exclaim: "You're a damned ass!"

Matt left not only without a job but with the consciousness of an active ill will behind him. He was disgusted, too, to learn that in spite of his recent departure he was regarded as a rich man, and, if not actually a Kanaka king, had the reputation of owning land and far away estates in the south Pacific. Mr. Beckler had been shocked—really shocked and utterly offended, too, at the truth. He would have parted easily with $1,000 to a swindler, but for the honest man in dire need of work he had nothing save a curt good day.

In Anderson's office Matt experienced a similar social tumble and a similar rejection. The engineer was at first incredulous and then downright rude, for he also had a shattered illusion. As Matt left, flushed with anger and in Anderson's eyes a convicted cheat, he perceived that he had a better chance with strangers than with those he deemed his friends. The telephone superintendent, to whom he applied next, had no acquaintance with him, and in consequence was quite civil. Courtesy was about all he had to offer, for the company was "full up" and had "men to burn." With this foreboding colloquialism Matt was speeded on his way again to try for a spot where the men of commerce burned less brightly.

Of course he could have gone to Dugan-court, but at that his pride drew the line. The old misanthrope, enduring himself deeply ill used, shrunk into his shell and adopted a kind of frozen repudiation. He had even ceased to greet Matt any longer, pretending to look the other way when they met or assuming an abstracted expression in which there was not the slightest glint of recognition.

CHAPTER XI.

Discharged.

HE sought out Mr. Doty instead—little, stammered, easy Mr. Doty, who certainly must have concealed angel's wings under his threadbare coat. Mr. Doty was sympathetic. Mr. Doty understood. In Matt's case nothing could be simpler; the man for the sailor, of course, and they would go right off to his good friend, Captain Jim Bain, who owned half the coasting craft out of—

Oh, but Matt wished to stay in Manawani! Oh, the old story—I see, I see a young lady, and all the rest of it. Well, well, let Mr. Doty think it over. Mr. Doty thought it over.

Bain was his own afterward Matt was formally engaged as physical instructor to the Young Men's Christian association at a salary of $60 a month. Unlike in other elsewhere, the Manawani Y. M. C. A. was poorly supported, either by the moneyed people of the town or the horde of illiterate foreigners whom it was intended to uplift.

THE BLOOD'S THE STREAM OF LIFE

Pure Blood Is Absolutely Necessary To Health

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" PURIFIES

These Wonderful Tablets, Made of Fruit Juices, Are The Best Of All Tonics To Purify And Enrich The Blood.

Pure, rich blood can flow only in a clean body. Now, a clean body is one in which the waste matter is regularly and naturally eliminated from the system. The blood cannot be pure when the skin action is weak, when the stomach does not digest the food properly, when the bowels do not move regularly, when the kidneys are strained or overworked.

Pure blood is the result of perfect health and harmony of stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives", by their wonderful action on all these organs, keeps the whole system as clean as Nature intended our bodies to be clean.

"Fruit-a-tives" tones up, invigorates, strengthens, purifies, cleans and gives pure, rich, clean blood that is, in truth, the stream of life.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box. 6 for $2.50 in 25c or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Mr. Cummings, the superintendent, a very low valued young man with eye glasses, laid less stress on Matt's capabilities as a physical instructor than his superior would be prepared to "help out." That had been the trouble with the previous instructors—they wouldn't "help out." Would Matt help out cheerfully? Matt promptly replied that he would, and smiling broadly to prove it required for a more precise definition of helping out.

This, it seemed, included washing the gymnasium windows, scrubbing the gymnasium floor, drying the bathing tank, cleaning the swimming tank, checking the towels, doing whatever painting or varnishing was required in the building, oiling and cleaning a dozen typewriter machines, and countering—cheerfully—for any further services that might be needed.

Matt's answers were so satisfactory that he soon found himself on the roof. In a suit of borrowed overalls, assisting a deaf and dumb Swede in resurfacing it. In this work and others he passed the day, and in the evening he taught in the gymnasium.

By 10 the gymnasium was clear, and he was free to return home to the tired man in Manawani, and the happiest. He had got a job; he had already won praise; he foresaw promotion and Chris! He sat down and scratched off a good little note, and his good news was too big to keep; Chris should learn by the morning's mail that he had been unexpectedly—gloriously—successful.

At breakfast there was one from her, which he tore open and read with a sickening, deadly disappointment. It ran:

Dearest—It did not seem right not to tell papa, and now all that is left of me is a poor, limp little coward in the blackest disgrace. It was worse than his being away—I could have died, and he would not have known it. I have promised myself to tell you, I have promised myself to tell you for three whole months and not to write to you again except this, and I promised for you, too, to do the same. Please, please don't blame me for some or reproach me. I had no choice—really I had not—and even the three months was a tremendous concession. He insisted I would forget you in three months, and it seemed wiser to see it as a sort of challenge, specially when he said I would be grateful to him all the days of my life. I must just show him that months won't make the least, tiny difference—and then say, papa, I can't help it, but I love him more than ever. My darling, I will, I will, I will. And do not doubt it or my heart will break. He has a right to know that it is serious, hasn't he? That's what he said over and over again till I gave up.

I am determined not to wait a minute longer than that, papa or no papa, and what you have to do is to let me know I am able to support us when the time comes. I have to take your answer for granted, as solemnly promised you would not write to me. Please don't, my darling, for otherwise you will add to my disgrace and make papa think I have no influence with you.

We're going to Washington today, so that I may be "distracted." I shall be that in all truth, but not in papa's sense. Don't blame me too much, for I love him too, you know, better than anything in the world. I shall feel too bad to feel too bad, and remember I shall be thinking of you every minute of the time. I dread to stop, I have said everything so badly, but it is not the you I love if you do not understand. You will, won't you? And love me better than ever, and don't forget that I will come. CHRIS.

Matt read the letter many times, and his first sensation of utter abasement took place when he read the word "distracted." He had been so sure that he had saved at least the shame of a clandestine affair, with its unavoidable and mortifying discovery. Better to tell the general than to let his name be dragged in the mud—there—bravely—right. Three months would give Matt time to solidify his position in the Y. M. C. A. and apply leverage to that $60 a month. The world that loved a lover surely included Mr. Cummings. Besides, a helping out, cheerful instructor would soon be worth that extra $15.

The days that followed in the Y. M. C. A. were like the first, and by degrees the world contracted till it consisted of nothing but the Y. M. C. A. at one end and Mrs. Sottane's at the other, with a mile of streets between. Yet Matt was not unhappy. You need leisure to be unhappy, and he was sustained, moreover, by a determination to succeed. That he was doing so was indubitable, and Mr. Cummings was confident himself.

Altogether, the new instructor had good reason to be satisfied and might look forward to a raise in salary as something he had well earned. He would not overwork himself, however, by asking for that and was playing for too big a stake. With only three weeks gone from the three months he felt he had no time to spare.

Beef Raising Competition

A Beef raising competition is being conducted in Bruce County during the coming year for young farmers and the following are the Rules governing it.

1. This competition shall be confined to farmers who have under 25 years of age or those who have taken a Course in Agriculture under the District Representative.

2. There must be 5 entries before the competition can be conducted. Entries should be made early in September.

3. Calves must be fed and cared for by contestants and it is well, where possible, to keep an accurate account of the kind and amount of food consumed.

4. Each contestant has the privilege of selecting one or more calves at the time of entering the competition and discarding the less promising ones as they develop.

5. At the time of entry, the Representative will inspect the calves and make a note of making the same.

6. Calves used for this competition must be born on or after September 1st, 1914. Heifers will not be eligible.

7. This competition will close in December, 1915. The exact date to be decided later.

8. Every animal entered in the competition will be carefully judged. The young man producing the best steer in each county will be sent to Guelph to take the course in Live Stock Judging, in January 1916. All travelling and living expenses to be paid by the Department of Agriculture.

9. After the winner in each county has been selected, the 1st prize steer in each county and the second prize, if thought advisable will be sent to some of the large fairs, such as Guelph and Toronto, and substantial prizes will be offered. At Guelph the prizes are $75; $50; $25; and $10. Quite large prizes will also be given at the Toronto Union Stock Yards Show and it is hoped that a number of other prizes will be offered.

The Best Medicine For Little Ones

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine for little ones. They are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely safe and never fail to cure constipation, colic, colds and simple fevers by regulating the stomach and bowels. Concerning this Mrs. M. Shannon, Utsey, N. B., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my two children and think they are just what little ones need. I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

10. After the prizes of the fair are awarded, the steer in the competition will be sold to the highest bidder, the cost of transportation deducting the balance retained to the exhibitor.

11. If the contestant wishes to retain his animal, he may do so by paying transportation charges to the winner. While there, the animal will be cared for and of charge and returned later.

12. All entries should be made to the Department of Agriculture, Walkerton as early as possible.

You will surely like Parisian Sage. It is one of the best and most delightful hair tonics known.

BEATEN BY PYJAMAS

(Toronto Saturday Night)

Col. Hugh Clark and a bunch of men were in the House of Commons yesterday talking over things in general, when one of them remarked: "If I wore a wrist watch, I couldn't get elected in my constituency."

"It's worse than that, in North Bruce," chimed in Colonel Hugh. A wrist watch is so outward and visible sign of weakness that my constituents look deeper. They get right down to the skin in these matters."

Do you know what did a lot to beat John Tolmie? continued the Colonel. Outside of my own personal merits, I mean! You'd never guess it! A report got among the North Bruce farmers that John wore the Babylonish garments. John never had a chance to deny it, because it was never charged against him on the platform. The fatal story was whispered on the side lines. It did its deadly work there. Presumably sentiment was much aroused against John Tolmie for encouraging oriental practices. The loose, flowing nature of the vestment was dwelt upon at great length and John Tolmie became known in some districts as the "Babe." That cooled his goose for him. North Bruce might stand for John Tolmie in kilt, but never in pyjamas. My majority in that election was eighty-two. It was the anti-pyjamas vote that settled it, not anti-reciprocity. "And what did you wear yourself, Hugh?" put in Colonel Morphy of North Perth. "Why," said Col. Hugh, hedging, "I was a right third best!" not for publication in North Bruce.

8 Boxes Cured Psoriasis

Mrs. Nettie Maxwell, Concession, Ont., writes: "A later doctor described my trouble as psoriasis and said I could never be cured. The disease spread all over my face and neck and head and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and am entirely cured—not a trace of it now to be seen. I can not praise this Ointment enough."

The man is a rarity in these days of whom it can be said: "There are no flies on him" for they are everywhere; but twenty drops of carbolic acid evaporated from a shovel, says an exchange will banish them from a room quicker than all fly-paper in existence.

She—After all, resting on your own piazza is better than sitting on the bench in the blazing sun.

He—Yes, dear; about $5 a day better.

"Ma'am, here's a man at the door with a parcel for you."

"What is it, Miss?"

"It's a fish, ma'am and it's marked G. O. D."

"It's the man the man take it straight back to the dealer. I ordered trout."

"What sort of a speech does he make?"

"A lay water's speech."

"He don't ask you?"

"He sleeps knows when it's getting time."—Detroit Free Press.

Our 40th Year

THE ECHO is in its 40th year, and we have decided to celebrate the event by putting on a great circulation campaign. We are out after new subscribers, and after renewals for 1915. While our circulation already is very large for our district, the largest of any local paper in the county, we have determined to add as many more to it as possible, hence the great inducements we are offering.

The Echo All Home Print

It is not necessary for us to say anything about THE ECHO particularly to those who are subscribers. They know it, and are quite able to judge for themselves and to make comparisons. This we cordially invite. We may say this, however, that THE ECHO is in a class by itself in this district so far as local news is concerned, for we give not only the local news from Park Head to Tobemory, but the County news as well. This would be utterly unable to do if we were not an all home print paper. On every page of THE ECHO you will find local news, while on only four pages of other local papers you find it. For the reading matter on the other four pages is printed in Toronto. THE ECHO simply went ahead ten years when it threw away the patent inside, and became an all home print paper. We realized that with rural mail delivery, and farmers getting a daily paper, that unless a local paper was all home print it would soon die.

The Square Deal

For forty years THE ECHO has lived and prospered, but during the past eleven years, under the present management, its prosperity has been twice as great as at any time in its history. Thus, we think has been due to two things, first the paper itself, and in the second place we have always endeavored to give every man the square deal. Upon this principle the office has been run.

If, therefore, at this time we have the confidence of the public, and a most hearty response to our circulation campaign by renewals of subscriptions for 1915.

NORTH KEPPEL

Mrs. Ganson and her daughter Mary left on Saturday for Houghton Mich.

A number of our young people and their friends spent a very enjoyable evening last Tuesday at a corn roast on the beach.

The ladies of the church are preparing for their annual Thanksgiving supper.

Miss Maggie Ferguson is visiting her grandparents at Oxenden.

Mrs. Gardner, of Owen Sound, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herb Gardner.

Mrs. J. Lister and Missie Musgrove are spending a couple of weeks with her daughter Mrs. Musgrove in Hanover.

Mrs. Lynch and her daughter Mrs. McIntosh, of Owen Sound, spent Sunday in the village.

There was a good representation from North Keppel at the lecture at Kemble on Monday night.

Rally Sunday will be observed in Methodist church on Sunday next.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Shiers, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Skirner went to Clavering on Tuesday to be present at the funeral of their old neighbor Mr. J. Featherstone.

The Harvest Home Supper will be held on Monday evening. Tea will be served from 6 to 8 P.M. in the basement. Admission to supper adults 25 children 25c, to be followed by a splendid musical program and addresses by the Rev. C. K. Masters E. L. Flagg, and J. E. Thomson.

H. Seabrook and B. Kaufman Hayworth had their differences settled before Police Magistrate Miller Tuesday. They settled among themselves before this. Seabrook who was employed by the brick works was discharged by Kaufman and on street Seabrook took satisfaction.

Mr. Douglas wanted to settle the matter, but Kaufman wanted satisfaction, so the referee referred the matter to Wiarton and as a result Seabrook was fined $15 and costs.

Recent Arrivals From Europe

Mrs. Teddy Daw arrived home from England last week. She sailed from Montreal June 23 and so had a visit of nearly three months with her father and sister. Although born and brought up in England Mrs. Daw much prefers Canada on account of the climate and people. She was in London when war was declared, and states that the British are determined to win. Everywhere soldiers were in evidence. The stations were guarded, the water works, all the tunnels etc., so it is no wonder Tobemory is guarded. It is common talk in England about the Russian soldiers being taken through that way. When returning she got the latest war news every day on the steamer.

Mrs. Peter Peek and child, Scott Street, returned last week from Holland, where they had gone last April. For two months Mrs. Peek had been trying to get out of the country and at last her opportunity came, and it was by the first steamer that sailed directly for New York. Twice they were stopped in the North Sea by the British battleships and had there been a man on board speaking German he would have been turned back. Holland is ready for war and does not know when the summons will come. All the male portion of the population between the years of 17 and 45 are under arms. Germany has told their Queen that she will send soldiers in there 6 feet high and the Queen has answered back that they have water 7 feet deep. Business is dead in Holland, the factories are not running and the war has brought a great deal of distress to that industrious nation.

ZION. AMABEL

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Atchison spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Owen Sound.

Mr. John Robinson attended the fair held in Hanover Thursday and Friday.

A number attended the raising of Robert Playfords barn Thursday.

Bert Richard and George Eldridge dined in Allenford Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hughes spent Friday in Owen Sound.

Irvine Vay went to Allenford on business Tuesday.

Mr. George and Miss Lizzie Eldridge spent Friday evening with Skippers friends.

Mr. Herb McKay and Miss Lizzie left Saturday to visit friends in Stratford and London.

Miss Jessie Forbes, Adamsville, is the guest of her cousin Miss May Forbes.

Mr. Alfred Forbes is spending a few days in Owen Sound.

CAPE CROKER

Threshing is about over on the reserve, come to the full fair and see the sample of grain grown by the people on Cape Croker.

Moving of the old condemned No. 1 school house to the back of the old church for use as a hospital is a very slow work it is hoped that every thing will go well.

Mr. Wm. Hill, of Melvers, Sunday-ed at Mr. Charlie Jones.

Many new buildings are under construction. How do we know? see the lumber that is brought to the dock.

At the threshing of Mr. Paul Nawash's a logging chain went through the cylinder and shattered the set of concaves fortunately two were on hand, how the chain got mixed in the grain is a mystery.

Mr. M. E. Keshig of London is spending a few weeks with her mother Mrs. Peter Jones.

Mr. John Briggs, of Shawanaga, is staying at I. Dashedner for three weeks.

A jolly good time is expected on Fall Fair Day at the Cape on Sept. 28, 29, come and spend a day at the picturesque village of Cape Croker where hospitality and comfort is being prepared for visitors.

None too soon to organize a hunting trip for this fall for meat will be high in price and it only takes one bullet to down a good size deer, who's game?

Quite a number went to town on Saturday to take in the moving picture show about the war.

$1000 In Prizes Given Free By The Echo

$750.00 Weber Player Piano will be Grand Prize. Every Candidate Who Continues Actively Will Win a Prize.—Contest Officially Opens Next Monday Enter Your Name To-day

Starting Monday September 28th and continuing until Saturday, November 14th, the Wiarton Echo will inaugurate the greatest prize contest ever held by a weekly newspaper of this section. In this contest prizes to the extent of $1,000 will be distributed among the residents of Wiarton and vicinity.

The Grand Prize will be a beautiful $750.00 Player Piano purchased from Louis Bloch, Owen Sound. This instrument cannot be excelled anywhere either for beauty of tone or workmanship. Arrangements will be made to have this instrument on exhibition shortly in a downtown window where candidates and their friends may have the opportunity of inspecting the same.

There are two solitary diamond rings and four gold watches next in order, fully guaranteed and purchased from local dealers. Perhaps the outstanding feature of the great contest will be the fact that everyone will receive a prize. All contestants who continue actively throughout the contest and do not win a regular prize will receive ten per cent cash commission of the amount they have turned in on subscriptions.

Vote Getting

Votes will be issued in the contest on all subscriptions to The Canadian Echo and Pearson's magazine according to the advertised schedules. Votes are allowed on past due accounts as well as new subscriptions. If a subscriber is in arrears get him to pay up his back account and you will receive votes.

Early Work Counts

The candidates who enter the contest immediately and start to work will have the advantage over those who start later. The contest is divided in two periods, the first period ending Oct. 24th. After this date a reduction of twenty per cent will be made in the ratio of votes. A person can readily see the advantage of getting started early. Enter the contest today.

How to Enter

If you wish to enter the race for The Grand Prize Player Piano, clip out the Nomination Blank found on another page and bring or mail it to the Contest Office where all information will be given to you. Any person residing within the circulation zone of The Canadian Echo is eligible to compete. The Nomination Blank is good for 1000 votes but only one blank will be credited to each candidate.

What to do Next

As soon as your name has been entered as a candidate secure a receipt book from the Contest Manager and start to work. See your friends and tell them that you are in the contest and into win. Ask them to give you their subscription to The Canadian Echo or to Pearson's Magazine. As soon as you have secured one subscription don't stop, but go after another and then another. Do not let your friends forget that you are in the race and before long you will be receiving the co-operation of them and they will assist you the same as if they were in the contest themselves. Any time you are in doubt as to any condition or particulars regarding the contest don't hesitate to call up the Contest Manager who is pleased at all times to assist you in any manner possible.

Enter Now

Now is the time to enter the great contest, not later. Clip out the Nomination Blank right away and send it or bring it to the Contest Office. Nothing is ever gained by standing back allowing other people to have the best things in life. This is fortune's greeting to you. Will you acknowledge the greeting and win a $750.00 player piano? Address The Contest Manager, Wiarton, Ont.

Sidewalk Must be Inside of Trees

Mary street hill has been badly in need of a cement sidewalk for years and it was something to be thankful for when a petition went to the council for a concrete walk up that hill. There were only two names to the petition viz. J. E. Sutherland, a late resident of that district and James Paterson. Mr. Sutherland wanted the sidewalk built inside the trees, while Mr. Paterson wanted it built outside—for artistic reasons. Both notified the council to withdraw their names if the walk was not built as they desired. Mr. Paterson said he had tramped the old board walk for 25 years and could do so for a few years longer. Mr. Sutherland stated that if the walk were built on the outside of the trees it would injure his sewer. Couns. Kempt and Steacy were in favor of calling off the whole thing, but upon motion of Couns. Byers and Moore it was decided to build the walk within the trees.

Robertson & McNabb advised the council that it would be necessary to publish a voter's list for 1914.

The date of the assessment will hereafter be changed and the work will be done in the spring.

It seems a great mistake that we have no magistrate in our village. Since the death of Mr. Mullard no other has been appointed. ## The Late John Featherston

On Sunday Sept. 13, the last call came to John Featherston, Clavering, and the body that had been annually active for ninety years was laid aside, while that which was immortal took its flight. The deceased was born in England 1824, and emigrated to Canada in 1852. In 1853 he was married to Miss Sabina Blakey, of Toronto, and settled in Wellington County where he remained 14 years and then moved to North Keppel, where he moved to Simcoe County and seven years ago he came to live with his son R. E. Featherston, Clavering. Physically the late Mr. Featherston was one man out of a hundred. He came of a long lived family, one brother had lived to be 87 and another to be 83, and he had never spent a day in bed until the week before he died. He is survived by three sons, Elgin, of Clavering, Albert, of Allenford, and Percy of Dobbinston; and three daughters, Mrs. W. Longhead, of Fergus, Mrs. J. D. Lang and Mrs. John Currie, London. Interment took place in Richardson's cemetery, Hespworth, and a large number of friends paid their last respect to his memory.

The town council are putting gravel on the main street. It is generally thought that as the corporation owns a stone crusher it would be better to put crushed stone on Bedford street and thus make a more permanent job. While gravel makes a good country road its usefulness on the street is another matter.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Owen Sound

After some years of preparation the council has at last made a move to improve the market buildings and tenders have been called for improvements which will be made directly. At a recent meeting of the council $500.00 was granted to the chairman of the committee for making these improvements and those interested will be glad indeed to learn that such plans are being made. It is the intention to renovate the present stalls and to equip thorough indoor market. There is no reason why Owen Sound market should not be a great deal better patronized than it is, and perhaps the new buildings will have the effect of stimulating its business.

Ex-Mayor M. H. Duncan has just returned from a six weeks' trip to the West. It is the first time Mr. Duncan has been out through Western Canada, and he is greatly pleased with his trip. He was as far west as Calgary, and spent some time at Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, and Winnipeg. The crops according to his report, vary with the locality. In places the yield is excellent, while in other places it is poor. Drouth is slow all through the West, all the large cities are the ones most affected. In the wheat fields there is very little grain all over when he left. Speaking of the war Mr. Duncan said: "The people out west are even more enthusiastic than we are in the East." Mr. Duncan was accompanied on his trip by Mrs. Duncan and Miss Wiltspoon.

Tara

Rev. Hubert Buckingham, associated Rector of Bishop Fellows, of Chicago, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Bellwood, of Virginia, U. S. have been visiting Mrs. Bellwood's sister Mrs. (Rev.) Duncan at the Parsonage this week. They have been residing near Richmond, Virginia, for the past 25 years.

The public meeting called for April 17th on Friday evening last to discuss what course Owen Township would pursue in regard to aiding the Empire in the present European war was well attended, but no action was taken. The Council will probably deal with the matter at a future meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton and daughter Ella, of St. Joseph Island, who have been visiting their old home in Hastings County and Toronto Exhibition have been spending a few days with Mr. H. P. Potts, and left for home on Wednesday. Mr. Hamilton lived for a few years at Elmhurst about 30 years ago. He speaks well of New Ontario and the Government policy in developing that country.

Walkerton

Mr. L. A. Naim of the Merchants Bank, Walkerton, called off his Ford touring car in town on Saturday last, and the auto went to Mr. Charles Stephen merchant here who held the lucky number. Some two hundred tickets, ranging from $5c. to $25.00, and from the sales of which Mr. Naim realized about $250.00. The drawing took place in McCartney's pool room on Saturday afternoon, when in Hudson's Bay fashion, Mr. James Cameron selected out of a hat a ticket containing the number 133, which turned out to be the one Mr. Charles Stephen had purchased and which of course entitled him to the car. As the ticket only cost Mr. Stephen $1.45 he got the biggest auto bargain that was ever known here.

The contributions to the local patriotic fund for assisting the families of the Walkerton volunteers who have gone to the front, and which as noted in our last issue had reached the respectable sum of $472.40 was further increased this week by a donation of $10.00 from Dr. H. H. Sinclair.

The Town Council is borrowing $1200 from Mr. John Mahoney here at 6 per cent. to meet current expenditure. That all the people who enter the House of Refuge are not wrecked in fortune was illustrated here on Thursday last when Mrs. Anne McDonald, a pioneer of Harn township, and a lady regarded to have considerable wealth, crossed the threshold of the Bruce plant to become an inmate of the shelter. She is over sixty years of age and resided for over half a century in the vicinity of Ripley. Her husband dying about a year ago and she having no family surviving. The trip over the hills to the Poor House was taken as a means of finding a home and not for the purpose of seeking relief, as is usually the mission of those who visit the refuge here.

Kemble

Monday afternoon was a red letter day in the Presbyterian church, when Rev. Mr. Young was formally inducted into the charge of Sarawak, Kemble and Lake-Charles. The induction took place in Kemble church and many from all the congregations were present. Splendid addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Scott, of Killybeg, Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Warton, Rev. Mr. Fraser, of Owen Sound, and Rev. Mr. McEachern, of Owen Sound North. Following the service the ladies served a lunch in the basement and a pleasant time was spent in social intercourse.

The young ladies and girls of the neighborhood are busily engaged in making up the material purchased for the use of the soldiers, by the proceeds of the patriotic concert held a week ago. About 25 hospital pillows, 25 pairs of bed socks and several pairs of socks and wristlets have already been finished.

We are all pleased to see Mrs. Edgar Hurlbut able to return to her home and quite improved in health, last Saturday. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Smith, of Litchfield, who returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Clark and son, of Warton, visited friends here on Sunday.

Mr. Louis Hurlbut, of Annapolis, made a short visit to his mother on Sunday.

Sunday was Epworth League Rally Day at the Methodist church, when Rev. Mr. Farwell, of Toronto, spoke very acceptably in the afternoon and evening to large congregations. The choir rendered special music and the church was lovely in its decorations of maple leaves, asters and plants. There was also an ice-cream social and lecture on the war and its effects on Younger Canada, by Mr. Farwell on Monday evening which was a success and well attended.

Hanover

The meeting on Tuesday night took the form of a Social Rally. There was very interesting programme which included a solo by Mrs. W. E. Taylor, a recitation by Mrs. W. Ruttle, a vocal duet by the Misses Dorothy Armstrong and Anna Kuehner, a reading by Mr. Cooley, and one by Miss Donogh. After the programme there were some games and then refreshments were served. There was a good attendance and everyone looked as if the evening had been enjoyed. Next Tuesday evening the Citizens' Committee, having charge of the meeting, Mr. L. Woodward, has been asked to take the topic and Mr. Stanley Livingston is to lead. All young people and older people are cordially invited. The meeting begins at 8 o'clock.

Guatave Koplin, the Hanover painter, very took a trip to Germany shortly before the war broke out, created something of a sensation when he landed in town yesterday afternoon. He came via the United States, remaining a few days in Uncle Sam's domain until he got the necessary papers to allow his entrance into Canada. Hanoverians thought that Koplin would be fighting with the German army.

Kincardine

One of those who saw the effects of the explosion of the traction engine at Mr. Lindsay's farm on the 9th of Kincardine can have any appreciation of the force of the explosion. The front of it blew out and killed Samuel Lindsay who was riding and the rest of it was blown up a gangway and smashed through a rock elm beam 18x12 and would have killed the feeder and smashed the separator were it not diverted. The grass all around the place was scorched and there was no thrown on the windows of a house a hundred feet away. An old engine nearby was overturned. The fire grate was found near the house. Walter Lindsay, father of the unfortunate young man, who was killed, was near the water tank a few feet away when the accident happened. He was taken to Kincardine General Hospital both arms broken, his shoulder hurt and his back scalded. David Robertson was hit on the leg with a splinter. It made an ugly gash but he is now able to hobble around. The engine was an old one which Mr. Lindsay bought for light work, such as cutting corn. He thought to use it for his own threshing. Something may have gone wrong with the steam gauge, but the probability is that the engine was so old and rusty it could not stand the pressure.

Then laid the plan to a busy man,

Allenford

The Bruce County Rifle Shoot for the Donnelly-Clark Cup and other prizes, was held at the Lockwood Ranges on Monday, Sept. 7th. The shoot was conducted throughout according to schedule and the event was greatly enjoyed, and considered a decided success by those taking part. The day was somewhat dull and cold, and the wind rather high at times, but in spite of this the shooting was, on the whole, good.

The team from Allenford made the best team score and won the trophy. A. H. Boyd, Captain of the Lockwood team made the highest individual score—47 out of possible 70. Kincardine team did not compete this year. The shoot was to have been held here.

(Tara Leader)

Mr. and Mrs. J. Vassilyke, recently of Hespworth, now of Port Eglu were visitors at the Hespworth recently.

On Wednesday the following took boxes to U. S. looking for a buyer—Adam Aiken, Moffat Aiken, Edgar and John Hill, Chester Mallet, Rev. Jewell, Ben Houke, H. Barron, A. Aiken, R. Maroon and C. Mallet made a sale. The others are still looking for a man who wants a horse.

Friday was fair day at the school. Last spring the children went into farming, gardening, etc. Later some engaged in carpentry, needle work, baking, writing and map drawing. The fair showed the best results in all lines. It was an excellent display. The teachers, the children and the public were delighted. Mrs. Dr. Mallet, Mrs. Geo. Baker, Rev. Matheson and Rev. Jewell were the judges. Numerous prizes were won and we hope to have a list next week.

The W. M. S. held a very successful meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church. A large number were present, a good programme an excellent lunch and an enjoyable social hour were enjoyed by all. A few new members were secured.

WHEN YOU ARE NERVOUS

You have the first symptom of a run-down system, and nervous people too often conceal their aches and pains and suffer in silence, when, if regarded, this condition often becomes more serious trouble. If those so affected would stop taking medicine containing alcohol or drugs which increase the foundations of health, and just take the pure, strengthening nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, it would create new blood to red blood cells, and the whole nervous system. It is rich, sustaining nourishment, free from wines, alcohol or drugs. Scan substitutes.

A Great, Big, Capable Stove

You don't buy many stoves in a lifetime. Many people buy but one. A stove is an important purchase. It involves considerable money.

A stove that's not capable makes cooking a dread and a drudge—but still, meals you must have 3 times a day the year round. So choose your stove carefully. What has the Gurney-Oxford Stove to offer? First of all, it's a big, heavy, capable stove. It has the lasting qualities of an heirloom. It's a capacious stove, the top is broad and deep, the ovens are high and wide and deep. The grates of the Gurney-Oxford give the fire every chance to breathe. The combustion is perfect; this means the most heat from the least coal—in other words, economy.

The heat goes all around the oven in flues, not over it and up the chimney to waste. There are no cold corners in a Gurney-Oxford oven.

Then, there's the Gurney-Oxford Economizer, the greatest single improvement in stove-making of a decade. The drafts are all on the chimney, regulated by one handle. Notch No. 6 will keep the fire down to a veritable spark between meals. Notch No. 1 brings it back to life, and the oven to the desired temperature. Don't buy a stove for looks only. Don't buy it simply on price. Buy it for what it will do; how it will cook; how it will last; the satisfaction it will give. The Gurney-Oxford from every standpoint is a capable stove for 3-times-a-day satisfaction and economy.

 "A man has a poor chance of living and enjoying life when he cannot eat.
 That was what was wrong with me.
 Loss of appetite and indigestion was brought on by Constipation. I have had trouble with these diseases for years. I lost a great deal of flesh and suffered constantly. For the last couple of years I have taken "Fruita-lives" and have been so pleased with the results that I have recommended them on many occasions to friends and acquaintances. I am sure that "Fruita-lives" have helped me greatly. By following the diet rules and taking "Fruit-a-lives" according to directions, any person with dyspepsia will get benefit!"

 The most painful disease is one of the kind known to experts, but it can be reached if it is given a chance. This testimony is positive proof:

 me any good until I used RHEUMA

Two Years of Torture From Stomach Trouble

Cured by the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

There are two ways usually adopted in trying to cure indigestion or stomach trouble—one the wrong way by using purgatives and the other drugs which only act locally and which in the long run do more harm than good by weakening the whole system. The other way and the right way is the Dr. Williams' manner of treatment—that is to nourish and build up the stomach by supplying plenty of new, rich, red blood. Give the stomach this much needed supply of new blood and distress will disappear and stay banished forever. The new blood strengthens the system of the stomach and gives it the necessary power to digest food. Thousands bear witness to the value of the Dr. Williams' treatment through the blood. Among them is the Rev. P. D'Nowlan of Summersville, N. H., who says: "I certainly have great reason to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they were the means of saving my life. Till I reached the age of thirty I never knew what pain or sickness meant, but after that my stomach failed me and food of any kind caused untold distress. I became constipated and was forced to use injections daily. This went on for about two years. I grew weaker and weaker; my weight fell off from 185 to 125 pounds; I had a hacking cough and appeared to be going into a decline. All this time I was being treated by the best of doctors but without the least benefit. Night after night I could get no sleep the pain and agony was so severe. On consultation the doctors decided I was suffering from cancer of the stomach and advised an operation as a means of saving my life. This I refused to undergo and began to look forward to an early death. Just then a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had no faith in any medicine and at first refused, but my friend was so persistent that finally I gave in and purchased half a dozen boxes. By the time these were gone I felt much stronger and the distress was not so severe. I continued their use and each succeeding box wrought a marked improvement in my condition till by the time I had taken a dozen boxes every pain and ache had left me; my strength increased; my weight was back where it was before I was ill; I had a good appetite and was completely cured. In the years that have elapsed since I used the Pills not a twinge of the trouble has returned. To me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest medicine on earth and I never lose an opportunity in recommending them to other sufferers, for I feel that were it not for their use I would have been in my grave long ago."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Rev. Mr. Nowlan they have done for thousands of others and will do for you if ailing. They not only cure cases of stomach trouble, but rheumatism, partial paralysis, heart palpitation, St. Vitus dance and all other troubles that have their origin in a bad condition of the blood and nerves. The Pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Burdens Of Age

VON KLUK IS RETIRING

French Anglo-French Attacks on German Right Succeed.

Fragmentary Reports From Scene of Great Battle Along the Aisne Show That the Allies Continue to Force the Germans Back and Von Kluk Is in Danger of Being Cut Off—End of Battle Is Near.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The British and French attack on the German right is succeeding, according to despatches received here yesterday. Gen. Von Kluk is reported to have suffered terrible losses, and to be slowly giving way before the furious attacks of the allies.

The following official statement was issued in Paris last night by the War Office:

"On our left we have advanced along the Aisne to the heights of Lasigny. East of the Aisne and north of the Aisne the Germans display renewed activity, making violent attacks and heavy charges. They have been repulsed everywhere. Around Rheims the Germans have not attempted any infantry attacks. On the front it was Champagne, and west of the forest of Argonne, beyond Souain, we have taken Mesnil, Hurlus and Massignies. The enemy still holds its country from Thiaucourt to Cannote Passon Chatel."

"On our right wing, in Lorraine and the Vosges, there are no developments. The Germans are fortifying positions on the Meuse, south of Chateau Salins."

A Paris despatch states that the Echo de Paris announces that Gen. Von Kluk is planning a retreat to the Ardennes, where a position for another stand has been prepared. A despatch from Rome agrees with the Paris story, but states that Gen. Von Kluk has already begun his retreat. These reports follow earlier ones which indicated strongly that Gen. Von Kluk's army was again in a serious position and in danger of being cut off from the main German line. So serious has the position of the German right become, that it is believed 100,000 men are being rushed to its support from Belgium. The resistance of Gen. Von Kluk's wing has been determined, but the allied forces are continuing their movements in an endeavor to outflank him. This is the ninth day of the battle of the Aisne.

The British and French have been consistently attacking the wing held by Gen. Von Kluk since the battle of the Aisne began, and apparently have been attempting a sort of enveloping movement, which appears to have been partly successful.

A Paris despatch states that reports are continuously being brought in regarding British-French successes against Von Kluk. The allies have been determined from the start to crush the Germans' right wing, and their continued attacks apparently have had their effect, too, on the German centre, for, according to despatches, the allies have made a substantial breach of the strong German line between Lion and Rheims.

A daily Chicago despatch states that the success of the allies here threatens to divide the German forces, and is bound to have its effect on the German line, which must fall back. The correspondent adds that the fighting is continuing desperately, and that the Germans are still holding a strong position.

A Paris despatch yesterday states that a French officer back from the front told of an extended aeroplane reconnaissance, which showed that the Germans were making plans for retiring from their present position. It was reported, the correspondent stated, that the German commanders had received orders to retire to the German frontiers, leaving 200,000 men to defend the Aisne and its positions and cover the retirement.

A despatch to The Express says that reconnaissance by aeroplanes near Soissons show that a large part of the German army is retiring with trains and heavy stores.

Both allies and Germans are making desperate efforts to outflank each other and win a decisive advantage at the Aisne. More than 2,000,000 men are engaged and the artillery fire is terrific.

The German left has fought for days to turn the French right wing, but the French have been the bloodiest in all history.

SIXTON BATTERY READY.

Motor Machine-Gun Battery Leaves To-day For Camp.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—The Sixton automobile machine-gun battery, which has been organized at the capital, leaves to-day for Valcartier. The battery consists of 15 protected high-speed automobile frames, on which are mounted quick-firing guns and about 150 men, the majority of whom are either trained chauffeurs or highly skilled mechanics. It is believed that the battery will be capable of doing the deadly work when it goes into action. The detachment also includes high-power automobiles for reconnaissance capable of making about 50 miles an hour.

OUTLOOK PROMISING

Canada's Grain Exports Will Neutralize Financial Difficulties.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Canada's business outlook is promising; the first and worst effects of the war will gradually wear away, the higher prices of grains will more than make up for their shortage in amount, and future agricultural production should be immensely stimulated, enabling the country greatly to increase its exports, thus ensuring payment of interest on her borrowings and other obligations abroad, and the preservation of national credit; the present outlook, therefore, is efficient shock absorber.

These were the conclusions of Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, in an address before the Canadian Board of Trade yesterday on "War and General Trade Conditions of Canada."

While international markets were at present closed, said Hon. Mr. White, no doubt borrowing, although on a much reduced scale, would be possible later, and increased thrift on the part of the public would be a material factor in furnishing national wealth. The spirit of the war, which the Canadian community had met the situation was wholly admirable.

With so many men offering their lives for the Empire and undergoing hardships, privation and suffering at the front it was the duty of every man at home to put forth his utmost effort to increase production, to add to the national wealth, that the wastefulness of the war might be repaired, and the strength of the nation increased to meet whatever of struggle and stress may be before us.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The steamer Arabian, loaded with package freight for Montreal, ran aground near the Main Docks, near Kingston, yesterday.

A despatch received at Petrograd from Vladivostok declares that Japanese aeroplanes throwing bombs have destroyed two of the important forts of Talangut.

A despatch received by the Serbian legation at London yesterday states that the British military attaché in the Balkan States, Lt.-Col. Edward A. Plunkett, has been slightly wounded. The London Telegraph says that as an outcome of quarrelling between Bavarian and Prussian soldiers in the German army several of the Bavarian ringleaders in these disorders have been court-martialed and shot.

The British Admiralty has directed that for the present season all ships running to and from the Dominion must abandon the route through the Straits of Belle Isle and travel exclusively by way of Cape Race.

The British Government yesterday placed an order at Richmond, Va., for 1,000 sets of artillery harness and 500 cavalry saddles to be ready for delivery in six weeks. Similar orders have been placed. It is said, in Cincinnati.

G. T. R. detectives are working on what looked like a deliberate attempt to wreck a passenger train on the Huron and Erie branch of the line on Friday night last when a pile of boulders was detected on the tracks near Bradford.

Twenty more prisoners of war arrived at Fort Henry yesterday, bringing the total up to 200. Canada's army is almost at capacity.

Two Austrians who made serious threats against some of the guards have been put in close confinement.

NEW PRISON FARM.

Hon. W. J. Hanna Will Not Hig Institution Near Sudbury.

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—The Ontario Government is projecting still another industrial farm. Hon. W. J. Hanna announced yesterday that 1,000 acres of crown land in the judicial district of Sudbury had been selected for this purpose and that work on it was being started at once. The new site yesterday and will set up tents until suitable shelters are erected.

The new farm is situated in Burwash Township, at a distance of 21 miles from Sudbury. It is bounded on the north and east by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways, and has splendid facilities for stock-raising. It is the expectation of the Minister of Agriculture that the Fort William institution and others now planned, that the 2,000 cattle and horses now in provincial institutions will be supplied entirely by the province.

POOR SHOOTING ON EMDEN.

It Took the German Gunners an Hour to Sink the Indus.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 22.—The crew of the British cruiser Indus, captured by the German cruiser Emden in the Bay of Bengal, five of which were sunk after the crews had been taken to the Indus, yesterday afternoon. They made light of the German shooting.

George Read, second officer of the Indus, says that his ship was intercepted on the morning of Sept. 10 by the Emden as she was coming up the bay. The Germans had intercepted all wireless reporting the movement of the ships and so knew the positions of all the vessels in the bay.

The Indus which, however, was not sunk until more than an hour after the attack began, the German marksmanship being very poor.

Praises Chivalry of King George. AMSTERDAM, Sept. 22.—Commenting on the report brought to Cologne that King George V. had visited wounded German soldiers in Southampton, The Cologne Gazette says in a recent issue:

"The war which now rages has brought about so much hatred through the influence of the conduct of our opponents that we recognize more highly still the chivalrous behavior of the English King."

TO SEND ALL TO FRONT

Entire Force at Valcartier Will Form First Contingent.

After Conference With the Premier and Members of the Cabinet, Col. Hughes Announces That the Present Force of 31,200 Officers and Men Will Go Instead of an Army Division of 22,000 as Planned.

VALCARTEIR CAMP, Sept. 22.—Canada will send nearly ten thousand more men on the first contingent than was asked by the British War Office. This announcement was made by Col. Sam Hughes last night, and the decision was the result of a conference between Sir Robert Borden, the Minister of Militia, and Sir George Foster and Hon. Robert Rogers at the camp. The contingent will consist of 31,200 officers and men and 7,500 horses will be transported to England, instead of a division of 22,000 men, which was the original request of the Imperial authorities. It also means that every officer in training here will be taken aboard, which the British War Office had expected to be rejected. Every man in camp who is fit for active service will comprise the first contingent.

Asked whether any soldiers would remain in training at Valcartier and if there would be a contingent sent immediately mobilized, Col. Hughes said:

"I have decided that every man sent from this camp. The firing line from Canada will consist of an army division of 22,500 men, but at the same time we have deemed it advisable to send the rest of the men to act as a reserve, instead of leaving them here and not being able to use them at a time when they are greatly needed because of possible delay in transporting them. As to whether a second contingent will be mobilized, I cannot say. The services of 100,000 can be obtained just as easily as the services of those at present camped here. A second contingent will be quickly mobilized if necessary."

The first contingent will consist of nine battalions of infantry, including the Canadian Trenchers, which is now in training at Levis. This latter regiment will go to the front as a contingent of the original intention was to send only 12 battalions. There will also be three squadrons of Strathcona Horse, three squadrons of the Royal Canadian Dragoons and the artillery of about 4,000 men and many twelve and sixteen-pound guns.

The Duke of Connaught inspected the two cavalry regiments, the Strathcona Horse and Royal Canadian Dragoons yesterday morning. The royal party and Cabinet ministers returned to Ottawa last night.

Second Contingent Required. OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—It has been decided to raise forthwith a second contingent of Canadians, 18,000 strong, many 50,000 in all, with the 31,000 going in the present contingent, says a well defined report here yesterday.

The report is that the government is to be ready to sail for the scene of conflict by Nov. 1.

Servians Not Driven Back. NISH, Servia, Sept. 22.—(Via London.)—The Servian official press bureau yesterday issued a denial of the report from Vienna that the Servians had retired from Semlin, in Hungary, opposite Belgrade, after losing 6,000 prisoners and several pieces of artillery.

The report admits, however, that the Servians evacuated Semlin in the orders from headquarters for strategic reasons. The retirement was accomplished in perfect order and the Austrians did not re-enter the city until two days later.

KING KILLS CHAUFFEUR.

Albert of Belgium Discovers Driver Trying to Betsy Him.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The Progress du Nord yesterday relates a remarkable story of the King of the Belgians shooting his chauffeur while the latter attempted to drive him into the German lines. The King was with his troops at South Antwerp, and ordered his chauffeur to drive the car and drove back to the Belgian lines in safety.

In the man's clothing papers were found showing that he had received a German offer of a quarter-million dollars for the King's capture.

SHOULD ARREST KALEER.

German Humanity League Says That Is Duty of Lovers of Mankind.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Members of the German Humanity League, who on Aug. 11 issued the statement that the end of the war inevitably would be the deposition of the Kaiser, have made the following further statement:

"We reiterate as men passionately loving the fatherland, it is the duty of every man who cares for the welfare of mankind, to join hands in arresting the Kaiser and the Ministers around him, who are responsible for the appalling crimes perpetrated on non-combatants which have disgraced our nation in the eyes of the whole civilized world."

"The true and lasting interests of the toilers and wage-earners of Germany can only be served by the complete victory of the allied armies."

"There can be no lasting peace, no security for the rights of man, and no protection of democracy from the gangster and death until the imperial domination of Prussia within Germany is crushed by disarmament and swept away forever."

MILITARIAN MUST GO.

There Can Be No Peace Short of the Grave Says Churchill.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 22.—(Via London.)—In a speech here last night, Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, referring to the talk of peace by the German Ambassador to the United States, Count Von Bernstorff, said:

"His vague talk of peace is as insincere as the information of which he is the source. Peace with the German people must be arranged in good time, but there would be no peace with Prussian Militarism, short of the grave."

England, said the First Lord, did not seek to subjugate Germany or Austria, or their people, however complete her victory might be over them. The result could happen to them after the war was that they should be set free to live, and live fairly and justly.

MAY KEEP PORT OPEN.

Archangel Likely To Be Used in Winter For Freight.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—According to information received by the British Board of Trade, it may be found possible to keep open the Russian port of Archangel to the Arctic Ocean by means of the ice-breaking steamers until the end of November and possibly until the middle of December. It is also likely that arrangements for additional berths which will facilitate the discharge of private cargoes.

Archangel is the most northerly point in the railway system of Europe and is the only large seaport on the northeast of the Russian empire. The port is frozen in ice only between July and September.

SEA FIGHTS REPORTED

Germania Sinks German Merchant Cruiser in Atlantic.

H. M. Light Cruiser Pegasus Is Disabled in Battle With German Battleship Koenigsberg at Zanzibar—Captured and Captured Steamboat and Gunboat Dwarfs Wrecks German Steamer.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—H. M. S. Pegasus has been completely disabled in Zanzibar harbor by the German battleship Koenigsberg. Out of a crew of 245, 25 have been killed and 80 wounded.

The Admiralty report says that since the outbreak of the war, the British light cruiser Pegasus, under command of John A. Inglis, has been working from Zanzibar and had rendered very useful service including the destruction of Dar-es-Salaam (a seaport in German East Africa), the sinking of the German gunboat Mowe and a German merchant ship.

Early Saturday morning, continues the statement, she was attacked by the Koenigsberg while anchored in Zanzibar harbor. The Pegasus, thus taken at a disadvantage and somewhat unprepared, was completely disabled after suffering a loss, unofficially announced at 25 killed and 80 wounded. This is a high proportion out of a crew of 234.

"The damage done to the Koenigsberg is not known. She was last seen steaming away from Zanzibar."

"On Sept. 10 the German cruiser Emden from the China station, after being completely disabled, suddenly appeared in the Bay of Bengal, and during the period including Sept. 10 to Sept. 14, captured six British ships as follows: The Indus, Lovat, Killin, Diplomat, Frabcock and Katanga, of which five were sunk and the sixth was sent to Calcutta with the crew and cargo."

"The British auxiliary cruiser Carmania, Capt. Noel Grant, R.N., went into action Sept. 14 off the east coast of South America, where a German armed merchant cruiser, supposed to be the Cap Trafalgar of Berlin, was attacking a British ship. The Carmania, nine men killed and five wounded.

"The First Lord of the Admiralty has sent the following telegram to Capt. Grant:

"Well done! You have fought a fine action to a successful finish." The British ships, Cumberland, Capt. Cyril Fuller, R.N., from the Kamin river, reports that a German steamboat on the night of Sept. 14 attempted to sink the British gunboat Dwarf, Commander Frederick Strong, with an infernal machine in her bows. The attempt failed and the steamboat with one prisoner was captured.

"On the night of the 16th the Dwarf was purposely rammed by the merchant ship, a German merchant ship. The Dwarf was slightly damaged, but sustained no casualties. The merchant ship was wrecked. The enemy lost four white men and ten colored men and eight white men and fourteen colored men are missing."

SUBMARINE DISAPPEARS.

Australia Loses War Craft With 35 Men.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 21.—(Via London.)—Rear Admiral Sir George Patey, commander of the Australian navy, in a wireless despatch to the government states that the submarine A21, which was reported Saturday as lost, disappeared with 35 officers and men on board. The submarine was the last made a search but failed to discover any wreckage. The loss is attributed to accident, as there was no enemy within 100 miles and the weather was fine at the time.

This is the first disaster in the history of the Australian navy. The A21 was under the command of Lieut.-Commander T. F. Bessant.

When the nerve force expended in the day's work and in the act of living is not replenished by restful sleep at night you have cause to be alarmed, as physical bankruptcy stares you in the face. This letter directs you to the most satisfactory cure for sleeplessness.

Mr. Dennis Mackin, Marion, Sask., writes: "I have just finished using the sixth box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I must say that when I commenced using it my nerves were so bad that I could scarcely get any sleep. I would lie in bed nearly all night without sleep, and anyone who has this trouble knows the misery of sleepless nights. The Nerve Food helped me from the start, and has built up my nervous system wonderfully. I now enjoy good, sound sleep and instead of feeling tired in the morning I am strong and healthy, and well fitted for my daily work."

While going up Division street hill Monday, Harvey Krutzweiser found that he had not enough gasoline to take him there. So he turned about then discovering the brakes would not work he turned about again, and so down the hill the car went. Harvey jumped and the car went on until it struck a box car, which smashed the rear end off the auto. The damage done to the car was considerable, and the auto looks like it had been in the war.

The formal millinery opening is a thing of the past in this town, but there are as many hats worn as ever. Last week the fall millinery was displayed on exhibition and the ladies can see what their head wear must be this season. The prevailing colors are black and white and puce blue, and the early suit hats are small, sailors will also be worn. The dress hats, which will be worn later in the season are larger and baby pink is used almost exclusively in the trimming, with small white wings. It is a front trimming this year, and very flat for dress hats. One chief point of interest about the hats this year for gentlemen is the fact that they are not considered high in price.

Mr. Will Downes and daughter of Chesley spent a few days with Mrs. W. J. Grier.

Nothing Like It For Colds

Mrs. Charles Lovell, Agassiz, B. C., writes: "Seven of our nine children had whooping cough the same winter and we attribute their cure to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine. We always have it in the house, and recommend it as the king of all medicine. I was formerly cured of protruding piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Miss Dora Gladys Anderson a 16 Year Old Girl Criminally Assaulted and Rapd.

At Southampton on Sunday evening about 10 p. m. September 29th 1914 Miss Dora Gladys Anderson, the daughter of Mr. A. S. Anderson, of Southampton, was criminally assaulted and raped by William Gilzean, a fireman on the G. T. R. Miss Dora Gladys Anderson and Miss Minnie Burgess attended the Presbyterian church at Southampton on Sunday evening and after church took a walk down to the beach where there is a cement walk and after they were there for a short time William Gilzean, a fireman on the G. T. R., came up and spoke to them and the three sat there for awhile then the three of them walked to Mr. A. S. Anderson's house where Miss Minnie Burgess left them and went into Mr. Anderson's house and then into Mr. Anderson's house where Miss Dora Anderson and William Gilzean walked on, on the way to Mr. O. DeLong's, who is a druggist at Southampton, at which place Miss Dora Anderson was working as a servant. On the way to DeLong's house they had to pass along a comparatively lonely street, at the side of which there was quite a thicket of cedars and Miss Dora Anderson's story is that William Gilzean pulled her into the bushes, threw her on the grass and criminally assaulted her. Miss Dora Anderson screamed "Mr. Buckley, Mr. Buckley." "My no is bleeding." "You are tearing my clothes." "You will kill me." At this Mr. Gilzean put his hand on her mouth and she could not scream any more. Mr. John Buckley lives about 20 yards from this thicket of bushes and Miss Etile Buckley and Miss Minnie Johnston, who were just coming into Mr. John Buckley's house heard the girl screaming. Miss Etile Buckley at once ran in and told her mother that somebody was killing a girl. Mr. Buckley went back into the house and notified her husband and others who were in house and they all ran to where the screams came from. The man ran north from the thicket and the little girl who was only 16 years of age told at once who he was and what he had done. Her voice was bleeding, her waist was covered with blood and her headkerchief was saturated with blood. She was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Buckley into the Buckley house while some of the other men who had assembled chased after the man. After being washed, stimulated and cared for at the Buckley house Miss Dora Anderson was taken home to her mother's and her father at once set out with a posse of men to round up the accused. William Gilzean has known the girl for about two months and he had been with her five or six times before this. A warrant was gotten out on 1 o'clock in the morning and the man was arrested in his bed at 5 o'clock and was charged with Rape. The preliminary trial came off at Southampton yesterday at 5 o'clock before J. A. Gibson, J. P. of Port Huron and Mr. McIntosh, J. P. of Southampton. The trial continued from 5 P. M. until 11 P. M. when the accused was sent up for trial and is now lodged in goal at Warkenton. C. S. Cameron, Esq. of Owen Sound, appeared for the prosecution and David Robertson Esq., of Warkenton, for the accused.

It appears that the Provincial Government is retrenching with the farmers this year. It is possible that the Legislature grants will not be forthcoming. There will not be expert judges; of course the farmers can secure these experts but they will have to pay the shot themselves, and finally there will be no speakers for Institute meetings this winter.

When Canadians Fought in Africa

That the Canadian troops now assembled at Valcartier will add to the laurels of their country no Canadian doubts, and several American newspapers that have commented on the matter expect Canadians to particularly distinguish themselves. We have some traditions of military service in this country that will compare very favorably with those of much more military countries. In Conan Doyle's history of the Boer War the Canadians are mentioned more than once, and always in terms of the greatest admiration. In this war four Canadians won the Victoria Cross, which is probably the most highly esteemed military trophy in the world. In fact, we believe that pacifists as most of us are, we would rather have a Victoria Cross than a Nobel Peace Prize. Three of the Canadians who won this coveted trophy were members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, namely, Lieutenant Cockburn, Lieutenant Turner and Sergeant Richardson, of the Strathcona Horse.

AT FAIRBURN

The Canadians got into action first in December, 1909, when the Toronto company of 100 and a detachment of Australians and some English troops made a dash for Lord Methuen's line of communications. They advanced from Belmont, struck at the extreme right of the Boer line, captured a camp and forty prisoners, and occupied the town of Douglas. The next time they went into action was at the Battle of Paardeburg, and the news of their gallantry there is known throughout the Empire. They formed part of the Nineteenth Brigade, under General Smith-Dorrien, who has so signally distinguished himself in France, and this brigade, as Conan Doyle says, was probably the finest in the army. Going with a large force of Boers was lying entrenched at Paardeburg, and the British had to advance over a level plain. In the first attack they were subjected to withering fire, and had to retire, though Doyle says that the Canadians particularly distinguished themselves "by the manner in which they preserved in their attack."

CANADIANS LED ATTACK

After several days of fighting the Canadians and the Gordons had entrenched themselves within 700 yards of the Boer lines, the most advanced position of the army, and one pitchy dark night a general attack was ordered, the Canadians being given the honor of leading, the Gordons supporting. On this advance Doyle writes:

"The long line stole through a pitchy darkness, knowing that at any instant a blaze of fire such as flamed before the Highlanders at Magersfontein might crash out in front of them. A hundred, two, three, four, five hundred paces were taken. They knew that they were close upon the trenches. If they could only creep silently enough they might spring upon the defenders unannounced."

KINETY YARDS FROM THE TRENCHES

"On and on they stole, step by step, praying for silence. Would the gentle shuffle of feet be heard by the men who lay within stone-throw of them? Their hopes had begun to rise when there broke out upon the silence of the night a resonant metallic rattle, the third of a falling man on enemy's clatter. They had walked into a line of meat cans slung upon a wire. By measurement it was only 90 yards from the trench. At that instant a single rifle sounded, and the Canadians hurled themselves down upon the ground. Their bodies hardly touched it when from a line of hundred yards long there came one furious glare of rifle fire, with a hiss like water on a red hot plate of speeding bullets. In that terrible red light the men as they lay and scraped desperately for cover could see the heads of the Boers pop up and down, and the fringe of rifle barrels quiver and gleam. How the regiment, lying in the grass under this fire, escaped destruction is ordinary."

MADE CHARGE QUIT

With astonishingly little loss the Canadians made their way back, Captain Stairs and ten men, how-

Captured and Brought Here

The Bowman trophy, which has been the object of many strenuous efforts in bowling recently, was won last week by a rink from Warton in Owen Sound. A number of rinks had previously played for it, but the rink last week was successful. In referring to the game The Sun says: "The Bowman trophy went to Warton yesterday, having been won by a rink of Warton bowlers who journeyed over yesterday and succeeded in lifting the cup. The rink was Messrs. John Lane, Ed. Rakin, Jim Sutherland and Symon, skip, and they were opposed by a rink skipper by Mr. J. C. Telford including Mrs. B. Bruce, M. Lemond and J. G. McKay. The score was a close one, 14-15 in favor of the visitors. It is not likely the cup will remain in Warton very long for the Owen Sound players are a trifle suspicious as to who shall have possession of the trophy."

About Ourselves

The following extract is from the minutes of council Feb. 17th, 1914. "The Printing Committee reported that 100 copies of the Auditor's Report had been ordered from the Canadian Echo at the price quoted in the schedule, less $3 for 100 copies, and also that the printing for the year done at The Canadian Echo at the price quoted in the schedule. Moved by T. J. Moore and seconded by George Kempf that the report of the Printing Committee be adopted."

Carried. The minutes were afterwards confirmed by the Mayor. On Saturday The Echo learned that the Mayor's letter was given The Record to be printed, and we will here state done so deliberately. The Record is a paper just started in which four members of the present council are said to be interested. The purpose of The Record is supposed to be temperance, moral and social reform, but this is a most unfortunate beginning with such a program in view. This having no regard for agreements is a funny way to practice moral reform. It is something quite new. It was just this kind of work on the part of the Kaiser that drew Britain into the war. They are making respecting agreements is a long distance ahead of this way."

The Echo informed the majority of the members of the Printing Committee Saturday of the violation of the contract, and as they were determined to go ahead, we served them with notice that we would hold the council responsible for any infringement of the same, and have given this matter to our solicitors.

This public can read the resolution of council and judge the whole matter for themselves. It is only fair to some of the councilors who they knew nothing about the matter, and neither would the public had we not been urged to give publicity in justice to ourselves and to the public. We have no fault to find with those managing The Record in this transaction for they will naturally take all the money they can get. And The Echo will suffer the least for every man who looks on stands for fair play and condemnations what cannot be justified. If there were room for two papers in Warton this kind of thing would not be necessary.

over, though unwounded, remained behind, and entrenched themselves in a crevice of the river bank overlooking the Boer laager. They were joined by Captain Boileau and 63 men of the Sappers. When day dawned it was found that they were in position to enfilade half a mile of the Boer trenches. After receiving this fire for thirty minutes Cronje surrendered, realizing that his position was hopeless and so on Majuba Day the white flag fluttered over the Boer lines at Paardeburg. In April the Canadian infantry under Other repulsed the Boers at Israel's Post, and not long afterward with the Gordons and the Shropshires, carried a strong position at Houtekak by a determined rush. In the relief of making a battery of Canadian artillery took part, thus sharing in one of the most remarkable performances of the war after a march of thousands of miles. These incidents are only a few that might be mentioned to show that Canadians have every right to look forward to the Canadians who go to Europe fighting in recognition of courage and discipline to some of the crack regiments of the Allies.

TOBERMORY

The last meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Sept. 17th, and was well attended. Mrs. Walsh president, announced a few very interesting items. The members decided to have a library and that Miss E. Hopkins set as librarian.

On the 22nd inst. a concert was held in the Orange Hall in aid of the patriotic fund. The program was very ably arranged by the appointed committee. The concert was presided over by Mrs. Walsh, who gave a very interesting address on the institute work of various other branches. The program consisted of speeches, recitations, dialogues, choruses, songs, duet, instrumental music. Mr. McLaren and his friend from Warton rendered a few selections on the bagpipes, which was well appreciated, especially by the Scotch. The concert was well attended and it was plain to be seen by the large crowd that they appreciated the work that the Women's Institute is doing towards the Red Cross Society. The proceeds amounted to $4.00. The members of the institute wish to thank those who kindly took part. Reporting committee Miss Annie Matheson, Mrs. Vail, Miss Nettie McIvor.

Revival in Iron Trade

Mr. J. H. Cole Owen Sound, predicts a great revival in the iron trade. He says: "All Canada are working night and day to keep up with the orders for transport and artillery vehicles. Great foundries are equally busy turning out shells for artillery ammunition, tent makers and canvas workers are equally busy meeting the tremendous demands of a winter campaign; knitting factories, clothing makers, leather workers are equally busy and it looks as though the country was off to the greatest race in made-in-Canada goods it ever knew. Owen Sound will directly benefit in its iron and steel works. Already the demand for quantities of bolts and nuts is increasing and must increase with the momentum of the industrial activities in other lines."

Died from a Rupture.

While lifting a tie Saturday Joseph McKillop strained himself very severely. It was an ear head lift and something gave way, but the doctor could not tell what it was so he advised that he be sent to the Owen Sound hospital. Upon being taken there it was discovered that he had burst his stomach, which possibly was an aneurism condition. The unfortunate man lingered until Sunday afternoon when he passed away. He is survived by a widow and five children.

GRAY—At Oxenden, Sept. 25th, to Mr. and Mrs. Gray, a son.

The Cost of War

To kill a soldier in anyone of the great battles now raging in Europe will cost more than four thousand dollars.

This startling result has been arrived at after a long and carefully compiled list of figures got together by a statistician with the purpose of showing, as nearly as possible, what wars have cost the human race in lives and treasure since the beginning of authentic history.

Of course, it is impossible to do more than arrive at an approximate total. The lack of accurate statistics of the great majority of wars made an exact computation impossible, but in every case the estimate made has been a conservative one.

We are not concerned here with the great wars and battles of classic times. What life and treasure was wasted by Alexander of Macedonia, Xerxes, the Caesars, the Carthaginians, the Moors, the Tartars, the Huns, or any of the conflicts down to the days of Napoleon, we obviously can never know. A rough estimate of what it cost to rid Europe of Napoleon leads us to believe that six million men died, and a treasure of fifteen billion dollars was wasted in the nineteen years between 1793 and 1815.

But let us come down to later times. The war of 1846-48 between the United States and Mexico cost another 50,000 lives most of the Americans deaths being from disease.

The Crimean war of 1854-56 cost the five nations involved—France, England, Piedmont, Turkey and Russia—785,000 men, 600,000 of whom died from sickness and hardship.

Little Schleswig-Holstein's comparatively unimportant war, in 1864, cost Denmark, Russia and Austria 2,500 men.

The American civil war, 1861-65, cost the United States between 600,000 and 1,000,000 lives from wounds and disease, or to strike an average between the two estimates, 800,000 lives.

The short war between Prussia, Austria and Italy, in 1866, cost 43,000 lives.

European expeditions to Mexico, Morocco, Cochinchina, Lebanon, Paraguay, etc., between 1861 and 1867, cost 65,000 lives.

The Franco-Prussian war, 1870-71, cost more than 225,000 lives.

The Russo-Turkish war of 1877 cost not less than 250,000 lives.

The Zulu and Afghan wars in 1879, cost 40,000 lives.

The Sino-Japanese war of 1894-95, according to crude and surely incomplete estimates, cost 15,000 lives.

The English-Iber war in South Africa, 1899-1901, cost the lives of 125,000 men of whom 100,000 were English, and it involved an additional loss of something like 15,000 Boer women and children.

The Spanish-American war of 1898 cost both sides from wounds and disease, less than 6,000 lives, but the Philippine aftermath of this war has cost the United States the loss of about 5,000 soldiers and the loss among the native Filipinos, from wounds and disease, during the entire period of definite war and occasional fighting has amounted, it is said, to 500,000.

So much for the loss in the most precious thing of all, human life.

The monetary loss in these wars was correspondingly staggering. We may estimate it roughly as follows:—

The cost of war in money runs even further beyond the limitations of human comprehension.

The Napoleonic wars cost France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Austria, Spain, Russia, and Turkey, all of whom were involved in actual expenditure and destruction, not counting loss of trade and other economic waste, not less than $15,000,000.

The British-American war, 1812-15, cost $300,000,000.

The United States Mexican war, 1846-48, cost $180,000,000.

The Crimean war 1854-56 cost $1,600,000,000.

The police court has been busy this last while with petty cases. Sheep injuring a garden, quarrel between husband and wife, Indian drunk etc. etc. And the police magistrate has to listen patiently to it all.

To listen to all the troubles of the public is surely enough to earn a good reward.

The Echo's Great Contest is Now Open—Many Contestants Busy

Nominations Appear in this Issue for the First Time—Report often. Room for more Candidates.

Interest in The Echo's great $1000 Voting Contest is increasing every hour. New nominations are being received daily, and the contestants already started are becoming more enthusiastic. The gigantic Circulation Campaign is the subject of much discussion in hundreds of homes all over the town of Warton and district, and bids fair to relieve anything of the kind ever attempted in this section of Ontario.

The contest officially opened on Monday, Sept. 28th. Many candidates received their first vote on the opening day, and several subscribers called at The Echo Contest Office to pay their subscriptions and credit their votes to their favorite candidate. The opening day of the contest is not even a voting day. A surprisingly large number of subscribers called on Monday last. However the business was so widely distributed that no one has the advantage in the opening.

An Important Point.

It is important that candidates send in their subscriptions at least once a week, so that the papers get started without delay. This will be to the advantage of the candidates as well as to The Canadian Echo.

The First Subscription.

It is worth while referring to an experience which all candidates will have to go through. It comes with the first subscription. The following would be a good plan to pursue; make a list of your friends, mark the one most likely to help you No. 1, the next most likely No. 2, etc. Then go to No. 1 and get his subscription, and then No. 2 and so on down the list. In this way you will get a good start and many promises, do not overlook the promises—for they are important. Be sure that you have a pencil and paper handy and mark down the time you are to call back, and GET BACK. What's the moral? Go to the place of least resistance, and after a while you will be so experienced in the art of getting subscriptions that you will not hesitate one minute about requesting a subscription from anyone. You know nothing succeeds like success, and nothing worth while is gained without effort.

Now is the Time to Enter.

There is no time better to enter the contest than the present. Don't delay a single minute longer. On another page of this issue you will find a nomination blank. Clip it out; fill in your name and address and send it at once to the Contest Office. You may be the very one who will win the $750 Player Piano—yet you are hesitating about entering. Success comes to those who work. You can win if you will. Enter your name to day.

The Echo Contest is a Real Contest.

This Echo Contest resembles a battle of life to a great extent. It is a fight; and it will be a long time before civilization will make life possible without fighting. This is written with a text in mind. It is this "Get the Votes". You are your own master in this respect. No matter where you live; what you do; what you are you can get the votes.

Pick Your Favorite

The following is the list of names of the Contestants of The Echo's Great Voting Contest. Pick your favorite and help "him" or "her" win one of the big prizes.

Walkerton

The proprietors of the Central Hotel paid a fine of $50.00 in police court on Friday the 11th inst., having pleaded guilty to a charge of supplying liquor to Michael Connors of Eden Grove, who is an Indian liver. It will be remembered that Connors paid a fine for being drunk while on the prohibitory list and declined to tell the court where the source of his supply was. On being threatened with a three months' term in jail, however, he stated that he had secured his liquor at the Central Hotel and also claimed to have been served by two phoos at the Queen Hotel. On being hailed to count the proprietors of the Central pleaded guilty, but there proved to be no evidence to substantiate the charge against the Queen, and the case was dismissed.

Mr. L. Ames, a graduate of the O. A. C., (Guelph) is the new assistant to Mr. F. C. McKay, the local representative of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Ames who commenced his duties last week, commences to take the place of Mr. Freeman who leaves on Tuesday of next week on a two weeks' vacation, after which he will complete his course at the O. A. C.

Messrs. Frank R. Linn and W. J. McNally have recently been engaged in buying horses for army service. The animals purchased will be brought to Walkerton on September 30th, when it is expected the Hon. Adam Beck will be here to inspect them and call out those unfit for service.

William Forsythe, treasurer of the local lodge of the Woodmen of the World, was arrested at his home here on Monday morning last by Chief Ferguson, charged with embezzling the funds of the lodge to the extent of $305.87. The alleged thefts are stated to have ranged over a period from December 1913, to July 1914. The accused was taken before Magistrate Telford on Monday morning and remanded to jail, from which he was later released on furnishing bail to appear on Monday next, at 1 p. m., for trial. The case for the prosecution is being conducted by Lawyer Klein. This is alleged to have been the third or fourth time that treasurers of the local W. O. W. lodge have embezzled the funds of the Order.

The tragic suddenness of Mrs. David Morrison's death, coupled with the fact that she had died wealthy and without a will, brought double bereavement to some of her friends here, with whom she had been most cordial in life and to whom she had promised substantial remuneration in death. The fact that she had failed to recall her wishes on paper in the form of a will, would have been a great loss to her heirs, and their grief for the loss of a kind friend and a small fortune was one of the affecting scenes in the sudden tragedy. No doubt many local charitable institutions would likewise have come in for a share of her wealth, which is roughly estimated at $40,000, as deceased was of a public spirited nature, and took an active interest in such work. But the failure to make a will was fatal to their claims, and the kind wishes and intentions of the deceased regarding the disposal of her fortune are nullified and buried with her in the tomb. Although she was raised by Mr. and Mrs. Heighan in Brant, she is said to have a mother living somewhere in the Dominion, and who, no doubt, will inherit her daughter's wealth.

Two attempts to bring the Bowman bowling trophy to Walkerton have failed, the first occasion a rink composed of Sam Vogan, Eddie Huchler and J. H. Huchler with Frank Eit as skip, went to Owen Sound and defeated by 10 shots the Wright rink which held it. But as a Southampton rink, which had challenged first, also beat Wright by 3 shots, the trophy went to Southampton. Wright, however, went down there with a rink and won it back again. Chesley next went to Owen Sound and captured it, but Wright last week journeyed to Chesley and recovered it. The rink and a quartette composed of Thos. Pye, J. Henderson, O. E. Klein and W. H. McBurney went to Owen Sound on Tuesday to fetch the coveted dish to Walkerton, but both rinks went down to defeated and were obliged to return without the prize.

It is stated that some of the authorities here are taking exception to the auto raffle, which was recently pulled off in town, and that steps may be taken to confiscate the car, in which event the seized auto would be sold by public auction and the proceeds revert to the state.

Kincardine

An attendance of 2,500 and gate receipts of nearly $350 at the fall fair held Saturday is figuratively gratifying to the directors of the agricultural society.

An excellent lot of horses were shown in the different classes. Cattle did not seem to be as numerous as in former years. Local manufacturers and merchants had exhibits in the main building, the sign "made in Canada" being displayed prominently. "R. Company" Thirty-second Regiment, 30 strong, paraded and went through some military evolutions in front of the grand stand.

The boy scouts also gave an exhibition of their drill movements. Ernie Prichard, of Goderich, and Edward Goodwin, of Kincardine, were matched to run at 100 and 220 yards; the former won the 100 yard dash and the latter the 220. The Wingham Brass Band rendered an excellent program during the afternoon, their performance receiving most favorable comment. The Kincardine Pipe Band played the volunteers to and from the grounds, and also assisted in the program at the park.

Chesley

A meeting of the Chesley Industrial Association will be held in the Council Chamber on Friday, Sept. 26th at 8 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to co-operate with the Industrial Association of Ontario in an aim to provide remunerative employment as opposed to direct relief for the unemployed in our town and district. Work of charity is what our independent working men desire. It is quite apparent from local information, as also from that received from outside sources, that we are warranted in the fear that on account of the war the coming winter will witness unemployment upon a scale never before experienced in Canada. It is therefore essential that no time be lost in making preparations to meet the situation. May we urge you to be present and aid us by your counsel? "In the multitude of counsel there is wisdom." Mr. A. Halliday, President; R. M. Stewart, Secretary.

The patriotic badges ordered for tag day did not arrive at all the five minute committee decided to print ribbon tags. There were ten girls appointed to sell but only six started at the work when the badges were printed about 2.30 p. m. on Friday. Though they had only about two hours in which to sell, the girls went at the work with a will and raised about $20. Pearl Buckley took the lead with $12 and Edith McKay was second, with Violet Blair not far behind. The girls who took hold of this work are to be congratulated on their efforts to promote so worthy a cause, as is also Mrs. D. J. McLaughlin who helped in the good work. The names of the collectors are, Pearl Buckley, Viola Blair, Edith McKay, Clara Smith, Irene Ferguson and Marjory McDonald.

Geo. McCanell who has been a news vendor in this town for five years has gone out of business and will go back to the farm. George has been trustworthy and energetic and he will be much missed in town where he is well thought of. However, he will not be far from town and will be able to come in at least once a week to see his old friends.

Tara

The campaign for collecting funds for the Patriotic Fund in Tara is progressing fairly well, the amount collected to date, being about $300.00. The collectors have several attempts to canvass yet and it is hoped that with the grants from the Council and the different lodges of the town the fund will reach $500.00.

An unfortunate accident happened to Mr. Arthur Haggart on Tuesday morning. He was cutting hay in a field near the railway crossing, on Brook street when a train coming along scared his horses and he was thrown off the mower breaking his leg below the knee. Medical aid was summoned and the broken bone was set.

G. T. H. detectives are working on what looked like a deliberate attempt to wreck a passenger train on the London Huron and Bruce branch of the line on Friday night last when a pile of boards was detected on the tracks near Brookfield, by a trackwalker, but a few minutes before the express carrying a large crowd of returning Western Fair passengers came along.

The many friends of Mrs. C. A. Richards will regret to learn that she is suffering from paralysis of the face. She was in Walkerton at the time and returned at once to her home and has been suffering a good deal of pain.

PLEASED TO RECOMMEND BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Henri Bernier, Assiniboine, Quebec, writes: "I am with pleasure that I recommend Baby's Own Tablets, which I have given my little ones for stomach and bowel troubles, constipation, loss of sleep and simple fevers. No mother of young children should be without them." The Tablets are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs and are given to the youngest child with perfect safety and good results. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at eight cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Allenford

(The Leader)

On Thursday evening a bare ball team from Arkwright played our boys. It looked like Arkwright's day off. The score was 11-8 in favor of Allenford.

Mr. Isaac Broadfoot died on Tuesday morning after a short illness. His funeral took place on Friday afternoon. The service was held in the Presbyterian church and was largely attended.

As a result of Mr. Broadfoot's illness and death there was no school in the upper room all last week. Miss Broadfoot is now ill and two classes of her room are still unemployed. We hope Miss Broadfoot will speedily recover.

Capt. Fenton called off the shoot with Owen Sound on account of the funeral. He has announced that a strong team will be out Friday.

On account of the services in the Presbyterian church here being withdrawn Sunday, many Presbyterians attended at Elginore and the audience in the Methodist church was larger than usual.

The Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at the home of Chas. Amott on Saturday.

Rev. Matheson and charge of Kibbytho work on Sunday while Rev. Scott held the anniversary services at Elginore.

J. A. Bourke, of Hepworth, motored through here with Gov's Road Inspectors on Monday. Having a little time off he took the occupants of the paragon out for a spin.

Rising has a large force of men at work building a new cement dam.

Mr. Wolfe's chopping and cedar mill is busy. Mr. Wolfe took a trip to Toronto on Friday. It is rumored that he has purchased an auto. With little Hepworth sporting four autos surely this community should have one.

Paralyzed Limbs

To-day is a stupor, headache, digestive trouble, and instability. Next thing you know some form of paralysis has developed. Mr. Alex. Goodenough, 20, Modern street, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "Nervous trouble developed into paralysis of the limbs so that I became helpless. Doctors failed me, but after using ten boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I recovered work, and now feel better than I have for 20 years."

Owen Sound

A very sad drowning accident happened Monday evening, when Miss Jess Shappard Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Young, lost her life while bathing in Wright's mill pond on the Pottawatonic River. Miss Young, who was a student at the Collegiate Institute, had returned to her home, near Nicola's mill, after four o'clock, in company with two young girls named Evans; and, as the day was hot, someone proposed that they go in for a swim. The three girls had been there only a short time, when Miss Young, diving off the bank, went down and did not re-appear. The other girls rushed off for help, and soon a large number were on the spot. But it was getting dark, and there were many logs in the pond, so it was impossible to locate the body. It was finally decided to open the dam and drain off the water and when this had been done the body was found. Dr. A. L. Danard and some men of the St. John Ambulance Brigade tried for about three hours to induce respiration, but it was useless, as she had been in the water about three hours. It was thought that her death was the result of a cramp or heart failure caused by the shock of the cold water when she was overboard. She was an expert swimmer and diver.

Miss Young was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Young, and was about sixteen years old. She had lived in town all her life and had many friends with all of whom she was a great favorite. She had attended the Collegiate Institute for about two years, and was most popular there. Five brothers, J. Perry of Wyndham Centre, Arthur, Douglas, Basil and Allan, all at home now. The funeral took place yesterday from her parents' residence, Half-mill, Strip, Derby to Greenwood cemetery, and was attended by the Collegiate Cadets in a body. The services were conducted by Rev. Thos. Low Fraser, pastor of Division Street Presbyterian Church.

Hanover

Mr. R. C. Henderson, Professor in Fort Military Academy, Charleston, S. Carolina, left Thursday after spending the holidays at the Rectory.

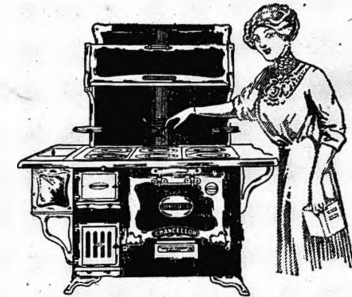

Mr. Lister of North Knapell is visiting her daughter Mrs. G. H. Macgregor.

Gustav Kopplin who arrived here last week from Germany was able to get away by having passports from the U. S. State. Otherwise he would have been held. He came over on the Cassedua and the male served were something awful. He had no trouble entering Canada at Quebec. He left Germany on Sept. 7th. The Germans were hostile when they heard he was from Canada. Mr. Lippert says: "Business is good in our part of the country."

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lippert of Garber, Oklahoma were in town last week visiting relatives and renewing old acquaintances. They left Hanover twenty five years ago and were much impressed with the progress of the old town. They spent the last twenty one years in Oklahoma and have prospered. Mr. Lippert is enjoying a good position, being manager of the Garber branch of the Antrim Lumber Co., St. Louis, Mo., speaking of hard times. Mr. Lippert says: "Business is good in our part of the country."

The Rev. Henderson left Wednesday to attend the funeral of his brother Canon Henderson of Toronto. The Canon was for 40 years rector of St. Mark's church Orangeville.

How the "Economizer" Works

EVERY Gurney-Oxford Range is equipped with an "Economizer."

This is the most important stove invention of recent years, and is not to be had on any stove but the Gurney-Oxford.

Think of its convenience; instead of having a number of dampers to regulate, you have only one. Move the handle of the Economizer in one direction and the fire is checked and maintained at a low ebb. It does not go out, but it consumes least possible fuel. If a bright, hot fire is wanted, another turn of the handle produces it, quickly and surely.

The convenience and efficiency of the Economizer is not equaled by the damping arrangements on any other stove.

And the arrangement of the flues in a Gurney-Oxford is remarkable.

The oven is enveloped in heat—every inch and corner gets an equal share of heat.

The heat goes up or down steadily and evenly. It never fails to cook successfully.

And the Gurney-Oxford Grates present an extraordinary large surface to the air. This means perfect combustion, a bright, intense fire. The coal is entirely burnt. It does not smoulder without giving off heat, half stifled to death.

Let us demonstrate these features of the Gurney-Oxford. The purchase of a stove can mean so much in comfort and economy—or extravagance and disappointment—that it is a serious thing to buy the wrong stove. The Gurney-Oxford never disappoints.

QUALITY OF THE FARM BUSINESS

The farmer may have sufficient area and grow the right kind of crops, yet not be successful, owing to the poor quality of his entire business. Poor crops that do not pay the cost of production and the feeding of these to unproductive live stock are common causes of failure. This characteristic of unproductive farming attracts much public attention. Such farms are unproductive largely through ignorance or indifference on the part of the operator. Under good management they can generally be made successful.

The improper organization of a large farm limits its possibilities, just as area limits the small farm. Single crops or single live stock enterprises seldom utilize farm labor to its maximum. By having several crops there is not only better distribution of labor, but the chances of total loss from crop failures are lessened. Fortunately, corn, oats and wheat utilize the farmer's time pretty thoroughly through the growing season. In some parts of this country certain crops that need labor only a part of the year may be so profitable that the farmer can afford to be idle the rest of the year. However, these are the exceptions. Most crops are not profitable enough to permit any idleness. Idle horses and machinery are nearly as expensive as idle men. If the working equipment can all be kept busy on paying enterprises success is almost assured.

TO CURE A CHOKED COW.

A Homemade Confinement That Will Be Found Effective.

Now that the season for feeding roots in the yard or for turning cows into fields where turnips have been grown or feeding refuse apples is with us we occasionally hear of cows being choked. A contrivance that will be found effective to use in a case of this kind may be made of a round piece of wood two inches thick and seven inches long, fastened to two side pieces eight inches long, with a hole bored at each end of the side pieces and also several holes in the round piece of wood. This round piece is put into the mouth of the choking cow and a rope passed through the holes in the side pieces.

CONTRIVANCE TO CURE CHOKED COWS.

which is fastened over her head in the manner of a collar. The animal breathes through the holes in the bit, and in her effort to rid her mouth of this great food of saliva takes place, which runs down her throat when she holds her head up and assists in causing the obstruction to pass down or be ejected. Besides, it entirely prevents the animal from becoming hoarse and thus dying from suffocation. There are many methods in use to assist animals that are choked, but many of these are dangerous on account of injuring the gullet.

DAIRY NOTES.

In nearly every community the majority of the milk and cream producers realize that a large sum of money is lost and the health of the low score of butter sold at 1 or 2 cents per pound less than the best grades and are interested in the production of the kind of a product that will make good butter. The fact that are disinterested or will not accept the advice of the butter maker as to how a better grade of cream can be produced are the ones that are responsible for the low quality of much butter.

A great deal of butter that sells for 80 cents per pound and the other kind that sells for 15 cents per pound is raised on the same land with only a rail fence between. The difference lies entirely in the brains of the men who produce it and the man who puts it on the big markets.

Every dairy farmer should have a milk house where it is possible to take care of the milk and the cream without letting it become contaminated with undesirable odors and flavors. Some people think that the dry cow needs no care, but those that make the best records have the best care during their period of rest.

A concrete tank will not keep a leak, and at the same time it will not be ready for use.

HOW BLIND MEN READ

LOUIS BRAILLE WAS REINVENTOR OF UNFORTUNATES.

Frenchman, Who Invented Means Whereby Blind May Read, Was Known as Country Ago Now Back and Became a Professor at the National Institute for the Blind in Paris.

It was a magnificent tribute which King George paid to the memory of the man who "made the blind to see." On the occasion of the recent opening of the new building added to the National Institute for the Blind in Great Portland street, London. "A great service," Majesty, "was rendered to humanity when Louis Braille devised the system of reading and writing which partially restores to the blind the lost means of intercourse with their fellows."

The tribute was well deserved, for of all the reading and writing systems which have been invented for the help of the blind, it is generally recognized that that of Louis Braille is by far the best. Much of the $100,000 which is being appealed for to support the National Institute is required to supply the increasing demand for books of the Braille type. That the world will be subservient to the generous-hearted public there is little doubt, for as King George truly said, "It is a commonplace that men do not realize the value of that which they have never lost, but I am confident that your appeal for funds to extend and develop your undertaking will stir the imagination of many who unthinkingly enjoy the blessing of sight."

Braille, who was born in 1809 about twenty-three miles from Paris, became blind through an accident at the age of three. When he was ten years of age he entered as a pupil the National Institute for the Blind, where he was educated by Valentin Haüy in 1848, and such was his intelligence that he was elected a professor of the institution.

Both as a pupil and professor, however, he labored to invent a system which the blind could not only read but write in relief, and after years of patient effort he devised the wonderful system which bears his name. Briefly the signs of the Braille system consist of varying combinations of six points or dots placed in an oblong, of which the vertical side contains three dots and the horizontal two points. There are sixty-two possible combinations of these six points, so that after providing characters for the twenty-six letters of the English alphabet, there remain a sufficient number of signs for punctuation, contractions, etc.

The first ten letters, from "A" to "J," are formed by combinations of dots in the upper and middle rows; the next ten letters, from "K" to "T," are formed by adding the left-hand dot on the lower row, and the remainder by adding two dots in the lower row to the combinations representing the first ten letters. By other various combinations, numbers, and musical notes. Indeed, by means of this dotted system a blind man is able to keep memoranda or accounts, write his own music, emboss his own books from dictation, and carry on correspondence.

For writing, a frame is used consisting of a grooved metal bed, containing ten grooves to the inch. Over this is fitted a brass perforated guide, fixed into a light wooden frame by the frame of a slate, which is attached to the grooved metal bed by hinges. The paper is introduced between the frame and the grooved bed, the instrument for writing being a blunt awl which carries a little cap of paper before it into the grooves of the bed, thus producing a series of little pits on the side next the writer. When taken out and turned over, little prominences are felt, corresponding to the pits on the other side. The reading is performed from left to right, consequently the writing is from right to left. But this reversal presents no practical difficulty as soon as the pupil has caught the idea that in reading and writing alike he has to go forwards. That the making of Braille books is a costly and laborious process may be gathered from the fact that John Andrew Ford, whom the King and Queen saw at work when they visited the National Institute, and who has the distinction of having hammered out the first Bible in Braille, took three and a half years to accomplish the task.

The task involved no fewer than 20,000 holes, the punch having to be struck three times with the hammer for each dot. This Braille edition of the Bible runs into thirty-nine bulky folio pages.

Classified. One-third of the fools in this country think they can beat the lawyer in expounding the law, one-half think they can beat the doctor at healing the sick, two-thirds of them think they can beat the minister in preaching the gospel, and all of them know that they can beat the editor in running the newspaper.—London Times.

HINTS FOR SMOKERS.

How To Get The Best Results From Your Favorite Pipe.

A good meerschaum pipe demands plenty of attention. If you carry it loose in your pocket pieces of grit will scratch it. Keep it in a case except when actually smoking it. If you wish to color a meerschaum, bear these few points in mind. Use a strong tobacco at first, drag for preference. Put a plug at the bottom of the bowl before the bottom of the bowl comes before the upper part, but this plug reverses the process. When the color has become an even brown remove the plug.

Don't smoke the meerschaum in a high wind, or in the rain. The wind may color it unevenly, the rain will spot it. Don't let it get too hot, and be careful not to scratch it with your finger-nails.

The best pipe to smoke is a briar. Clean it out once a week by running a piece of string through the stem, and it will give you just as good a smoke and less trouble than a meerschaum, clay, or calabash. String makes a better pipe than a feather, as it goes right through the stem and out at the bowl, whilst the feather has to be pushed in and pulled out. Whenever possible, scrape out ashes in preference to knocking the bowl against any hard substance, as constant use of the bowl is liable to crack. But don't scrape away at the carbon from inside the bowl—just leave a thin coating.

Some smokers always light their cigarettes with wax tapers and their pipes with wooden matches. The latter may have a greater or less effect. The unpleasant taste of a broad-nose pipe can be banished by burning some grass in it.

Snow and Timber.

Few would imagine that the absence of snow would double the price of timber. The greater part of the world's supply of common timber comes from the forests of Canada, Scandinavia and Russia. All of these countries have a greater or less fall of snow. Snow is one of the best non-conductors of heat or cold in the world, and when the fall is a foot deep the thermometer shows 60 degrees on its surface will, if buried beneath the snow, rise to about 30 degrees. A full-grown pine can stand almost any degree of cold, but a young tree cannot do so. It might appear that the absence of snow and less winter would infallibly kill it. If, therefore, snow ceased, the enormous timber supplies of North America, Europe, Asia and America would disappear.

A Free-Handed Prince.

The following is told of the famous Prince of Conde: He left his son, aged nine years, 50 Louis d'or to spend while he himself was absent in the country. When he returned he found him triumphantly saying: "Papa, here is all the money safe. I have never touched it once." The prince, without making any reply, took his son to the window and quietly emptied all the money out of the purse into the street. Then he said: "If you have neither virtue enough to give away your money nor spirit enough to keep it, you had better in the future, that the poor may have a chance of it."

The Armenian Alphabet.

An Armenian girl goes to school at four or five years old, but before that she has probably learned her "letters," which is almost an education in itself. The Armenian alphabet contains thirty-nine. She learns these letters from a small slab of wood on which they are printed. This slab is divided into hundred making it something like a hairbrush in shape. The Armenians have a method of counting which is so perfect as to give every sound known to any other nation.

Burn Silk Before Buying.

Why did your last year's silk split and crack? Because it was duttered. You may have tested it easily before purchasing and saved both money and worry. A piece of silk and a match are all you need. Light the match and apply it to the fabric. If it holds its shape the silk is adulterated with some of the various minerals so used. If it runs in light of a man eating tiger, it is pure.

A Malign Difference.

The globe trotter was telling about the wonders of India. "The scenery in some portions of the country," he said, "with enthusiasm, is the direction of the mountains pile up toward the sky, and stretching off to them are beautiful valleys, while close at hand you are in sight of a man eating tiger."

"I beg your pardon," interrupted an eager listener, "but did you say India or a man eating tiger or in sight of one?"

Rain as a Fertilizer.

Rain, especially when accompanied by thunder and lightning, has a fertilizing effect upon the soil. There is almost always ammonia in the air, and this is carried by the rain into the earth. It has been calculated that a quart of rainwater may contain about one-eighth of a grain of ammonia.

The Woodpecker's Tattler.

Heard a woodpecker tapping the trees in the high woods. How strange it is he constructed! If we chopped the tree on a level with the trunk he would be heard a hundred feet off, at the end of an hour our jaws and gums would ache and he seems to be suffering no inconvenience.

INFANTRY BEARS BRUNT.

Battle of Aisne Abounds in Hand-to-Hand Conflicts.

ON THE BATTLEFIELD, Sept. 28.—(Via failed telegrams) the infantry bore the brunt of the incessant fighting Saturday and Sunday, but the artillery of both armies continued throughout twenty-four hours to bombard each other's positions. Hand-to-hand combats occurred at many points, and bayonets were used freely.

The French colonial infantry, most of whose men wear many medals for bravery displayed in colonial campaigns, was to the fore, and beside these men fought the black Senegalese troops, while along the line the British troops held an important point with the greatest determination.

The French troops showed more than their accustomed dash in attack, and everywhere acts of wonderful courage were performed. The cavalry participated in the engagement at many points, the allies' horses having enjoyed a long rest, which enabled this arm of the service to distinguish itself. The famous Scots Greys, finding that the color of their horses offered a promise of death for the German infantry, had dyed their mounts.

The famous French officer, Gen. Marquet, has met death on the field. At Nieuport, home of the parents of President Poincaré, the Germans broke open the Poincaré family vault. It is reported, and buried a number of British dead here. The Germans placarded the town of Valenciennes, demanding that the mayors of neighboring communities furnish lists of the available supplies of clothing and food.

PARIS AGAIN BOMBED.

German Aviator Drops Four Missiles, Killing One Man.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Four bombs were dropped on the city from a German aeroplane yesterday. One missile exploding in the Rue de Valenciennes, at the corner of Rue Freycinet, blew the head from the shoulder of a man who was standing on the corner with his daughter, and crippled the child. The other bombs did little damage.

Crowds, taking advantage of a beautiful autumn day, were promenading on the banks of the Seine when the aerial warrior appeared almost directly over the Eiffel Tower. It is believed that the first bomb dropped was intended for the wireless station on the tower, or possibly for the nearby buildings containing army stores. It landed in Avenue du Trocadero, not far from the tower, with a crash, and the explosion was heard for many blocks. The houses in the vicinity were badly damaged, many of the walls cracking, while windows were blown out.

In the midst of the excitement the aeroplane dropped three more bombs. One landed about a hundred yards past the tower, and another exploded on the Avenue du Trocadero. A third bomb fell in Rue Valenciennes, and a fourth in Rue de la Pompe.

HOW LOAN WAS RAISED.

Germany's Bonated Patriotism Is Largely a Forced Product.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—German despatches point in proud vein to the successful flotation of the five billion marks' war loan without outside assistance, but the methods employed are only now coming to hand. It is learned that the Government attached 25 per cent. of all bank balances in the country, and the depositors were forced to subscribe to that extent to the war loan, whether they wished to do so or not.

It also appears that German merchants, at the direction of the Government, are liquidating their debts by investing the amount owed in the Government war loan at 6 per cent. placing this and the interest thereon to the credit of the creditor, while at the same time notifying the creditor that it has been decided to discontinue doing business with such manufacturers who will not agree with this method of paying German debts.

KEPPELINS BECK FLEET.

Several Airships Trying To Find British Warships In Baltic.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The flight of several Zeppelins over the Coddgate is reported from Copenhagen. It is suggested that they are seeking the location of part of the British fleet, which is thought to have passed through the Skagerrak, en route to encounter the Russian fleet. The Baltic, believed to have been engaged with a superior German force. The channel is heavily mined, and the danger of attack from German torpedo boats is imminent, but British commanders have often courted danger by disregarding such obstacles.

Col. Hughes Retires.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—When Col. Hughes was asked yesterday if he reported of the appointment of Major Gen. Alderson to the command of the Canadian army division was correct, he refused to make any statement. So far as can be learned it is taken for granted that the Col. Alderson will get the appointment, although it has not yet been made officially. The choice of Gen. Alderson would be popular in military circles. Gen. Alderson is an able and experienced officer, with a long and brilliant record. He commanded some of the Canadian troops in South Africa and was very popular with them.

German Admit Heavy Losses.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(Via London) —A correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger in a dispatch published yesterday points out that a decisive turn in the battle which has been raging in the western theatre of the war need not be expected for some time. Subordinate actions of a decisive character are becoming more general, the correspondent declares, and the losses of the Germans have been extraordinarily heavy.

Prince Opposed Vandalism.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—In an article by Francis T. St. Saut, an critic of the Temps, the assertion is made that the son of the Kaiser present in Reims before the German evacuation of that city was opposed to the destruction of its incomparable cathedral. He quotes the prince as follows: "The beauty of I can give you of my desire to preserve the cathedral is that I intend to have my wounded placed there. To destroy it would be a crime which I would not count for anything in the world."

Destroy Nation But Preserve Art.

BORDEAUX, Sept. 28.—Meyr Gredt, a noted art critic of the history and fine arts, has admonished the German soldiers to destroy the French cities but preserve its art. He advises extermination of the population but careful preservation of all objects of art. These instructions are included in the article of peculiar ferocious character in The Berliner Tageblatt.

Look Out For Hog Cholera.

Most hogs die violent deaths. Of those dying of disease nine out of ten in the corn belt pass away of cholera. Therefore, if your hogs are dying and you don't know the cause, there are nine chances out of ten that it is cholera. If your neighbor's hogs are dying of anything but the butcher's knife it is a sign to one probability that they have cholera and that your premises are in danger of infection. You won't make any mistake if you telephone for an expert with vaccine in either case.—Farm and Fireside.

END IS NOW AT HAND

Experts Look For Another Retreat of German Armies.

Although the Official Bulletins Are Short, the Indications of Further German Efforts to Break Allies' Centre at Any Cost Show That the Invaders Are Desperate. War Office at London Is Optimistic.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The end of the battle of the Aisne, with complete success for the allies, is declared by military officials here to be in sight.

Speculation generally turns to new movements of troops. It is possible that the Indian troops (who came by way of the Suez Canal, and not across Canada) have entered the field of action. There are many significant reports that would bear out this, but the censorship prohibits their being sent out at the present time.

One thing is certain. The War office is more optimistic than at any time since the opening days of the battle of the Marne.

The English and French communications are exceedingly terse. That issued from Bordeaux says: "There is nothing new in the general situation. All is relatively quiet along part of the front. Nevertheless, in certain places, especially between the Aisne and the Argonne region, the enemy has again attempted violent attacks which have been repulsed."

The British statement says: "Last night the enemy attacked our lines with even more vigor than at any previous time. They, however, met with no success than on previous occasions."

"There is no change in the general situation. The Germans have gained no ground. The French have advanced here and there."

The night communiqué from the French War office was as follows: "First—On the left, wing the reports on the situation are favorable."

"Second—On the centre our troops have successfully withstood new and very violent attacks. We have made some slight progress on the heights of the Meuse. In the Woerthe region a thick fog has caused a suspension of operations."

"Third—On our right wing (Lorraine and the Vosges) there has been no change in the situation."

With heavy reinforcements on the German right and the French left, the attempt to crumple up that wing of the Kaiser's forces is still in progress. Never before in the history of recent wars has there been such a determined and prolonged attack on a given point as that being made by the allies. Day after day they have pushed forward, literally by inches. Despite the injuries inflicted by Von Boehm, bringing fresh troops from Belgium, with the army of Von Kluck, the advance has continued to gain ground. The death of news is taken to mean that the battle is surely nearing its final stage. It is remembered that just before the crucial day of the Marne there was similar scarcity of information. No one would be surprised to suddenly hear that the Germans had begun to leave France, bag and baggage.

Indications of the tremendous efforts of the German soldiers are to be seen in the fact that the crack Prussian Guard has been almost cut to pieces. Companies having a normal strength of 150 men are reduced to 100 men, and practically all of the officers with which they went into action have been replaced by new recruits, the others having been killed.

The opposing battle lines are said to be almost within view of each other at all points. The operations have not changed for days, so far as tactics are concerned, the allies constantly pressing the German right wing, and the Germans to turn building their best corps at the French centre to create a diversion.

The Central News yesterday received the following despatch from its Paris correspondent:

"Both the allies and the enemy, far from being exhausted after more than a fortnight of continuous fighting, appear to be throwing increasing vigor into their operations. Exceptionally fierce encounters are now being fought, particularly on the allies' left."

"It is impossible, owing to the rigorous press censorship, to divulge all the information whereon the opinions of your correspondent are based; nevertheless, one cannot help expressing the view that the Germans are fighting with the violence of desperation and the allies with the energy of those upon whose right the dawn of success is beginning to break."

"The movement of the German troops on the left of the centre to support the menacing right wing reveals in itself the policy of desperation—an attempt to achieve victory at a staggering cost. This movement, however, appears to be completely failing."

"Our men, despite the enemy's reinforcements, are still gaining ground and if the essentials of good spirit and excellent organization count they will continue due to gain."

Cattaro's Outer Forts Silenced.

ROME, Sept. 29.—(Via Paris.)—The Giornale d'Italia reports that the bombardment of the port of Cattaro has been resumed, and that already the exterior fortifications have been reduced to silence. The Austrian squadron, the paper adds, attempted to attack a French torpedo boat, but the arrival of battleships compelled the Austrians to retreat.

Bombardment of Cattaro.

ROME, Sept. 29.—(Via Paris.)—Bombardment from Rome, Genoa, and the Adriatic coast of Cattaro have been resumed by the Austrians. Bombs have been dropped on the harbor and the city. The Austrian squadron, the paper adds, attempted to attack a French torpedo boat, but the arrival of battleships compelled the Austrians to retreat.

Joseph Lee laid information against his brother Sydney Lee Saturday and claimed that the latter had stolen $200 from him and headed for Meaford. Constable Ward had him arrested in Meaford and went there and brought him back, but it turned out that the money had been loaned.

Frank Maher, Chatsworth, brought over a rink of bowlers Monday and played for the Bowman trophy. The other members of the rink were A. Merriman (skip), F. Stark and S. Broese. The defenders of the cup were Messrs. Syron, Sutherland, Hocken and Lane. There was some good playing and the score stood 27 to 16 in favor of Warton.

The Warton Branch of the Women's Institute will hold their regular monthly meeting on Thursday Oct 1st at 3 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Last week The Echo scribbled out through a good section of the country and everywhere he saw prosperity, while people are talking about the prospect of hard times in the towns no such thought has entered the heads of those who work the soil. With the best crops yearlings selling at $50, two year olds at $75, the farmer has come to his own beyond all doubt.

Throughout this district a great many farmers are expecting wheat will be a good price next year as they are seedling down in many cases more than twenty acres.

The pipe band went to Milverton last week to assist at the fair and at a concert at night. They made a great host of friends who were warm in their praises.

Winter apples are now being offered at $1.50 per barrel, and as the price will probably drop a little lower, so with potatoes at 50c per bag there are some things which will not be too high this winter.

The directors of the Warton Agricultural Society will meet on Saturday Oct. 3rd at 2.30 p.m. in the ticket office on the grounds to make arrangements for any changes and repairs that may be required for the show on Oct. 13 and 14.

WE WILL PAY YOU $120 to distribute religious literature in your community. Sixty days work. Experience not required. Man or woman. Opportunity for promotion. Share time may be used. International Bible Press, 182 Spadina Ave., Toronto.

The G. T. R. have had a number of men during the past week lowering the platform of the depot about six inches. The Echo has been informed that this is being done in many places, and the reason is on account of the hobble skirts, we will not guarantee, however, that this is the correct reason.

On Saturday night the equinoctial gales evidently struck this district and there was a very heavy sea on the Georgian Bay. Two liners the City of Midland and the Soo City were obliged to come into the harbor for safety. They reported the waves about 40 feet high. The lake traffic this year has been a complete failure in passengers alone there has been a falling off of 50 per cent and the packet freight is not up to other years.

The daily papers Monday stated that John McKinnon, Manager of a branch of the Union Bank, Hamilton, had been arrested on a charge of theft. Mr. McKinnon was well known in town as he was accountant in the Union Bank and an effort was once made to have him appointed local manager. Whatever may have unfortunately led him astray for which all who know him are sorry, the facts remain that he was well liked in this town, and he seemed to be a man with a good career ahead of him.

The Rev. Mr. Bradford, the pastor of the Baptist church, occupied his own pulpit last Sunday upon the occasion of the Harvest Home services and delivered most thoughtful addresses. The music particular for the evening service, was excellent. The Harvest Home Supper Monday night was a most enjoyable and social occasion, and the entertainment provided afterwards including the music and addresses, pleased all who were there.

Last week the Editor of The Echo called upon Mr. R. H. Murray at his residence in Allenford, and found that Gentleman quite cheerful although having turned 74 and not enjoying good health. For over thirty years he has been clerk of Amabel township, and has only missed one meeting of the council and that was the last one. And it is not too much to say that he is one of the best township clerks in Ontario. His many friends will hope that his rugged Scotch constitution will hold out for years to come.

What Britain Did To Avert War

—So admirably does Sir Edward Cook summarize the causes and the issues of the present struggle in his little pamphlet, "Why Britain is at War," (the Macmillan Company of Canada, Limited), that it is difficult in any less space to present the essential facts. He shows very clearly, as indeed the British correspondence presented in the White Paper shows, that until the end Sir Edward Gray laboured for peace, when it was plain that only a miracle could prevent war. The writer begins his narrative with the assassination of the Archduke and his wife. There followed the charge on the part of Austria that the assassination was part of a general conspiracy in Serbia to detach parts of Austria-Hungary from the monarchy. Austria delivered an ultimatum to Serbia, and Sir Edward Gray said that "one naturally sympathized with many of the requirements of the ultimatum." There were two features of the ultimatum, however, that alarmed him and other statesmen anxious to preserve the peace of Europe. One was the inclusion of a time limit of 48 hours, a period so short as to leave diplomacy no time to avert war. The second was that Austria did not demand a reply. She demanded the reply which she herself dictated.

Austria's impossible demands
Sir Edward Gray said that he had never before seen a State deliver to another independent State a document of so formidable a character. It is important to note that the German Foreign Secretary admitted that "the Serbian Government could not swallow some of the Austria-Hungarian demands." However, Sir Edward Gray advised Serbia to go to the furthest possible point in meeting these demands. France and Russia gave her similar advice. Serbia complied and within the time limit replied, sending a reply which Sir Edward Gray said involved the greatest humiliation that he had ever seen a country undergo. The part of the Austrian demand that Serbia had felt obliged to refuse touched her very existence as an independent State, and even this she was willing to submit to the Hague. Nevertheless, on July 28, Austria declared war on Serbia.

Appealing to Germany
Knowing the intimate relationship between Germany and Austria, Sir Edward Gray, while he was giving advice to Serbia, had also communicated with Berlin, and had suggested the importance of Austria keeping her demand within reasonable limits, and that Germany should give this hint. The German Foreign Secretary, however, "considered" it inadvisable that the Austria-Hungarian Government should be influenced by the German Government on the matter. The day after the ultimatum was despatched to Serbia Sir Edward Gray proposed that "Germany, France and Great Britain, who had no direct interests in Serbia, should act together for the sake of peace simultaneously in Vienna and St. Petersburg in the event of the relations between Austria and Russia becoming threatening." To this plan France and Italy agreed, Russia, too, expressed herself willing to stand aside and leave the question in the hands of England, France, Germany and Italy.

Germany Wanted War
It was essential, if Austria was to be committed to the plan, that Germany should acquiesce and "propose and participate in such action in Vienna and St. Petersburg." The German Foreign Secretary, however, "could not fall in with the suggestion, desirous though he was to co-operate for the maintenance of peace." When this answer was delivered, Sir Edward Gray replied that as the German Government was understood to have accepted in principle the idea of mediation by the four disinterested powers, "The German Secretary of State should suggest the lines on which this principle should be applied." The German Government, however, made no suggestion of any kind. Next Russia offered to discuss the matter direct with Austria. This suggestion Austria declined to consider. Then Sir Edward Gray appealed to the German Chancellor in these words: "If he can induce Austria to satisfy Russia and abstain from

NIGHT WATCHMAN NEEDED

Last Wednesday night some unknown party entered the general store of Hunter & Trout but got away before being detected. Johnston, the hockey player, was passing the store at 12.30 and saw a man inside, whom he knew was a burglar, so he ran to the Pacific; got a crowd who surrounded the store to prevent his escape. Mr. Trout was summoned just when he arrived, and they went in to apprehend their man, but he was gone. He had seen Johnston giving the alarm and took to his heels, wherever he was entered by the rear, climbed up a ladder left there, broke open a window and easily came down the stairs. It does not appear, however, that he took anything, but the fact remains with a hard winter approaching and very little employment there will be a big temptation for many to steal this winter. Accordingly we need a night watchman. We can easily dispense with the services of the Chief during the off-duty, but it is not absolutely necessary, but it is necessary for him to come on at 11 o'clock and remain on duty until 6 A. M.

going so far as to come into collision with her, we shall all join in deep gratitude to his excellency for having saved the peace of Europe."

The Final Appeal

The Italian Government made a similar appeal, but from the proposals that Germany made to Britain on the same day—those proposals that Mr. Asquith characterized in the House of Commons as "infamous"—it was plain that Austria was determined to force a quarrel with Serbia, and that Germany planned the conquest of France. Nevertheless, while the British Foreign Minister did not accept the German proposals, they were rejected in diplomatic language, for it appeared that there might still be a hope of peace, and in making yet another "most earnest" appeal to Germany, Sir Edward Gray promised that if some way out of the present difficulty could be discovered by Germany, his own endeavor would be to promote some arrangement, to which Germany could be a party, by which she could be assured that no aggressive or hostile policy would be pursued against her or her allies by France, Russia and ourselves jointly or separately."

Booster Period Starts To-Day

All subscriptions turned in between to-day, Oct. 7th and Saturday Oct. 17th at 9 p. m. will earn "Double Votes." Now is the time to make the best of every spare moment. This will be the only double offer in the contest. Vote standing shows room for more candidates.

Interest and enthusiasm in the Canadian Echo $1000 contest is increasing daily. The young ladies and gentlemen, who are in the race for one of the big prizes, are doing splendid work and their friends are coming to their support in royal style. The votes appear to-day for the first time and all the candidates are running very close. The published vote standing also shows that there is still plenty of opportunity for new candidates to enter and win a prize.

And here is something you have all been wishing for. Double Votes on all subscriptions for the next ten days. This is the proposition: Double Votes will be given on all subscriptions turned in between to-day and a week from Saturday.

This opens up a splendid opportunity for you to boost yourself into top position. This will be known as the "Booster Period" and you should boost every minute while it lasts, and also get your friends to boost, boost, boost, this should be your motto. This simply means that every dollar subscription earns 2000 votes instead of 1000 during the next ten days. Multiply the present schedule by two and that will give you the number of votes that subscriptions will earn you while the booster period is in effect.

Candidates should not fail to make the very best of this splendid opportunity to boost their chances of winning one of the big prizes. This will be the most important period of the contest and don't fail to do your best. The regular schedule will go back into effect immediately after the Booster period closes and this is positively the only double vote offer to be given during the entire contest. So "make hay while the sun shines." The Booster period will close Oct. 17th at nine o'clock. All business turned in between now and that date will earn double votes.

Mr. Subscriber! If you have promised to help a favorite candidate do so now. Your subscriptions will earn double votes for them if paid during the next ten days. You are invited to have a voice in deciding who shall be the winners of the contest, and you should not fail to give your subscription while the Booster period is in effect.

Candidates must report often. New subscribers will be anxious to get the paper and candidates should send in the names at least once a week. If you have subscriptions on hand now turn them in this week—they will earn double votes from now on and there is really no advantage in "holding back."

During the last week many subscribers have called to pay their subscriptions and credit their votes to their favorite contestants and in this way a number of active contestants have received several thousand votes. Yesterday one young lady received 10,000 in this way, the subscriber owing for four years.

Patriotic Concert at Clavering

An excellent concert in aid of the patriotic fund was given last Wednesday night at Clavering in the Orange Hall, which proved altogether too small to hold the crowd that wanted to get in. The programme included choruses by the Orpheus Male Chorus, vocal solos by Miss Flossie Jones, Warton, George Brooks and G. D. Fleming, Owen Sound, and solos by Miss Grace Nelson, Warton, and Mr. Cribbie, recitations by Miss Hambley, Mr. D. B. Patterson and Master Arthur Robertson, piano solo by Miss Wilkinson and music by the Warton players. Rev. Mr. Wouds and Sheriff Jernyn delivered short patriotic addresses. Dr. S. E. Foster, Warton, made an able chairman. The programme was so thoroughly enjoyed that the suggestion has been made that it be repeated in Warton, where a hall can be secured that will accommodate the crowd.

The Jewish Day of Atonement was observed last week. The rules in regard to fasting is very strict, and no Jew is permitted to taste food during the entire twenty-four hours, even the children, except the very young, being supposed to observe the fast. The services in the synagogues commence at 6 o'clock in the morning and continue all day until a blast from a ram's horn announces that the day is past. No work of any kind is permitted to be done on this special day.

The Echo's Capital Prize

The piano and the ability to play it are combined in this instrument. For the proficient and artistic pianist the Weber Heintzman offers a touch that is equal to the demands of any technique, and a tone that is brilliant and limpid in quality, white to all music lovers, of thought devoid of technical training, it presents a means of enjoying the pleasure of expressing by their own hands the music of their choice.

The piano is furnished by Mr. Louis Block of Owen Sound.

LIONS HEAD

Mr. Wm. Curry, of Owen Sound, attended the funeral of his brother last Sunday.

Again on Monday, we regret to announce the death of Mrs. Yates, Berlin on Saturday, Oct. 3rd after a lingering illness from tuberculosis. Her interment took place on Tuesday. Much sympathy is extended to Rev. Yates in this sad loss of trouble.

Next week we will try and give an account of the fair, as it was an ideal day everything went off in fine form but as the community was so small with mourning we will endeavor to give full details next week.

Mr. W. E. W. Tackaberry left Wednesday morning for Detroit. Mr. How Wheeler is taking charge of his store.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis and Mr. Hopkins, of Enderbury, attended the fair here last week.

Quite a number from Warton and other places attended the fair and all report a nice time.

Again the grim reaper visited all communities took from amongst us after a lingering illness of nearly two years from tuberculosis in the person of Hugh Alexander, son of Mr. Robert Curry, aged 27 years 4 months and 4 days on Oct. 2nd, 1914. On Fair day before he died his wish was to hear the band from Cape Crozier play a few numbers and also his last wish was to be buried by the lodge, the Independent Order of Foresters, of which he was a member.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon after having the services conducted to the church by the Rev. James. The interment in the cemetery was a large procession formed and he was laid to rest in Eastern Cemetery beside the bodies of his mother, 2 brothers and sister. Much sympathy is extended the surviving friends in this hour of trial.

A very pretty scene of an interesting social event took place on Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church at 3 o'clock when the marriage was solemnized between Miss Mary Violet Walter, youngest daughter of Ed. Walter, of St. George Thomas Crawford of Allerton. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Stultie under the beautiful arch of evergreens, while Miss Stella Tackaberry presided at the organ and played the wedding march. The bride was brought in and given away by her father. She wore a lovely gown of white satin over which fell an emerald veil and a black velvet hat and carried a bouquet of carnations. She was accompanied by two flower girls, her little niece and Miss Francis Irwin. Immediately after the ceremony all returned to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was held to about one hundred guests. After receiving the congratulations and good wishes all retired to the dining room, which was superbly decorated with flowers, where everyone did ample justice. The presents received by the couple were costly and useful which showed how well the bride was favored in the village and surrounding country. The guests presented the flower girls with bouquets. The bride had on a gown of black and white with an ornate gold clock and the others Mrs. George Warren and Oliver Tackaberry with gold and black. Immediately after supper the happy couple autored to Warton and other points before taking up their abode in Allerton. The bride's trousseau is a very beautiful suit.

Died in Lakefield on Friday, Oct. 1st, 1914, Elmer Roy the second son of Chetwynd and Jean Carter, aged three years ten months and twenty two days after an illness of about 28 hours from gastro enteritis. In spite of all that could be done he passed to the great beyond. His little corpse was brought to Lions Head by his father, who was accompanied by his step father and mother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Furel and Mrs. Dwyer. Owing to the illness of the deceased little brother and sister Mrs. Carter was unable to attend. On Sunday morning at 10.30 a large number of friends gathered at the home of the child's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. R. Tackaberry where the funeral took place from 11 to 12 o'clock. The service was conducted by the Rev. James, who took for his text "It is well with the child." After a short service the funeral took place and the body was laid to rest in Eastern Cemetery. The following floral offerings were received: A pillow from the teachers of Lakefield Public School, a pillow from Form 4, a bouquet from Form 3, sprays from Forms 2 and 1, the Ladies' Public School, an anchor from the grandparents and friends, a spray from Mrs. Davis, its aunt and a bouquet from Mrs. St. G. Pettigrew. The deceased had a bright and cheerful little lad who was greatly missed by parents and friends. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved friends and relatives.

Mr. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Furel and Mrs. Dwyre left for London on Monday for their homes in Lakefield, Rodney and St. Thomas. Mrs. R. Tackaberry accompanied Mr. Carter to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dagg, of Berrie, who attended the funeral, left on Monday for their home. They were all taken to Warton in the auto by Mr. John Tackaberry Jr.

Mr. Chas. Cummings, chief accountant at McLaughlin & Sons, has severed his connection with the firm to enter Knox College to study for the Presbyterian Ministry. Mr. Cummings was born on a farm near Elmville and attended the Northern Huswale College here. Nine years ago he entered the employ of McLaughlin and Sons, where by his diligence and careful attention to business, he rose to the position which he has just resigned. In church circles, he has always been a faithful worker and is an active member of the Session of Knox Presbyterian Church.

Last evening a farewell was given him at the church, the affair taking the character of an open meeting. Rev. Mr. Rodgers was chairman and after devotional exercises, a short musical program was given by Misses Clements and Jean Thompson and Rev. Mr. Rodgers and Mr. English.

That it does not pay to monkey with the liquor selling business in Owen Sound was found out by Gus Holberg yesterday when he was fined $200 and costs for selling liquor in a local option district. It was claimed that he had sold a bottle of gin to George Graves and the latter swore positively that he had bought the liquor from Holberg. This, coupled with the evidence of Inspector Beckett, led the Magistrate to find Holberg guilty of selling. The Inspector presented a fine of $500 but $200 and costs was the sentence.

Last week the Owen Sound Wire Fence Company made a large shipment of wire on the steamer Van Allen for Western points and distribution. The vessel carried one hundred and twenty tons of wire in all. This is one of the largest shipments the wire fence company have made this summer and the size of it indicates the manner in which it is becoming popular in the west through the agency of the Brandon Fence company, which is now part and parcel of the Owen Sound company. The business of this concern has grown until it is now one of the most thriving of the smaller industries of the town and the probability is that the time is not far distant when it will require to have larger quarters to accommodate the machinery necessary to produce the output to meet the increasing demand.

Southampton

The official announcement of Mr. J. H. Lee's appointment as postmaster at Southampton may be expected any of these days.

The papers announce that Mr. D. D. McLeod, of Southampton has been called to the bar. This means that Duncan is now a full-fledged barrister.

The young women of the Baptist Young People's Society are at work on pillowslip, towel, wristlets, etc., for the Canadian boys who have come to the front in defence of our Empire. The first meeting was held last Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. Bert Winter, and weekly meetings will be held.

Last week a man driving a traction engine and clearing a track had pieces of road opposite James Brown's, 63, route north of Paisley. The ditch was deep and the engine landed upside down, and the cleaner landed on top of it. It was something of a miracle that the engine driver escaped without any injury.

The auction sale of the two parcels of land in Arran Township, belonging to the estate of the late Aquila C. Martin on Sept. 19th, resulted in the win of the lot in Arran Lake district to Wm. MacIntosh for $1,200, the other lot was bid up to $1,000 but did not reach the reserve bid and was not sold.

Hanover

The marriage took place yesterday afternoon in the Brant Lutheran church of Miss Carrie Frock, daughter of Mr. Frederick Frock, and Mr. Herman Gateman, son of Mr. Joseph Gateman of Brant. The bride was assisted by Miss M. Frock, while George Gateman acted as best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony all repaired to the bride's home, where a capital supper was served. About 150 guests were present. The evening was spent very enjoyably by the guests in music, games and dancing. The Post extends congratulations to the newlyweds.

Doctor Whitecloud, the Indian medicine man and race-horse owner, who was in Hanover last week selling medicine was in a serious accident near Listowel recently, and although with his horse trainer, he managed to escape practically unharmed, he lost his fine bay standardbred race horse, Tootsie, the animal which he had been in a run away which occurred on the third line of Wallace township. The doctor and his horse trainer were proceeding along the sidewalk and in an attempt to release the line from underneath the horse's tail, the cinch broke, and the horse rearing this commenced to run. By pulling the single rein the doctor averted the animal right about face after it had been running full a few rods, and in making the turn the horse stumbled over one of the numerous knobs on the track, and fell, breaking its neck, causing instant death.

One of the prettiest weddings of the month of September took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Faekler in Hanover on Tuesday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock when their daughter, Miss Lydia L. became the bride of Mr. Otto Knechtel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Knechtel also of Hanover. Rev. John Leybold of the Baptist church officiated. The bride was most becomingly gowned in silk ivory tulle, trimmed with baby Irish lace and pearls. She wore the regulation veil and carried a bridal nosegay and lily of the valley. She was given away by her father. The maid of honor, Miss Pearl Faekler, wore turquoise blue crepe de chene, trimmed with shadow lace and Dresden ribbon. She carried white carnations. The groom's brother, Mr. Elmer W. Knechtel, was best man. Miss Louise Loeving played Lohengrin's wedding march. The ribbon bearers were: Edna, Helene, Edwin and William Faekler. The house was prettily decorated with maple leaves and Myrtle. The guests numbered about 50, those from out at towns including: Miss Emma Eckel of Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. N. Opthousen of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. D. Frock, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fish and Mrs. G. Faust of Walkerton, and Mrs. Edward Knechtel of Listowel. The Post joins in extending best wishes to the young couple.

A Wonder Worker

"It beats like magic," is a favorite expression when Dr. Chase's treatment is used. It works quickly, stops all itching, cuts out, often heals in a single night. For eczema, skin rashes, barbers' itch, skin irritations or eruptions, it is a most satisfactory treatment. Being antiseptic, it prevents blood poisoning.

Chesley

Mr. David Pinkerton, announces the engagement of his daughter Gertrude to Mr. Alfred C. Fiddis, the marriage to take place on Wednesday, October 10th, at his home, Pinkerton, Ont.

Stanley Bouthier is back from the forest of the Temagami country, where he had been employed four months as a woods ranger. He had quite a bush whacker's beard when he got home but has a youthful appearance again since the deft work of the barber removed the hair on his appendage. Stanley will go back to work again.

The retail merchants of Chesley have decided not to deliver any goods ordered after nine o'clock Saturday evening, and to close their places of business on Wednesday evening at nine o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cairns left on Monday for Guelph where they will make their home after their son Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Cairns have been among Chesley's most highly-respected residents for over 30 years and their many friends in this town and locality wish them many happy years in the Royal City.

The Gurney-Oxford is a Splendid, Dependable Stove

SUPPOSE you buy a range, and that range is a disappointment.

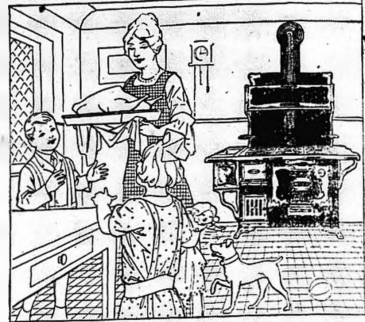

Suppose it doesn't hold the fire between meals. Suppose it burns too much coal—or that it bakes well to-day and to-morrow "falls down." That is a serious matter—is it not?

If three times a day you have to deal with a stove that is a source of trouble and worry—that fact has an influence on your domestic happiness.

That is a strong statement—but isn't it true?

So before you buy your stove is the time to investigate. The Gurney-Oxford Stove has a nation-wide reputation for reliability. It's not the cheapest stove. It is impossible to make so good a stove as this and sell it for what a cheap stove costs. But, it's a thoroughly well-made stove. The material and workmanship in it are the very best. It's an economical stove inasmuch as it's durable: it will outlast two or three stoves less well made. And during its long life it never fails to do its work. It's there to cook every meal with no trouble or worry.

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer enables you to keep the fire in perfect control always. The grates are designed for perfect combustion.

The owner of a Gurney-Oxford never takes anything from the oven with uncertainty as to results.

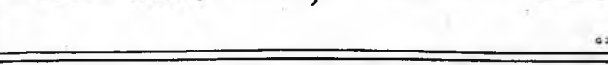

The divided flues convey the heat from the fire to all sides and corners of the oven. The owner of a Gurney-Oxford does not know what it means to worry over a fire or to take a roast or a batch of biscuits from the oven with uncertainty.

The thousands of Canadian housewives who own Gurney-Oxfords rely on them without disappointment.

They have proved themselves to be splendid, dependable stoves, and extremely economical in fuel consumption.

We want to show you the Gurney-Oxford and demonstrate the features that have gained for it first place in everything that makes a stove valuable.

Walkerton

Wm. Wesley, of the Herald-Times staff, who joined the artillery at London and who has been at Valenciennes, left for the front with the 4th field battery of the 3rd Brigade on Saturday. Wesley is on the office staff patrol of the battery and is filling a very dangerous role. He is mounted and rides two hundred yards in advance of the right flank of the battery, his duty being to act as scout, to be on the lookout for any ambush, built wire traps and other dangers. The city of Valenciennes the lives of all the volunteers who left that place for $1000.

Mr. Wm. Forsythe, who is charged with embodying the fennels of the local lodge of the Waulmen of the World, appeared before Magistrate Tolson on Monday morning and was subsequently sent up for trial.

Mr. Forsythe, who secured a renewal of bail at $900 will probably be tried by judge but the date of his trial has not been set.

In the north-eastern part of the township of Culross, in Greenock, Carleton and Brant townships there is a large population. English-speaking folk of Scotch, Irish and English descent. Frequently heard were these German Canadians feel about the war in Europe, meaning as it does a life and death struggle between the Germans of Central Europe on the one side and British, French and Russians on the other. The feelings of these German Canadians were put to something of a test last week when two German farmers, one of Scotch, the other of Irish extraction, canvassed the eastern part of their township for donations of grain to be sent to the British War Department. Every German farmer in Culross (so we are reliably informed) was called upon and in no instance was a donation refused—those who did not have wheat to give said they would substitute oats, and give a larger quantity.

Some fifty horses were brought to Walkerton yesterday, the animals having been recently purchased by Messrs. Kenzie and McCall for use in the army. The Inspector sent here by the Government to cull out the horses that do not come up to the required standard, had not completed his work at the time of going to press.

Mr. Freeman, late assistant at the agricultural office here, and who is probably the greatest hen fancier and poultry expert that ever struck town, had the chagrin last week of seeing a $3.00 prize chicken that he bought locked in deadly combat with a mongrel cat belonging to the Italian fruit man here. Like the dove of peace he swooped down upon the combatants and stopped the battle, and none too soon. For the throat of the chicken had been torn open with the cat's claws until it seemed altogether likely that its day's work was done. Like a Red Cross nurse on the blood-stained field, Mr. Freeman bent tenderly over the wounded warrior, and sewed up the wounded neck, while his pals from the Agricultural plant chased the offending cat into the owner's cellar, where a noise like an execution soon followed and a belt of a deceased pussy later emerged.

Tara

The church parade on Sunday afternoon when Company B of the 32nd Bruce Regiment delivered a stirring and patriotic address. The parade of Capt. Donald marched to Church Church led by the Tara band, was attended by a large concourse of people. The afternoon was fine and the church was crowded, a number being unable to gain admission. Special music was provided by the choir and Rev. J. Stanley Johnston delivered a stirring and patriotic address. He took for his text "Acquit yourselves like men and be strong," and dwelt on the soldier's duty to give his life for his country if necessary, also the duty of every citizen of the British Empire to stand in every way possible to lighten the burden of the great Empire in the present crisis. The service was very appropriate and enjoyed by all present.

A meeting of the Red Cross Society was held in Miller's Hall, Monday 28th inst. The report of the canvassing committee was most satisfactory $109.85 being collected besides donations of socks, pillows, sheets, etc. The concert of which particulars appear in another place in this issue.

One of the best local talent concerts which has been given in Tara for some time was that given in Knox Church last Friday night. The concert was given in aid of the Red Cross Fund. The ladies had charge of the program and every number was well rendered and elicited applause. Many of the numbers were of a patriotic nature. The church was fairly well filled, the town people turning out in goodly numbers but the country people were not so conspicuous. The proceeds amounted to over $70.00.

A Warning Against The Use of Inferior Lightning Rods.

Editor of The Echo.

Dear Sir:—I wish to warn the farmers of Ontario against inferior lightning rods. In our investigations we have found that an iron-centred rod, that is, one composed of a strip of copper twisted around an iron or steel centre, whether the centre is a strip or wires or both, is a very short-lived rod. In many cases the iron is nearly all rusted away in from five to ten years, leaving only the copper which is too light either to wear well or to carry off a flash of lightning without melting. The copper sheath of these rods weighs less than half of what the standard copper rods weigh. Any farmer who puts these iron-centred rods on his buildings is actually getting less present value for his money than if using an all copper rod to say nothing of the lack of durability. A plate galvanized iron cable is more durable than the iron-centred rod.

In bulletin 220 on Lightning Rods, page 26, appears a photograph of a piece of iron-centred rod taken from the peak of a building after eight years of use. The iron strip and wires were in several pieces, and more than half rusted away.

It is to the credit of all lightning rod companies in Ontario, except two, that they are following the teaching of bulletin 220 and do not supply iron-centred rods. Several months ago I personally informed one of these two companies that its iron-centred rod was not fit to put on a building, and the others even before bulletin 220 was published, was notified what its teaching would be regarding the iron-centred rod, and they were advised not to stock up with that kind of rod. Yet these companies are using other portions of the bulletin to induce farmers to buy these inferior rods which it condemns.

Under these circumstances I think it only fair to the farmers of this province to put them in possession of the facts. And it is unfair to these companies for they were notified publicly through the bulletin and privately by letter, thus giving them ample time to provide a good rod. Indeed it has been a matter of surprise to me to learn through recent correspondence and personal reports that these rods were still being sold.

These companies can just as well supply good rods as specified and described in the bulletin.

Perhaps it may not be amiss before concluding to say that our investigations have shown that properly installed rods will prevent $999 of loss out of every $1000 that would occur if the same buildings were not rodless.

Yours,

Wm. H. Day,

Professor of Physics,
 Ont. Agr. College, Guelph, Ont.

THE CAPE CROKER FAIR

Messrs. N. C. McKay, Walkerton, and H. C. Duff, Markdale, who attended the Cape Croker fair last week, were high in their praises of what they saw there. Mr. Duff said "The progress of the Indians was a surprise to me," he said. "I would never have believed there were such splendid specimens of manhood among them, fine, big strapping fellows, intelligent, and many of them well educated. They took up the school fair idea enthusiastically and we had a splendid fair. The president, secretary and directors are all Indians and at the little concert we had on fair night, the president took the chair and presided over the meeting as well as anyone could do. Some of them are excellent speakers, especially one of them Paul Jones, who made a splendid speech. Then they sing and play different instruments exceedingly well."

Mr. Duff paid a tribute to the school teacher there, a white woman. She teaches the school, trains the orchestra, from which the members of the 32nd Regiment Indian Band are selected, teaches them singing and music, domestic science, sewing and manual training. She sends her summer months taking a course at Guelph, in order to fit her better for her work. As the Priest Father Cadot says "She knows everything." It was something new to me," concluded Mr. Duff.

RHEUMATIC MISERY Can Only Be Cured Through the Blood—Liniments of No Use

In no disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impurities—rheumatic poisons. Without the proper treatment these poisons increase, the inflamed joints swell and the patient becomes a cripple. There are a number of methods of treating rheumatism, most of them aiming to keep down the rheumatic poisons until nature can build up the blood sufficiently to overcome them. But unfavorable conditions of cold or dampness may give rise to the disease the advantage and a relapse or renewed attack follows.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People build up the blood and enable it to cast out the rheumatic poisons with the natural excretory organs. Thousands have tried this treatment with the most beneficial results. "Just every sufferer who does not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is neglecting the most helpful means of recovery is shown by the following statement. Mrs. Emeline Smith, St. Jerome, Que., says: "I was attacked with what the doctor said was inflammatory rheumatism. The joints of my hands, feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I suffered the most excruciating pain. [Notwithstanding medical treatment the trouble became so bad that I could not go about. My appetite began to fail me and I was growing physically weak. A neighbor who had been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advised me to try them and I decided to do so. In the course of a few weeks I noted some improvement, and my appetite began to return. Then the swelling in my joints began to disappear, and it was not long until I was partly cured, and I have had no return of the trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

VON KLUK MAKES GAIN

German Wing Administers Temporary Check to Allies.

French War Office Says Left Wing of Allies Has Been Obligated to Cede Ground at Certain Points But Does Not Divulge Place—Confidence of Victory Is Expressed by Experts in London.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Gen. Von Kluck has at last delivered a successful attack, and the German right wing yesterday gained ground. The points lost by the allies are not known, but it is believed that the principal assault took place in the region between Roye and Arras, where both sides are reported to have massed great bodies of troops in the past few days.

The French official statement yesterday afternoon acknowledged a temporary check on the left wing of the allies. It is worded as follows: "On the left wing, to the north of the Oise, the battle continues with great violence. The result remains indecisive. We have been obliged, at certain points, to cede ground."

"Along the remainder of the front there has been no change. In Russia, after a battle which lasted ten days, the German army which was operating along the eastern Prussian front and the Niemen river has been driven along the entire line and made its retreat, abandoning a considerable quantity of war material."

"This army has evacuated completely the territory of the Russian provinces of Suwalki and Lomza."

"This change in the situation comes after several days of desperate fighting on the part of the allies, endeavoring to pierce the line of German communications and to compromise the enveloping movement begun on the Marne. This line centres at Aix-la-Chapelle and Cologne, extending northeast from Compiegne through Tergier, St. Quentin, Mauberge, Linge, and thence to the two first-named points. The allies have taken and held a railway line running from Amiens to Arras, where it diverges east and cut into the territory held by the Germans. This line has proved of immense value in bringing troops to vital points."

The town of Douai reappears constantly in reports from the front. It is said that heavy reinforcements have been rushed to that town, and that the fighting in the vicinity is of the most sanguinary character. Douai is situated 15 miles northeast of Arras, midway between that town and Valenciennes, on the railroad route to Mons. This indicates a progressive advance north. The allies are in touch with Belgian troops in the southwestern sector of that country, and by means of a branch road, which runs from Arras via Douai and thence to Lille, Courtrai and Ghent, will be able to push ahead."

The opinion is held that a severe blow to the German lines of communications will be delivered by the German defensive. For this reason Von Boehm and Von Kluck are making superhuman efforts to turn back their enemies, which they have done with some success. Until the points lost are made public, no conclusion can be given as to the true situation."

Both in London and in Paris there is the greatest confidence, although some surprise is displayed at the success of the Germans in preventing the outflanking movement. There is a feeling, however, that the Germans cannot extend their line much further north without weakening it at some point.

Naturally progress by either side must be extremely slow, for after every advance, no matter how slight, the troops making it must entrench themselves for protection against the shells from the enemy's guns posted in strong positions from one end of the line to the other.

The Daily Mail's correspondent in France reports fighting in and around Douai, and considers that if the French have reached Douai, the fact that the situation of the German general, Von Kluck, must be desperate.

"Gen. Von Kluck," the correspondent says, "has had all the reinforcements which could be spared him and yet finds himself outnumbered at every point. There are many indications from German prisoners, from French officers and from members of the British transport service, the combined testimony of whom it is difficult to disbelieve, that the German army is becoming demoralized."

"The inability of the German outposts, who surrender when surprised in strong evidence of their demoralization."

Official Inquiry Under Way.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—An official investigation is being made regarding the movements of a number of vessels which left American ports, carrying coal, presumably bound for ports which have not been reached. While there is no disposition on the part of the British Government to question the efforts of the United States Government to prevent the coaling of German warships by vessels from American ports, it is explained that every effort is being exerted to forestall a repetition of the coaling of the German cruiser Karlsruhe.

Essad Pasha Gets His Desire.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—A Havas despatch from Durazzo dated Oct. 4, says that the Essad has named Essad Pasha, president of the provisional government of Albania. His 10,000 Albanian troops occupy strategic positions in the city.

Essad Pasha was formerly Albanian Minister of War and was also commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces at Scutari in the Balkan war. He was opposed to the rule of Prince William of Weld, who was appointed to the Albanian throne by the powers.

PRINCE EITEL ESCAPED.

Another of Kaiser's Sons Displays

PARIS, Oct. 5.—When the German troops occupied Conslommiers they took the chief officials of the town as hostages for an indemnity of $10,000. The officials protested that it was impossible to provide this, as all the wealthy inhabitants had left. The German general threatened to have the hostages shot, but in the midst of this scene a tall young officer entered. Gen. Von Kluck clicked his heels and saluted. He then followed a short colloquy with the unknown officer, to whom the general showed an extraordinary deference. The hostages were led out into the street and placed with their backs against a wall while twelve soldiers covered them with rifles. For nearly twenty minutes the hostages faced the muzzles of the rifles, not knowing when the officer's sabre would fall, giving the signal for their death.

Suddenly from above came the drone of an aeroplane. The aviator descended. He brought bad news.

The British forces were approaching in great strength. The Germans, forgetting their prisoners, made a dash for their own safety. Half an hour later they evacuated the town in something like a panic. One of the first to leave was the tall young officer to whom the general had shown such great deference. Mounted on a fine horse, and striking to the left and right with his sabre, he forced his way through the German infantry. According to stories of German stragglers whom the British took prisoner, this young man was Prince Eitel Friedrich, the Kaiser's second son.

BRITISH AT ANTWERP.

Are Fighting Shoulder to Shoulder With Belgians in Trenches.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—British troops are assisting in the defence of Antwerp. Yesterday they fought shoulder to shoulder with the Belgians in the trenches along the north bank of the River Nethe.

The Daily Mail received from its correspondent confirmation of reports that a British force has reached the city and is actively co-operating in its defence. The correspondent of The Morning Post in Antwerp sends the following:

"The Belgian field artillery is co-operating effectively with our heavy artillery. Our infantry is entrenched on the near bank of the Nethe, opposite the main German forces. German attempts to cross the river have been smothered by our artillery."

SUBMARINE STOLEN.

War Craft Built For Russia Disappears From Italian Yards.

ROME, Oct. 6.—The shipbuilding firm of San Giorgio has informed the Italian Government that one of its engineers, accompanied by 16 workmen has sailed a submarine being constructed for Russia and disappeared leaving a note saying they desire to fight in Russia's behalf.

The Government has sent a torpedo boat to chase the submarine, but the pursuit has so far been ineffectual.

The submarine was stolen. It has a tonnage of 300, and a speed maximum of 13 knots an hour.

Despite the secrecy which was attempted it has become known that the submarine disappeared Sunday afternoon, on the pretext that it was leaving to conduct wireless experiments.

The task of conducting an official inquiry has been intrusted to Vice-Admiral Nicastro.

MAKERS MUST GIVE UP.

British Government Deals Sharply With Woollen Goods Firms.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—According to The Yorkshire Post, the War Office is taking drastic measures to secure an adequate supply of woollen goods, gloves and other woollen goods for the army and navy. All the manufacturers in Leicester, the chief centre for the woollen industry, have been informed that their entire product of heavy woollen goods must be placed at the disposal of the War Office, and that if a single garment be withheld by a manufacturer, or is supplied to any firm whatever, the War Office will at once take over the factory at which it is made and run it, giving the firm a certain percentage of the profits.

JAPS IN SOUTH SEAS.

Bluejackets Arr Landed on Jaluit Island and in Marshall Group.

TOKIO, Oct. 6.—The Navy Department this morning issued the following statement:

"The Japanese squadron delegated to destroy the German fleet in the South Seas, has landed bluejackets on Jaluit Island, the seat of government in the Marshall Archipelago, which was annexed by Germany in 1888."

"It is believed the German base was destroyed and that the fortifications, arms and ammunition were seized. A British steamer in port was released. There was no resistance to the Japanese."

Friend of Prisoners Jailed.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—(Via The Hague to London.)—Edward Page Gaston, an American, who recently distributed blankets, underwear and clothing to British prisoners of war, was arrested here yesterday when about to depart from the city. The charge against him was not made public.

Man Who Burned Louvain Taken.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Among prisoners recently taken by the French is Major Von Manteuffel, who is said to have caused the destruction of Louvain. He was recognized by a Russian officer now with the French staff, who formerly knew him at Petrograd when he was stationed there.

The Harvest Home supper on Monday evening was well attended after which there was an excellent program of addresses and music.

The Rev. Mr. Masters, Rector of Trinity Church conducted the Harvest Home services Sunday and they were well attended. Possibly the church was never so well decorated for any similar event. The work was that of artists, and was most beautiful. The display of flowers, fruit, vegetables and grain etc. had to be seen, it cannot be described. The Rector delivered excellent sermons, and the solos by Mrs. Patterson were much appreciated.

Patient, Consistent Work Will Win Big Prizes

Some Words of Counsel to Contest Workers Which are Well

Worth Heeding—The Winner will be the One Who Keeps Everlastingly at it till the End

Double Votes expire on Saturday night at eight o'clock sharp. Get every available subscription this week because now is the time for you to make a showing and get a big lead. This week's hard working may determine the difference between your success and failure. Make every minute count. The race is a short one and you should make haste while the best vote offer is in effect. Subscriptions are being paid at the Contest Office for each candidate's support, and every mail has several circular letters with subscription remittances for candidates.

Words of Counsel to Candidates

What do you tell your friends when they ask you how you are getting along in the Echo's Contest?
It's probably good policy to tell them that you are doing well, but expect to do better. But there are lots of other contestants "doing well." That's what the average man or woman is doing—just doing well. Ever notice that those folks who have joy in and are getting their prizes regularly are always doing so? They're satisfied and contented to never do any better. So pretty nearly all the contestants are "doing well." They are getting their votes every day, getting a subscription when they can, and letting it go at that. Wake up. Shake yourself. Put the acid test on yourself once in a while and see how you stand it. Be a winner. Get out and dig. Do better than "doing well," and you've won, in or out of the contest.

Are You Really Satisfied?

How many votes have you been getting every week or every day? Satisfied? If you are, should you be satisfied? This is the time to fight it out with yourself—right now. There are four more weeks of the contest. Don't be one of those who will say: "Well, if I had hustled just a little more I would have won." A good many of you will undoubtedly lose on November 14th for the want of a few votes. Those who will win are not satisfied with their progress, you can depend upon that. They are not wasting a single minute. Some of them, probably, wish there were more hours in the day. In order to do anything above the average in this world, man or woman must put every bit of energy possible into their work. It is said that genius is simply the ability to work hard. You never heard of a genius with the slowness. The talent may be in the man, but it takes years of polishing, and the job can't be let out on contract. You can do whatever you set out to do. The fact that you start to do anything means that you are able to do it. Your sub-conscious mind wouldn't let you start if it you couldn't. If you don't succeed in what you attempt it's your own fault. You have the talent but you don't give it a chance. You entered this contest and you intended to win. What's happened since you entered if you have given up the idea of winning? Think it over and you'll find that you have begun to have doubts of your ability, followed by discouragement, and then a sort of mental giving it up. You can argue yourself out of success in anything. If you've more negative impulses in your make-up, you've lost. Once in a while the positive side of your nature gets the upper hand and you wonder why you ever doubted your ability to win. If you give your positive—your "I'll do it" side a chance, you can keep the negative down. Every minute in the day we are one or the other. The one you favor most will keep uppermost in your mind, and you become a success. You become bigger than circumstances, handicaps, environment, hard luck.

Contest is Real Contest

This Echo contest resembles the battle of life to a certain extent. It's a fight, and it will be a long time before civilization will make life possible without fighting. This is written with a text in mind. It is "Get the Votes." You are your own master in this respect. No matter who you are, where you live, what you do, you can get the votes.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Walkerton

Capt. Andrew Moffat, of Toronto, formerly adjutant of the Bruce Battalion, called on friends in Walkerton last Friday, preparatory to leaving shortly for England and the continent to exploit the inventions controlled by the International Military Equipment Company, the majority of which were invented by himself, and which have been approved by war office officials in several countries. At the outbreak of the present war, Capt. Moffat, who until recently was Colonel of the Kentucky State Guards, offered to raise an American Regiment to accompany the Canadian contingent to the front, but the offer was respectfully declined.

Even Hopkings, an Austrian suspect, who was loitering suspiciously some time ago around Hewerth and was apprehended and sent to the Walkerton jail, was re-arrested by Constable Briggs here on Wednesday on being released from the jail, and was hailed before Magistrate Telford, who gave him another six months in the cells for vagrancy.

The body of an unidentified man was found in the Humber River here, above Tux's dam, about four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The glow of curiosity was made by two local youths, Peter Laubertus and James Murray, who while canoeing opposite the dam, noticed a man's body reclining on a rock about three feet under the water near the centre of the stream. Returning to shore they gave the alarm, and Chief Ferguson who hurried to the scene, recovered the body from the river, and notified Coroner Porter, who on examining the remains, concluded that the man had been in the water about three days. The presence of a flask of whiskey in an inside coat pocket leads to the suspicion that the deceased, while unconscious, was under the influence of liquor, and in attempting to wade across the stream, he had fallen in from the east side of the river, where the bank is precipitous and the water deep.

"Hence" Huck, who pitched for the Walkerton baseball team left here on Monday for Tottenham, where he will serve under Capt. Home Clark, in defending the wireless station. As there are twenty-eight men now under arms protecting this important station, the Government is not taking any chances of having it tampered with or destroyed by disloyal or hostile friends.

A German landed in Walkerton, who it is claimed, never took out its naturalization papers. Endeavouring to collect house rent from a tenant here because a German subject is held to have no legal status in the British or Canadian Courts as long as Germany is warring against the British Empire. Nor does it seem possible for him to eject the tenant during the war, but rather it is claimed, he is obliged to accept his fate and like a virtuous lamb must temporize back to the wolf.

Chesley

A novel sight to people in this locality at Chesley Fair was Philip's Hitching machine. It does excellent work as things which are in operation can testify. If you want the driving done this fall you will consult your own best interest by engaging Philip's Hitcher.

Messrs. Wilkins Bros., proprietors of Chesley Woolen Mills, are fortunate in these times of business depression to secure an order from the Dominion Govt. for 3,000 blankets for the British Army. This big order is to be completed by Dec. 15th and it will mean considerable overtime work in the Woolen Mills. The price to be paid for the blankets is $4.05 each. We congratulate the Messrs. Wilkins on securing this big order. It will mean much for Chesley and it comes at the right time to help out our woolen manufacturers who are bound to make their business go.

There is not the scarcity now there was a few years ago of qualified teachers for public and high schools. The Ayton Advance has a paragraph in last week's issue which would go to show that a H. B. teacher is actually doing public school work near Ayton. This is the item to which we refer: "The trustees of S.S. No. 6 Normandy have employed Thos. D. Allingham M. A. for the ensuing year. He holds First and Second class Provincial Professional Certificate, is an Honour Graduate of Toronto University, has a Specialist's Certificate in the Dept. of English and History and holds a Public School Inspector's certificate for Ontario. He had just returned from the West where he drew the annual salary of $1800."

Sick Headaches are not caused by anything wrong in the head, but by constipation, biliousness and indigestion. Headache powders or tablets may deaden, but cannot cure them. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills do cure sick headache in the sensible way by removing the constipation from the stomach which caused them. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are purely vegetable, free from any harmful drugs, safe and sure. When you feel the headache coming take

(The Leader)

Mr. Wm. H. Morrow returned home from Manitoba last week. He says crops are fair in parts of Manitoba, while in other parts they are poor.

Mrs. C. B. Trelford and Mrs. Wm. Trelford accompanied the remains of the late Copeland B. Trelford to Tara on Tuesday. Also Mr. Andrew Trelford, of Idaho, brother of the deceased. It is seventeen years since Mr. Andrew Trelford died and he will remain here for a month visiting relatives.

The annual fall fair of the Arran-Tara Agricultural Society held on Tuesday and Wednesday was another grand success. The weather was all that could be desired and fully three thousand people were in attendance on Wednesday afternoon. The exhibits were many and above the average in some departments, especially that of cattle, sheep, roots, vegetables and baking. The showing of horses was good, the quality being high and the number of entries. The proceeds taken in at the gate amounted to around $500.00 which is well up to the mark. The prize list will appear probably in next week's issue. The concert given in VanDusen's hall in the evening drew a packed house as usual. Messrs. Bert Harvey and Bert Edwards, two comic singers, from Toronto, supplied the programing and the audience was well pleased with the entertainment. The proceeds of the concert amounted to about $100.00.

It is our sad duty this week to chronicle the death of a former well-known and popular Tara boy, in the person of Copeland B. Trelford, his untimely death taking place at the home of his brother, Mr. Andrew Trelford at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Deceased was aged 35 years, 6 months and 13 days, and had been in poor health for several months suffering from tuberculosis of the bowels. Deceased was married a few years ago and with his wife visited his mother Mrs. Wm. Trelford, in Tara for a few months last winter. In former years Trelford conducted a grocery store and a boot and shoe store in Tara, but later sold out and went west. Besides his wife and mother he had two brothers and one sister, Andrew, in Idaho, Thomas in Alberta, and Mrs. John Brimston, Tara. The remains were brought to Tara yesterday morning and the funeral will be held from the residence of his mother today at 1:30 o'clock and interment made in Tara cemetery. The Masonic order of which deceased was a member will have charge of the funeral.

HOW THE HORSE WON.

A few days after the new farmer had purchased a horse from a thrifty local horse dealer, he was told by a neighbor: "You told me the horse had won half a dozen matches against some of the best horses in this country. He can't trot a mile in 42 minutes to you, he can't. You lied to me," he denounced the dealer. It was in planning matches that the dealer's wits were "cutting" and he had "Philadelphia" Public Ledger.

Port Elgin

The death is announced of Donald McDougall, formerly of West Arroy, at Victoria, B. C., aged about 60 years. Deceased lost his leg some 30 years ago and resided in Regina till recently, when he returned to the coast. He was a farmer by trade, and was well and favorably known about Margrove. Paralysis was cause of death. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Alex. Campbell. B. Line, Arroy, is a sister.

During the past week or two several sums of money have been lost, and the owners have not received the goods. Mr. J. W. Pattison lost about $30.00 the other day between his store and the postoffice, and although searched for ten minutes after, the money was not found. The other day Mr. J. T. Wallace, of Aberdeen lost two five dollar bills, and apparently they were not returned. Other articles lost the past few days include an initialed ring, and an overcoat. The latter article is at the Times office. Although the other valuables have been duly advertised they do not seem to be forthcoming. What is needed is a little detective work, and an example made of finders, who imagine that because they have also used some thing it belongs to them.

At the sale of live stock held at the farm of Mr. Andrew Gammie, Arroy, last week there were sold 68 head of cattle, a few head of sheep, and a few horses. The sale was well attended and the proceeds amounted to three thousand dollars. The sale was a cash one, and the surprise was that by then gave their cheques on the banks of Port Elgin, Paisley, and Tara to the amount of about twenty five hundred dollars, which is an evidence that the farmers in this great agricultural district are in good shape. Several asking credit were allowed to same their own time.

GILLET'S LYE EATS DIRT

Southampton

The Bruce Presbyterian met in Paisley last Friday Rev. A. J. Watt of Burgoyne Moderator, occupied the chair Dr. Grant of the General Assembly, were present and Dr. Harpell delivered an inspiring address Rev. J. E. Hogg and Mr. Malcolm Cook represented Southampton and others present from Southampton were, Messrs. Matheson, Patterson, J. McVittie, D. E. McVittie Smith and Dolt, and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. McDonald, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. McInnis, Mrs. Stewart and Miss McLeod. Mr. and Mrs. Brock McAlister are away for ten days to Chicago attending the Annual convention of the railway ticket association. Miss Little Carey is also away attending the same convention.

Last Saturday evening the ladies of the Presbyterian church gathered at the home of Capt. Dan MacFarlane and presented an address along with a mahogany and silver serving tray and a dozen silver spoons to Mrs. Capt. D. W. Spencer prior to the departure of the family to reside in Kingston Mrs. Hogg read the address and Mrs. MacFarlane made the presentation. Refreshments were then served and the evening came with singing "God be with you till we meet again." Capt. Spencer and family have been so long and so close identified with Southampton as to almost be part of the town and it is with regret that our people part with them, but the family is growing up, and the advantages in the way of education have decided them to move to Kingston, which was Mrs. Spencer's former home. Out best wishes go with them.

Rev. L. M. Weeks, who has been put in supply for the Baptist church of this town during the summer, terminated his visit last Sunday the courtesy of his taking a lengthy rest, on account of his failing health. On Thursday evening Oct. 26th the church will need to decide on a pastor, and Mr. Weeks will shortly leave for his home in Ottawa.

Antiphony services in the Presbyterian church were well attended. Rev. Boag, of Southampton, preached morning and evening and Rev. Jowitt in the afternoon.

This bee on Wednesday last was a decided success. When it ceased buzzing the yard of the Presbyterian church was as tidy as any new could wish. The new shed is lacking windows but otherwise complete and a credit to those who erected it.

Owen Sound

The drydock situation looms up. All this week the company's engineers have been out and on investigations and have been looking into other matters. The company will require about seven hundred horse power from the electric plant. One particular site has been selected as a desirable location. Nothing, however, has been definitely settled. It is expected that in a few days developments will come on rapidly. Altogether it would appear as though the realization of the long considered project is nearer than it has ever reached before.

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Rev. W. J. Colman minister of the church of the Redeemer, on Monday evening, October 26th, when Mr. W. T. Leonard Angell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Angell was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Isabel Mick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mick. The two young people are well known in the north end of the town and will be welcomed to their new life by the warmest good wishes of their many friends and relations. Only those intimately associated with the bride and bridegroom were present and the young couple left for their home on Third Ave. East.

Mr. Pearson, proprietor of the Municipal Clothing Store on 2nd Ave. E. is especially interested in the war these days as the big battle fought between the Germans and Russians, which terminated successfully for the latter was fought near his old home in Russian Poland. Mr. Pearson came to this country from the town of Suwalki, only three miles from Druggan, which was frequently mentioned in the dispatches as one of the points on the battle line. Mr. Pearson thinks that the fighting was near his old home and he has been following the progress of the two armies very closely. Although it is twenty years since he resided in Suwalki he still is interested in the (14) and his gratitude is witnessed by the Allen. Mr. L. ### Hanover

Rev. Brocklehurst of Ottawa has moved into his new home at Neustadt, about one mile from here, recently occupied by Rev. Neudorfer, who has moved to Aylmer. Rev. Brocklehurst is very friendly and will preach his first sermon on Sunday at the St. Paul's Church.

Mrs. Geo. Horlock who has been a resident of Hanover for the past 20 years or so passed away quite suddenly last Saturday at the age of 90 years, 2 months and 20 days. Death was due to heart trouble with which she had been afflicted for the past year or so. Deceased was born in Swindon, Wiltshire, England, her maiden name being Annie Harding. She married Mr. Horlock on April 28, 1874 and they emigrated to Canada on Oct. 10th, 1878. They arrived first in Toronto where they lived 15 years and came to Hanover 29 years ago. They had a family of 8 children, four of whom are living as follows:—Mabel (Mrs. Nelson Wagner) of Hanover; Godfrey of Toronto; Ethel of Hanover and Clarence of Brockville. Oct. Deceased was a warm hearted, womanly woman, a loving wife and mother and will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to the Hanover Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Laypold conducting the obsequies.

The Hanover Iron works has installed at considerable expense, the famous Davis Hummelville oxygen welding and cutting outfit, which will greatly increase their facilities for repairing all kinds of broken machinery parts in all grades of metal and steel cutting. The Post reporter witnessed the heating torches in operation this week and saw large steel plates cut as though by a knife the metal flows like water. The intense heat is caused by the injection of oxygen gas, and the decomposition of the oxy-acetylene gas at the Toronto Exhibition this year, and caused a good deal of interest. Hanover being an industrial

A Stove-Mark of Great Renown

There is no end to the wear it. In results, it means perfection.

THIS is the mark of a splendid stove—"Gurney-Oxford." It is prominent on the oven door of every stove made by the Gurney Foundry Co.

There are individual Gurney-Oxford Stoves that have been in the service of one family for generations. They are big, heavy, handsome stoves of gray iron and steel. There is no end to the wear of them.

And this year the Gurney-Oxford nears perfection, because of its many splendid points of which these are the most important:

The Gurney-Oxford "Economizer" (not to be had on any other stove) is the greatest saver of fuel and the most convenient method of regulating the fire that has ever been devised. The fire in the Gurney-Oxford is supported on grates that supply abundance of air, so that the coal does not smoulder, but burns, leaving clean, white ashes—not clinkers. Clinkers mean waste.

The heat goes directly to the Gurney-Oxford oven, where it should go—over and under and around the oven—heating it evenly in every corner. The heat must do its work before it can get near the chimney.

These, briefly, are the devices that make the Gurney-Oxford the most perfect piece of stove mechanism ever designed.

Because it never fails in its work, because it is economical of fuel and cooks "like a charm," the Gurney-Oxford is renowned in thousands of Canadian homes.

town with many factories and innumerable machines which sometimes break, it will be a great convenience to have a repairing outfit of this character.

An aged lady of Hanover passed away on Monday of this week in the person of Mrs. Mary Wilken at the advanced age of 79 years, one month, and 20 days. Death was due to a long illness after several weeks illness due to old age. Deceased was born in Germany and emigrated to Canada with her husband about 1870. They resided in Brant most of the intervening time, moving to Hanover about 12 years ago. Mr. Wilken passed away 3 years ago and their only son, C. J. Wilken, died a few years since. Four grand-children and a number of great-grandchildren survive. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to the Hanover cemetery, Rev. Twining conducting the services. Deceased was a consistent member of the Lutheran church for many years.

MILK PAUL NOTES.

The strainer never was made that will take four matter out of milk. None ever will be made. You have got to keep it out.

The tending association promotes a greater appreciation of the cow, and consequently better results are sure to follow.

Feed the bellers so they will keep on milking and form the habit of persistency. Inheritance has something to do with persistency in milking, though care and feed will encourage and establish the habit.

You can make fairly good axle grease from stink cream, but never good butter.

The man with five cows and a separator is better off than his neighbor with eight cows and no machine.

The dairyman who will sell off each season two or three of his poorest cows will soon improve his herd if he replaces them by bellers raised from his best cows.

INDIVIDUAL HOG HOUSE.

Useful Adjunct to the Farm in Warm or Cold Weather.

Suitable farrowing houses are very necessary to successful handling of pigs. The houses that are used for farrowing purposes in the early spring can be used almost throughout the year in connection with the proper handling of the hogs, says the Kansas Farmer. This is especially true of the small individual farrowing houses which may be moved about the farm wherever it is desired to have suitable shelter for the stock. By blocking them up in the pastures they furnish shelter from the sun while permitting the wind to blow through underneath.

On figuring the cost of labor and material required to build a hog house large enough to accommodate a dozen sows conveniently at farrowing time it is found at the Kansas Agricultural college that the cost is greater than that required to build a dozen individual hog houses, the difference varying somewhat according to the style and size of the houses.

In the case of the centralized hog house the work of taking care of the sows can all be done in the same building, thus taking less work than the same number of sows would require if kept in individual houses. A centralized hog house is warmer than an individual house, and in case of early farrowing this makes the former very desirable.

A centralized hog house, however, keeps the hogs close together, and in case of disease there is greater danger that it will spread rapidly than if the hogs were kept in individual houses.

FEED AND MILK FLAVOR.

Corn and Bran Not Superior to Other Wholesome Grain Mixtures.

The federal department of agriculture recently reported the results of experiments to test the effect of oats on the flavor of milk. These experiments showed that oats do not have the beneficial effect on the flavor of milk which many dairymen believe, but as corn and bran constituted the ration tested against oats the public has gained the impression erroneously that the department recommends the feeding of corn and bran to improve the flavor of milk.

Of fifty opinions expressed regarding the flavor of the samples twenty-five preferred the milk from cows fed corn and bran. As sixteen preferred the milk from cows fed oats and nine expressed no choice, it does not appear that either ration has any decided advantage over the other. There can be no great superiority in the bran and corn when one-half of the opinions were either indifferent or were in favor of the other milk.

In view of these experiments the department does not recommend the feeding of bran and corn to improve the flavor of milk. Oats, corn, alfalfa hay, cottonseed meal, linseed meal, bran, gluten and other good feeds for dairy cows when properly fed in reasonable amounts produce a fine flavored milk, but there is no substantial evidence that any one of them is superior to any of the others in this respect.

PROTECT THE DAIRY COWS FROM BLOAT

With the advent of the season when cattle are changed from dry feed to pasture, to avoid serious loss it is necessary for the farmer to watch carefully for bloat, according to the veterinary department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin.

Bloat is a form of indigestion due to the excessive formation and accumulation of various gases in the paunch or rumen. The attack is especially apt to occur when cattle are suddenly changed from a dry diet to green clover or alfalfa. It is most often seen during warm, wet weather or when heavy dew or rain moistens the foliage. The chief symptom of bloat is a sudden distension in the left flank.

The Holstein cow for dairy purposes is the choice of every dairyman. An Idaho dairyman in the American Agriculturist. This breed is quiet and amiable and requires only ordinary care and treatment. It is large and roomy and milks easily and gives better advantage than small dairy breeds. Holstein calves are acceptable for veal of any breed and will weigh as much or more, while the males of smaller breeds are practically useless. At present prices of beef it pays fairly well to raise Holstein steers to two or three years of age. I have found that this type gives 3 to 4 per cent more milk than other dairy breeds and more butter fat, although the per cent of butter fat may run smaller. The cow illustrated is a typical pure bred Holstein.

which swells up and appears as tight as a drumhead when thumped with the finger. Relief must be immediate, if the situation is to be avoided, and consists in providing an artificial outlet for the gas by "tapping" the animal. This is best accomplished by inserting a trocar and cannula into the most prominent portion of the swelling. To prevent further gas formation administer a pinch of two ounces of turpentine in a pint of raw linseed oil or a quart of new milk.

As a preventive avoid turning the cattle out until the dew or rain has dried off. In addition, giving a full feed of dry roughage such as the animal is accustomed to just before turning them out will be found helpful in preventing this trouble.

WHEN ANIMALS GORGE.

Stomach Pump and Purgatives Must Be Put in Action.

Some one left the out bin door open, the horses were loose, and we all know the rest. The thing to do if the accident is detected an hour or so after the grain has been eaten is to get a veterinarian as soon as possible and pump out most of the stomach by the aid of a stomach tube as possible. Then administer a purgative and antiferments. It sometimes happens that expert help is not available, and if such is the case then the saturated horse should receive from one and one-half to two quarts of raw linseed oil and two ounces of turpentine. Many neglect a horse that has overeaten until the symptoms of colic appear, and then call a veterinarian, who may have difficulty in saving the horse.

The same precaution should be taken when a cow has accidentally eaten a part of a sack of oats, wheat or corn. From one to three pounds of Epsom salts given to a cow immediately after such a large feed may save the cow's life and also prevent her being foundered. The thing to remember is to do something for the cow immediately after the accident has been discovered.—C. L. Barnes, Colorado Agricultural College.

Horse Clipping Pays.

I am an advocate of horse clipping and am thoroughly convinced that a machine will, in the course of one season, pay for itself, says W. G. Nolan in Ontario Judd Farmer. Eight head of work horses are kept on my farm, and they are clipped every spring. I find that by clipping more work, with no more exertion or feed, can be accomplished. Then horses that are clipped are able to endure colds, etc. If properly cared for. They will also be fresh and full of vigor, while the horse with a heavy coat will be dull, out of condition and seldom or never dry or clean. Aside from this, the general appearance of the horse is greatly improved.

Parasites in Pigs.

We have never yet seen a bunch of pigs ranging in age from eight weeks to three months that did not expel worms when treated with a good worm remedy, says the Iowa Homestead. This being the case, it surely is a sensible prevention to get rid of these pests when the pigs are young. Some swine breeders prefer the prepared worm remedies; others will use turpentine, and still others will resort to the use of antonia. In any event, the essential and important thing is to get rid of the worms before the parasites have had an opportunity to undermine the constitution of the pigs.

A BETTER REMEDY THAN NASTY SALTS

Few people like to take physic, especially salts, because they are so disagreeable to take and because of the griping and pains they cause. Rexall Orderlies enable you to take less physic, and all without griping, purging or excessive looseness. Salts and harsh physics usually give only temporary relief and often leave the bowels worse off than before.

Rexall Orderlies move the bowels promptly, and soothe, tone and strengthen the intestinal muscles, leaving them healthy and regular in action. They taste like candy, and the movement they cause is as easy and natural as though your bowels were in perfect health and you never had to take any physic at all. We have so much faith in Rexall Orderlies that we urge you to try them with the understanding that, if they do not satisfy you in every way, all you have to do to get your money back is to tell us. We honestly believe them to be the best bowel remedy made. In vest pocket tin boxes, 10c, 25c, 50c.

The residents of Mar met in Bartley Hall last Thursday night and decided to contribute out towards the Patriotic fund. Farmers all over Bruce county have been remarkably generous in the matter of supplying a gift of oats for the use of Great Britain. Over 15,000 bushels have already been promised and the committee in charge of the collection has ordered 3,000 three-bushel bags in which the first shipment will be made at an early date. The plan of giving oats originated last month with Warden McWhinney, acting in co-operation with the patriotic association.—Listowel Banner.

In the Chesley Enterprise last week Editor McDonald, who was at the Eastnor Fair says: Up to date $500 has been contributed in Eastnor Tp. to the Patriotic Fund. On Fair Day patriotic flags to the value of $54 were sold by an enthusiastic band of ladies headed by Mrs. S. C. Cooper, the price of a badge being ten cents. The President of Eastnor Patriotic League is Banker Paterson and he is devoting considerable time to this praiseworthy work. The Women's Institute has collected material for the Red Cross Society to the extent of about $300. No municipality in Bruce contains more loyal citizens to the square mile than in Eastnor.

A Sheep Ranch

Willie Kent, Dyers Bay, is laying the foundation of a big sheep ranch. He has purchased a large tract of land, and is securing 100 ewes this fall just as an experiment, and will buy heavily later if successful. With good luck, and at the present prices, there should be big money in this investment. The peninsula is most suitably adapted for sheep and cattle ranches and we will not be surprised if others follow his example. Ex Reeve Gillies, Tobermory, is giving the matter careful consideration.

Falling Hair and Itching Scalp

Needless—Use Parisian Sage

Now that Parisian Sage can be had at any drug counter it is certainly needless to have thin, brittle, matted, stringy or faded hair. No matter how unmanageable the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff. Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Frequent applications and well rubbed into the scalp will do wonders. It is a scalp like medicine. The hair roots are stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp disappears and falling hair ceases—your head becomes free of all the hair becoming soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life and beauty.

Thousands of Votes Recorded On Closing Night of Booster Period

Reduced Votes After Monday—First Period Closes Saturday Night at 8—Second Period Schedule Provides For Twenty Per Cent Less Votes on Subscription Than May Be Secured Now. Only Three Working Days of First Period Remain.

The Echo Contest Office was one of the busiest places in Warton on Saturday night last. The closing of Booster Days brought subscriptions in from every angle, and the candidates themselves, were supported from every side, each turning in thousands of votes.

There are some candidates who are a little behind, and some who are a little ahead, but this week of non-reduced, regular vote schedule, makes it quite possible for any one to overtake their premier adversaries.

Miss Florence O'Hara Leads

Miss Florence O'Hara has the honor of being the leading candidate in the Great Campaign. Miss O'Hara is a most consistent and earnest worker and she is piling up the votes in a splendid manner. She has many friends who are confident that she will bring down the chief honors of the contest, and Miss O'Hara herself will leave nothing undone in the way of securing the votes which will make her the winner of the Capital Prize.

Miss Margaret Sutherby stands in second position. Miss Sutherby entered the contest some time ago, and during that time she has secured enough votes to place her in second position among the contestants. Miss Sutherby is going after the votes in a systematic manner and has hosts friends who are helping her bring her total of votes up to the highest possible mark. Miss Sutherby promises to be one of the real contenders for the capital prize and the candidate who beats her will have to go some.

Miss Jennie Atkinson, of Hepworth, is next in line. Miss Atkinson has been working systematically too, and she has secured a good total of votes during the last week to the credit of Miss Atkinson, are most gratifying to herself, and to the contest manager.

Miss Eva McCartney and Miss Jennie Lawrence are running very closely together. One subscription would have changed their totals and to be in the lead would not be far off for either of them. Miss Dorothy Dobson is meeting with splendid success, and the contestant who wins from Miss Dobson will have to go some. But do not forget that there are several candidates competing for the prizes, who are living away from Warton, now making a desperate run for premier position, and watch out that they don't have it before very long. If you hustle for a week after making a big showing where are you when the next publication of votes comes out. It's the steady worker that will win the prizes in any game of life.

The Second Period

The sum of one dollar turned in for a yearly subscription to the Canadian Echo or to Pearson's Magazine entitles the candidates to 1000 votes under the First Period Vote Schedule. The same payment will entitle the candidate to 800 votes under the Second Period Vote Schedule. There are only three working days of the first period remaining Saturday October 24th, is the closing day. The second period will commence on the 26th.

It is of the utmost importance that candidates turn in every possible subscription by Saturday night. The difference between the First and Second Period may cause some one to lose the $750.00 Player Piano.

Subscribers should vote for their favorite candidate before Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Don't wait for the candidate to call on you. Send the subscriptions direct to the Contest Office and the votes will be properly credited.

Candidates should exercise care in indicating whether subscriptions are NEW or RENEWAL. Give the full address of the subscribers, and write it plainly.

MISS ETHEL HUSTON, Wobesley, who promises to be a real capital prize contender.

Contest News Bulletin

The Echo's $1000 Voting Contest is in full swing now—and it's going some. But there is room for more candidates—at the top. The opportunities to-day are just as good as they were yesterday. No body has the $750.00 Player Piano clinched yet—or anything like it.

But there are some hustling candidates. Here are a few of them.

Miss Jennie Atkinson of Hepworth is in the contest and her friends and supporters have reason to feel proud of her. She is piling up the votes and has her mind made up to win the capital prize.

The out of town candidates will be watching in this contest and don't be surprised if the capital prize is won by a "country" candidate.

Votes are allowed on all past dues or renewal subscriptions as well as on new subscriptions.

Votes are also allowed on Pearson's Magazine.

The capital prize is a $750.00 Player Piano. The second and third prizes are solitaire diamond rings.

Miss Eva McCartney of this town is in the contest. This popular young lady has been receiving great support from her many friends and promises to make an active worker throughout. She has a very effective campaign planned. Watch her votes grow.

There are seven regular prizes in this contest.

Everyone wins a prize.

There is a man in the contest whose name is Melver. Keep your eye on him. He is out to win. He is getting the votes.

Keep your eye on Miss Dorothy Dobson. She is getting the votes and lots of them. Her brother Mr. Chas. from Sawyer's Drug Store is an active worker.

Miss Margaret Sutherby is in the race and is meeting with splendid success, her votes are going up by leaps and bounds. Miss Sutherby has a large number of acquaintances.

Miss Florence O'Hara is a real vote-getter and is piling up thousands of them. She is after the long term subscription. Miss O'Hara has great support in many of the well known townspeople.

Miss Jennie Lawrence is an energetic worker, and is planning a big campaign.

Mr. R.E.W. Tackaberry, of Lions Head, is in a field all himself so do not rely on the defeat of Mr. Tack. Too positively. He is a genuine canvasser.

Bruce Smith, of Colpoys, is commencing to rustle around.

Let us forget—First Period closes Saturday night at eight o'clock sharp. Don't forget the motto Hustle, hustle some more, keep on hustling.

At the Baptist Church on Sunday evening next, Oct. 25th, the Rev. John A. Bradford will preach the 5th of the series of sermons on "The Coming of Christ" subject: Unquestionable Signs Attending Our Lord's Coming. Service commencing at 7 o'clock.

LIONS HEAD

Mr. McAlpine, the manager of the Canadian Echo contest of Warton, was in town on business on Monday.

Messrs. Donald McIver and Alexander Melver, of Calgary, and Miss Mary, who were out west visiting, returned home last Wednesday to see their mother who was seriously ill. We are pleased to report that she is recovering nicely.

Quite a number from the village spent a very enjoyable evening Friday last at the home of Mr. Jas. Nickless. All report a good time.

We are pleased to hear Wm. Baker Sr., who has been very ill, is on the mend again.

Some of the local auto drivers seem to be having some trouble with their cars lately. It is hard work to shove a car up hill John. Some with horses and rigs seem to have trouble also who say it is safer to walk.

While walking on the highway near a small church a number of stranded passengers heard some sweet music in the church at midnight as far as we can learn it was spooks singing in the cars of the midnight walkers who were waiting the assistance of an auto to take them to their destination.

According to all reports we believe that some of the people must have a little life restorer with them when so many accidents occur.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith of Lindsay, are down visiting their daughter Mrs. Clark Bridge.

Mr. Clark Bridge is seriously ill with inflammation of the bowels. We hope to hear of his speedy relief.

Mrs. Thos. Stewart, who is seriously ill, has had two doctors in attendance and report very slight change.

MCIVER

Plenty of damp weather now.

Mr. Arthur Urshott and sister Adelaide called on friends at Adamsville Sunday last.

Walkerton

The regular meeting of the town council was held on Tuesday evening. The only item of business transacted other than the ordinary routine was the granting of a donation to the Patriotic fund of $200. Half of this will be paid in November and the balance in December, the council deeming it good policy to allow the council of the coming year to continue these donations as they see fit.

Corporal Joe Reichensbach received word on Tuesday from Capt. E. R. Clark who is stationed with a company of soldiers at Taborville guarding the wireless station, ordering him to report at once for service at the "Job" and bring with him five additional men. These men are to take the place of those who have been stationed there and have enlisted for service in the second contingent. The boys who went with Corporal Reichensbach are Walter Eld, Jack Anderson, Herman Runtz, Ed Ed, and Henry Van Hatten. There are now sixteen youths in the company guarding the wireless on this peninsula.

Reports from all sections of the county indicate that this year's yield of wheat is a very heavy one. The bushel crop has averaged the price to drop to fifty cents per bushel. Many communities are making large shipments of the wheat to England, France and Belgium.

The remains of the man found drowned in the Saugeen on Tuesday of last week, were identified on Thursday evening as those of George Leathorn of Walkerton. The body was identified by Master Ed. Delbert and Walter Wetmore of the Erie & Daily staff who at one time worked in Walkerton. Chief Ferguson was notified and at once communicated with the police of that town who stated that from the description, the corpse was undoubtedly that of Leathorn who has been missing for two weeks, and the identification was later corroborated. The unfortunate man's father came to Walkerton on Friday and took the remains to Wingham for burial the funeral being held on Saturday afternoon. The deceased who was fifty-five years of age was unmarried and is survived by a father, two brothers and two sisters one of latter being Mrs. Ezra Abell of Dundas. Facts of the case secured since last week reveal that Leathorn who was a barber by trade, was troubled with asthma, and spent as much time in the open air as possible making frequent trips by bicycle. It was while on one of these that he struck Walkerton on Wednesday September 30th. He had a heavy ship general cleaning up in a local shop had supper and left his wheel at the Har Jay House and when engaging a room told Mr. Korman on going out that he did not expect to return until late at night. This was the last seen of him until his body was found. It is now surmised that the deceased went for a stroll along the river and when taken with an attack of violent coughing to which he was subject fell into the water and perished.

Nothing Like it for Colds

Mr. Holland Ferguson, St. Hilfield, N. B. writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine has cured my children and myself of several colds. We are very without it in the house. There is nothing like it for colds and throat trouble, and it is so soothing and pleasant to take, my children would drink a whole bottle if they were permitted."

Kincardine

The members of Knox church gathered for five eleven recently and the following were elected, viz. L. H. McKay, James Jack, J. M. McKay, Joseph Ogden and George Langman. They are young men to whom the church has shown confidence that is not undesired.

A meeting called by Mr. P. A. Macdonald was held on Thursday night with the object of raising funds to purchase sacks for farmers desirous of contributing to the British navy. The amount of $75 was asked for and on motion of J. Hunter and Dr. E. B. Bruce the committee will be asked to vote this money. Distribution of Hugh Clark, recorded by A. L. Shells, the following committee was appointed to look after the distributing of sacks, the storage of grain, etc.—Messrs. Wm. Mitchell, Ed. Harker, M. T. Huffman, P. A. Macdonald and Wm. Hunter.

The farmers are expected to give the oats free while the towns and villages are expected to furnish the sacks. Kincardine's share of the cost of sacks was estimated at $75. The farmers are expected to deliver the oats to the nearest railway station and the government will pay the freight on its destination.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. Half a century ago, before Confederation, they were sold in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Bilectricity, Rheumatism, and Kidney and Liver Troubles. Today they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better has yet been devised to

Chesley

It pays to underdrain and the attention of farmers is directed to the following official report of the yields of fall wheat as the Drainage Demonstration plots on the farm of Mr. Neil McDougall, 10th con., Arden, as reported in the Tara Leader. "Underdrained—north side, 20 bushels per acre; south side—14.25 bushels per acre; average—11.17 bushels per acre; drained—north side, 3 feet deep and 2 rods apart, 30.61 bushels per acre; south side, 2 feet deep and 2 rods apart, 28.58 bushels per acre; difference between 2 and 3 feet drainage, 4.1 bushels per acre or 13.3 per cent; average for drained land, 30.61 bushels per acre; difference between drained and undrained land, 18.44 bushels per acre or 165.1 per cent. The above report was furnished by the Physics Department of the O. A. C. Guelph, by Dr. C. Laflamme, inspector from samples taken from four scientifically measured plots of land described in the report. The results at threshing, although not so accurate, were slightly more favorable to the drained portion of the field. B. Phillips, the distilling machine man, will clip this item out and put it away among the valuable documents.

Sidney Hill was taken to Walkerton court on Saturday. He had not paid his fine of $10 and costs and was committed for thirty days on a warrant issued by Magistrate Bell. Constable Kreiger escorted Sidney to Castle McKeen, where he will live on until for the next four weeks. This is the first instance in Chesley of any one being sent to goal to default of paying a local option fine.

Value of Rheuma from the Court

Judge Barbour was Relieved of Rheumatism After Doctors Failed. If you have tried many other remedies and doctors' treatments for rheumatism and found them failed, do not be skeptical about trying RHEUMA. Read the testimony of Judge John Barbour of Port Lorne, O. "After treatment by three doctors with no result, I have been cured of a very bad case of Rheumatism by using two bottles of RHEUMA. It is now two years since I used the remedy, and I am still as well as ever. Previously, I was a cripple, unable to walk. Such testimony should be convincing to all who are afflicted with Rheumatism."

Durham

The fool with the gun is ever with us. Complaint has reached us that a few evenings ago a couple of careless gunners were engaged in their dangerous amusement in the old cemetery town, and that Mrs. George Everett narrowly escaped injury, a bullet having struck over the cow she was engaged in milking. There is, we understand, a town by-law forbidding the discharge of firearms inside the corporation, but this by-law, like many others, is almost wholly disregarded. In many instances parents are to blame for allowing boys who are careless and incompetent to have the use of fire-arms, and the municipal authorities are too lenient in permitting their by-laws to be so completely ignored. Never, it seems, till an accident occurs, do we hear of complaint.

Hanover

Calwell Marshall, a member of the staff of the Standard Bank, Durham, was operated upon last Saturday morning for appendicitis by Dr. Groves of Fergus, and Dr. James of Durham. The operation was successfully performed and the young man, aged 29 years, is on the road to recovery.

Married at high noon at Mr. F. French's home, Wm. H. Johnston, Owen Sound, and Katharine Thomas on Oct. 5th. The couple were unattended. After a sumptuous repast the happy couple left on the 2:50 p.m. train for points south and east. Mr. Johnston is one of Owen Sound's leading barbers, while the bride went to Mrs. Frank Perschbacher and is favourably known to the citizens of Hanover.

A sad death occurred at Allen Park on Friday last when Mrs. Adam Elzner (nee Lily Park) passed away at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Park. Death was the result of an accumulation. She had been at her home at Allen Park for one month. She had been living at Medora, Man., since her marriage. Deceased was well known in her marriage, having been a member of the P.E.O. association for several years. She was a bright and attractive girl, and her many friends were shocked at her sudden death. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon at Switzer's cemetery. The Post extends its condolence to the bereaved young widow, parents and family.

Allenford

(The Leader)

Joe Montgomery was busy erecting a silo at Mr. McCullough's on the 18th. Quite a number attended the Tara Fair. There was no shoot on Saturday so the members of the Rifle Club were very busy. Geo. Crawford and his wife arrived on Saturday. Geo. is receiving good wishes from all and sundry. The report that he was married a month or so ago doesn't make Geo. any the less happy now. Capt. Dandridge has 17 ready for the second contingent. If Canada does her share she will have 100,000 men in Britain's battle line.

Mrs. Miller has returned from the West. She is twice glad, once over the good time she had while away and once because she is home again. Wm. Brightman and family spent Sunday and Thanksgiving with relatives here. A brother of Miss Elmer Wolfe as well as her mother are here.

Miss Edna Hunt was home from Southampton over the holidays. Rev. Jewitt and family were guests at S. A. Hunt's for Thanksgiving dinner. Chas. Walker, of Zion, brought a load of apples to the mill here on Tuesday. He was also a visitor at the parsonage.

Some of our nitmuds are becoming restive because the G.T.R. is slow in announcing the bunkers' rates for this season. At a meeting held in the schoolhouse a committee was appointed to receive donations for the war supply fund. Henry Ball who lost part of a finger last week and had his hand otherwise crushed is doing well.

Matt Crawford who has suffered much with an injured leg is able to be out again. The W. M. B. of the Winton District, will hold their Annual Convention in the Methodist church here on Tuesday the 10th. There will be two sessions, at 2 and 7 p.m. The ladies are hoping for a large attendance.

Rev. Mr. Bandy, of Dohlington, will preach in the Methodist church pulpit here and at Dorley next Sunday in the absence of Rev. Jewitt who will take Anniversary work at Sharon. Mr. Bandy is a pleasing speaker and will be glad to welcome you at Divine Worship next Sabbath.

Paisley

Representatives of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board have completed an inspection of the Bruce Township Telephone system, and found conditions so satisfactory that a petition for further extensions is accepted. The line will therefore likely soon be continued to Pinkerton and Carling.

A pipe organ has been placed in the Methodist church to be tried out on approval. The instrument was installed on Saturday, and was used in the services on Sunday. On Monday evening a public recital was given, with Prof. Loomis, of Walkerton, at the keyboard. The programme of selections was a high class one, which the audience enjoyed and appreciated very much, as were also the numbers by the choir and a solo by Miss Edna Carter. The organ has four sets of pipes in all, 270 in number, of the quality or tone. Stops—dulciana, dolce, late, diapason, and sub-bass, 2 couplers and bellows signal. There is a pedal board of 80 notes and a balanced swell pedal. The case is a handsome one of quarter cut oak. Altogether it is an instrument that is very well adapted for church service accompaniment in an edifice such as that in which it is now installed. Our Methodist friends are to be commended and congratulated upon being able to secure an organ of this type and power upon so very reasonable terms as those given by the concern from which it was purchased, the Hamilton Church Organ Works.

The Bowman bowling trophy rode in Paisley at time of writing on Wednesday. A rink composed of G. B. Bell, A. A. Sinclair, J. H. Glover and Dr. Black lifted the riverware at Kincardine on Thanksgiving Day defeating the holders there by the score of 10 to 21. This trophy if a large silver cup for competition between any rinks from any club represented at the Southampton bowling tournament of 1911.

Owen Sound

Mr. J. H. Cole, late manager for the Northern Bell & Sewer Co., Ltd., who has resigned his position to take up another in a distant town, was very happily surprised on Wednesday by the announcement that a delegation desired to wait upon him, which when admitted proved to be members of the office force, superintendent, and foreman of the works who presented him with a beautiful umbrella, with a gold pipe, upon which his name was engraved, and a watchdog of dainty manufacture and gold attachments.

How the Dampers Work; Grate Arrangement; Where the Heat Goes—

BUYING a stove is different from buying almost anything else. It is supposed to last a long time; it is in use three times every day—in fact, all day.

So buying a stove is not something to be decided off-hand. Cheapness is not the consideration. But—Quality is. A cheap stove cannot last. In reality it is not cheap. A stove that is a trouble to look after, that gives poor results, is a baneful thing. When the fire goes out, when the oven will not heat, or heats only in one or two corners, then cooking is drudgery. If a stove is extravagant in fuel, it should not have a place in your house.

The Gurney-Oxford is a truly remarkable stove. It is heavily made and thoroughly well put together. It is practically indestructible. The Gurney-Oxford Economizer, fitted to the stove pipe, gives you complete control of the fire always. One turn of the handle dampens the fire down to a spark that consumes practically no coal when the fire is not in use. Turn the handle the opposite way and in a short time the fire is burning brightly again.

which also bore his engraved initials.

The report that Mallock Iron works was making shrapnel for the Canadian government is unfounded although the company are making material for the government ammunition wagons. Shrapnel is made of grey iron and that is not in the line of the Mallock Iron works. Although still rather slack the Mallock works are employing men and in the last few days have taken on about a dozen more men, and it is expected that shortly they will be running with almost a full staff.

A meeting of the East and South Gray Conservative Association was held in Dundas last Friday afternoon and officers were elected for the new riding of East Grey. Under the recent redistribution of Grey the county is divided into two ridings instead of three. East Grey now comprises Durham, Hanover, Markham, Dundas, Chatham, Northwich, North York, Ontario, Hamilton, Pelee, Arden, Grey, Holland and Sullivan. The meeting was presided over by Mr. J. B. Wilson, of Hanover, and the following officers were elected for 1914: President—Wm. Bruce, Chatham; vice-pres.—Dr. L. G. Campbell; Markdale; Secretary—J. W. Tucker, Markdale; Treasurer—D. MacTavish, Fisherton; Auditor—W. J. Hollanby, Fisherton and Irwin Morrison, Oshawa.

The report of the inspection of the General and Marine Hospital, which was made by Dr. J. C. MacTavish, assistant Inspector of Hospitals, a couple of weeks ago, has just been received by the Hospital Board, and it is very encouraging. The only change suggested by the inspector was a re-arrangement of the wards to form a maternity ward and this has been done in accordance with Dr. MacTavish's wishes. The report states that the wards are in good order, the beds and bedding clean and comfortable and the furnishings suitable. The condition of the operating room is stated to be excellent, and the room well equipped. Regarding the kitchen and equipment, everything is mentioned as satisfactory. The steam heating, gas and electric lighting are good, which is also said of the water supply and sewage disposal. The ventilation is said to be good and protection is afforded for escape of the inmates in case of fire. No rubbish was found in the attic or elsewhere. Regarding the dietary, the food is stated as good, well cooked and well served. "The new wing" the report continues "is excellent in plan and construction, and the work done in the hospital is good. Everything was found in a fairly satisfactory condition and when the work of renovating now proceeding is finished, the general condition will be good throughout." On the whole the report is commendatory to the staff and very encouraging to the Board.

Let us show you why the Gurney-Oxford is peerless among stoves!

The fire is supported on grates that present a large surface to the air. There is no smouldering of coal without heat. This perfect combustion means two things: a bright, hot fire with the minimum of coal, and no waste in the form of clinkers.

The heat from the Gurney-Oxford fire box goes through a series of divided flues over and around the oven, not up the chimney. There is no unevenness of heat.

Every housewife knows the absolute satisfaction and pleasure that comes from a stove that never fails.

Let us show you the Gurney-Oxford range and demonstrate its many good points.

Let us show you the construction of it—the arrangement of dampers—the fire box and flues that have made it peerless among stoves, and the most cherished possession of thousands of Canadian women.

GUARANTEED RELIEF FROM ALL BOWEL ILLS

If your bowels are out of order, instead of using some harsh salt or other physic, take a Rexall Orderly tonight, and tomorrow you will feel great. They taste good and act so easily that there isn't a particle of griping or purging, nor the excessive looseness that follows the taking of salts and most pills. They soothe and strengthen the bowels, promptly relieving the constipation, making it unlikely to occur again. We don't believe there is any other bowel remedy anywhere near as good, and at the same time so easy and pleasant to take as Rexall Orderlies. We know you will agree with us and believe you will thank us for telling you about them. If they don't suit you in every way, come back and tell us and we will give back your money without a word or question. You have no reason to hesitate when we give you the opportunity, as we hereby do, to try them at our risk. In vest pocket tin boxes: 10c, 25c, 50c. ## GERMANS DRIVEN BACK

Allies Have Effectively Checked Advances Along Coast.

Lille Has Been Recaptured, an Attack of the German Right Wing at Chaulnes Has Been Repulsed and the Germans Forced to Retreat in Flanders, and Near Roulers They Evacuated Trenches.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—With Lille again in the hands of the allies, the situation on the French fighting line has assumed a distinctly favorable aspect. At Chaulnes a counter-attack by the German right wing was thrown back decisively, and the Kaiser's forces fled in a state bordering on panic. The Belgians have also held the Germans at a point east of Dixmude. West of Roulers the Germans were compelled to evacuate long lines of trenches, and the town is now occupied by Franco-British troops.

Unless all indications prove futile the German advance along the coast to Dunkirk is effectively checked. Reports from Dunkirk early yesterday morning stated that the sound of heavy fighting from the sea was plainly audible. It is believed certain that British naval forces are co-operating in the movement to stop the Kaiser's forward movement in this zone. Later in the day a despatch from northern France said that British torpedo-boat destroyers had penetrated the coastal zone of the district in which the most westerly engagement was being fought, and the British cruisers were also firing on the invaders from the open sea.

The official communique of the French War Office yesterday afternoon said: "In Belgium the heavy artillery of the enemy has cannonaded, but without result, the front from Mousport to Vialoeux, to the east of Dixmude."

"The forces of the allies, and notably the Belgian army, have not only repulsed further attacks on the part of the Germans, but have advanced as far as Roulers."

"On our left wing, between the River Lys and the canal of La Bassée, we have advanced in the direction of Lille. There has been very stubborn fighting at the front from La Bassée to Albain and St. Nazaire. We are advancing from house to house in these localities."

"To the north and to the south of Arras our troops have been fighting without respite for more than ten days and with the same fighting spirit which never for a moment has been relaxed."

"In the region of Chaulnes we have repulsed a strong counter-attack delivered by the enemy and have won some ground."

"On the centre there is nothing to report."

"On our right wing, in Alsace, to the west of Colmar, our advance posts are on the line of the towns of Paris and Sultz. To the south we still occupy Thann."

German reinforcements have been brought up at all points along the right wing of the invaders' army, which now stretches from the Belgian coast to the elbow at Roulers, where the line turns directly eastward and runs in the general direction of Metz. These reinforcements are estimated at 300,000 to 400,000 men. Some reports even place the number of fresh troops at 1,000,000 men of all arms, but the latter figures are believed extravagant. It is known that they are drawn from the Landsturm exclusively.

Advices from Belgium declare that Oostend, Bruges and Blankenbergh are held by the smallest of garrisons, and that throughout the conquered kingdom every man that can be spared has been rushed southward. Admiral Von Tirpitz is said to be in Antwerp, which coincides with previous reports he be expected to personally direct naval operations against Britain which are "to be launched the last of this month."

With the capture of Antwerp Sunday and the fall of Lille yesterday to the allied armies there can be no question that operations in northern France have received a new impetus and are inclining steadily to the side of the French and British. It is significant that at every point counter-attacks by the Germans have uniformly failed to accomplish their purpose. That the Kaiser is stubbornly sacrificing many lives to maintain an untenable position a little longer seems apparent.

From La Bassée and Albain to St. Nazaire the allies are waging a terrible hand-to-hand conflict with the Germans, the fighting having resolved into an individual contest of supremacy. Every hedge, house and overturned wagon is a new fortress, and as the Germans are back they take a heavy toll of their pursuers.

At Chaulnes the allied artillery all day decimated the German columns participating in a frontal counter-attack, the advantage being followed up by an infantry charge of French and British troops which completely upset the advance of the foe.

The situation along the centre remains quiet, with both sides content to hold their own, and neither able to gain important advantage over the other. Defensive works in this zone are very complete, and it is improbable that major operations will be attempted by either French or Germans until the fighting on the east and west becomes better defined.

The French officials are extremely reticent concerning operations against the German crown prince and the new German army, which seems to have been the safety of Metz. It is also apparent that fighting is under way around Belfort, but no information comes through as to the extent of the campaign or the probable outcome. It is said on very good authority that a French army is even now assembling on the east of Metz trenches, and that artillery will soon be playing on the walls of that renowned stronghold. Sir Michal continues in the hands of the German crown prince, but the French have driven his line still further back on both the east and west of that town, and his retreat toward Luxembourg is imminent.

Summing up the entire situation, and taking into account the position of the allies from the Belgian coast to the Swiss border, it may be said that the outlook is more favorable than at any time since the Germans crossed into French territory. It is apparent that the first onslaught has come a crusher, that the new drive at Dunkirk and Calais is temporarily checkmated and will most probably be completely frustrated, and that the continued success of the allies at widely-separated points, with the new advance toward Metz and the dangerous quandary of the German crown prince has seriously imperilled the whole German scheme of conquest.

RECRUITING ORDERED.

Canadian Headquarters Instructed To Enlist Men For New Force.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—Orders having been sent out last night to the officers commanding the various divisional areas and military districts to begin enlisting men for the new force of recruits for overseas service, it was announced that the various divisional areas, with headquarters as follows, will recruit for 10,000 men each: Southern Ontario (Toronto), one battalion; Western Ontario (London), two battalions; Eastern Ontario (Kingston), one battalion; Southern Quebec (Montreal), two battalions; Northern Quebec (Quebec), one battalion; Maritime Provinces (Halifax), two battalions.

The military districts of the west will recruit as follows: Manitoba and Saskatchewan (Winnipeg), two battalions; British Columbia (Victoria), two battalions; Alberta (Calgary), one battalion. This makes a total of 14 battalions with 16,000 men. The Quebec quotas include the French-Canadian battalion already authorized.

Orders for the recruiting of 14,000 more men will go out as soon as the War Office states what is wanted in the cavalry, artillery, engineering corps, etc. The 30,000 men thus recruited will begin active training, and as soon as there are arms and equipment for 10,000 men they will be sent to England to finish their training and be sent to the front. This will be about two months' time, and when the first 10,000 men a similar number will be recruited in the various districts and will begin active training. The 10,000 men will be sent as soon as their equipment is ready, and this method will be kept up as long as the war lasts.

Irish Nationalists Vow To Fight Against Prussian Militarism.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A loud, tumultuous cheering, with right hands upraised, the Irish Nationalists, who occupied Central Hall last night, adopted a pledge administered by T. P. O'Connor:

"We will never sheath the sword until Belgium has got back her freedom; until every inch of her soil is clear; until a treaty is made, not on a scrap of paper, but on a foundation behind which stands the millions of the British race."

The meeting was called for the purpose of expressing confidence in the leadership of John Redmond and to endorse the action of the Irish party in supporting "the war of the allies against Prussian militarism."

Mr. O'Connor said that for this fundamental and supreme principle, the British had fought on hundreds of battlefields. What he claimed and won for themselves they also claimed for other countries and would help other countries win.

MUCH FOOD FOR BELGIUM.

Now on London Docks—Badly Needed, Too.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Baron Lambert, representing the Belgian Government, arrived in London from Brussels, and yesterday conferred with the British Government concerning the movement to send food from London to the Belgian capital. The shortage of food in Brussels is very serious. The supply of flour has become exhausted, and there is great need that it be replenished immediately. Extensive arrangements are being made for the shipment of food through the co-operation of the Belgian Minister and the British Foreign Office.

Much food, already in cases, is on the London docks ready for shipment to Belgium when the international blockade of the movement is straightened out.

Locomotor Awoke, Heart Trouble and Nervous Spasms Kept Him From Driving.

Chase's Nerve Food. It would be easy to tell you how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures locomotor ataxia, heart trouble and nervous spasms. It is so easy to tell you that it may be more satisfactory to you to read this letter. Mr. J. H. Chase writes: "Five years ago I suffered a complete breakdown, and I frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that time I have had many nervous attacks, and I could not walk straight. At night I would have severe heart palpitations, with heart pain, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improvement after taking a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing the treatment can now walk, eat and sleep well. I have no more heart trouble and do not require heart medicine. I have a splendid record of my nervous system, and I am now a healthy man. A box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food costs $2.50, all dealers or Edman Bros., Inc., Limited, Toronto."

CANNOT CROSS RIVER

Austro-Germans Confronted by Russian Wall at the San.

Position of Przemysl Confers No Advantage Upon the Enemy Says London Times' Correspondent—German General Staff Is Conducting Operations Which Are Carried on Unceasingly Without Effect.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Times has the following from Mr. Stanley Washburn, its correspondent at Lwow (formerly Lemberg, Galicia): Fighting goes on in West Galicia without cessation. The command on the River San continues. All attempts of the enemy to cross the river have failed lamentably. The Austrians have made attempts at various points. At first their artillery fiercely shelled the right bank, after which the infantry approached the river, but the Russian abutment fire inflicted heavy losses, as the corpses floating downstream to the Vistula and beyond to Sandomir and Inowrog testified.

The German General Staff directed the operations, and also the defence of Przemysl, better while the fighting goes on day and night, without ceasing even for a minute.

The Russian defence conducted the defence with extreme energy, and the fortress is apparently well supplied with ammunition. The Russians are making a persistent pressure, punctuated by sudden night attacks, by which several strong forts already have been captured. These tactics usually disturb the defenders, whose searchlights throughout the night subject the surrounding space to a constant scrutiny. Meanwhile the retention of Przemysl confers no advantage on the enemy or of the bridge over the San and stands before the Russian investing army.

The Austro-Germans struggle stubbornly and desperately. Hostile collisions are spreading, and the huge strategic front grows steadily larger, like the extended front of French troops from Sandomir to the Carpathians savagely roar the thousands of guns. Corpses are borne on the waters of the San, and cast up on its verdant banks at points up the Vistula.

BRITAIN SATISFIED.

Gen. French's Report Brings General Feeling of Security.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—General satisfaction and a feeling of security in the overseas outlook are expressed by yesterday morning's London papers in their meagre comments on the long report of Sir John French, the British commander-in-chief, on France, on the battles of the Marne and the Aisne. The desire of the censor expressed a month ago, that the papers refrain from extended comment or analysis of the situation in the French campaign, has prevented criticism, constructive or otherwise on the report. That their report added little to the knowledge already possessed by the British people, of the progress of the battle, is reflected in the Journals. Comments on the street and in the clubs are apparently to the effect that the people are satisfied with the strategy of Sir John and that they have no feeling of nervousness as to the final result.

MONSIGNOR BENSON DEAD.

Was Son of Archbishop Benson and Religious Author of Note.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The death was announced yesterday of the Very Reverend Monsignor Robert Hugh Benson. Monsignor Benson, who was born in 1871, was a son of Archbishop Benson. He entered the Roman Catholic Church some years ago and his step caused wide discussion in England. At the time of his death he was a priest in the cathedral diocese of Westminster. He was ordained in Rome in 1904.

In 1905 he was made assistant priest at the Catholic Church at Cambridge, Eng., and in 1911 he was appointed private chaplain to his holiness Pius X.

He was an author of note on religious matters, and youngest brother of A. C. Benson and F. Benson, both novelists and essayists.

Japan Cruiser Sunk by Mine.

TOKYO, Oct. 20.—It is officially announced that the Japanese cruiser Takachiko was sunk by a mine in Misaki Bay on the night of Oct. 17. One officer and nine members of the crew are known to have been saved. The Japanese cruiser Takachiko was built in 1895 and refitted in 1911. She was a vessel of 3,000 tons and was 330 feet long. Her main battery consisted of eight-inch guns and her speed was about 19 knots.

The Takachiko carried a crew of 355 men, only ten of whom, according to official report, are known to have been saved.

Austrian Fleet Driven to Cover. LONDON, Oct. 20.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Rome says advices received in that city from Cattaro, Montenegro, state that the Austrian fleet in the harbor of Cattaro, Dalmatia, attempted to escape Sunday and break through the French fleet blocking the port. The despatch adds that the Austrians were promptly driven back into the harbor.

To Train in London.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—In accordance with instructions received from Ottawa yesterday, the organization of a full regiment of infantry, 1,016 men, with reinforcements of 100 men, will be proceeded with immediately in the first military division. This city will be headquarters and training ground for Western Ontario, pending departure over seas.

On Saturday night an Indian medicine man, a full blooded Iroquois from the Caughnawaga reserve, near Montreal, held forth on a dais and after a harangue sold a good many dollar's worth of his medicines. On Fair night the Warton Dramatic Club drew a bumper house, the entertainment was first class in every respect. Red Cross Work

A box of goods has been shipped to the Red Cross Society containing the following articles—24 pillow slips, 18 pillows, 36 grey flannel shirts, 53 pair grey socks, 8 scarves, 20 pair wristlets, 21 towels, 12 dozen cheese cloth handkerchiefs, 4 bags of dried apples and some magazines. These were forwarded by the Warton Branch of the Women's Institute and the Women's Patriotic League, of Warton. The handkerchiefs were contributed by the Young Women's Patriotic League. There were also many private donations. The $50 given from the Patriotic Fund was spent for flannel for shirts and yarn, the goods being distributed to those who wished to knit or sew, but several ladies contributed both material and work, others gave money for material, and the Committee in charge were delighted with the returns. The big table in the Council Chamber looked to be about as full as it could hold. There was not a scrap wasted, possibly by putting all the bits of left over yarn together there might be enough for another pair of wristlets. Now that this box is on the way forward, the Women's Institute and the Patriotic League wish to thank all those who have helped. But is this all there is to be done? Is there no further need? A second contingent is called for, 10,000 men to be made ready as quickly as possible. Will these men need anything? For this first box the response from the ladies in the surrounding country has been very small, but we know it has been a busy time for them. They have been busy with threshing and Fall Fairs, but now that they have these things off their hands there is no doubt that the needles will fly and there will be many piling bees. The ladies of the town enjoyed a purging given by Mrs. A. M. Tyson. Mrs. J. J. Tyson undertook to gather apples from the orchards of nearby farmers, these were dried in the different homes. There are still apples being dried, and still apples to be dried, there is also some knitting and sewing on hand which will be forwarded later. But what about going on with the work? We have no more money to buy material, and the Red Cross Society are still asking for money, socks, shirts, nightshirts, pyjamas, wristlets, scarves, hospital supplies, etc.—etc. Have you done your share, or are you going to sit idle and wait for someone else to do it? Replies to these questions can be sent to the Sec'y-Treas of the Women's Institute or the Women's Patriotic League.

Mrs. Arthur A. Watt.

An Address on the War

With so much appearing in the daily papers about the war it would seem very difficult to say anything new or interesting upon the subject, but Mr. C. J. Mickle, Chesley, accomplished this task in the town hall last Thursday evening in an address to the teachers of East Bruce. As an historical address it was a masterpiece from start to finish and that gentleman showed that he was well versed in his subject.

The occasion was a concert under the auspices of the Teacher's Association. The program, which was under the direction of Mr. Hamilton, was most excellent, in fact, every one who contributed to the success of the evening was heartily encouraged.

Mr. S. J. Cameron, chairman of the High School Board, was chairman of the evening, and in a most felicitous manner welcomed the teachers to the town. He congratulated them upon their work, in which he hoped that they would be abundantly successful, and told them to have a vision of the future for in the little red school house is being trained Canada's future lawyers, doctors, clergymen, statesmen.

Among those who took part were Mr. R. E. Trout, Miss Howard Greig, Miss F. Jones, Miss Jennie Lawrence, Mr. C. Westfield and Messrs. Hamilton and Lawrence who with Messrs. Westfield and Trout made up a quartette. The entertainment which they furnished was of a high order, and anything patriotic brought forth loud applause. The selections were all in good taste.

The event of the evening was the address by Mr. C. J. Mickle, barrister at Chesley, on the war and he discussed it from the standpoints.

- (1) Why did Germany go to war.
  - (2) Why did Britain go to war.
  - (3) Why did Canada go to war.
- It is possible that in dealing with the question why Germany went to war he threw considerable light on the subject. He showed the desire of German expansion to the Persian Gulf, and that the assassination of the heir to the Austrian throne was only an occasion for the war—not the cause of it. Why Britain and Canada went to war was known to everyone. It is impossible to give his lecture due credit in a short notice, but Inspector McCool in moving his vote of thanks said the Teacher's Association had often paid $50 for a public address not as good and most assuredly it would have been difficult to have engaged a man who could have handled the subject as well.

St. Paul's Church, Sunday Nov. 1 The Minister will preach at both services. Morning subject "The Importance of Christ". The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. Evening subject "The Day After". Good music. Strangers welcome.

Success Had Only By Strenuous Work

Candidates Who Depend on Luck Will Lose—Resolution Backed By Action Will Win—Only a Couple More Weeks of Contest Left—Country Candidates doing well.

Do you think other candidates can get subscriptions easier than you?

That's what the unsuccessful man or woman thinks of the successful man or woman in any line of endeavor in this world. Look into the history of any man who ever did anything that makes him stand out from the rest of humanity.

You may say he had money, opportunity, friends at court, good luck, was born with brains or had a chance.

After you've taken stock of all these things which appear on the surface, look at the man.

You'll find the lives of work on his face. No amount of money ever made any man great; the finest opportunities never made any man famous; the most favorable environment never produced genius or a master of men.

If those things were true there would be only two kinds of people in the world—a class of mental aristocrats, with all the money and brains, and the rest of the world full of cattle.

We would have a race of supermen and a race of slaves. But you'll find that the majority of the supermen come from the classes sometimes called "lower" which only means poorer.

Break away from the field; get the votes and get the most of them and you'll win.

The first thing to do is to tell yourself you can do it, and you are already a winner. You can't lose if you will convince yourself that you can win.

There are only 15 more days of the contest in which to work for a prize.

Tell your friends how many votes you have already and ask them if they will not extend their present subscriptions in order to help you win. Tell them about the prizes, and show them where you stood in the last vote list.

Get them interested, and impress upon them the fact that it means much to you to get every possible subscription now.

To the present subscribers of The Echo it simply means that they give you money which they will pay out at some future time for the paper when there will be no votes on the subscriptions.

If they understand that you will get some benefit from the paid-in-advance subscriptions they will be willing to give you their help.

This is the chance of a lifetime, and all the contestants seem to realize it.

Never again will you have such an opportunity to get such valuable prizes by the simple method of getting a few subscriptions to The Echo, and Pearson's Magazine.

NOW IS THE TIME TO WORK

The time to work is now. Work hard while the contest is running. Win a good prize and have something which will last you a lifetime. You don't have to do much, just a little more than your competitors.

Don't hang back and lose. You can't afford to do that now with so much at stake.

Did you ever work with such an object in view before? What could you do in the next couple of weeks that would give you better returns for your efforts?

You can win if you want to—you know that you can. Go right out and get a few subscriptions.

One thing is certain in this contest, that is, the hardest workers are going to win.

And when it comes to mixing brains with work, some of the country candidates have very good schemes.

CONTEST WORK IS LEGITIMATE

It is a perfectly legitimate business and many men and women make a living soliciting subscriptions.

It isn't as if you were asking people to buy books or pictures or something for which you have little use.

A local newspaper and a magazine are necessities. And in buying a newspaper or magazine everybody should have the best, just as they demand the best clothes or the best groceries or the best kind of coal.

Everybody knows The Echo is the better paper, and Pearson's Magazine as good as the best. That's why you need not feel a bit timid in asking for Echo and Pearson's subscriptions.

The Echo speaks for itself, all you have to do is to look after your own interests and get the votes.

COUNTRY CANDIDATES DOING WELL

The country contestants are doing well. The votes are coming in by every mail.

The country contestants know that they have an equal chance with the town candidates in this campaign. The vote list that was published on Wednesday last, shows that on it's face.

An examination of the list will show that the country contestants are holding their own right along the line.

There are a good many five year subscriptions coming in too.

If a man is taking the Echo now, and his subscription will expire next Christmas, get another year's subscription from him, to begin the day after his present subscription expires.

WORKING OVER OLD TERRITORY

Some of the contestants are going around to the subscribers they got three weeks ago and are getting extensions.

In some cases contestants have turned in almost duplicate subscriptions to the ones they turned in first.

That is—candidates who got subscriptions from the people early in the contest are signing up the same people again with the extensions of the subscription period.

Communication

Colpoys Bay, Ont., Oct. 26, 1914
Editor Canadian Echo, Warton, Ont.

Dear Sir:—Noticing some articles of recent date appearing in the Public Press, reflecting on the hesitancy of young men on the Bruce Peninsula and especially of Albemarle Township in offering their service in the defence of our sorely pressed country, and feeling it to be a reflection on the gallantry and patriotism of our people and in order to remove any such reflection, I beg to offer the following remarks.

Through the exodus of recent years of our young men to the west, our population has become so much depleted, we have not now sufficient young men for the work required. Albemarle alone, losing one-third of the population and to further deplete our population, where even more are required in producing the sinews of war, such as beef, oats, wheat, etc., which are so necessary in maintaining our brave soldiers at the front.

Would it not be much better to encourage our young farmers to remain on the land, where there has not been nearly sufficient for the requirements of agriculture for some years past.

Would it not be much more capable management to encourage recruiting among the unemployed about our cities and towns. There are thousands of able bodied capable young men anxious for employment and who are now, and likely to be, a burden of the public for some time.

Whereas if recruiting is encouraged from among our young farmers, our burdens are multiplied with a reduced ability to maintain it. And while I believe the bravery and patriotism of our young men is not to be questioned we do not wish enthusiasm to over-ride our good judgment, and whatever is done needs to be done in the best manner possible.

Yours truly,
C. E. WHICHER

Tara

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Ash and family moved from 12th Con. Sullivan to Arran Tp. Mr. Ash purchased a fifty acre farm on the 4th con of Arran, about one mile south of Arkwright, from Chas. White for $2700. Thos. Ash has been a member of Sullivan Council and filled the responsible position of collector for several years.

Guy Brothers Minstrels played in Van Dusen's Hall on Saturday night to a full house. It is several years since they played in Tara. The show was good and the audience was well pleased with the entertainment. The parade at noon headed by their hand drew a crowd on the street.

At a meeting of the Tara and Arran Conservative Association on Saturday evening it was resolved to tender Hon. W. H. Harist, Ontario's new Premier, a citizens' banquet, and Mr. H. Van Dusen was asked to send Mr. Harist such a banquet and arrange with him for a suitable date. A committee was appointed to take charge of the banquet, and will meet again on Saturday evening of this week.

There was an exciting time around the Queen's Hotel for a few minutes on Saturday night. The gasoline tank which supplies the fuel for the lights of the hotel, and which is kept in the ante-room between the two buildings of the hotel property, was leaking and the gasoline ran out onto the sidewalk. A passerby dropped a lighted match on the explosive and the flames shot up several feet high. A number of persons gathered around and kept the fire under control, but had it happened in the middle of the night no doubt Tara would have had another big fire.

Pitt Elgin

A farewell banquet was tendered Dr. W. J. Bruce by the officers and members of the Northern Light Lodge, No. 93, A. F. & A. M. Kincaid, last week before his departure for California where he intends to reside in the future.

Workmen actually engaged in erecting a new factory for Mr. Simon Buschlen. The new building will be 40 x 50. It is of cement block, and will greatly improve the corner of Godwin street, where the present small wooden building now stands. It is the intention of Mr. Buschlen to add machinery for the purpose of making baskets, and will be in line for the growth of the fruit-growing industry, which is taking hold rapidly in Port Elgin and surrounding country.

The ladies of the red cross section of the Women's Institute have Ask The Times to make an appeal to any woman, who feels loyal enough to help in this critical time. The ladies are preparing to assist the Belgian families who have fled from the children's sufferings. A meeting is to be held on Saturday afternoon in the library and all women who will assist are asked to come and hear the plans. Garments all sizes and all styles, are needed for the children of Belgium who are suffering and homeless. No woman who has heart of Belgium, the heroism of its men and women, can afford to let this opportunity pass.

An unwelcome visitor to the village on Saturday caused some excitement. An Indian from Cape Croker under the influence of liquor caused such a disturbance that Mr. John Montgomery, the constable, had to head-off him and put him in the lock-up until the late train, when he was sent to Warton.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church intend holding a bazaar on Sat. Oct. 31st. Dr. Harry Williams, of the staff of the Cottage Sanitarium, Gravenhurst, visited at the home of Mr. George Baker last week. His many friends were glad to see him again.

Mrs. Richard Miller has returned from her trip to the West.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! It coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of his little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Mr. George Baker, who has secured a mail route, intends moving to Mr. Dan Strang's house across the river.

Warkenton

While speeding to catch the south-bound train on Monday morning, with his daughter, who attends the Harrison High school, and while entering the station yard at Ayrton, where he resides, Dr. B. H. Fortune, brother of Dr. A. G. Fortune of Warkenton, met with a serious accident when his car skidded and turned turtle, throwing out his daughter, who escaped little the worse for the mishap. The doctor was pinned beneath the car and when released it was found he was seriously injured, several ribs being broken. He is still unconscious, but it is fully expected he will recover.

Now that contracts for nearly a million dollars worth of saddles and bridles are being placed in Canada for the use of the allied armies at the front, a share-holder in the Canada Saddlery Factory here suggests that the local concern might work in on a slice of this trade by getting after the firms who are being awarded the contracts, and supply them with the necessary saddlery hardware for the work. Two prizes is worth striving for and the wheels might soon be busily revolving here turning out buckles, etc., if the thing was properly pushed.

Harold Godfrey and Leo Herrington, two Midway youths were each fined $3.00 and costs, or a total assessment of $5.00 a piece, by Magistrate James Tilton in Warkenton last week for giving cigarette stubs to the 1-year old son of Peter Snor of Midway. The father claimed that the accused pair pushed the cigarette stubs in his child's mouth and said that the boy got sick and was unable to eat for a few days. The story, however, told by the defendants was different. They stated that the boy begged the butts of their cigarettes from them and that they gave them to him. As this, itself, was an infraction of the law by supplying minors with tobacco, the Warkenton court had to accuse him and assessed them as above.

Hugh McKerracher returned this week from Scotland, where he has been officiating as Canadian Immigration Agent in the Highlands. The war has entirely absorbed Old Scotland's interests and the only kind of immigrating done there now is to the front where, Scotland's sons are upholding the traditions of the land of the heather and adding new laurels to this great warrior race. Mr. McKerracher expects to spend the winter in Canada.

Rev. Geo. Mason, who has been pastor of the Gargill and Pinkerton Presbyterian churches for the past three years has accepted a call to the Harrison church. Mr. Mason will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday November 1st.

Chesley

On Monday morning Dr. A. G. Fortune of Ayrton was driving his auto at a lively rate to catch the train at Ayrton to send his daughter Loosely to Harrison H. S. when the car suddenly left the highway at a point near the station and overturned. Dr. Fortune was pinned to the ground and his daughter might have been instantly killed had the car not come open, and she was able to get out safely. She ran to the station for help and the train hands came and lifted the car off her father who was carried home and medical help promptly summoned. It was found three of his ribs were broken and one of his shoulders were badly bruised. Mr. Wm. Cassels went down on Tuesday to see his son-in-law and he reports that there are no evidences of internal trouble and now that Dr. Herrington has returned to conduct his recovery will be speedy as he is a man in the prime of life and was in the perfect health before the accident occurred. It was certainly a close call.

B. S. Halliday returned on Monday from a seven week's business trip through Manitoba and Saskatchewan as far as Regina. He reports business conditions as only fairly good in the west. S. B. McKelvie has been engaged as manager of the Mount Forest Woolen Mills. As he was in the woolen business from when he was 17 till he turned 46, he should know all there is to know in a woolen factory, and he does. Mr. McKelvie moved his family to Mount Forest this week.

Nonnie Chesley are reported from the Labor bureau, the men having all succeeded in securing jobs. The council did a wise act in opening up work that men could avail themselves of when they could not secure work elsewhere, and while the wages offered seem small, yet everyone recognizes that every little helps. It is to be hoped that conditions will remain favorable to labor, and that Chesley will be one of the bright spots in Ontario this winter.

Our townsmen Samuel Miller, has bought the Nicholson farm on 4th of Arran. It is well north of Invermay, and will move to the new premises in March. Mr. Miller has almost recovered from his recent illness and is able to be out again. Mr. and Mrs. D. Jenkins will move with Mr. and Mrs. Miller to the farm. Chesley will lose worthy citizens by their removal.

On Friday last week Mike Thompson, one of Chesley's big drivers, bought W. H. Patterson's farm lot 31, con. D. Elderly, beside his horse and implements. Mr. Thompson is now the owner of 300 acres and is the largest land proprietor in Elderslie. Mr. Patterson has not yet made up his mind whether he will go farming again or into some business in Chesley or some nearby town.

Owen Sound

Mr. H. G. Tucker has been advised by the Attorney General of his appointment to act as Crown Counsel at the Fall sessions at Warkenton, which opens on Tuesday, November 10th.

The manufacture of Owen Sound will make an effort to land some of the large orders which are being placed in this country for army supplies by the British and French Governments. Yesterday a meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade was held, and the matter was discussed. It was decided that the Board act with the individual bus-ness men to getting them in touch with the purchase agent for the British and French Government, which were expected to arrive in Ottawa on Sunday. Mr. W. S. Middlebro, M. P., was present, and stated that he had already written on behalf of several manufacturers at their own request. It was arranged that he should place a complete list of the local concerns and their products in the hands of the Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and at the same time secure a list of the requirements of the Armies which are to be ordered in this country. Mr. Middlebro used the wire freely yesterday in getting in touch with the proper parties in Ottawa and it is possible that a despatch may visit the capital in the interests of local concerns. Large orders have been placed in Canada for supplies with the result that many industries are getting 24 hours a day. It is to be hoped that some of the business will be diverted to Owen Sound concerns and help to keep things busy this winter.

"It is just 50 years ago to-day that I arrived in Owen Sound for the first time," said old R. B. Miller to The Sun on Saturday. Mr. Miller told of taking the old Northern Railway from Toronto to Collingwood and then taking the old steamer Ontario to Owen Sound. Mr. Miller said, "It was on a cold morning when we left Collingwood, and although we did not stop to Meaford, we did not arrive here till 8 p.m. The Ontario was a side wheeler of the most ancient type and I can remember distinctly seeing the engineer poking his head out of the boiler to keep the steam from escaping." When Mr. Miller arrived the town had about 1300 inhabitants and was without sidewalks or street improvements of any kind. His brother, Mr. J. C. Miller, of the J. H. Harrison & Sons Ltd., arrived on the same boat.

Chief Constable John McAuley, who for twenty-seven years, has been connected with the police department of Owen Sound, yesterday placed his resignation in the hands of the council. The chief, last winter, took a paralytic stroke, and at that time, thought of resigning but was persuaded to wait in the hope that he would regain his former health and strength. Although he has officially retired, he still acts as chief for some time, he felt that the responsibility and worry of his office was retarding his recovery and he accordingly resigned. The veteran chief has many friends in Owen Sound who will miss his familiar figure on the streets and at the police office. His successor, Constable Foxworth is a capable officer and his appointment will meet with general approval.

The C. P. R. liner Alberta, Capt. Frank Davis, arrived on Wednesday, a ship at 9:30 from Port McNicoll. She had a load of 1000 tons of flour and sacks to unload here and took on a hundred and fifty tons of miscellaneous freight, largely garden produce and apples, making her cargo of four hundred for her up trip. Since her visit here three weeks ago the Alberta made four trips, one of these being made in four and a half days. As it was true that any of C. P. R. liners would winter here, Capt. Davis said that while there had been some talk some time ago of some of the vessels going into winter quarters here, there was not much prospect of that now. The boats are not running on any schedule at present but are clearing from each and as quickly as their cargoes are taken aboard. Navigation will close about the last week in November.

Gus Helberg convicted before magistrate Cresser in the Police Court this morning for selling liquor without a license and was sentenced to four months in jail at hard labor. Gus, however, did not show up when his name was called but pleaded not guilty. The opening of the wine signal for some fireworks between the license inspector Becker and Mr. Tucker, who proceeded to exchange opinions regarding each other's personal merits or demerits. This interchange of courtesies was cut short by the magistrate, who ordered them to proceed with the case. The magistrate, the evidence, the magistrate convicted Helberg and as this is a second offence, the latter having been fined $200 and cost, for selling only a short time ago, sentenced him to four months in jail.

The river dock is a very busy place these days. ## An Extraordinary Stove for Three Reasons

APART from its splendid workmanship and material—there are three points to a Gurney Oxford that make it an extraordinary stove. The first is a point in fuel economy

The fire rests on specially designed grates. The air gets at the fire and the fire burns the air. The fire gets lots to breathe. The coal burns with a snap—gives off abundance of heat and leaves no wasteful clinkers.

The second is a point in economy and comfort. The Gurney-Oxford Economizer (not to be had on any other stove) is a simple handle that regulates the fire. When the fire is not in use, turn the handle to notch No. 6 and it goes down to a spark but never goes out. Turn to notch No. 1 and almost immediately the fire is bright and hot again.

The third point is one of vital importance, because it means "results." Running from the fire box to the oven, and over and around it, is a system of divided flues. The Gurney-Oxford oven is as hot as the front as at the back. Everything entrusted to the Gurney-Oxford oven is properly, thoroughly cooked—and this point, perhaps more than any other, has made the Gurney-Oxford famous.

We not only want you to read of these features—we want to show you the stove itself and explain its simplicity, its construction, its advantages. It is its own best advertisement. We are anxious that you should see it.

On Wednesday an Owen Sound team composed of Messrs. Wilkinson, Roger, Moffat, and Batchelor played here for it, but the writer returned it in a game, the final score being 17 to 14. This afternoon a Warkenton team will try to lift the trophy.

It's Great To Be A Farmer.

It is a great thing to be a farmer—in a farmer. No matter what happens it farmer's work will always be needed.

At the necessities of life are concerned he need not worry, and after all, does not need much more? He can be sure food, shelter and clothing at all times and in all ages that has proven the kin of wealth. Unless war overruns his field and destroys his crops, cattle and buildings he is beyond the reach of want, and even if this does happen he can soon remove what he has lost. Another good thing harvest will put him on his feet again.

It is well to have these facts in mind at the present time when governments and business organizations are so completely bewildered by the calamity that has overtaken them. Whatever may be worrying the farmer need not worry. He may see some of his lowly position in the time of today is to all intents and purposes educated man. He can read and write and think for himself. Moreover he is free man, jealous of the rights of freedom

VON FALKENHAYN IS CHIEF.

German War Minister Takes Place of Count Von Moltke.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Rome correspondent of the Havas Agency says that according to dispatches received in Rome from Berlin, Major-General Erich Von Falkenhayn, the German Minister of War, has been appointed chief of the General Staff, succeeding Gen. Helmuth von Moltke, who is ill.

Advices from Amsterdam state that Gen. Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the German General Staff, is in a dying condition, and has been started for his home in Berlin on a litter.

Whether or not this is the reason for the change in staffs is open to doubt, but circumstantial stories have been current for some time to the effect that Von Moltke has been suffering from a grave affection of the liver ever since war broke out, and that campaign conditions have brought about complications which make his life a matter of weeks.

GERMANS GAIN NOTHING.

Every Attempt to Break Lines Results in Heavy Loss.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The following official information was given out by the French War Office last night: "In Belgium, Nieuport has been violently bombarded, and the effort of the Germans has continued on the front between Nieuport and Dixmude, without, according to the latest advices, any result whatever having been reached."

"All the front comprised between La Bassée and the Somme has been equally the object of violent attacks at night, all of which have been repulsed."

"On the remainder of the front there is nothing to report."
The official communiqué of the French War Office, issued yesterday afternoon, says: "During the day of yesterday (Sunday) our front along the general line between Nieuport and Dixmude was maintained. The German force which crossed the Yser between these two towns has not been able to progress."

"Our front has held also in the region between Ypres and Roulers, between Armentières and Lille, to the west of La Bassée and Lens, and to the east of Arras. This line is continued to the south by the line which already has been indicated in these official communications. During the fighting of recent days the enemy seems to have sustained considerable losses."

"In Russia, to the west of the Vistula and to the north of the Pilica river, the Germans have been captured at the point of the bayonet by the Russians."

"To the south of the Pilica, in the direction of Radom, there has been a lively engagement between the Russians and the Austro-Germans, who lost prisoners and cannon."

"To the south of Soloe, the Russian troops crossed the Vistula by main force, driving the Austrians back. On the River San, and to the south of Przemyśl, there have occurred stubborn combats resulting favorably to the Russians. An Austrian column debouching from the Carpathians on Dolina (in Galicia, 22 miles to the south of Stry) was routed."

Brindilla Allowed to Sail.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The British Government, satisfied after an examination of the innocence of the destination of her cargo, has ordered the release of the American oil tank steamer Brindilla, which will be permitted to proceed from Halifax to Alexandria. The question of the transfer of the vessel from the German flag to the flag of the United States will not be raised by the Government.

The Brindilla, which was carrying a cargo of illuminating oil, was seized by the British cruiser Carons on Oct. 19.

ECZEMA Has Stayed Cured For 15 YEARS

Wonderful Testimony From a Well-known Peterboro' Man Who Suffered for Thirty Years.

His Legs Were Covered With Eczema Down to the Knees—Perfectly Raw.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT CURED HIM.

The Ketchesons are well-known as pioneer settlers of Hastings county, and none of them probably has a wider acquaintance than Mr. W. D. Ketcheson, who was formerly Division Court Bailiff of the Trenton Court. He is now living at 88 Douro street, Peterboro', Ont.

Over fifteen years ago Mr. Ketcheson was cured of an extremely severe case of eczema and piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment, and he writes now to say that the cure proved a permanent one.

In 1897 Mr. Ketcheson wrote as follows:—"I was troubled for thirty years with itching piles and eczema. I could not sleep at night, and when I got warm the itching was terrible. Eczema covered my legs down to the knees, perfectly raw. I have tried every preparation I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. I procured a box, and this ointment effected a complete cure."

On Sept. 28th, 1912, Mr. Ketcheson wrote as follows:—"I received a letter from you in the day, saying that you found on file a statement made by me 15 years ago. I have always given it. This ointment a great many times it cured me, and shall tell you how I came to use it. I had suffered for many years from eczema and piles, and had tried doctors and everything I could hear of in vain. Hearing about Dr. Chase's Ointment, I purchased it at once, and was soon completely cured. That was fifteen years ago, so there can be no doubt of the cure being a permanent one. I have met a great many people who have been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Editorial

TALK about good times. Shake off the night mare.

MEAFORD may open their public library on Sundays.

THE knitting mill at Listowel is obliged to enlarge its capacity.

WORK on the new G.T.R. station at Owen Sound will begin next spring.

THE Hon. G. P. Graham recently said that he would rather own a good farm in Ontario than have any job he knew of.

ONE thing is apparently too true, that while we have factories we have none which can handle any of the orders that the Allies are placing in Canada.

THE Pope, who is striving for peace, hopes that within two months "Christmas joy will reign in all countries". He is probably a little to optimistic.

SIR Robert Borden is determined to preserve his health and is off on a trip to the South. In this respect he shows wisdom for overwork has killed many public men.

PATRIOTIC concerts have rightly been popular and well supported, but it will not be wise to overdo it. What is now needed are bags of oats potatoes and made to wear articles for the Red Cross society.

IN driving through the country this fall we saw large fields of corn, and we remembered that a number of years ago when The Echo advocated its use, there was very little grown in this district. One thing is certain, that the farmers here now rely very largely upon it for feed for their stock.

FOR the past month the war news has been practically the same every day. If we are to judge the future by the present, the war is to be one of long duration. It has been said that Germany can be starved into submission, but the government of that country claims that by limiting the acreage of sugar beet they can grow all the food supplies they will require.

LAST week we called attention to an Indian Medicine man who did quite a business here on a Saturday night. There is one point that we overlooked which needs to be pressed home. Here in Warton we have four drug stores, which with stocks would be worth say more than $30,000, and these drug stores pay taxes, and help in every way towards the upkeep of the town. Why then should a travelling medicine man be patronized by the public? Why should we not respect investment? Of course our by-laws should not permit this traffic, that is the law should be so high that it would be practically prohibitive. But the people should have nothing to do with these strangers.

THE one man who has no kick coming is the farmer. He has had good crops, good prices and the best of weather to do his work. He should be happy. Quite recently a farmer near town was offered $500 each for five yearlings and he would not sell. This tells the tale. There is abundant prosperity on the Ontario farm to day and the last man to talk about hard times is the farmer. The mechanic is at the mercy of economic conditions, but everything is coming the way of the farmer.

A NUMBER of years ago the council of that day bought a stone crusher at a big expense, which has been more or less of an ornament. Later the council of another day built a dock costing $800, for coal for the pumping house, but it was never used. The councillors who voted for these things thought they were necessary. An expensive fire alarm system in this town would probably be as useless in a short time and the fact remains now that our taxes are quite high—and they may go higher.

WE have some eye sores in Warton. They are the walls of burnt buildings which have been standing for years and as there is no demand for these jobs they may stand for years to come unless the owners can be compelled to clean up the grounds of allowing a nuisance.

The J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" Co.

There are few more popular theatrical attractions on the road than the J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" Company, which will be seen in the town hall Warton, Saturday evening, November 7th.

This company, although billed under its old title is nevertheless presenting a brand new performance from the rise to the final fall of the curtain. This season Mr. Rockwell claims to have the newest, freshest and most artistic and thoroughly equipped colored show ever sent out. He backs his claim and attracts public attention by presenting a musical performance that has original ideas and up-to-the-minute novelties than any similar organization.

As on its former visits it will be found to be clean to a fault and during the entire performance there is not a line, an action or an intimation to which exception can be taken. The fun which will be handed over the footlights, is all new and needs no arrow to point the way to the laughs. It is bristling with new, novel, and entertaining features and it is bristling with laughable situations, charming musical numbers and excellent specialties, which will make the audience sit up and take notice. It is a musical show, welded to the most tuneful music one would care to listen to, full of ginger and life with not a dull moment from beginning to end.

A good sprinkling of new songs has been made in the performance and with the atmosphere being of the sort where the audience leaves the theater whistling the latest song hits, the engagement can be looked forward to with much pleasure by those who attend the theater to laugh and enjoy themselves.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The band will head the "Kootenay" parade, taking place at noon. The prices of admission have been placed at 75 and 50 cents. Seats are now selling at Sawyer's Drug store.

A Women's Right to Health No Reason Why They Should Suffer from Headaches and Backaches

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active, happy life, yet nine out of ten suffer, often in silence, from splitting headaches, torturing back aches, violent heart palpitation or some other of the many evils that follow anemic, or bloodless life.

That is why one sees so many women with pale, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping feature—sure signs that the blood is out of order. All suffering women should win the right to be well by refreshing their weary bodies with the new, rich blood of health that promptly transforms them into healthy, attractive women. There is no other medicine that can supply this new, rich blood so quickly and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Through this medicine thousands of tired suffering women have found health and strength. Mrs. James Drost, Chippewa, N. B., says: "For years I did not know what it was to be entirely free from headache and backache. My hands were cold and clumsy all the time. It was difficult for me to get my work done, and to walk even a short distance would leave me completely worn out. My life was one of constant worry and I thought I would never be better. I was doctoring all the time but without any benefit, and finally the doctor stopped giving me medicine as he said he could not help me. I do wonder that I was in despair. My mother urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I said 'what's the use, medicine can't help me.' However, my mother got me some of the pills, and to please him I began to take them. My time I had finished, suddenly health had improved and there was the signs of returning health in my cheeks and hands. My husband thought the improvement so great that he got another half dozen boxes, and before these were completed I was enjoying such good health as I have not had in years. In fact, I was a well woman, and have since enjoyed the best of health. I sincerely feel that I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and shall always recommend them to all sick people."

You can get these pills at any medicine dealer, or they will be sent, by mail, postpaid, at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" Co.

That uncommonly strong combination of colored talent known as the J. C. Rockwell "Sunny South" company, the show that never disappoints, the one that never misrepresents, is announced to appear in the town hall Warton, Saturday evening November 7th.

This company has been seen here several times and they have made good every promise, delivering the goods just as advertised. As on its former visits it will be found to be clean to a fault and during the entire performance is not a line an action nor an intimation to which exception can be taken.

There is every ingredient of gaiety and melody and it is illuminated with an Ohio top-notch and entertaining vaudeville stunts, such as are seldom seen outside of the larger cities. From first to last it will be found absolutely new and up-to-the-minute in every detail.

It will be found over the footlights, is all new and needs no arrow to point the way to the laughs. It is snappy, gingery, entertaining and well calculated to drive away the blues.

Mr. Rockwell does not believe in putting the greater part of his salary allowing into one or two acts.

This explains why the performance is so superior through the employment of cheaper ones, which always disgust the experienced patron, but he has found that the expenditure of money for the purpose of making each act and detail complete pays twice over in the box receipts.

This explains why the performances given by this company are always up-to-the-second and sends the audience home whistling happy and contented. The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra.

The "Kootenay" parade takes place at noon. The prices of admission have been placed at 35 and 50 cents. Seats are now selling at Sawyer's Drug Store.

The first work to be done here, is the packing of a box or boxes of warm clothing to be sent to the Belgian people who are in need of such articles. A home to home campaign will be made by the ladies in charge, and warm clothing of any kind will be very welcome. It is hoped that ladies of all towns will respond liberally to the call, for in nearly all our houses there are some pretty worn articles which the sufferers would be glad to have.

DRIVEN WITH BAYONET

Germans Have Been Pressed
Back 75 Miles from Warsaw.

Precipitate Flight of Kaiser's Armies
From Capital of Russian Poland
Continues and Many Guns and Men Have Been Captured by the Victorious Russians — Austrian Resistance is Weakening.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—In the eastern sense of operations the Russians continue a successful offensive against the Austro-Germanic armies in Poland and Galicia. The flight of the Germans from before Warsaw and German retreat continues, and latest despatches indicate that the enemy has now fallen back seventy-five miles from Warsaw, driven with the bayonet from every place where he endeavored to check the Russian advance.

An official despatch from Petrograd, issued yesterday afternoon, says:

"The precipitate flight of the German continues. They are seventy-five miles west-southwest of Warsaw. They made an unsuccessful attempt to arrest the offensive Russian movement by throwing to positions at Sokolow, from which, however, they were dislodged with heavy losses."

Last night the following Russian official despatch was received:

"The combat upon the routes leading to Piotrkow and Radom have assumed the character of a great battle, of which the front extends over thirty miles, from Rawa to Nowomiesko and Bialobrzeg as far as the mouth of the River Bzura."

"The evening of Oct. 24 north of Rawa we attacked the Germans at the point of the bayonet, inflicting upon them considerable losses. In the village of Morchidlo alone we buried over seven hundred Germans."

"In a bayonet combat near the village of Maszowice we captured two batteries of machine guns."

"Our troops command the forest of Nemigro, southeast of Rawa, where we took over 400 prisoners. In the forest between Radom and Koszulin tenacious combat continues."

"We have progressed along the routes from Nowa to Aleksandria, where we captured numerous prisoners and cannon."

"The stubborn resistance of the Austrians in Galicia is weakening and our troops are making vigorous progress in the region south of Sambor and Starnomiesko, where we took 11 cannons and many rifles."

"The entire valley of the River Stryka is covered with bodies of the enemy, estimated to aggregate at least 5,000."

"All attempts by the Germans to resume a partial offensive on the eastern Prussian front have been repelled."

An Austrian report from Vienna claims that northeast of Przemysl and on the lower San the Austrians have had several successes."

Germans Claim Victory.
BERLIN, Oct. 27.—An official report yesterday says:

"In the eastern theatre of the war our offensive on Augustus is progressing. The battle near Ivangorod is favorable, but till now there has been no decision."

CANADA IS SAFE.

Germans Had No Intention of Attacking Dominion Says Ambassador.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Although Germany continues to threaten, by sending troops against Germany, has violated the spirit of the Monroe doctrine, Germany has no intention of attacking Canada nor attempting to colonize the Dominion, according to this statement issued here yesterday by the German embassy.

"The German point of view is that by joining in a European war Canada has put herself outside of the pale of the Monroe doctrine. But Germany has not the intention of attacking Canada, nor colonizing Canada."

"The statement was in amplification of the view expressed by Count von Dierstorff, the German ambassador, that by taking part in the war, the Canadians had justified an aggressive campaign against themselves."

RECOVERY DOUBTFUL.

Kaiser's Youngest Son Has Partial Paralysis as Result of Shock.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 27.—It is learned in Berlin that the German medical authorities attending Prince Oscar, son of Emperor William, regard his recovery as doubtful.

The young prince is suffering from partial paralysis of the pneumogastric nerve, and his brain has become affected. His condition is believed to have been caused by the shock of having all his officers killed by Turks in the fighting near the Meuse.

Professor Predicts Long War.
OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—Prof. Masao Kame of the Imperial University of Kyoto, Japan, who is here on his way back to Japan after a trip around the world, was in Paris when the war broke out. Having visited Holland, Sweden and Denmark afterwards, and seen how Germany was getting munitions of war and other supplies from them, he says that he is convinced the war will be a prolonged one.

He stated also that Russia for some time had been buying large numbers of rifles, field artillery and siege guns from Japan.

Martits Defeated.
CAPE CORVO, Oct. 27.—It is officially announced that the rebel Lt.-Col. Martits, and his forces have been completely defeated at Kakama, in the Gouernio, district of Bechuanaland, by Union of South Africa troops. Lt.-Col. Martits was wounded in the engagement and fled to German territory, according to the statement.

MET WALL OF TROOPS.

German Passage of the Year Arrived
The Week.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The smashing tactics of the Germans along the North Sea coastline continued incessantly, when the big guns were turned on Newport, and the allies had to withstand constant attacks of masses of troops. Very little progress, however, was made by the Germans yesterday, who were faced with the strongest resistance.

Sunday's crossing of the Year apparently had only a moral effect as the Germans were confronted by solid lines of allied troops, and were prevented from advancing without overwhelming efforts further toward the Channel ports. The character of the country prohibits a rapid movement as the land is cut up by canals, and the strong series of defensive works separates them from Dunkirk.

The German infantry executed a number of night attacks, not only on the extreme wing but also in the vicinity of Lille, where they encountered a most obstinate resistance. The allies are displaying wonderful energy in this region. The commanders are sparing their men many hardships and are able to give constant relief to the troops on the firing line.

When they come from the frontier for a rest the troops are accommodated in the numerous villages scattered in the rear, where they seem to throw off all feeling engendered by the critical situation and play cards, dominoes and other games in the cafes until the bugles call them together for a further spell of fighting. Then they go forward cheerfully to the inferno, where they must face the shrapnel and machine guns, bidding "good-bye" to the comrades, whose places they are taking.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Forty-five Yukoners arrived in Vancouver yesterday in charge of Andrew Hart to join the second war contingent.

In semi-official Liberal circles at Ottawa it is stated that there will be no opposition to the election of Hon. T. O. Casgrain in Quebec County. Sir Adam Beck has called an order of the day for the famous trial which won prizes at the Olympic Show, to Gen. Alderson, commander of the Canadian army.

Chief Newton of Belleville's police force, while engaged in picking apples in his garden, fell from a ladder, breaking three ribs and sustaining other painful injuries.

Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, who was on trial in Mineola, N. Y., all last week for the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, was released on $25,000 bail by Justice Kelly in the King's County Supreme Court in Brooklyn, yesterday.

The Belgian relief committee in Montreal have received in cash up to date $145,085.53. This does not include a subscription of $15,000 from the Province of Ontario, and several other large amounts which have been promised but not yet received.

The Chinese Foreign Office has demanded the surrender of a Japanese torpedo boat with its crew, which entered Chinese waters and substituted the Japanese flag for the Chinese dragon and attempted to do away with the wrecked German torpedo boat, S90.

7,000,000 FACE FAMINE.

American Minister to Belgium Says
Only Two Weeks' Supply.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 27.—(By way of London.) Nearly 7,000,000 people in Belgium face famine unless they receive help from the outside at once. The American Minister to Belgium says that Belgium's weekly supply of food remains in the cities, while conditions in the country districts are even worse. Though Germany has helped the Belgians in some respects for her soldiers, she still declines responsibility for feeding over 100,000 of the needy in Brussels. Famine, however, is not the only thing that is threatening the Belgians. Their servants because they are bankrupt. Noblemen may be seen slipping into the soup kitchens.

Reports received by the United States Minister from Louvain, Liege and Namur say that the conditions in these cities are even worse than they are in Brussels. Louvain has only a four-day's supply of flour, while Liege has no flour at all.

The meat and milk supplies also have been cut off, the army having taken the cattle.

Belgians of all classes appear heartbroken. Old women and cripples may be seen sitting near their shattered homes in Malines, nodding mutely at the cathedral with its shattered windows and tottering walls, damaged beyond repair by shells. Similar conditions are found in the small villages between Antwerp and Brussels. Few stores are open. Those attempting to re-establish their homes and their roofs, which have been pierced by shells, no protection from the rain that is now falling every day. The biggest and best near-contested forts were literally razed, yet many of the inhabitants remain living in rudely constructed sheds or tents.

GOVERNMENT LOAN TO RAILWAY.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Official announcement is made of a loan of $5,000,000 by the Dominion Government to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway now under construction from Vancouver to Fort George. The loan will be repaid by the railway until the bonds can be sold in the old country. The railway is guaranteed by the Provincial Government, and the work is two-thirds completed.

MANY ALLIES NATURALIZED.
OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—When the High Court opened yesterday, a number of 143 aliens who are desirous of becoming British subjects were called, and there being no objections, they were naturalized by the court. The list was longer than has ever been presented at an Ottawa court. A large proportion of the applicants were Germans.

mense Loss—Desertion of Ostend Likely—Allies Succeed Elsewhere.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The allies still hold their positions along the line between Dinmude and Nieupoort, and are effectually retarding the German offensive north of Ypres.

The crossing of the Year has apparently marked the end of the German advance there, although a battle is now going on in that region and both sides have rushed reinforcements there.

Reports from Holland indicate that the Germans are preparing to evacuate Ostend, and are making extensive preparations in Antwerp, as though anticipating a siege there.

The allies have been successful in fierce fighting in the vicinity of Lillie.

That the German advance along the Channel coast is well over the Year river at present, since on Dinmude and Nieupoort, but has been unable to make any further progress, is the result of the great German drive in Flanders. Reports from other parts of the 300-mile front are entirely favorable to the allies, and it is said now that the French have succeeded in driving the Germans out of the Argonne forest, penetrating as far as the Village of Metzcourt, effectually splitting the armies of the German army in two. On the east of the Argonne and the forces of the Duke of Wurtemberg on the west.

In spite of the heroic efforts of the Kaiser's armies, the drive southward from Flanders to Dunkirk and Calais seems destined to perish midway after a series of battles, and with nothing to show for the enterprise, not even a moral advantage. First the Belgians and later the French have frustrated each new attempt to strike a decisive blow. The Flanders coast line from Ostend to the French border, by a distance of three miles inland, is free of the Germans, driven away from the ocean's fringe by the tremendous fire of the allied warships. But the invaders have planted artillery that commands every available approach for a flanking force from the naval contingent, and for the present a landing will not be attempted.

After ten days of the most stubborn fighting the Germans forced a passage of the Year to the district lying from six to ten miles inland, and they are believed to hold the whole of the district for a stretch of about five miles. This, of course, was sufficient to permit bringing troops across the river in force. The Belgians are now making an assault of the Germans on the Belgian lines, when great masses of infantry and hundreds of heavy guns co-operated, is believed to have occurred early on Sunday morning.

With the Belgians falling back in good order and contesting every foot of ground, British reinforcements reached their lines by noon Sunday, when the defence immediately stiffened and halted. A few hours' later French infantry arrived in large numbers, and a re-offensive movement was started that has completely checked the German drive, and which has hemmed them in on two sides with the River Year behind and a solid defensive before them. A part of their forces are said to have been cut off by flying columns of French infantry, with a tremendous loss of life and many prisoners to the Germans. In fact, the number of killed and wounded in the great Flanders contest is far greater than either at the battle of the Marne or the Marne. Sunday's conflicts were characterized by many bayonet charges, in which the French and British more than sustained their reputation, never failing to gain ground after their heart-breaking rushes in the face of a despoiling fire from rifles and machine guns.

From Ypres to Roulers an action only less violent than that between Dinmude and Nieupoort is under way. It is significant that all four of the towns named and all cardinal points, are held by the allies.

Lille is another vortex in the kaleidoscopic battle front. Here the Germans have fought with desperate resolution to hold the French advance but without reward. British and French troops hold many points of vantage around the city and every attempt to upset their progress has so far failed.

Armentieres also remains securely in the hands of the Franco-Belgian forces. The Kaiser's commands are failing fruitlessly in an attempt to dialogue them. The town commands communication lines vital to the Germans and its occupation by the allies has stopped troop movements of vast importance.

Preparing to Retreat?
LONDON, Oct. 27.—The correspondent of The Times at Rotterdam sends the following:

"It is clear that the Germans are putting Antwerp in a state of defence in most of the important forts the Belgian guns have been replaced with German fortress artillery of the largest type."

"The bridge between Antwerp and Pays de Waes, which the retreating Belgians crossed yesterday, has been replaced. Evidently the Germans are preparing a line of retreat from the Ostend-Dinmude line."

Mine Sweeper Blown Up.
LONDON, Oct. 27.—A Times' despatch from Liege states that the mine sweeper, which was engaged in sweeping mines from the Baltic, struck a mine fifteen miles from Liege and was sunk. Only one of her crew was drowned.

An Amazing Recovery.

The writer estimated that there were 1,000 Germans and only 90 British. The British losses were the one man killed by a shell and five wounded by rifle fire. The German losses could not have been less than 100, for the next morning there were 90 bodies lying in front of the British trenches. How the soldiers could endure the stench from the bodies amazed the correspondent. The dead and wounded had to lie where they fell, for the opposing trenches were not more than 100 yards apart, and neither by night nor day could an attempt be made to remove them. One remarkable incident he records. A big haystack between the lines caught fire, and the bodies of the dead and even some of the wounded were

Newspaper Man in British Trenches

What is said to be the first actual account of the fighting as seen by a non-combatant in the British trenches is sent to the New York World from a staff correspondent published in the Boston Globe. After the exercises of remarkable ingenuity and no little mendacity this newspaperman was able to get right on the firing line, despite the stringent rules against it, and fortunately came through all right and returned to London with his vivid story. In the course of his story, of course, he had to omit from his account all names of villages, towns, companies, army units and movements. He is permitted to say, however, that the night he saw, a night attack on the part of the Germans, took place on the 14th.

For two weeks the correspondent had been trying to get on the firing line, but was always kept four or five miles behind. Finally he succeeded in getting through and found that the war he came to the front the loss was the difficulty of advancing.

No Nerves Left.

He found the company of British with whom he was to spend the night, and numbering about 90 men, in a little sort of rabbit warren, the dug-out, shot holes in which the men rested and slept when not in the trenches. The Tommies paid no attention to shells either. Later on it was explained to him that as they had been fighting for a couple of months their nerves had ceased to react to ordinary sensations. It was like drawing the nerve from a tooth. It was late in the afternoon when the correspondent reached the front, and he perceived a lieutenant that it would be safer for him to remain overnight in the trenches than attempt to make his way through the rear, and run the risk of being shot by a sentry. So he took up his position as night fell in the trenches, which had been held all day by one body of men, who were then being relieved by the night shift.

Bravery of Officers.

Before going to their work the men had a good feed, and then, under the command of the lieutenant they settled down to await the onset of the enemy, who had the advantage of approaching on a slight down grade. It was about nine o'clock when the attack was made. In the course of it he observed the lieutenant more than once expose more than half his body from the trench, being done, as the correspondent thought, as an example to the men. On one occasion, when the shells began to burst quite near, the lieutenant stood up right beside the trench and remarked easily: "They haven't found us yet, have they?" The shells called "coal boxes" by the British, and he holes in the ground about four feet in diameter and three feet deep. In the course of the German advance one fell in the trenches, but killed only one man. Having delivered their shells for the Germans advanced, and the writer says:—

Waiting in the Trenches.

"There they are! There they are! I could have sworn they were here," and the whisper, I perceived out cautiously, and it seemed to me at first merely at first as if the shadow of the wood had deepened.

"All along our line I could hear the rustling and rasp of leather and an occasional click, but I could also hear the air pumping out of my throat. Then I could see the shadow coming closer. 'Ready, now, wait!'

Whipped the fastest man, and the whisper ran down the line. And then 'Let them have it,' I heard. I think one man fired just before the words, but I am not certain. For the next 20 minutes it went on. Out of the lieutenant gave the orders to fire the German line seemed to stop. It was quite compact, just as I was told by everyone who ever faced it that it would be. For an instant the dark decided me into thinking it was drawing back. Then it came on—I was going to say it rushed, but it did not. Its movements seemed to me astonishingly slow."

Distribution of Seed Grain and Potatoes

By instructions of the honorable Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sort of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (about five pounds), white wheat (about four pounds), barley (about five pounds) and feed peas (about five pounds). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes (in three pounds samples) will be carried on from several of the experimental farms, the central farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free by mail.

Applicants must give particulars in regard to the soil on their farms, and some account of their experience with such kind of grain (or potatoes) as they have grown, so that a promising sort for their conditions may be selected.

Each application must be separate and must be signed by the applicant. Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. If both samples are asked for in the same letter only one will be sent. Applications on any kind of printed form cannot be accepted.

As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early, but the applications will not necessarily be filled in the exact order in which they are received. Preference will always be given to the most thoughtful and explicit requests. Applications received after the end of January will probably be too late.

All applications for grain (and applications from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec for potatoes) should be addressed to the Dominion Cereals, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Such applications require no postage. If otherwise addressed delay and disappointment may occur.

Applications for potatoes, from farmers in any other province should be addressed (postage prepaid) to the superintendent of the nearest branch experimental farm so that province.

J. H. GHISDALE,
Director Dominion Experimental Farms.

There were two Owen Sounders in town last Friday, and they spread out ten many sheets to the wind. One gave the other a shove on the sidewalk and down he went, and as a result cut his scalp. However a few stitches brought the gap together and he went home the next morning considerably wiser, and it would be better for us if this class would remain in their own town.

All the stock dealers got stung last week. Stock took a tumble in price and those who had big shipments in Toronto came home wiser and poorer men, almost vowing that they would not handle the stuff again. Eight hundred acres of brook trout. This preserve will be the property of the Hydro-Electricity Commission, power plant at Englehart Falls on the Beaver River in Arctomina township, Grey county. The Hydro has bought 1600 acres of land, and the half will be flooded. A brick house, on high dry land, will remain; it may become a club house. Any fishing of course, will be on permit, and regulations will be drafted by the Hydro Commission. The object of the half million dollar hydro project is to generate 8000 horse power by the spawning beds of the brook trout will be protected. It would be a sin to neglect such a piscatorial treasure-trove. Markdale Standard.

Death of Robert Greenlees.

On Tuesday morning death came to Robert Greenlees one of the oldest pioneers of this district, who had reached the advanced age of 88 years and 2 months. On August 22 last his wife predeceased him and so they had been married 64 years it was only natural to suppose that he would not survive her very long. They had lived so long together that the loss of his life's companion must have hastened the end. In 1854 he came from Scotland and settled in Montreal, where he remained 3 years, afterwards he moved to Toronto, where he lived 5 years. Then not being well and this district being put on the market he came here in 1857 and endured all the hardships incidental to pioneer life. For many years he was engaged in business and was well and favorably known to the whole country. He had a most affable manner, and will be much missed by a large circle of friends. Interment takes place to-morrow afternoon at Bayview Cemetery. The surviving members of the family are Messrs Robert and John Bismore, Mrs Kirkland, Mrs McKinney, Mrs Baines Miss Jennie Greenlees and Miss May Greenlees.

A Keppel Pioneer Dead

The death of another of the pioneers of Keppel township occurred on Tuesday Oct 27 when Mr John Skinn passed away at the home of his daughter Mrs Blue of Palmerston. He was born in Dorsetshire England 78 years ago, and came to Canada with his wife in the spring of 1861 when he settled on lot 31 Colpoys Range where he ever since resided on his farm. His wife predeceased him scarcely four months ago. His health had not been good for a couple of months and about a week before his death he went with his daughter to Palmerston. His death was due to heart failure and he passed peacefully away. He was held in the highest esteem by all his friends and neighbors. He leaves to mourn his loss 4 sons, George, of Guelph, Wm of Leysburn Sask, Fred of Lions Head and John on the homestead. His daughters are Mrs J. P. Weber, Mrs R. Baxter and Mrs A. Elliot all of Watrous, Sask and Mrs D. Blue of Palmerston. The pall bearers were his two brothers Wm and Thos and his three sons George, John and Fred and his son-in-law D. Bye. The funeral took place on Thursday from the family residence to North Keppel cemetery, Rev. Wallace of Kemble conducting the service. Mention might be made of a beautiful wreath from the family. The family have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

Some of the young people of Mar did not forget to tell others know Saturday was Halloween, buggies were the prize and one young man was noticed tugging his buggy off the top of a straw stack early Sunday morning.

Two large loads of oats were contributed by the farmers of this vicinity to the British Army, thus in a small way are making manifest their loyalty to the mother country whose protection means so much to each and all of us.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead?

Who never to himself hath said:

Is this my own native land?

Whose heart within bath ne'er burned

As home his footsteps he hath turned

From wandering on a foreign strand

Yes we're sorry to say there are a few of this in Mar if actions speak louder than words.

They're Now On The Home Stretch In The Race For The Player Piano.

Survey of the Field Shows Many Real Capital Prize Contenders—
And One May Win With The Last Minute Votes—How to Secure the Greatest Number of Votes for Subscription Payments.

Only a couple more weeks and the great voting contest will pass into history.

Only a couple more weeks and some lady or gentleman, will be richer by $750.00.

Only a couple more weeks and several people will be in possession of a splendid prize.

Only a couple more weeks and the suspense will be over—but during this time enough work can be done to change the positions of the leaders and make it different from what it would be if the end were to-night.

THE OUTLOOK

Perhaps there are some who can predict with a degree of accuracy who will be the winner of the $750.00 Player Piano, but the race is so close that the Contest Manager cannot even guess at the name of the winner of the Grand Prize or any of the other prizes.

It will be one of the closest contest finishes ever known in this section of Ontario.

Those who will win will not have a very big margin, while the losers will be close enough to the successful ones to take away the sting of defeat.

All the candidates, doubtless, have friends who are confident that the issue is not in doubt. There are many rumors about and developments are coming thick and fast. This much is certain, however—the candidates who expect to participate in the distribution of the prizes will have to do some hard work between now and the closing hour, if their ambitions are to be realized. Long ago the timid candidates ceased their struggles and those who remain in the race mean business.

Candidates should work on the "long term" and Combination subscriptions. The votes allowed for the two papers together are much higher or than on the straight subscriptions, also on the combination schedule subscriptions. Below you will find the Combination, and the long-term subscription schedules, steady them over—then get the subscriptions.

You all know the old adage "where there's a will there's a way". This is the by-word of many of the contestants, in the Echo's Great Circulation Campaign, and every one who will continue to bear in mind this adage, cannot help but be successful.

After this contest is over there will be the usual number of "I told you so's". It is always so easy to forecast the result of any election, after it is all over, and explain how "so-and-so" was defeated. See to it that you have nothing of this kind to reproach yourself with at the finish. Put forth every endeavor and tell your friends how much the winning of the Capital Prize will mean to you, and don't be bashful, your friends will support you if you only go and see them. Don't be discouraged because someone appears to have a big lead. What someone else has done, YOU can do. The subscriptions are to be had and YOU can get them. If you but get them. See all the people you can, and you will be surprised to see how rapidly you can get the orders. NOW IS THE TIME.

THAT SPECIAL $10 PRIZE

The Echo's special of $10 to the candidate who secures the largest number of new subscribers over 25 between Oct. 26 and the close of the contest is the object of keen competition. All the contestants are getting new subscribers, and all will probably secure more than 25, but who will secure the $10? Well, that's what you will decide.

TRIPLE VOTES FOR FIVE DAYS

Commencing to-day November 4th and continuing for five days, TRIPLE votes will be allowed on all subscriptions to the Canadian Echo and Pearson's Magazine. The vote standing which appears in another part of this page will show you the closeness of every contestants votes. This period is absolutely the best vote offer of the entire contest, on straight subscriptions. No one has such an advantage over another, that it cannot be easily changed during the TRIPLE vote offer.

This period expires Tuesday, November 10th.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGE

Owen Sound

It looks as if there would be no trouble in raising the number of men required for the 31st Regiment for the second Canadian Contingent.

Lt. Col. Chisholm received his orders on Friday, and the recruiting station was opened the same afternoon; and up to Saturday night thirty-five men had been enrolled. All but a few were from the town, as the men had heard, but wishing to get into the town district on Saturday night several young men from the surrounding townships were anxious to sign up. No reports from the outside recruiting stations in the county have been received; but it is expected that they will do so in proportion to their size.

During a heavy fog Friday morning the Canadian Pacific steamer Athabasca ran aground just above the dock at West North Channel, Sun River. The tug Sabin left at once to the scene and succeeded in getting the big liner off at noon after lightening a portion of her cargo. The Athabasca was apparently undamaged, and was able to proceed on her trip down the lake.

The home of Mr. W. Corawith, in Senawak, just outside the town limits, was totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday night. The fire started from the chimney about ten o'clock; and as there is no water supply in the vicinity, nothing could be done to save the building. Some of the contents were saved. The fireman were not called on, as the house was empty at the time, and they could not have been of much assistance in any case.

The McIntosh Tanning Co. is the only local manufacturing concern to benefit directly from the five orders which are being placed out by the purchasing agents of the British and French governments, who have been in Ottawa recently.

QUICK NAPHTHA
THE WOMAN'S SOAP

The factory is running to the fullest capacity to keep pace with the orders it has now on hand. Mr. Geo. McQuay spent a week in Ottawa where he met representatives of the different concerns which secured the contracts awarded for saddlery given out by the army buyers, and sold them larger quantities of harness leather which is the grade manufactured here. Speaking to The Sun yesterday Mr. McQuay said that there were manufacturing concerns from Vancouver to Halifax represented in Ottawa last week, and all those who could turn out goods required by the army returned with large orders. Mr. McQuay said that if the difficulty of securing hides, which is threatened at the present time, did not materialize, he would have enough on hand to keep the tannery busy for the next year.

It is a matter of satisfaction to note that every township in the county has moved in the scheme, and the farmers have taken it up cheerfully and enthusiastically almost without exception. Mr. Munier, as secretary of the joint committee, has already been notified by the agents in the different townships that 4000 bags of oats and 4000 bags of potatoes have been subscribed and he estimates that he has only had returns from about one-half of the county. In the southern townships while all have been canvassed, returns have not yet been made but it is certain they will do so as well as the other townships have done. In addition to this amount of produce, about $8000 in money has been subscribed and it has been used to purchase oats and potatoes. The village of Shallow Lake alone subscribed $50 which was used to buy potatoes, while 88 in cash, subscribed in Darby by those who had no produce to spare was used to buy oats. Settlement donated 640 bags of oats and 750 of potatoes and this is an example of what has been done in all the townships.

Chesley

Mrs. Marshall and the 12th con. E.R. left Dubuque on Monday to spend the winter with her son, Hon. Duncan Marshall in Edmonton.

This morning three Chesley boys started off for Walkerton where they will join 47 others, Bruce County's share of the second contingent and in the afternoon they leave for London where they will go in training till after Christmas when they will form part of Canada's second contingent to the front. The names of the Chesley boys who underwent strict examination at the armory in Walkerton on Tuesday before Dr. H. H. H. of Paisley, and were passed were: Bert Hancock, Harold S. Gardner, and Arthur Cunningham. Our best wishes go with these boys who will do there share in upholding the best traditions of the British army. The Enterprise will be sent to their address in London.

Last Tuesday Evg. Robert Harper of the 12th con. E.R. was driving into Tara about ten in the evening to see his father who has been ill. When entering the corporation limits he passed a driver in a single buggy who was going at a swift gait. He got safely past the first man but met and turned on the centre of the road again when he ran into the second rig driven by Arthur Russell, also of the 12th con. E.R. who was accompanied by his sisters Myrtle and Zetta. The shaft of Russell's buggy stripped the harness of Harper's horse and narrowly missed entering Harper's body. The occupants of both buggies were thrown out by the impact and Miss Zetta Russell was badly injured about the head. We are pleased to report that she is recovering. It is almost a miracle that some of the four were not instantly killed. It appears the two racing homes from Tara were speeding there horse which is a dangerous business after dark. Auto drivers are not the only ones who imperil the lives of others by fast driving at night.

On Monday the first batch of letters about 70,000, from the first Canadian contingent, arrived in Toronto. The same day the wife of Captain Gruber, of this town got several letters from her husband and one to Mr. and Mrs. S. Davidson from their son who joined the Winnipeg. The letter was written on board the Royal Edward and was posted at Piquet on October 16th and arrived in Chesley on the 26th. The contingent was two weeks in crossing the Atlantic and no rough weather was experienced. The voyage was uneventful though

He expects to be training two months in England though events at the front might hasten his departure. Mell gives his number as 21,331 and asked his parents to be sure to keep track of the number when reports begin to come in from Canadians in France. He gives some information that to those unacquainted with military affairs may be regarded as interesting. A company is composed of 110 men, 4 sergeants, 2 lieutenants and a Captain. A battalion comprises 8 companies and has over it 2 majors and one Colonel. A brigade consists of 4 battalions and an army division of 4 brigades.

Walkerton

The Canadian contingent of 1000 men who went to Bermuda recently to replace the British regulars who left for the front, are in turn to be replaced, it is said, by Canadians now enlisting, and will join the overseas army that Canada is sending to the war. As five Walkerton recruits Charles Sutton, John Jerome Water Pitt, John McConnel and Andrew with the Bermuda force, the prospects are bright for the local quintette getting into the fight before another week wheat crop is off.

Mr. Angus McDonald, of Ripley is the latest arrival at the House of Refuge. Although not destitute of means, the aged lady, whose husband is dead, is said to have sought a home in the Refuge here more as a relief from solitude than as a free lodging or cheap boarding house. Ripley and vicinity have of late been contributing the vast bulk of arrivals here, and struggle to way, most of them have cash but lack the solace and comfort of a home which are so essential to infirmity and age.

Mr. D. Robt. K. C. secretary of the Bruce County Patriotic League, informs us that he has had news from the township of Huron that the farmers there will contribute 2,400 bushels of oats for the use of the Canadian and British armies in Europe. This probably will be the greatest amount received from any township in the vicinity of Walkerton. The contributions from Elderslie will amount to 2,000 bushels. Easton 1,800 bushels, Bruce Pt. 1,200 and 300 from the farmers in the vicinity of Tebury. To date, these are all the estimates of contributions which have been received by the secretary and we hope the other townships in the country will be equally patriotic.

Lieut. Col. Douglas, commander of the 22nd Bruce Regiment, is in Walkerton this week securing recruits for the second Canadian contingent. As this is the capital of the County he is especially desirous that Walkerton should contribute a good number for the front. It is hoped that the young men here will do honor to themselves and a service to their country by taking up arms against the autocratic butcher that is threatening the liberties of the world. Never was there a call more urgent or a cause more just. Col. Douglas will receive recruits at the armories here up to Saturday next, and we hope to publish in our next issue a long list of the local heroes who have rallied to the flag. Dr. Hoston, the reg-

Port Elgin

Four stalwart sons of Saugeen left Tuesday morning for Walkerton to examine recruits, where they will join the second Canadian contingent. A "proving up" course, all past the required physical tests. After attending the church parade on Sunday Capt. Layland asked the volunteers and the four men stepped out Tuesday.

William Thomas Nicholson, age 25, Herbert Bishop Fenon, age 26, James John Robinson, age 25, William Lambert, age 18.

A number of citizens were at the depot to bid the boys good-bye. It is understood that there will be others shortly and will include young men from Port Elgin. Kincaid sent away tomorrow on Tuesday.

Epworth League Convention.

The annual Epworth League Convention of the Western District was held in the Methodist Church at Tara on Oct. 22nd 1914. The five features of the morning session was the registration of the delegates. They wrote their names in the book and received badges which had been furnished for them also slips of paper on which their names and address was written, these slips with badges were pinned on their coats. This seemed a splendid idea for one seemed to get so much better acquainted with every one.

The morning session was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. C. Deacon, of Tara, it being a short song service followed by a season of prayer. Mr. Albert Allen gave the address of welcome, and giving a few words of explanation on the program of the day, ballots were distributed for appointing of the nominating and business committee. Mr. Oakley, W. Thompson, and Lottie Brigham as secretaries. Epworth Era Agents were voted on, Miss Bertha Hamilton and Myrtle Craig being appointed. The Resolution Committee was then appointed Mr. Jewett, Mr. Bartlett and Miss Aikew were chosen. This district officers gave their reports, Mr. Allen, Mr. Hamby, Miss Fisher, and Mr. Baldwin being the only ones present to report. Hymn 108 was sung followed by Rev. A. T. Bartlett's address on Epworth League way to and methods, which was very helpful and interesting. The report of scrutineers of non. com. was given and those elected were Mr. Geo. Hamby, Rev. C. Deacon, Rev. R. L. Oakley, Albert Aikew and Mr. Wouda. Mr. Hamby presided over the meeting with prayer, after which we adjourned to the basement of the church where dinner was served to the delegates.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The afternoon session was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. H. L. Oakley, Arkwright. The 2nd chap. let Peter was read and Rev. Wouda led in prayer. Rev. J. A. Jewett gave an interesting address on Temperance and Moral Reform. A duet was then sung by Misses Hewson and Strang which was much appreciated. The roll call and report of legions was then received which was very favorable. Eleven leagues reported showing a large increase in membership and Forward Movement Givings. A department conference was then taken up. Each delegate presented in the afternoon special department formed themselves in groups, such as 1st vice pres. of each local league together, 2nd vice, 3rd vice, and 4th vice and over each group a competent leader. In this way a more interesting and helpful time could be spent in discussing their own special work. After which we then spent in intermission, after which a hymn was sung and collection taken up. After the close of the day Rev. Bartlett gave an interesting address. Some points impressed upon us must provide preparation for you and have the best result in young men of Methodist. Give praise, perseverance and generate power by prayer. The question duet was conducted by Albert Aikew and the question were very ably dealt with. Refreshments were served and a social hour was spent.

EVENING SESSION

The evening session opened by singing hymn 108. Rev. J. A. Jewett presided. Rev. C. Deacon read a portion of the 11th chapter of Corinthians. The choir then sang. The roll call and report of legions was then received which was very favorable. The report of the committee was given. It was moved and seconded that the resolutions be adopted. 1. That the theme of this convention be most heartily given to our hosts, the Tara League, for the splendid hospitality accorded us as their guests and to the trustees of the Tara church for the use of their premises during the convention.

2. We have not as yet met in this district to make the Standard of Excellence as adopted by the general board the goal of their efforts and seek to measure up to its ten points is fully and as speedily possible.
3. That any of the leagues of the district that have not as yet met in this district for the celebration of the silver jubilee of the Epworth League be advised to do so that at the time of the convention they may be able to take full advantage of the opportunity of the event to promote the interests of each local league. We recommended the adoption and use of the "Silver Jubilee" program prepared and issued by the general board whenever practicable by our leaders.

While we rejoice that there is not a likelihood of a serious food shortage in Canada as a result of the war, we believe it would be the part of wisdom to prepare an amount to limit the amount of foodstuffs being used in the manufacture of intoxicants.

4. Knowing that evil results from the shipping of intoxicants into local option territory for beverage purposes we would respectfully request the delegates be taken to prevent all sale of shipments into dry territory except to medical practitioners and licensed druggists.

6. We, the Western District Epworth League, assembled in convention at Tara, Ont. Oct. 22nd 1914, with its cognate Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes on his success in keeping military training camps free from intoxicants. We understand from the press that by his request the same obtained at Salisbury Plains, England. We assure him of our appreciation and good wishes in his efforts of putting a clean, sober, Canadian army in the field in defense of the Empire.

7. We learn with pleasure of the continued efforts of the Ontario Government to enforce the Liquor License Act. This being in harmony with the oft repeated declaration of men of both parties during the recent provincial election.
8. We respectfully request the government to use its power to limit the sale, as has been done in England especially near where all soldiers are stationed.
We further respectfully request that greater diligence be required of officials to prevent illegal bottle sale of liquors.

LEGAL NOTES.

Breach of Warranty in Sale of a Horse.—A. buys from B. a horse which H. represents is sound and a brood mare, but these representations do not prove true. What is A's remedy?

In a majority of the states, including Pennsylvania, a buyer's proper remedy upon a breach of warranty is by an action for damages in which he may recover the difference between the value of the horse in her actual condition and what she would have been worth if she had been as warranted. In some states, however, a buyer is entitled upon a breach of warranty, to return the horse and recover the purchase money.

Fruit Trees Overhanging Boundary.—Where fruit trees grow on A's land, but the branches extend over the boundary line upon B's as to shade and otherwise interfere with B's enjoyment of his land, has B. the right to cut these overhanging branches? Also, does the fruit growing on the overhanging branches belong to B?

Since the entire trunks of the trees grow on A's land, A. owns the trees, including the overhanging branches and the fruit growing on them. To the extent, however, that the branches overhang B's land they constitute a nuisance, and B. has the legal right to abate the nuisance by trimming the branches off up to the boundary line.

When making a written contract with a firm or corporation through an agent do not rely upon an oral statement or promise of the agent when it differs from the written contract.

On the Advice of His DoctorHe Used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Protruding Piles With Splendid Results.

Too often a doctor can only think of an operation when asked for a treatment for piles. But there are sufficient broad-minded to use the most efficient treatment available, which is undoubtedly Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was proven in the case referred to in the last issue.

Mr. Simon B. Jones, Railway Street, Lawrence, N.B., writes:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for protruding piles. For three years I suffered from piles and was advised by a local physician to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. I tried many treatments in vain, but I can truly say that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best I have ever used. I am at liberty to use this statement."

The record of cures of every form of piles which are cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment is the strongest guarantee you can have that it will promptly relieve and cure this ailment, even in the most aggravated case. 60c a box, all dealers.

RED POLLED COWS
AS MILK PRODUCERS

One of the most interesting contests ever conducted in any country between breeds is now going on at the Jean Duluth stock show which is located about nine miles westward from Duluth, writes Professor Thomas Shaw in the National Stockman.

The average results obtained in milk and butter fat from the two breeds for the years 1908, 1911 and 1912, in which the records are complete, show that the Guernsey cows gave 11.41 pounds more milk per cow than the Red Fells and produced 43.1 pounds more butter fat per cow. The Red Polled heifers produced 471 pounds more milk than the Guernsey heifers, but the latter produced on the average 27.7 more pounds of butter fat.

One item in the comparison is lacking—that is, the best production. The demand for the Red Polled males has been such that none of them have been grown for beef. But it is not necessary here to discuss the superiority of Red Polled cattle over Guernsey for producing meat. Our evidence supporting this fact is found in the presence from year to year of Red Fells at the Smithfield Cattle club show in England and the International fat stock show in Chicago.

The Red Polled cow is a dual purpose animal, well suited to the methods of farmers who are raising cattle for both dairies and beef. As the cows are excellent milkers and of large size, they suit three conditions and fill the demand. Their uniform dark red color is especially attractive. The absence of horns also commands them to farmers. The cow shown is a typical Red Polled. The Red Fells are said to have come from hornless red cows that have been bred in certain counties of England for a number of years.

When it is remembered that a large part of the Red Polled herd were all bred upon the farm it must be conceded that the results are very creditable to the breed and to the owners of the same. In the old and well known breed twenty-four milk records came from this herd in 1913. It has now to its credit twenty official records that average 300 pounds of butter fat. In the herd in the cow Penn. This cow completed her last yearly record Dec. 27, 1913. She gave 13,100.6 pounds of milk, which gave 603.8 pounds of fat, the equivalent of 724.5 pounds of butter. This record makes her the champion producer of the breed. In four consecutive years she has produced 1,507.6 pounds of butter fat, a record that has not been equaled by any cow of the breed in Minnesota, and Minnesota is looked upon as a leading dairy state. In this herd is also Jean Duluth Beauty 31725, which as a heifer gave 10,019.8 pounds of milk and 420.5 pounds of butter fat. This gives her first place in the world's records for Red Polled heifers. She was bred on the farm. Mr. George P. Groat, the manager, states that ten cows from this herd in the 1913 advanced registry gave 440.2 pounds of butter fat to their credit.

HEAD OF THE FLOCK.

Lambs Sired by Mature Rams Are Vig-

Because a ram lamb can be purchased more cheaply than an older animal a great many men begin breeding too early. As a rule, good results are obtained from a yearling that is, a ram a year old and a half old—but the tabulation of the weights of all of the lambs born in a large flock showed that the lambs sired by the older rams averaged heavier at birth. Certain it is that it is not wise to use a ram under a year old.

If the flock is large more than one ram should be kept. A good rule to follow is to provide a ram for each fifty ewes. If the ram is not unusually strong in constitution, however, even this number may prove to be too many. A ram that is overworked will not only be injured himself, but the last lambs will naturally be found to be smaller than the rest and weaker in constitution.

The Milk of the Mature. Experiments show that the mature cows yield produce from four and a half to seven pounds of milk per animal. One cow weighing 438 pounds yielded seven and seven-tenths pounds of milk in a single day. During the year she consumed four pounds of cornmeal, four pounds of wheat middlings and eight pounds of skim milk. Average sow's milk contains about 60 per cent fat, 3.5 per cent milk sugar, 5.6 per cent casein and albumen and 58 per cent ash. In all respects it is richer than cow's milk.

The Young Sow.

See that the young sow raises the right number of pigs (from eight to ten), according to her capacity and milk flow, or none at all. As this is the order will be poorly developed and she probably always will raise small litters.

A Fire Needs Lots of Air to Breathe

THE quickest way to put a fire out is to smother it. A fire must have air. If it gets no air it goes out immediately. If it gets insufficient air it smoulders. A smouldering fire gives off little heat; and it's heat you want from the coal you burn.

The grates in a Gurney-Oxford are designed to give the fire lots of air to breathe. So the fire is bright and snappy. The combustion is perfect. A fire will burn lots of air—if it can get it. The fire in a Gurney-Oxford gets all the air it can use. The coal burns to white, flakey ashes. You don't find a mass of tough, half-burned clinkers in a Gurney-Oxford fire box. This means efficiency—getting the most heat from the least fuel. So the economy in a Gurney-Oxford starts with the grates.

Then, the distribution of heat to the oven is through a series of divided flues. They direct all the heat where it should go—around the oven. That is why the Gurney-Oxford is such a satisfactory stove to cook with.

And the third feature for economy and comfort, is the Gurney-Oxford Economizer, because it enables the fire to be kept down to a spark and then brought to baking heat quickly and surely.

Let us demonstrate these features of the Gurney-Oxford to you. We claim this to be the most economical and satisfactory stove ever devised. Will you come in and let us prove it?

Tara

From reports sent in from police in this district, recruits for Canada's second contingent for the European War are numerous, and the prospects are that many more will enlist than will be required. Four Tara boys, all Canadian born too, left on Tuesday afternoon with six others from this district for Walkerton where they will be given a medical examination and if passed will proceed to London to train. The regulation governing the arrangements for enlistment are practically the same as for the previous contingent. The age limit is 19 to 45, height 5 feet 3 inches and chest 33½ inches. Married men must have the consent of their wives and young men under twenty-one must have the consent of their parents. In cases where the applicant is an only son supporting his parents, he must have the latter's consent before he can enlist. The boys who left Tara on Tuesday were—Col. Sargent, A. J. Crawford, Tara; Victor Ed McNeill, Tara; Wallace Howard Thomas, Tara; Wm. Fonten, Tara; Harry Merchant, Aram Top; Herbert Phelan, Arkwright; Sydney Hauptman, Elston; Sydney Smith, Allanford; Stanley Bilton Rourke, Park Head; Bert Hardy, Hayworth. At 1:30 o'clock p.m. the Tara band marched to the station and about two hundred citizens turned out to give the boys a send off. At the station each of the boys was sent $10.00, the local committee of the Canadian Patriotic League having decided at Monday night's meeting to give them that amount. Reeve Dolphin carried the boys on the station platform and gave them the donation. The Red Cross Society gave the boys sweater coats. As the train pulled up to the station the band struck up the "Soldiers of the King" and as it was leaving played "The British Grenadiers," amid the cheers of the crowd. Before entraining the boys requested The Leader to thank the people of Tara for the kindness shown to them.

Premier Hearst has accepted the invitation of Tara and Aram to a banquet in his honor, the date of which has not yet been arranged, but will probably be the latter part of November or early in December. The sum of $346.50 has been subscribed to Tara for the Canadian Patriotic Fund, which with the additional $50.00 given by the Municipal Council, makes the sum $396.50. This will be further increased when the complete census is finished, a few citizens not having been seen as yet. The greater part of this amount has been paid to the treasurer of the fund and the few who have not paid are kindly requested to do so at once, as the time has passed when subscriptions were to be paid in, and also that the list may be printed in an early issue of The Leader. The amount raised by The Red Cross Society is $325.87, making a total of $722.37 given by Tara for the Patriotic and Red Cross Funds.

Severe pains around the heart Are nearly always caused by Stomach Trouble

Don't let a pain in the region of the heart frighten you into thinking you have heart disease. Just as a pain in the back seldom indicates kidney trouble, so a pain near the heart is scarcely ever proof of serious heart disease. The pain is nearly always caused by stomach trouble for the stomach & heart are connected by many nerves, and gas on the stomach causes pressure on the heart. The alarming pains will disappear if you take one of the stomach pills at each meal even produce a headache, as the food does not distress you, you are no longer troubled with gas, your ridges in the throat, and those mischievous pains around the heart. Stomach and energy return, and the rich, red blood, carries renewed vitality to every part of the body. Mrs. Henry Connolly, Brockville, P. E. I., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from indigestion which, despite all the treatment I took was gradually growing worse. I would sometimes feel as though I was smothering, and when the trouble came on I would suffer from violent palpitation and pains around the heart which greatly alarmed me. I was under doctors' treatment for a long time, but with no result. A friend suggested Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. To about a month I felt much better and by the time I had taken another four boxes I was the best of health and able to eat all kinds of nourishing food. It is now several months I was cured and I have never felt a symptom of indigestion since. I take every opportunity of recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to friends who are ailing."

If your dealer does not keep these Pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

If you would be regarded as winner, all you have to do is to hand the people the advice they want.

Indigestion and Headaches

Arising From Constipation, Cured and Regular Habits Established by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

In the western Provinces, where so many thousands live far from doctors and drug stores, very many rely on Dr. Chase's medicines to cure disease and maintain health and strength. This letter gives some idea of what perfect control Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills exert over the most common ills of life.

Mrs. H. K. Hower, farmer's wife, Eastburg, Alta., writes:—"For about ten years I suffered from constipation, indigestion, headache and languid feelings. Treatment from two or three doctors afforded only temporary relief. I turned to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and with most satisfactory results. Headaches have disappeared, regular habits established and general health very much better. Both my husband and I can speak highly of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as we have both been greatly benefited by them." ## TOBERMORY

The severe gale which blew during the fore-part of the week caused several ships, including the "White and Frigate" of Owen Sound to take refuge in Big Bay harbour. While there one of the crew had the misfortune to fall into the hold, spraining both his wrists.

Saturday is the last day of the fishing season, and of course the local fishermen are trying to make the best of the short time remaining. The rough weather of the past few weeks greatly delayed the fishing and in consequence of this the Provincial Government was petitioned to grant an extension. Up to the present time however nothing has been heard of the matter. It is hoped that a favourable reply will soon be received.

The Wright Bros of Warton have been doing a rushing business with their well-drilling outfit in Tobermory and vicinity. In the past two months they have drilled a large number of wells including ones for the following—Messrs. Munro, Davis, Adams, Murphy, Mathieson and Golden. The number yet to be drilled will it is thought necessitate a return visit from them in the spring.

Mr. Leslie who has already raised his house and placed it upon a stone foundation is now busy adding new wing to it.

Major Fitcher, who assumed command of the camp at the wireless station while Captain Clark was at his home in Walkerton, returned home on Tuesday.

Captain Clark who has been spending a few days at his home in Walkerton, returned on Sunday bringing with him his sister and mother who will visit him for some time.

Every automobile coming to Tobermory is in the hands of many a small boy full of German spies.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Stoke's Bay spent last Sunday with their son John Smith.

A number of delegates from the Tobermory and Settlement Methodist churches and the Settlement Baptist church are attending the Sunday School convention in London this week. They left here Monday intending to make the journey in easy stages and arrive in London sometime on Wednesday. They expect to arrive home Sunday morning. The delegates included Mr. and Mrs. Spence, Rev. Mr. Hyde, Garnet Bartman, Mrs. Golden and Miss Georgina Golden, Miss Elsie Hopkins, Victoria Hopkins, Margaret McLeod and Bartman. Evidently Mr. Hyde intends to hold a small convention of their own if for any reason they did not reach London.

While Tobermory has as yet no representative upon the field outside the city, the rest of Canada is doing her part to fight the Germans. The members of the Tobermory Women's Institute after having collected through concerts and subscriptions over one hundred dollars for the Patriotic fund are now busy knitting socks for the soldiers. Recently at a meeting of the volunteers called by Rev. Ransbury it was decided to canvass the surrounding country for Ont. As a result of this about one hundred and fifty bushels were collected and these are already on their way to the military depot.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

The Happy Police Habit

A villain stabbed the lady fair
And dragged her round by her own hair
He monkeyed with the busiest drivers
Till the saving lady's tears
Brought citizens upon the scene.
When he lit out for nature green.

They saw him run a half a mile
Straight out the street, in sprinter style.
Then the police—the Nemeses—
Came out and searched the premises.
They felt that surely he would stay
To bid the cops the time of day.
They felt aggrieved that he should hurry
Thus from the scene and give them worry.
They simply could not think that he
Had quit the place so hurriedly!
They felt quite bitter toward the man
For abandoning their unchanging plan
Older than the first Ham—
That is, to "search the premises."

'Till time shall end and they'll do the same
In this constabulary game.
They'll never quit—these optimists—
Believing that on crime's black list
There is a criminal so daft
He'll stick around till he is gaffed
They'll find him near his station's scene
And promptly nabbed him slick and clean
So on—guards, like a Nemeses,
Will ever "search the premises."

Higher Tea Prices Predicted

In London, Calcutta and Colombo tea is fetching average higher prices to-day than they have for two years, with prospect of the market going still higher. The crop has been large, but quality poor and the stringing of the tea, the "Diplomat" and "City of Winchester", with nine million pounds on hand has more than acted as a set off to the large crop.

The J. C. Rockwell
"Sunny South" Co.

J. C. Rockwell's "Sunny South" Company, always a favorite here, since it made its initial appearance, several seasons ago, will appear in the Town Hall, Warton, Saturday evening, November 7th.

This season, from curtain to curtain, the performance is absolutely new in every detail. Promptly at the appointed time the curtain rises and from that moment until the final you will have fun without a blush, songs of sentiment by vocalists of ability, comic ditties by comedians, who furnish humor without a taint. Year after year the "Sunny South" Company and its manager, J. C. Rockwell have grown in popularity until now the mere announcement of their coming is sufficient guarantee that the audience will be sent home feeling satisfied that they have received full value for their money. This season the company is presenting a performance that is up-to-the-minute, bright and pleasing from start to finish. From the rise to the final fall of the curtain it will be found to be full of good clean comedy, charming musical numbers, all of the kind and it is illuminated with an Olio of high-class and entertaining vaudeville stunts, the kind that are seldom seen outside of the larger cities. During from the opening scene until the final fall of the curtain there is not a moment when some of the numerous cast are not occupied rendering matters pleasing to the audience.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The "Kootenaw" parade takes place at noon.

The price of admission have been placed at 35 and 50 cents. Seats are now selling at Sawyer's Drug Store.

Thomas Dargavel arrived home from a three months trip to the west last week. He had not seen there for nearly 20 years and consequently he saw many changes. He was at Lehighridge, Red Deer, Lacombe, Moosejaw, Saskatoon, Regina and many other points. At Lehighridge he visited his daughter Mrs. Ferguson, and at Red Deer another daughter, Mrs. F. McEwan. He was all through the Mormon district in Southern Alberta, and this year the crop there was a total failure, while in Northern Alberta it was very good. Among those he saw were Mrs. McKenzie and Willie Parker, at Moosejaw; the McQueen brothers at Calgary; Angus Bell and wife at Elbow Sack; Gordon Hunter at Saskatoon; Robt. Laurie and wife at Portage La Prairie. Tom likes the West, and if he were young he more it is possible that is where he would locate.

in the Outcome of the Big Subscription Campaign

Just Three Days More and The Echo Voting Contest Will Be Over. Three Days More of Anxious Moments. Will You Win? Will the Player Piano be Yours?

Somewhere, some day, a beautiful Weber Heintzman Player Piano, given away by the Canadian Echo, will be giving forth sweet tunes of Wagner and Haydn, and you will look with pride and say "it is mine." Will you be able to say these words? You can if you work right up to the last minute.

GET LONG TERM SUBSCRIPTIONS

Get all the long term subscriptions you possibly can. They will win for you. If you have not found any as yet now is the time to look for them. Get them any place and everywhere. The advice of the Contest Manager to you is to get all the long term subscriptions you can. You may need them. And then again you must not overlook the short term subscriptions. They, too, will help make your vote standing up higher.

CONTEST JUDGES

The votes will be counted by reputable men, men whose honesty and integrity cannot be questioned. They have no favorites, neither has the Echo nor the contest manager. Contestants and the public realize that the one who is fortunate enough to have the largest amount of votes will win. Will you be the fortunate winner?

TEST YOUR FRIENDS

This is the time to test the friendship of your best acquaintances. Will they support you now in this, which may be your hour of triumph? See them all. Ask them to support you now when you have victory right in your grasp. Cash all these promises which were promised at the start of the contest. Do not lose a minute of your time during the rest of the contest. See everyone and also see that they subscribe for your assistance in this great campaign. What does it mean to you to win? Think it over. YOU have worked hard, now what do you think best for you to do? Do what you think best. WIN.

CONTEST WILL CLOSE SATURDAY NIGHT

The contest will close at nine o'clock Saturday night. Have your subscriptions in a sealed envelope, accompanied with the correct amount of money, with your name and address on it. Have the amount of money marked on the envelope. Write all names of subscribers plainly. Do not be late. Remember the closing hour. Candidates to win any one of the prizes must turn in money on the last night of the contest.

GOLD BRACELET WON BY MISS FLORENCE O'HARA

The Special Prize Gold Bracelet awarded by Mr. Davies for the most subscription money turned in on Tuesday, November 10th, was won by Miss Florence O'Hara. The race for the bracelet was very close and in that way it has made the standing of several of the leaders very close. A few dollars would change the five leaders into different positions. However, Miss O'Hara is a very consistent worker and whatever beats her in the finish will have to work. There are many well capital prize contenders, and right now is the time for you to play for your favorite.

During the last two days of the Echo Contest candidates will be obliged to deposit their subscription slips and money in a secret ballot-box. No one except the candidate will know how many votes he or she turns in during the closing days of the Contest. A box is being specially made, the only opening being a slit in the top large enough to allow the sealed envelopes to be dropped through. The box will be turned over to the committee of auditors, who will cut it open and count the votes. The auditors are representative men of this district. This is the fairest possible method for the treatment of candidates that can be advised. The Echo is for "a square deal to all."

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGE

Hanover

A very large event took place at five o'clock last Thursday, Oct. 26th, at the home of Mr. Alex. Taylor, of Hanover, when his oldest daughter, Miss Margaret being united in marriage to Mr. Albert Beamish, of town. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom, by Rev. W. I. McLean, M. A. Mr. and Mrs. Beamish left on the evening train, G. T. R. for a short trip, after which they will remain in Hanover. The party extends best wishes to the young couple.

Four more Hanover boys are off to the war and the town feels proud though saddened and sobered by their going. The boys are Herbert Jackson aged 27 years, William Perkins, aged 19 years, and Dick Sewall aged 18 years. They were given a hearty patriotic and touching send off on Monday afternoon prior to their boarding the Grand Trunk train for Owen Sound, where the Grey County men will assemble and enroute for the training grounds at Toronto.

It is estimated that Grey County donated about 50 cwt of produce as a patriotic gift to the British Empire. This is a very handsome gift indeed. The Post was unable to secure Beamish's figure in detail for this issue but will report same next week.

Another Hanover boy, Mr. James McMahon Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. McMahon of Hantsburg Twp., left yesterday morning for Owen Sound to join the Grey County Contingent for the front. "Jim" is a sturdy built young man and should make a fine soldier. He was not notified to join his comrades at Hanover.

Southampton

The Dominion Government granted the fishermen an extension to this Thursday morning, Nov. 5th to ship the fish caught but owing to the high winds they have been unable to lift their nets this week, except that the H. H. Dobson got one gang of nets on Tuesday. The most kept the fishermen from lifting but one day last week so that there are a lot of nets out and most of them will be destroyed. Not nearly sufficient spawn has been gathered yet for the fish hatchery here.

Mr. Fred Thomson has gone to Bigwood in the Perry Sound district where he was running the big sawmill a couple of seasons ago, for a couple of weeks deer hunting. His son Earl Thompson will enjoy the two weeks hunting with him. Messrs. George Langford, Roney and Phillips of Port Elgin, went along with Mr. Thompson.

Messrs. W. J. Cameron, D. C. J. Laird, Andrew Cleve, Stuart Cameron, and D. J. Izard, of Port Elgin, accompanied by George Pallen as chef last Monday for deer camp at Missionburg, Algonquin, for their annual two weeks deer hunt. Messrs. A. F. Bowman and Geo. K. Smith did not go this season.

Owen Sound

The Presbyterian Church at Duntroon, six miles from Collingwood, has extended an unanimous call to the Rev. A. E. Thornley, of Owen Sound. Mr. Thornley was formerly evangelist at Missionburg in the States and three years ago returned to Canada and up till a few months ago has been in partnership with his brother, Mr. Fred Thornley in the development of Griffiths Island. The Rev. Mr. Thornley has appeared at the Duntroon call and Mr. Thornley and his wife and family left for that point Monday.

Mr. H. H. McWilliam of Owen Sound, and Mr. John Russell, contractor, of Toronto, have purchased about forty acres of gravel area at Griffiths Island from Mr. Thornley, the owner of the island from which the Union Cement Co. gets its supply of gravel for the manufacturing of cement, and it is said that Messrs. McWilliam and Russell intend to develop their new acquired property and to use the gravel for manufacturing cement.

Their property is on the south and west shores of the island, adjacent to the Union Cement Co. property, but not interfering with the material brought used by the local concern. There is an unlimited quantity of this gravel on the island, and it has been demonstrated that the operation of the Union Cement Works that it can be operated with success. It is said Messrs. McWilliam and Russell in securing the deposit have in view starting a cement works at 3 Ave. E. May be utilized for the rock process by these gentlemen. Another rumor concerns the Colonial Cement Works at Wauvo, which has been shut down for the last two years. Mr. McWilliam has wide experience in the cement, is a man who "does things" and with the manufacturing business it is likely they has been his plan for the development of his new property. The rumor is unconfirmed to see him this morning but he was once of Wauvo.

Mr. James Scott, we are glad to hear, is much improved. The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Arnett on Wednesday. Miss Marshall of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Marshall. Mr. Levi Wolfe and family motored to Chesley on Sunday. Little Miss Jean Aiken while playing at school burst her arm but we hope it will soon be well.

Mrs. Adam Aiken is in London attending the Institute Convention.

The anniversary services of the Methodist Church are to be held on Sunday, December 6th.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Billy's Own Tablets are an absolute cure for childhood constipation. They never fail to regulate the bowels and soften the stomach, and unlike castor oil, their action is mild and they are pleasant to take. Concocting pills for little ones is a task, says Dr. Morgan, Hantsburg, Ont., "My baby was greatly troubled with constipation and colic till I began giving her Billy's Own Tablets. The tablets are really the best remedy I know for little ones who quickly banished all signs of constipation and colic. I would use no other medicine for baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail from the manufacturer, Dr. W. Williams, Medicine Co., New York, U.S.A."

Walkerton

A number of travellers are raising a loud huller and a big kick against the quality of board being furnished in some village hotels near Walkerton. They declare that the loose end of the business is absorbing the attention of the proprietors to such a degree that the boarding side of the house is being grossly overlooked or wantonly forgotten. One large hotel that this respect is said to be degrading most fearfully of late, and the owners a change of management is brought about the better it will be for the public in general and the travelling fraternity in particular. The bar is no doubt the most profitable end of the business, but the house licensee is granted on condition that the board and accommodation are kept up to the standard, a fact that some apparently forget or entirely ignore.

"Billy" the young son of A. P. Johnston was the victim of a nasty accident on Saturday. The little fellow, with other children, was playing about with a tin pop-shooter in his mouth when in some manner he fell heavily against one of his playmates, the pop-shooter inflicting a nasty gash in the roof of his mouth. Doctors were called to attend him and he was placed under chloroform while they removed some of the torn flesh. The youngster is recovering and no serious results are anticipated.

Seven recruits enlisted in Walkerton last week in response to the call for volunteers for the second Canadian contingent for the front. The septette who rallied to the flag are—Norman (Squire) Buck, Bert Cart-

Around the Clock with Everyhousewife

Everyhousewife is in charge of the typical Canadian home. She is responsible for the comfort, the pleasure, the economy of the house. She runs things. Her duties are legion but none is more important than "meals." Three times a day—every day—meals must be prepared. This is her most important duty.

The family comes clamoring to breakfast. Breakfast must be a success. It must be ready on time. Things must be appetizing and attractive, so that the family gets a good start for the day. Back of a successful breakfast there must be a successful stove.

Then after a short period for sewing, sweeping and dusting, comes lunch. The stove has been idle since breakfast, but now a hot oven is wanted QUICK for biscuits. Back of a successful lunch there must be a responsive stove—a stove that jumps from a smouldering "non-consumer" to a bright and ready blaze.

Allow us to demonstrate the features that make it a stove of character, a stove that enables you to make every meal a success with the minimum of expense and time and trouble.

Chesley

The members of Elderslie Council are likely to get a 2nd term by acclamation. The only note of disapproval we heard all year was in connection with housing wire fences. But that was only a tempest in a teapot, and the Reeve and his cabinet have taken hold of this patriotic movement with so much zeal that the ratepayers feel like giving them a walkover, with a warning not to get swollen heads or they will get kicked out at the end of next year when there will be a free-for-all. Two years without an election should satisfy any municipal man, and next year if we are pushing the quill, we will all be in.

Out in No. 9 Sullivan the farmers feel that they were paying rent for their own farms. There are 47,000 acres in the section and as the school levy is $1,000 it means an average of over $21 on every hundred acres for school taxes alone. Then there are County Rates and Tp. Rates to be added in addition. The ratepayers of No. 9 turned down the proposition to build a new school and the high taxes must be caused by the extra word required to heat the old school and in paying the teacher's salary. There promises to be war on a small scale at the annual meeting of the ratepayers in this section.

No fewer than 38 joined the local rifle association and everyone expected to be a regular crack shot and in time get to "Hibby" to make all bull's eyes at one thousand yards. Their hopes have been dashed to the ground by a letter to Mayor Halliday from Major Shannon who points out that there is a dearth of rifles and ammunition. As both of these are essential to shooting the would be snipers must wait till the factory at Quebec turns out more rifles and the cartridges factories are able to meet the demand. In the meantime one of our townsmen who has had experience in shooting very close, might give the rifle men some training in handling hot guns.

The Humble Toiler

"You must put your shoulder to the wheel in this campaign," said the alert manager. "I understand that," said the obscure but willing worker. "But you want to let me know when you're going to change your mind about going ahead. The last time I put my shoulder to the wheel the band wagon suddenly flaked up and ran over me."—Washington Star.

The afternoon has its duties, and perhaps about four or five o'clock calls to be paid. This keeps Everyhousewife out until late sometimes. Dinner is an important meal, with roasts, steaks, soup, fish and puddings to cook. Here is responsibility for a stove! Only a stove of character can meet these responsibilities. The Gurney-Oxford is that sort of a stove.

After each meal the "Gurney-Oxford Economizer" enables Everyhousewife, by the simple turn of one handle, to dampen the fire down so that it burns practically no fuel. An opposite turn of the same handle revives the fire. This is the biggest single feature of economy and comfort any stove ever had, or can have. The grates in the Gurney-Oxford are built to burn not only coal, but air—and air is as important to a fire as to a man.

The heat from the fire completely envelops the ovens by a system of flues. The ovens are uniformly, thoroughly heated. A range that sends heat up the chimney is wasteful and extravagant and unsatisfactory to cook with. We want Everyhousewife not only to read about the Gurney-Oxford, but to see it.

Allow us to demonstrate the features that make it a stove of character, a stove that enables you to make every meal a success with the minimum of expense and time and trouble.

Had Heard of Them

It was company field-training. The Captain saw a young soldier trying to cook his breakfast with a badly made fire. Going to him he showed him how to make a quick cooking fire, saying, "Look at the time you are wasting. When I was on the West coast I often had to eat my breakfast. I used to go about 10 miles in the jungle, shoot my food, skin or pluck it, then cook and eat it. I return to the camp under the half-hour. Then he wisely added, "Of course you have heard of the West coast!" Yes sir replied the young soldier, and also of London and Baron Munchausen too. —London Tit-Bits.

The child should be taught to be careful of money, and not go into debt. If every one of the rising generation was taught to avoid debt it would soon be a happy world. When a man comes to care whether he pays his debts or not he makes a whole lot of trouble for other people.

Confiscated Heworth Whiskey

The five cases of whiskey, which were recently seized by Inspector Beckett at Heworth, were confiscated on Tuesday morning last week before Magistrate B. B. Miller, of Winton, who tried the case at Heworth. Walsh Bros. of Stratford from whom the liquor was shipped, put up a strenuous fight to get possession of it. It appeared that the whiskey had been ordered by a man who was known to Owen Sound and sent to Stratford addressed at Heworth. When the Inspector seized it, the house was claimed by the co-owners but the Magistrate refused to order it's possession by the Inspector, and it is now securely stored in the latter's private vault.

Born—in Lakeshore on Oct 31 to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Carter, a daughter.

Last week our local people with their autos had considerable trouble. Not very uncommon to see the stall machines being towed into town.

Mr. Ernest Pettigrew accompanied by Messrs. A. C. Bridge and Philip Forties made a business trip to Tonerbury on Friday. While on their way back they had a misfortune and the result was that one of the wheels were broken besides other damages being done. Ernie brought his auto home Monday morning.

This last week some of our young folks met with several disappointments, but we hope they will overcome them. It is too bad to see the young ladies who have several fellows on the string to be disappointed by a "L."

The noble beast thinking his master a little too long after hitching him up became uneasy and detaching itself left the driver and proceeded home, finally to be caught within a mile or so of its destination where it was taken in shelter till the following day by a young laboring man. It was a nice jump for the young man but he being of a lucky sort of a fellow, he was assisted by a gentleman who was in a hurry and brought home. Next time young man you tie your beast be sure it is well secured or else you will walk many a time.

The Humble Toiler

"You must put your thoughts in the wheel in this campaign," said the manager. "I understand that," said the same but willing worker. "But you must let me know when you're going to change your mind about going ahead. The Lord put my shoulder to the wheel and the wagon suddenly backed up and put me out."—Washington Star.

ST. VITUS DANCE

Another severe Case Cured Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

St. Vitus Dance is a common form of nervous trouble, which affects not only young children but men and women as well. The only cure lies in plenty of pure blood, because good blood is the life force of the system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure it by restoring the blood. The starving, shattered nerves that have been broken in hundreds of cases among them Mr. John Duncan, Leith, Ont., who says: "About a year ago I found myself becoming very nervous. At the outset I did not pay much attention to it as I thought the trouble would pass away. In this I was disappointed for I soon found myself rapidly growing worse. My right leg and arm began to tremble and I was with difficulty able to walk in walking or doing any work. Finally the trouble affected my speech and I was with difficulty able to make myself understood. Of course I was wondering for the trouble, but was not being helped, and finally the doctor wanted me to go to the hospital for treatment. This I did not care to do, and it was at this stage that I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For the time I had used four boxes. It is much better, and a short time longer I was quite well and strong. My neighbors looked upon my cure as quite wonderful, and indeed I think so, and shall always be grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by sending the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cobalt Hunters Bag Big Moose

(Cobalt Nugget)

What are believed to be two of the largest moose in the country fell victims to the hunting powers of a party of Cobalt sportsmen in the bush bordering on the Montreal river last week. One of the animals had a spread of horns amounting to no less than forty-six inches from tip to tip, and the other while smaller reached the very respectable figure of thirty-eight inches. The latter is now on view in a large street store window, while the giant will be brought ought by two members of the party who are returning to town on Saturday.

Chief of Police Burk, Postmaster Presley and Charles Reekin, of Cobalt and W. Crawford, of Liskenk, comprised the party, and the scene of their exploits was the Robinson lake district about 12 miles from the mouth of the Montreal river. The animals were shot in the bush four miles from the river, and it was a matter of some difficulty to transport them to the camp. Messrs. Crawford and Presley have remained behind for a few days, but expect to return on Saturday afternoon.

In addition to the moose, one deer and some partridge and a number of rabbits were shot by the party. They report the game is scarce this season, and several parties were met who had absolutely no luck. Indeed some of the best hunters of the country were encountered returning from trips without even having seen a moose. The party was absent about nine days.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Hundreds of People Have Found "Fruit-a-tives" Their Only Help

READ THIS LETTER

Superintendent of Sunday School in Toronto Tells How He Cured Himself of Chronic Rheumatism After Suffering for Years.

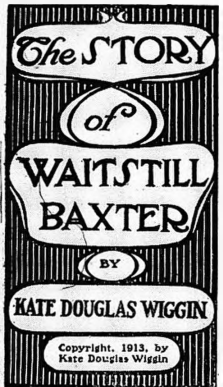

55 DOVERBOURNE ROAD, Oct. 1st, 1913.

"For a long time, I have thought of writing you regarding what I term a most remarkable cure effected by your remedy 'Fruit-a-tives'. I suffered from Rheumatism, especially in my hands. I have spent a lot of money without any good results. I have taken 'Fruit-a-tives' for 18 months now, and am pleased to tell you that I am cured. All the enlargement has not left my hands and perhaps never will, but the soreness is all gone and I can do any kind of work. There have gained in 18 months."

R. A. WAUGH

Rheumatism is no longer the dreaded disease it once was. Rheumatism is no longer one of the "incurable diseases". "Fruit-a-tives" has proved its marvellous powers over Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago—in fact, over all such diseases which arise from some derangement of stomach, bowels, kidneys or skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PROLOGUE.

Strength and interest of quiet lives in the New England of three-quarters of a century ago provide the framework of "The Story of Waitstill Baxter." That is the skeleton. The flesh and blood of human beings, living and loving and moving in a world of their own that is a miniature picture of the greater world outside, are also there. The story is a cross section of life as seen and described by a woman who has been well called "America's greatest living woman novelist." Amid the hills of New England are many men and women like Waitstill and Patience Baxter and their father, Ivory Boynton and his afflicted mother and funny Cephus Cole, who woea happily, but with small chance of success. They find their way into books but seldom, for it takes a master hand to describe faithfully the doings of real people. And that is the reason why "The Story of Waitstill Baxter" has won highest praise from critics who know a good book when they see one.

CHAPTER I.

The Sisters.

FAR, far up in the bosom of New Hampshire's granite hills the Saco has its birth. As the mountain ridges gather strength it takes through Barre's vale its usual way. Or flows in Coway's fragrant bay. But now from the side of day. Now it leaves the mountains and flows through "green Fryburg's woods and farms." In the course of its frequent turns and twists and bends it meets with many another stream and sends it, bolder and stronger, along its majestic way. When it has journeyed more than 100 miles and is nearing the ocean it greets the Great Ossipee river and turns the "Little Ossipee" joins forces and the river, now a splendid stream, flows onward to Bonny Eagle, to Modemation and to Salmon falls, where it dashes over the dam like a young gladiator and hurries in a foamy torrent through the ragged dells cut between lofty banks of solid rock.

Winding out placidly for a moment's rest in the many reaches near Pleasant point it gathers itself for a new plunge at Union falls, after which it speedsily merges itself in the bay and is fresh water no more.

At one of the falls on the Saco the two little hamlets of Edgewood and Riverboro nestle together at the bridge find make one village. The stream is a wonder of beauty just here, a mirror of placid loveliness above the dam, a tawny, roaring wonder at the fall and a mad, white seething torrent as it dashes on its way to the ocean.

The river has seen strange sights in its time, though the history of these two tiny villages is quite unknown to the great world outside. They have been born, waxed strong and fallen almost to decay while Saco water has tumbled over the rocks and spent itself in its impetuous journey to the sea. It remembers the yellow moccasined Indians as they issued from the Indian Celler and carried their birchen canoes along the wooded shore. It was in those years that the silver skinned salmon leaped in its crystal depths, the other and the banks, except with sleek wet skins upon its shore and the brown deer came down to quench his thirst at its brink, while at twilight the stealthy forms of bear and panther and wolf were mirrored in its glassy surface.

Time sped. Men chained the river's turbulent forces and ordered it to grind at the mill. Then houses and barns appeared along its banks, bridges were built, orchards planted, fences changed into farms, white painted meeting houses gleamed through the trees, and distant bells rung from their steeples on quiet Sunday mornings.

All at once myriad of great beaver have vexed its downward course, slender beaver dams, in long runs and one after another down along its banks. Men appeared, running bladders and little like ants and going through mysterious operations the reason for which the river could never guess. But the mill wheels turned, the great waves buzzed, the smoke from tavern chimneys rose in the air, and the rattle and clatter of stagecoaches resounded along the road.

Children paddled with bare feet in the cold edgewater, and the shillows, and loaves sat on its alder sheds, banks and exchanged their rows just where the shuffling bear was wont to come down and drink.

The Saco could remember the "cold year," when there was a black frost every month of the twelve, and, though almost all the corn along its shores survived on the stalk, there were two years when the crops from the river saved the crops, and all the seed for the next season came from the favored spot, to be known as "Egypt" from that day henceforward.

Sitings, comings and goings began to happen, and the river played its own part in some of these, for there were disastrous frosts, the sudden breaking up of great jams of logs and the drowning of men who were caught in the dark whirlpool below the rapids.

Caravans, with menageries of wild beasts, crossed the bridge now every year. An infuriated elephant lifted the side of the Edgewood tavern barn, and the wild laughter of the rollicking rum drinkers who were tantalizing the animals floated down to the river's edge. The rear of a lion, tearing and tearing the axes of the river, and the wild laughter of the rollicking rum drinkers who were tantalizing the animals floated down to the river's edge. The rear of a lion, tearing and tearing the axes of the river, and the wild laughter of the rollicking rum drinkers who were tantalizing the animals floated down to the river's edge.

There were days and moonlight nights, too, when strange sights and sounds of quite another nature could have been noted by the river as it flowed under the bridge that united the two little villages.

Issuing from the door of the Riverboro townhouse and winding down the hill through the long row of barns and carriage that lined the roadside, came a procession of singing men and singing women. Convinced of sin, but untraced with promised pardon, spiritually intoxicated by the glowing eloquence of the latter day prophet they were worshipping, the band of "Cochranites" marched down the dusty road and across the bridge, dancing, away, waving handkerchiefs and shouting hosannas.

God watched and listened, knowing that there would be other prophets true and false, in the days to come and other processions following them down the river watched and listened, too, as it hurried on toward the sea with its story of the present that was some time to be the history of the past. When Jacob Cochran was leading his overgrown, ecstatic band across the river, Waitstill Baxter, then a child was watching the strange, noisy company from the window of a little brick dwelling on the top of the Town House hill.

Her stepmother stood beside her with a young baby in her arms, but when she saw what held the gaze of the child she drew her away, saying, "We mustn't look, Waitstill; your father don't like it!"

"Who was the big man at the head, mother?"

"His name is Jacob Cochran, but you mustn't think or talk about him. He is very wicked!"

"He doesn't look any wicked than the others," said the child. "Who was the man that fell down in the road, mother, and the woman that knelt and prayed over him? Why did he fall, and why did she pray, mother?"

"That was Master Aaron Boynton, the schoolmaster, and his wife. He only made believe to fall down, as the Cochranites do; the way they carry on is a disgrace to the village, and that's the reason your father won't let us look at them."

"I played with a nice boy over to Boynton's," mused the child.

"That was Ivory, their only child. He is a good little fellow, but his mother and father will spoil him with their crazy ways."

"I hope nothing will happen to him for I love him," said the child bravely. "He showed me a bunnings bird's nest the first I ever saw, and the littlest!"

"Don't talk about loving him," cried the woman. "If your father should hear you he'd send you to bed without your porridge!"

"Father couldn't hear me, for I never speak when he's at home," said young Ivory. "And I'm used to going to bed without my porridge."

The river was still running under the bridge, but the current of time had swept Jacob Cochran out of sight, though not out of mind, for he had left here and there a disciple to preach his strange and uncertain doctrine. Waitstill, the child who never spoke in her father's presence, was a young woman now, the mistress of the house; the stepmother was dead and the baby a girl of seventeen.

The brick cottage on the hilltop had grown only a little shabbier. Deacon Farwell Baxter still slammed his door behind him every morning at 7 o'clock, and, without any such cheerful conventions as goodbyes to his girls, walked down to the bridge to open his store.

The day, properly speaking, had opened when Waitstill and Patience had left their beds at dawn, built the fire, fed the hens and turkeys and prepared the breakfast, while the deacon was milking the cows and milking the cows. Such minor "chores" as carrying water from the well, splitting kindling, chopping pine or bringing wood into the kitchen were left to Waitstill, who had a strong back or if she had not had never been married enough to mention the fact in her father's presence.

The almanac day, however, which opened with sunrise, had nothing to do with the real human day, which always began when Mr. Baxter slammed the door behind him and reached his high noon of delight when he disappeared from view. "It's opening the store shutters!" chanted Patience from the heights of a kitchen chair by the window. "Now he's taken his cane and beaten off the Boynton puppy that was sitting on the steps as usual. I do mean Ivory's dog" (here the girl gave a quick glance at her sister), "but Rodman's little yellow cow. Rodman must have come down to the bridge on some errand for Ivory. Isn't it odd when that dog has all the other store steps to sit upon he should choose father's when every evening in his body must tell him how father hates him and the whole Boynton family?"

"Father has no real cause that I ever heard of. But some dogs never know when they've had enough beating nor some people either," said Waitstill, speaking from the pantry.

"Don't be gloomy when it's my birthday, sis. Now he's opened the door and kicked the cat. All is ready for business at the Baxter store."

"I wish you weren't quite so free with your tongue, Patty."

"Somebody must talk," retorted the girl, jumping down from the chair and shaking back her mop of red gold curls. "I'll put this hateful, childish, rollicking comb in and out just once more, then it will disappear forever. This very afternoon up goes my hair!"

"You know you will be of no use unless you braid it very plainly and neatly. Father will take notice and make you smooth it down."

"Father hasn't looked me square in the face for a year, but he won't let me braid and nothing can make it quite plain and neat, thank goodness! Let us be thankful for small mercies, as Jed Morril said when the lightning struck his mother-in-law and skipped his wife."

"Patty, I will not permit you to repeat those tavern stories, they are not worthy on the lips of a girl!" And Waitstill came out of the pantry with a shadow of disapproval in her eyes and in her voice.

Patty dug her arms around her sister temptingly and pulled out the waves of her hair so that it reflected her face. "It'll be good," she said, "and oh, Waitstill, let's invent some sort of cheap happiness for today! I shall never be seventeen again and we have so many troubles. Let's put one of the cows in the horse's stall and see what will happen! Or let's spread up our beds with the head at the foot and put the chest of drawers on the other side of the room, or let's make candy! Do you think father would use the molasses if we only use a cupful? Couldn't we strain the milk, but leave the churning and the dishes for an hour or two, just once? If you say 'yes' I can think of something wonderful to do!"

"He's opening the store shutters."

"What is it?" asked Waitstill, relenting at the sight of the girl's eager, roguish face.

"Pierce my ears!" cried Patty. "Say you will!"

"Oh! Patty, Patty, I am afraid you are given over to vanity! I don't let you wear earrings without father's permission."

"Why not? Lots of church members wear them, so it can't be a mortal sin. Father is against all adornments, but that's because he doesn't want to buy them. You're always said I should have your mother's coral pendants when I was old enough. Here I am, seventeen today, and Dr. Perry says I am already a well favored young woman. I can pull my hair over my ears for a few days, and when the loaves are all made and baked even father can't make me fill them up again. Besides, I'll never wear the earrings at home!"

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" sighed Waitstill, who had used her voice. "If only I was wise enough to know how we could keep from these little deceits, yet have any liberty or comfort in life!"

YOU CAN'T EARN MONEY WHEN YOU'RE LAID UP

There are a lot of people in this town who cannot afford to be laid up. For many of you find that you can, but certainly some of you can't, for as soon as you are sick, your wages stop and worry and debts begin to pile up. The sensible thing for you to do, as soon as you feel run-down and worn out, no matter what the cause, is to take something just as quick as you can to build up strength and health. Make yourself more comfortable and provide against serious illness.

We don't believe there is any other medicine made that will do so much towards saving your health and thus helping you save your money as Rexall's Oil Emulsion. It is a medicine that gets right at the trouble and relieves it by getting the nerves, enriching the blood, and giving new strength and health to the whole body. It doesn't do this by means of alcohol or habit-forming drugs, but contains pure power is due to pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites, long endorsed by successful physicians. It is a tonic value, the other for its tonic value. Here, for the first time, they are combined, and the result is a real nerve, blood and body-building medicine—a real strengthener that we are proud to tell you about. You don't need to hesitate in using it, because it doesn't do all we say it will and satisfy you in every way, it will cost you nothing. If it doesn't make you strong and well again, come back and get your money. It will be given to you without word or question, and only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us.

Prior to his departure for the west last week Mr. Alex. McEachern, who had been a most efficient employee of the Grand Trunk Railway, was waited upon by the other employees and presented with a Souvenir in the shape of two pipes. Mr. McEachern was sorry to cut across the tie he had formed and those to whom he said good-bye were just as sorry to see him go.

The rumor is still going that the Grand Trunk will take off the 4 p.m. train about the 22nd inst. and that the 11.30 a.m. train from London will arrive here about 12.30. Just what will be done no one seems to know, but it will not be surprising if we lose one train. Our service during the past few years has been exceptionally good and if the people have stopped travelling, and freight decreased, the Grand Trunk cannot be expected to continue the present service.

The patriotic sale put on by Robinson & Co. Saturday, and conducted by the ladies was quite a success. The ladies showed wonderful adaptability and made excellent clerks and waited upon the customers with a great deal of ability. From morning until evening they were kept going pretty busily, and the result was the patriotic fund is the richer by $65.00 the 20 per cent of the cash sale of that day. The store was very prettily decorated, and the Union-Jack was much in evidence.

The Sunny South Minstrel troupe sustained their reputation Saturday night and in spite of the fact that it is a war year they had a bumper house. Last summer when the war broke out, they were playing in the Ottawa Valley and they could scarcely get an audience together. Their houses have been slim as a rule this season due to the war, but on Saturday night the seating capacity of the town hall was taxed to the utmost and the manager was happy. Probably more than one-half of the audience came from the country, and as the show was advertised exclusively in The Echo it shows that advertisements in The Echo bring good results. The Indians from Cape Croker turned out in large numbers to hear this colored troupe. The show was pronounced high class by everyone, and this troupe is always assured of a full house in this town.

Canadian Echo Contest Proves Great Success

Remarkable Increase in Circulation—Miss Margaret Sutherland Wins Piano—Miss Florence O'Hara is a Close Second

Millions of Votes Poured in by Candidates in the Last Two Days of the Contest. Sensational Finish on Saturday Night

Judges' Report

We, the undersigned judges, after carefully auditing the returns of the Echo $4000 voting contest, find the following candidates winners of the prizes awarded:

Miss Margaret Sutherland 2902900 Winner of $750 Weber Player Piano.
Miss Florence O'Hara 2636200, winner of the second prize solitaire diamond ring.
Miss Jennie Atkinson 1426900, winner of the third prize solitaire diamond ring.

Miss Ethel Huston 1432400 who wins a beautiful gold watch.
Mr. R. E. W. Tuckley 1369900, who wins a beautiful gold watch.

Miss Dorothy Dobson 1134000, who wins a beautiful gold watch.

Miss Jennie Lawrence 1085600.
Signed: CHARLES K. MASTERS
J. E. JACKSON
A. L. JACKSON

The Echo contest which has for the past seven weeks held the undivided attention of the Public and Candidates alike is at a close. Miss Margaret Sutherland was the successful candidate to win the Player Piano, while Miss Florence O'Hara, who has for six long weeks held her position, finished a close second. Miss Sutherland, who was a long term subscriber, after while Miss O'Hara, with a lot of the same, did excellent work for the increase of the Echo.

Miss Jennie Atkinson, of Hepworth, and Miss Huston, of Waleley, were in close touch with the two leaders.

There were millions of votes recorded on the closing night of the contest. The piano was won but it was also earned.

The circulation of The Echo has gone up in leaps and bounds and that is where The Echo benefits by the contest. It was not in the money that came in that The Echo saw its reward, but in the widely increased circulation and the popularity it would gain in giving the valuable awards. As matters stand at the present time the Echo stands pre-eminent in its field of competition in circulation.

Person's Magazine will be undoubtedly appreciated by all its new readers, these, of which, will all receive their January issue.

The contest was run on a clean, sound and honest basis. This was known by everyone who was connected or at any ways close to the interior of its conduct.

The campaign was conducted by R. K. MacAlpine, of the Canadian Circulation Co., Toronto, Canada. Mr. MacAlpine has made many friends, during his short stay in Warton and hopes to be back before very long again.

Pedwell Has Rough Trip

The tug Pedwell, heavily loaded with sacks of peas left Lions Head Sunday morning and when opposite Cape Croker struck some heavy seas which came nearly swamping her. Three huge waves struck her in quick succession going over her decks and filling the hold with water. The fire was put out, and with what steam they had up they immediately set the pumps working and made for Cape Croker. When they got in near the shore the engines died and in a short time the tug started drifting up again. The distress signal was blown and the Jones came to their assistance. It was necessary to throw about seventy-five sacks of peas overboard to keep the boats head above water as she was heavily loaded forward. The crew had the life boats in the water ready for any emergency that might take place, but they arrived safe and sound in Warton about 7.30 Sunday evening.

COLPOYS BAY

Last Saturday Mrs. Fred Eggleton and children left the village en route to Montreal. She sails for England on Monday. Warton and Colpoys Patriotic Fund furnished her ticket. As Mrs. Eggleton's people are all in England it is only natural she would wish to be with them. "Maude," Mr. C. E. Whiche's 27 year old driver was put out of existence by the rifle-route last week the most humane way of treating worn-out animals.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and family met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver on Thursday night when their neighbors presented Mrs. Lewis with a silver butter dish and knife and Mr. Lewis with a pipe. The Women's Institute also presented Mrs. Lewis with half a dozen silver teaspoons. We are sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. Lewis leaving as they were very good neighbors and will be missed very much from our community. We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and family a safe journey to their new home in the west.

Under the Weather.

The Editor of The Echo asks its readers to be as lenient as possible this week as he is laid on the shelf. Last Friday night he had the misfortune to fracture a rib and he will not be on the firing line for a week or two. It was not the work of a German shell, but a simple fall in the house off a stool and his anatomy cracked in such a way that he felt it right then, and has so far felt it ever since. Those who have had broken ribs know what he is talking about. All others have a theoretical knowledge. It is the pain, and not being able to move without injury to the sore spot which make you know you are up against the real thing. All who have likewise ever been laid up has his sympathy, although it is a little late to give it.

BOYERS BAY

Sleigh bells are heard once more in this vicinity.

OXENDEN

All the hilltops are covered with snow, and it's winter fairly.

Miss Mabel Loney's birthday party was a decided success. Over forty young people gathered at Miss Loney's home on Saturday evening and enjoyed themselves. Everything was very nice, an elegant supper was provided and all went as merry as wedding bells. Miss Mabel received many nice presents and all went home in good time, hoping to be called back again next year.

Next Sabbath the representative of the Dominion Alliance, Rev. Mr. Jackson will address the congregation here.

The following Sunday is the gentleman's Sunday. We hope the church will be well filled on both occasions.

We are pleased to report Mrs. W. B. Reeve is regaining her health.

Shot Two Lynx

Last week while Russell Pope was rabbit hunting in McMillen's burn he noticed a rabbit running, and knowing the bounds were not after it he thought it might be a fox chasing it, so instead of shooting the rabbit he waited to see what was after it. The rabbit was scarcely out of sight when two lynx, one of them measuring over three feet in length, came along and he shot them both. He is justly proud of his trophies of the woods and will have them mounted.

TOBERMORY

Owing to the rough weather our friend the City of Meaford was able to pay us but one visit last week. As usual it carried a large amount of freight for Golden's store and for people who are laying in their winter store of provisions etc.

On Monday last the fish tug Evelyn and Glencas left for Owen Sound where they will lay up for the winter. Capt. Mathewson and engineer Melville of the Glencas returned home on Thursday to the Meaford.

Mr. Mann visited the village Friday with a fine span of colts which he is breaking in.

Preparations are being made for the erection of a shelter for the soldiers at the wireless station. The shelter will be made of zinc and lined with heavier board. The storm Thursday night hindered the construction of the shelter and caused the soldiers much inconvenience.

Mr. Murphy has the contract for supplying the lumber for the soldiers shanty and expects to start up his mill next week.

Messrs. Matthews and Melligan motored over Thursday from Warton with Mr. Reiny the wireless operator.

The chopping mill is kept busy providing the winter's supply of shorts.

BIRTHS

SKENE—On Nov. 16 to John Skeene and wife, a son.

Let The Echo quote you on your next printing. We guarantee the work will be satisfactory—quality the very best nothing sloppy turned out of this office and our prices will satisfy as well.

"One of the most influential agricultural papers in the Dominion," is the way others refer to the Weekly Sun of Toronto. It is a paper which appeals to the wide awake farmers. Independent and fearless, it has always guarded the best interests of Canadian Agriculture. Aside from that, its accurate and carefully compiled market reports and summaries give the reader a practical grasp of market conditions. "You have saved us dollars," is the repeated recommendation of hundreds of its readers. The Sun is on the ground, and it is not influenced by any packing houses or commission merchants. It stands for farmers alone, every day in the year. It is the farmer's friend, you ought to be a reader.

Our Home Guards

Warton has now a home guard composed of:
August Miller—Captain
D. Fletcher—Drill Instructor
Thos. Davidson—First Lieutenant
G. Kastner—Second Lieutenant
T. C. Allan—Color Sergeant.
and with them are associated more than forty others who have banded themselves together for the purposes of defence.

Last Thursday night Col. Hugh Clark M. P. Kincardine, addressed a public meeting upon the burning issue of the day. His theme was right will triumph over might, and consequently he can see only one end to the present war. At the close of the meeting the above guard was formed and the members will meet regularly for practice. A few years ago such a precaution would not have been considered, but we are now a military nation. We are at war and we must be prepared for any event. It is not at all likely the home guards of Canada will ever be called upon for duty but should this country ever be invaded then Canada will have men to send to the front who will defend our homes as the veterans did during the days of the Fionian raid.

Thin Hogs Not Accepted

The following letter from the William Davies Packing Company was received by a drover in Warton, and these letters are being sent out to all parts of Ontario. The firmer will see that his hogs must be in good shape before being shipped or they will not be accepted.

Wingham, Ont., Nov. 9th 1914.

Dear Sir,—At the moment we are receiving a too great percentage of small hogs, some of them well finished and others very thin. Doubtless this is to a great extent due to the relative prices of feed, and live hogs, but nevertheless it must be stopped.

This is to notify you that beginning this week, we will make a reduction of 50c per hundred on all hogs weighing 125 lbs. and under, delivered Toronto. This will mean hogs weighing up to 140 lbs. F. O. B. This applies to fat hogs only. We will not accept thin hogs at any price, and they will be held at Toronto to subject to the order of the drover who sent them. The proper place for this class of hogs, is with the farmer, as we have no means of feeding them in Toronto, nor are we allowed to do so under the Dominion Inspection Act, consequently we cannot handle them at all.

Yours truly,
CHAS. P. MCNAB.

The Canadian Jubilee Singers

Personal Testimony about The Canadian Jubilee Singers who will appear in the Town Hall, Saturday night Nov. 21st under the Auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church.

Madison, Wis.

The Spring Festival course was opened Tuesday evening at the Baptist Church. It is seldom in the north that a refined audience has had the opportunity to see cultured colored people at such an advantage as at the Jubilee concert. The people who constitute the Canadian Jubilee Singers Company are of the Booker T. Washington or Du Bois type. In addition, they know how to entertain. With each member of the company an artist, the combined effect was a wholesome and refreshingly entertaining one.—Madison Democrat.

Parkburg, Ia. The Canadian Jubilee Singers gave a fine concert in our new Church here last evening to the delight and profit of our people. The singers are all well cultured and we found them ladies and gentlemen in every respect. Each number on the program was endorsed and the company responded to the calls in a very pleasing manner. This company is worthy of a large patronage and may be invited into any of our churches without hesitation.—N. F. Norton, Pastor.

Hear the Canadian Jubilee Singers in the town hall Saturday night Nov. 21st under the auspices of Ladies Aid Methodist Church.

Kincardine

The Kincardine Civilian Rifle Association has been instructed to turn in its rifles to Militia Headquarters.

Louis Hartwick lost a valuable four-year old mare on Friday morning in a very unusual manner. He was down at lake getting a load of water. A cold had followed him and he left the wagon to drive it away. The team got scared of something and ran away along the shore. Near the tide they ran into the lake. One of them fell and was drowned.

A number of reports have been circulated that flying machines have been seen and heard at night in Kincardine Township passing toward the lake. We heard nothing, but on investigation it proved to be wild goose. Don't get excited about invasion by flying machines. Anything the Kaiser wants to know about this country can be found out without investigation by flying machines at night.

Hanover

Mr. Teddy Bice had the misfortune to break his leg on Monday night of this week at Mr. Joseph Whiteman's in Henick while getting over a fence.

An oil painting of the British Lion with suitable military background has been attracting considerable attention in the window of the Grimsby Furniture Co. The artist is Mr. Rueben Juckson, one of the Hanover boys with the second contingent.

Mrs. Newlove of North Dakota now visiting Mrs. Wilson Hill, fell last Sunday evening and fractured her right arm just above the wrist joint.

Joseph Menor an employee of the Spies Furniture Co. had his right hand injured yesterday morning by a piece of board flying from a machine and striking him. It required five stitches to close the wound. Mrs. Menor returned to town last week from Berlin where she underwent an operation for a growth on her tongue. The operation was performed successfully in the Berlin Hospital by Dr. Harry Lucknow.

Warkenton

The proposal of the G. T. R. to take off two of the mail and passenger trains coming into Warkenton, and thus give four instead of six trains in and out here per day, is raising much bitter feeling in local circles, besides being generally condemned by other towns on the Southampton and Owen Sound lines, which are being similarly affected. The new change, which will come into force next Monday will result in the cutting off of the 10.10 a.m. train from the south which brings all the morning papers here, and instead of getting our papers before dinner, we will have to wait until the arrival of the next train which will reach here about 12.30 or nearly 1 p.m. In time of war when the latest news is so eagerly sought, this will be a marked inconvenience to Warkenton people. The 11.25 train going south will be discontinued, thus giving us only two trains down, namely at 7.10 a.m. and about 3 p.m. The train going north will be about 12.30 a.m. and 9.10 p.m. As far as the Trade in many other towns are said to be, passing strong resolutions of protest against the change, the Warkenton Board of Trade should meet and add its objections not to the general chorus of disapproval. If the kick was loud and hard enough the Grand Trunk might think twice before inaugurating such an unpopular scheme.

Two cases were heard by Judge Klein at the Division Court here last week. The first was an action brought by J. J. Schumacher against Ford Motor for an amount of $37.85, and costs of $2.45. Judgment was given for the total amount. The other case ventilated at the court was a suit brought by Mrs. Ann Dunlop of near Chapsco against the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for a claim of $52.00 insurance on a suit supposed to have been killed by lightning. The court it seems, was deceived dead in a field and the Farmers company claims that indication on the carcass didn't show death by lightning. The Judge after hearing the evidence, reserved decision on the matter.

An immense quantity of foul is being shipped from Warkenton three days a week, thus one thousand live chickens being sent by the Canadian Express Company from here on Saturday last. This is probably a record shipment, and shows the multitude of poultry being marketed this fall.

Wes Russell, who was committed on Sept. 24th, 1913, to three years in Kingston Penitentiary for cutting fire on Aug. 11th to the Hartley House here and stating here, when the huge a rupture was destroyed, returned on Monday night to town, having been let out on parole after serving a little over a year of his time. During his incarceration in the big prison Russell was put to work at the tailoring trade, and as a result he has probably become quite proficient with the needle and thread. We understand he has accepted a job at Truax's mill here.

Several big mice, weighing many hundreds of pounds and containing blubber, and clothing of all kinds, were sent from Warkenton last week as the gift from the people of this section to the Belgian people. The exact value of the shipment cannot be ascertained but it is estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of $1000. Judge Klein has given his decision that Hotels where Local Option is in force are not liable to pay a business tax. Judge Doyle of Ooderick, we understand, has given judgment to the same effect.

Chesley

The treasurer of Chesley Patriotic League has received up to date $46.75, and has paid out $135.65. The payments are as appended.—treasurer's books $1.50, printing $5.75, D. G. Leitch, badges etc. $10.00, tickets for flag day sale to concert $2.00, telephones 75c, ribbon for badges $1.35, band to recruit $8.00, donation to recruits $15, railway expenses to recruits $4.20, D. Robertson bags for coats $75.00.

Carroll farmers contributed only 500 bushels of oats. It is reported, to the Patriotic Fund. The farmers' basket that would represent only $200 from the wealthiest township in Bruce County, a T.P. with an assessment of $2,742,330, the highest in this county. When the December session of Bruce County Council is held the Carroll representatives will be compelled to vote either for or against a large county grant which will compel everyone in Carroll as elsewhere to pay according to his assessment. Grants to the Patriotic Fund have been lodged by the L. gladiators. This will bring up Carroll's contribution though it will not be a free will offering.

On Saturday the bouquets of pressed maple leaves tied with pretty red ribbons supplied by every school in Elderslie were shipped by Reeve Cars to the High Commissioner's office in London, Eng. The girls in Elderslie schools have been collecting these hand-made, variegated leaves since Oct. 1st. A card with the name of every school section and in some cases the names of the collectors, is attached to each bouquet. The secretary of the H. C.M.C. office should send them to the Canada contingent before it leaves for France and at the sight of the dear old emblem of Canada, our boys will hurry up with the job of marching to Berlin in order to get back to the land of maple. Well done Elderslie girls!

On Saturday Nov. 7th another of Elderslie's old pioneers passed away. About 5 p.m. Mr. Robert Montgomery ate his supper and shortly afterwards complained of feeling unwell and about six o'clock expired. Deceased was born in the County of Tyrone, Ireland, and came to Canada with his sister, the late Mrs. Wm. Crickbank and after a short stay with friends in Streetsville, they came to Elderslie in 1865. Mr. Montgomery worked on lot 30 near Elderslie where he lived till the time of his death. He was of a retiring disposition and was well thought of in the community. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and his funeral to St. Andrew's cemetery on Tuesday, which was largely attended, was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hewitt. In addition to his widow he leaves a family of four sons and one daughter as follows: William in Owen Sound, Robt., a conductor on a train running out of Toronto, Harry, Mat and Mrs. Bauserman at home. Mr. Montgomery was 74 years old.

The harness and the auto both suffered considerably and Mr. Gibbons expects the Elderslie man to pay for the damage as he claims he was on the wrong side of the road.

Last Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Carey were driving home from a trip to the country their horse shied on High street on the Hill east of Little Lake and the buggy was upset in the ditch. Mrs. Carey had an arm broken and at her advanced age it is proving a serious trial to her. Mr. Carey escaped without serious injury.

Mr. H. D. Broad received word last week of the disappearance of his brother-in-law, Dr. A. L. Donaldson, of Dundas, Dr. Donaldson had been out with a guide hunting on chain of lakes connected with Rainsy River, and did not meet his wife (nee Clara Broad) at the time appointed. Her brother, Mr. Frank Broad has been up there since the time searching for trace of the missing man. They were seen by different parties the day they disappeared, the last time by men who saw them in a heavily laden canoehead on the lake. A firm in the lake hid them from view, and when the men following got around the bend the canoe and men had disappeared but they found the paddles floating in the vicinity. The lake at that point is 20 feet deep so it is not expected that the bodies will be recovered. Much sympathy is expressed in town for the wife who is an old Southampton girl and has been married less than a year.

NERVOUS WOMEN

Can Only Find Relief by Toning the Nerves With New Rich Blood.

The woman who "dies to pieces" over the least nervous excitement—iron fads and loses her appetite, looks pale and weary under the eyes, the lines about the mouth and forehead deepen and lengthen, the eyes become sunken, the face drawn and the complexion sallow.

The trouble is nervousness and if the system is not re-toned, the nerves properly nourished, nervous collapse and every richness may easily follow. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will save you from this distressing affliction. These pills make the new, rich blood that nourishes and tones the nerves and banishes nervousness.

How the "Economizer" Works

EVERY Gurney-Oxford Range is equipped with an "Economizer."

This is the most important stove invention of recent years, and is not to be had on any stove but the Gurney-Oxford.

Think of its convenience; instead of having a number of dampers to regulate, you have only one. Move the handle of the Economizer in one direction and the fire is checked and maintained at a low ebb. It does not go out, but it consumes least possible fuel. If a bright, hot fire is wanted, another turn of the handle produces it, quickly and surely.

The convenience and efficiency of the Economizer is not equalled by the damping arrangements on any other stove.

And the arrangement of the flues in a Gurney-Oxford is remarkable.

The oven is enveloped in heat—every inch and corner gets an equal share of heat.

The heat goes up or down steadily and evenly. It never fails to cook successfully.

And the Gurney-Oxford Grates present an extraordinary large surface to the air. This means perfect combustion, a bright, intense fire. The coal is entirely burnt. It does not smoulder without giving off heat, half stifled to death.

Let us demonstrate these features of the Gurney-Oxford. The purchase of a stove can mean so much in comfort and economy—or extravagance and disappointment—that it is a serious thing to buy the wrong stove. The Gurney-Oxford never disappoints.

The foul supper at Arkwright last Thursday night under the auspices of the L.O.L. was the biggest success in the history of the lodge. Over two hundred people were seated at the tables in the Township Hall. Between five and six o'clock and there was an abundance of choice viands. At the conclusion of the supper an entertainment was given in the Methodist Church, Mr. C. H. Green, of Southampton, acting as chairman. A splendid program was rendered, the address of Prof. Crow, of the Ranges Indian Reserve being especially interesting. The proceeds for the evening amounted to over $200.00.

After a long and distressing illness from heart trouble, which necessitated her removal from Elfric to Southampton hospital, Mrs. James Rowe passed away on Sunday, November 1st. The remains were removed to her late home at Elfric on Monday evening and the funeral took place on Wednesday, Nov. 4, to Tara cemetery. Mrs. Rowe was the third daughter of the late John B. McInnis of Keady, who married Mr. James Rowe 44 years ago and they settled as pioneers on the farm where they had resided. Deceased was 63 years of age when she died to mourn their loss, her husband, two sons and three daughters also two sisters. that time was a patient sufferer. She was of a cheerful disposition, loving mother and respected by every one who made her acquaintance. Mrs. Barnes was born in England and was twice married. She came to Canada in 1861 with her husband, the trip across the ocean taking several weeks. Their first home was in the St. Lawrence River and her husband was drowned. A few years afterwards she married Mr. John Barnes and they settled in Ararat, Ont. Mrs. Barnes died a few years ago. Mrs. Barnes leaves a family of seven, Mr. Alex. Brown, of Tara; Miss E. M. ## Richards QUICK NAPTHA THE WOMAN'S SOAP

Editorial

TARA and Shallow Lake will vote on the repeal of Local Option while Hepworth will vote to obtain it.

IN addressing a public meeting in Walkerton recently Mr. D. Robertson, K. C., advocated loyalty to the community of which we live and said women were the greatest transgressors as they were always sending orders to mail order houses where they think they can obtain bargains. This kind of talk would indicate that either Mr. Robertson is a fearless talker, or he is a good runner.

The early part of November last year brought sadness to many homes on account of the loss of lives on the lakes during the big storm. This year there has not been a single fatality. The boats are not run on schedule time if there is danger. The supreme thing now is not to take any risks at all. However it took the sad tragedy of last November to teach this precaution.

The Auction Sale

THE credit auction sale is passing away. Years ago they were semi-annual events. Every Spring and Fall they were held in large numbers. It was the great day in the country. All the farmers dropped their work and attended, no matter whether they needed anything or not, and the bidding was often keen, articles going often for more than their value. The credit auction sale had its place, it served a purpose.

Money on the farm was not so plentiful then as now, and time to pay was a great convenience. But a change has come—it is now too trouble to sell stock. In fact practically every thing stock is sold it is for cash—and the farmers are not wanting second hand implements. Consequently the auction sale is becoming a thing of the past, and the County Council will be obliged to put the license at $3 per year, or thereabout or no one will take out a license. Auction sales are certainly passing away.

TERRIBLE IVAN'S LIBRARY.

Supposed Burned in 1812. May Be Still in Existence.

A short time ago a professor of theology in the university at St. Petersburg purchased at a shop in Moscow a manuscript copy of the Gospel dating from prior to A. D. 1000. On examination it was found to have belonged to the great library collected in his youth by Ivan the Terrible, when he believed that he had a divine mission. This library was supposed to have been burned in the great fire of Moscow of 1812. On a subsequent visit to Moscow the professor traced his book to the family of a laborer, who said that he had found it with several similar volumes in a subterranean passage near the Kremlin.

The famous library of Ivan the Terrible is now supposed to be still hidden in some underground vault, which the efforts of generations have hitherto failed to discover. It was Ivan the Terrible—whose reputation as a great ruler has been obscured by the fascination of his extraordinary excesses—who established the printing press in Russia.

There is a wide field of conjecture as to what might not come to light in the event of this curious library one day being discovered. Ivan the Terrible was in close communication with all the rulers from London to Peking. One branch of knowledge is almost certain to be well represented in this lost library, and that is the science of black magic. It is equally likely that new codes of Holy Scripture may yet come to light for Ivan the Terrible understood how to print the Scriptures in the vulgar tongue. Only one thing is certain, that such a library existed and has never been found, nor is it even known to have perished in any of the numerous fires that devastated Moscow. References in the archives to its existence, as well as to the existence of the subterranean roadway, are sufficient to whet the keenest curiosity, but not enough to afford much practical assistance to the investigator.

ANCIENT MAKE-UPS.

Rouge and Flesh Colors Have Been Found in Classic Rome.

Thousands of years ago the art of "make-up" as practiced in the dressing-rooms of actors and actresses of to-day, was known to the Egyptians and Romans. Proof of this can be seen only has to study the many interesting theatrical relics in the British Museum.

The Egyptians supply us with what is probably the oldest wig in the world—a wig, it is true, that was in no way compared with the drama, but one that will compare favorably with the finest creations of the theatrical perfructurer. Strangely enough, the tresses are made of plaited crope hair, exactly similar to that used by modern actors for moustaches.

In the Graeco-Roman department, says the "Era Annual," may be seen the cosmetic box of a Roman lady. The white and flesh-colored chalks and rouges are similar to those used for "making-up" in the days previous to the invention and manufacture of green-paint. There are also two objects of the theatrical life of the past that have their replicas in the theatres of the present day. One is a Latin "moult," "Circus Plenus," which was occasionally to be found outside a Roman theatre, and corresponded to the familiar modern proscenium, "House Full." The other is a plain ivory disc displayed in the theatre exhibit, but which would hardly attract attention. This common-looking object is a theatre check pass, but whether of a temporary or permanent character cannot be ascertained.

Much the richest department in stage objects, however, is the Graeco-Roman room, where one case of stage exhibits may be seen. Here are to be found specimens of the masks worn by actors, which were modelled according to strict rules. They were made of terra-cotta, and must have been very uncomfortable to wear. There are also numerous statues in bronze and terra-cotta of actors wearing their masks in the various characters they impersonated. In addition to models of masks of every description and kind.

The Dignified Course.

An army examiner once had a candidate before him who apparently was unable to answer the simplest question. At last the examiner lost his temper and, with sarcastic emphasis, said to the youth before him, "Suppose, sir, that you were a captain in command of a company of infantry; that in your rear was an impassable river, and on either side of you towering perpendicular rocks of unbreakable height; that before you stood the enemy, a hundred men to certain; what, sir, would you do in this emergency?"

"Sir," said the aspirant to military honors, "I should resign."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Aurora Borealis.

The aurora borealis, or northern dawn, is an electrical phenomenon which in high northern latitudes, especially in winter, illuminates the skies with a brilliant light. As the streams of light have a tremendous motion, they are called in many places the "infernal dance." They assume many shapes and a variety of colors, from a pale red or yellow to a deep red or blood color, and in the northern latitudes they serve to illuminate the earth and cheer the gloom of the long winter nights. The connection of the aurora displays with the disturbance of the magnetic needle is now regarded as an ascertained fact.

The Roman Forum.

The Forum Romanum, the first that was erected in Rome, served equally for the purposes of trade and all public meetings as well as for the administration of justice by the consuls and other Roman magistrates. Later on, when the forum numbered some eighteen or twenty, they were divided into two classes, some for public meetings and the proceedings of the law courts and others for the various requirements of trade. The Roman forum corresponded to the agora or market place, of the Greeks, and no Roman city was without this important centre of judicial, political and commercial life.

Japanese Hairdressers For Men.

The professional coiffeur for men is a much older occupation here than that for women. There are records as far back as the thirteenth century of the samurai as a profession, for the samurai especially were very particular as to how the hair was done up, thick as a profession the samurai was of somewhat later growth. It may be said, however, that during the later Tokugawa days the men appear to have appreciated in their wives and daughters the same careful attention to style of hair as was observable among the lords and ladies of the court.

Utterly Selfish.

Nellie—That Clara Shreve is just the meanest, most utterly selfish girl I ever saw. She never thinks of any one but herself.

Dora—Tell me about it.

Nellie—I was in there the other evening for a few moments, and while I was there Mr. Spooner called. It wasn't long before he requested me to play. He's passionately fond of music, you know. Well, what do you think that girl did? She asked him to come to the piano and turn the music for her, so that I couldn't talk to him.

Getting On.

"How did you come to buy that second-hand table?" exclaimed Mrs. Climbner's husband. "We don't need it."

"That shows how much you know," replied his wife. "In using the drawers I found a bunch of the most select visiting cards in the city. They will look lovely in our hall."

ANCIENT SURGERY.

Instruments of Two Thousand Years Ago Are Exhibited in London.

A set of 37 very remarkable ancient Greek surgical instruments has been discovered near the site of Kolophon, in Ionia, and has been brought to England. The instruments (says a correspondent of The London Times) show a type of workmanship unequalled in any other ancient specimens, and generally reveal the very great progress in surgery which the ancients achieved. The date, though somewhat uncertain, is probably the first or second century A. D. With two exceptions, all the instruments are of bronze. The blades of the knives were originally of steel, but in each case this metal has been almost completely destroyed by oxidation (rust).

It is an interesting fact that in ancient times knives were made either of stone or bronze. The custom was followed, not because iron was unknown, but because that metal was held in superstitious fear. Amongst the five pairs of forceps or grippers in the find is a large and beautifully made instrument, the handles of which are shaped to represent two dolphins. This is probably a pair of polypus forceps, used for removing growths. The "bites" of the teeth are strong and close. Another interesting pair of forceps is that used for extracting arrows and lance-heads from wounds. An elevator for raising depressed bone is another interesting exhibit. Its presence in the collection would seem to prove that after battle, efforts must have been made to treat surgically even the most serious wounds of the skull.

Modern surgeons are apt to imagine that brain surgery is a recent discovery, and that operations for the elevation of pieces of depressed bone were invented within living memory.

Another and still more remarkable brain instrument is the "drill-bore" for operating a skull trephine. This instrument proved, a very great puzzle at first, and was supposed to represent some sort of measuring appliance. Research, however, has shown that it is a how which, when fitted in a string, was used to rotate a bone drill or skull trephine—very much as drills and trephines are still occasionally rotated. Far from being a triumph of modern surgery, skull trephining or trepanning is a very ancient manoeuvre. Skulls have been discovered again and again showing trephine openings, and the natives of the South Sea Islands are actually known to practice the operation.

In classic times this was not undertaken, as at present, to relieve the pressure from an abscess or an effusion of blood, but to allow exit to the evil humors supposed to be troubling an insane or epileptic patient. That the Greek and Roman surgeons achieved good results is certain. Probably the purity of the atmosphere in which they worked made for some extent independent of antiseptics. They used mandragora juice or atropia as anaesthetics.

Ancestral Pride.

"Do you still want this genealogy?" asked the man who digs up such things.

"Sure, I do. Why not?"

"Well, I've found that your great-grandfather was hanged for murder, your great-grandfather was imprisoned for robbery, and your grandfather was tarred and feathered for beating his wife. That's not a very good record, is it?"

"I should say it is. Shows how my family is getting better each generation. In an improvement on the whole bunch—never been in jail yet. Let me have those records. I'm proud of 'em!"

Willing To Tell.

Sometimes it is a pleasure to answer questions, even if the questioner may put them in an unpleasant way. "What do you do for a living?" asked a lawyer, frowning horribly at a jockey-faced young man who was undergoing cross-examination.

"I, sir," answered the witness, hastily diving into his side pocket, has the agent for Dr. Korker's celebrated corn and bunion destroyer, greatest remedy of the age, used by all the crowned heads of Europe, never known to fail to remove the most obdurate corns in less than twenty-four hours or money cheerfully refunded!—Here the court interferred.

Whales.

The largest of all mammals are not the elephants, but the whales. A large elephant weighs about six tons, but the largest whale reaches the immense weight of 150 tons and would furnish four carloads of flesh and blubber. About forty different kinds of whales and dolphins are known, and, although they live in the open sea and look like fish, they are not fish at all, but are true mammals, breathing air and feeding their young on milk. Like cows and horses.

Romance of Few Words.

MILLER LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Esch were over to Lions Head on Monday. Mrs. Esch was getting some dental work done.

Dr. Roy Hacking was up here on Tuesday attending Mr. James Rae's little girl who is very sick.

A big load of camp supplies passed through here on Thursday going to Halfway Rock for the Johnston, Hunter & Crawford Co.

A snow storm raged here on Thursday night and Friday morning.

Mr. Dave Brough and son of Ferndale were at Martins on Friday night. Dave had a big load of camp supplies for Halfway Rock. He left home with the wagon then got sleigh but he had to leave the load at John Noble's as the roads were too bad to go any further.

Mr. and Mrs. John Noble were down to Stokes Bay on Saturday.

The township of Lindsay has very high taxes this year, but no one can very well complain as every one wanted good roads and roads cost money and if we expect our council to spend a lot of money on roads we may also expect to have to pay the price; of course Miller Lake section is extra high this year as the special school rate is high.

D. Martin was down to Stokes Bay on Saturday.

Mr. W. J. Rouse was down to Lions Head on Saturday. He came back on Sunday accompanied by his son William.

Mrs. Peter Brough and son Jim of Spary came up here on Saturday. They expect to stay up a few days getting their roots put away for the winter.

The Rev. Mr. Etherington came up here Saturday to preach on Sunday. Mrs. Etherington accompanied him up. This was her first trip up and she certainly got a nifty trip home on Sunday, as it rained all day.

D. Martin is just having about as busy a time as he would care to have. He first got an arm poisoned and then got some ribs cracked and so he has not been able to do very much for the last three or four weeks.

The Rev. Mr. James was in our settlement on Tuesday. He accompanied the Dr. up. They called at Martins on their way home as the Dr. wanted to see Mrs. H. Esch who is not feeling well.

A Weak Chested Boy

"My boy Frank seemed weak chested and took a very severe cold," writes Mrs. D. Sierans, Nickel, Man. "The many medicines used did not seem to benefit him, until we tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine and found it to be exactly what was wanted to cure him. No treatment is so thorough and effective as a cure for croup and bronchitis."

LIONS HEAD

Mr. Albert Foster, who was in Sask. for over a year returning home on Tuesday of last week the twelve year old daughter of Mr. John Bain, while riding on a wagon fell off breaking her arm. We understand that she is doing as nicely as can be expected.

Last Thursday night we had a nice fall of snow about six inches deep, but the wind and the rain on Sunday soon let us again with the mud. On Monday the wind changed and snow flurries were quite frequent during the day.

Mr. Heilert Strong and family have moved from the village to Gun Point, where he intends to work this winter. Mr. John West of Cape Chin purchased the farm of Edward Brooks last week.

Mr. Clark Southworth who is working at the lighthouse at Stokes Bay spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. Thomas Hoall of Hopewell was in town last Friday making necessary preparations for the burial of his infant who died that morning.

Messrs. Malcolm N. Smith and Malcolm McLeay, who have been at Vancou, B.C. for the last four years, passed through here on their way to their home at McCallum Corner and Lindsay.

Who are the busy people around here just now? Why the farmers who are drawing their grain to market. Peas have advanced to $1.70 and $1.75 per bushel. Why wouldn't it make the farmers smile at such prices?

The tag Pedwell while on her way to Winton with 1000 bags of peas Sunday became entangled. The Captain and his men threw overboard between 70 and 80 bags of peas when the tug Crawford under Captain Tyson came to the rescue and towed them to Winton.

Brin Bros have moved their stock into their store which leaves them plenty of room to display their goods. The new building is a great improvement to the village and a credit to the firm.

Messrs. E. Pettigrew and Paul Kington arrived in Winton last Monday in connection with the loaded peas on the Tag Pedwell.

A number from here attended the farewell party for the Lewis family at Mr. W. W. J. House. All report a good time and the party and the time in the snow storm.

We understand that the Episcopalian church at Babbly is making preparations to practice for their Christmas entertainment next week.

Mr. Thos. A. Brin had a number of men removing all his implements into his shop recently vacated by Brin Bros.

Mr. C. Watson made a business trip to Toronto last week.

Mr. Robert Shaw lifted lambs here last Saturday.

Mr. Charles Webster and family have moved from the farm to Lindsay to their residence in the village opposite the town hall.

Mr. Anderson representing Messrs. Lemon Bros. of Owen Sound was in town last week on business.

A number from here attended the Mr. Intyre-McCallum wedding on Wednesday Nov. 18th.

Mr. Duncan McLeay has sold his farm on the first concession to his brother Archie of Halfway Bay.

Mr. Angus McLeay of Lindsay did business here last week.

Mr. Archie Shearer of McCallum Corner was in town last Saturday.

Mr. W. J. House of Brinkman's Corner spent Saturday in town on business.

Mr. George Fries was up from Hopewell has worked for a furnace for his new residence.

One of the brothers of this community had a half dozen children sent to him by parcel post last week. What do you know about that? Any person who could give any information whether he turned up or whether he went north, south, east or west.

Mr. William Tyndall of Dyers Bay passed through here last Monday on his way to Winton and Owen Sound on business.

A heavy snowstorm is falling here at the present time it is accompanied by considerable wind so the snow will be piled in places quite a depth.

Relief at Once Cure Certain

Conclusive Evidence That Dr. Chase's Ointment Cures Itching Piles.

Mr. John G. McDonald, Pictou, N.S. writes: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching piles, and found that the first application gave relief. After using a few boxes of the ointment I was completely cured, and can recommend it highly to all sufferers from this disease. You have my permission to use this letter for the benefit of others."

Mr. James M. Douglas, Superior Junction, Ont., writes: "For about six years I suffered from piles, and often could not work for two or three days at a time, so great was the suffering from pain and itching. I tried many treatments before I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. Two boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me, and for several months I have had no return of this annoying ailment."

There can be no doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most effective treatment obtainable for every form of piles. 60 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"We can't! The Lord couldn't expect us to bear all we bear," exclaimed of that other girl stoutly, do every day in the week: only our pleasures always have to be taken behind father's back. It's only me that's ever wrong, anyway, can you be always an angel. It's a burning shame, and you only twenty-one yourself. I'll pierce your ears if you say so and let you wear your own coral chain!"

"No, Patty! I've outgrown those longings years ago. When your mother died and I, a father and you and the house to me my girlhood, too, though I was only fourteen."

"It was only your lovely girlhood that died," insisted Patty stoutly. "The outside is as fresh as the paint on Uncle Baxter's new car. You've got the loveliest eyes and hair in Berthier, and you know it; besides, Ivory Boynton would tell you so if you didn't. Come and bore my ears, there's a darling!"

Waitstill passed a moment in her task of bread kneading. "Well," she answered critically, "at least we know where our father is."

"We do indeed. We also know that he is thoroughly casual about it."

"And, though people do talk about him, they can't say the things they say of Master Aaron Boynton. I don't believe father would ever run away and desert us."

"I fear not," said Patty. "I wish the angels would put the idea into his head, though, of course, it wouldn't be the angels. They'd be above it. It would have to be the old devil," said Ned Morrill, who called the evil one. But whoever did it the result would be the same—we should be deserted and live hellish after. Oh, to be deserted and left with you alone on this hill-top, what joy it would be!"

CHAPTER II.

Descent of the stairs. Waitstill, however, did not interfere further with Patty's impetuous speech. She knew that she was almost serving as an escape valve and that after the first "let off" she would be more rational.

"Of course we are mothered," continued Patty wistfully, "but poor Ivory is worse than mothered."

"No, not worse, Patty," said Waitstill, taking the bread board and moving toward the closet. "Ivory loves his mother, and she loves him with all her mind and heart. She has the best blood of New England flowing in her veins, and I suppose it was a great comfort for her to marry Aaron Boynton, clever and gifted though he was. Now Ivory has to protect her honor, duty, innocent creature—and hide her away from the gossip of the village. He is surely the best of sons, Ivory Boynton."

"She is a terrible care for him and like to spoil his life," said Patty. "There are cares that swell the heart and make it bigger and warmer, Patty, just as there are cares that shrivel it and leave it tired and cold. Love lightens Ivory's afflictions, but that is something you and I have to do without, so it seems."

"I suppose little Rodman is some comfort to the Boyntons, even if he is only ten?" Patty suggested.

"No doubt. He's a good little fellow, and, though it's rather hard for Ivory to be burdened for these last few years with the support of a child who's no nearer kin than a cousin, still, let's of use, including Mrs. Boynton and the house when Ivory's away. The schoolteacher says he is wonderful at his books and likely to be a great credit to the Boyntons some day or other."

"You've forgot to name our one great blessing, Waitstill, and I believe, anyway, you're talking to keep my mind off the earnings!"

"You mean we've each other? No, Patty, I never forget. Just day or night. It's that makes me willing to bear any burden father chooses to put upon us. Now the bread is set, but I don't believe I have the courage to put a needle into your tender flesh, Patty. I really don't."

"Nonsense! I've got the waxed silk all ready and chosen the right sized needle, and I'll promise not to jump or screech more than I can help. We'll make a tiny lead pencil dot right in the middle of the lobe, then you place the needle on it, shut your eyes and jab hard! I expect to faint, but when I'm conscious, we can decide which of us will pull the needle through to the other side. Probably it will be you. I'm such a coward. If it hurts dreadfully I'll have only one pierced today and take the other tomorrow, and if it hurts very dreadfully perhaps I'll go through with one earring. Aunt Abby Cole will say it's just odd enough to suit me!"

"You'll never go through with life with one tongue at the rate you use it now," cried Waitstill, "for it will never last you. Come, we'll take the workbasket and go out in the barn where no one will see or hear us."

"Good-bye! Come along!" and Patty clapped her hands in triumph. "Have you got the pencil and the needle and the waxed silk? Then bring the canister bottle to revive me, and the coral pendants, too, just to give me courage. Hurry up! It's 10 o'clock. I was born at sunrise, so I'm 'going on' eighteen and can't waste any time!"

Forwell Baxter was ordinarily called "Old Foxy" by the boys of the district and also, it is to be feared, by the men gathered for evening conference at the various taverns, or at one of the rival village stores.

He had a small farm of fifteen or twenty acres, with a pasture, a wood lot and a hayfield, but the principal source of his income came from trading. His sign bore the usual legend, "West India Goods and Groceries," and probably the most profitable articles in his store were rum, molasses, sugar and tobacco, but there were chests of rice, tea, coffee and spices, barrels of pork in brine, as well as piles of cotton and woolen cloth and sugar cooperage. These dainties were seldom renewed, for it was only a very bold child or one with an ungovernable appetite for sweets who would have spent his penny at Foxy Baxter's store.

unbelievable, colossal meanness. This no eclipsed every other passion in his mind and looked so brilliant and instantly in the foreground that had he cherished a second vice no one would have observed it, and if he really did have a casual virtue it could scarcely have reared its head in such ugly company.

It might be said, to defend the fair fame of the church, that Mr. Baxter's deaconhood did not include very active service in the courts of the Lord. He had "experienced religion" at fifteen and made profession of his faith, but all was made up by his and girls did the same in those days—their parents saw to that! If change of conviction or backsliding occurred later on that was not their business! At the ripe age of twenty-five he was selected to fill a vacancy and became a deacon, thinking it might be good for trade, as it was, for some years. He was very active at the time of the "Coeburne crisis" of those any defence of the creed that included lively detective work and incessant spying on his neighbors was particularly to his line, but for many years thereafter he had been regular in attendance at church, he had never officiated at communion and his deaconal services had gradually tapered into the passing of the contribution box, a task of which he never wearied. It was such a keen pleasure to make other people yield their pennies for a good cause without adding his own! Deacon Baxter had even been a widower for nine years, and the community had almost relinquished the idea of his seeking a fourth wife. This was a matter of some regret, for there was a general feeling that it would be a good thing for the Baxter girls to have some one to help with the housework and act as a buffer between them and their grim and frugal parent. As for the women of the village, they were mortified that the Deacon had been able to secure three wives and refused to believe that the universe held anywhere a creature brightenough enough to become his fourth.

The first, he it said, was a mere ignorant girl, and he a boardless youth of twenty, who may not have shown his true qualities so early in life. She bore him two sons, and it was a matter of comment at the time that she called them, respectively, Job and Moses, hoping that the endurance and meekness connected with these names might somehow help them in their future relations with their father. Pneumonia, coupled with profound discouragement, carried her off in a few years to make room for the second wife, Waitstill's mother, who was of different fiber and greatly his superior. She was a fine, handsome girl, the orphan daughter of an up-country gentleman who had died when she was eighteen, leaving her alone in the world and penniless.

Baxter, after a few days' acquaintance, drove into the doorway of the house where she was a visitor and, showing her his two curly headed boys, suddenly asked her to come and be their stepmother. She assented, partly because she had nothing else to do, and with her existence so far as she could see, and also because she fell in love with the children at first sight and forgot, as girls will, that it was their father whom she was marrying.

She was as plucky and clever and spirited as she was handsome, and made a brave fight of it with Foxy, being enough to bring a daughter into the world, to name her Waitstill, and start her a little way on her life journey—then she, too, gave up the struggle and died. Typhoid fever it was, combined with complete loss of illusions and a kind of despairing rage at having made so complete a failure of her existence.

The next year Mr. Baxter, being unusually busy, offered a man a good wage but he would not let him have the country a little and pick him up a housekeeper, a likely woman who would if she proved energetic, economical and amiable be eventually raised to the proud position of his wife. If she was young, healthy, smart, tidy, capable and a good manager, able to milk the cows, harness the horse and make good butter he would give a dollar and a half a week. The woman was found, and, incredible as it may seem, she said "Yes" when the deacon, whose ardent was kindled at having paid the wages, proposed a speedy marriage. The two boys by this time had reached the age of discretion, and one of them evinced the fact by promptly running away to parts unknown, never to be heard from afterward; while the other, a reckless and unhappy lad, was drowned while running on the logs in the river. Old Foxy showed little outward sign of his loss.

His third wife, the one originally secured for a housekeeper, bore him a girl, very much to his disgust, a girl named Patience, and great was Waitstill's delight in this addition to his dull household. The mother was a tall, colorless, docile creature, but Patience nevertheless was a sparkling, bright-eyed girl, who speedily became the very center of the universe to the older child. So the months and years wore on drearily enough until when Patience was eight the third Mrs. Baxter died, and the manner of her predecessor and slipped away from a life that had grown intolerable. The trouble was diagnosed as "liver complaint," but severity of proper food, no new faces or kind words, and sugar cooperage. These dainties were seldom renewed, for it was only a very bold child or one with an ungovernable appetite for sweets who would have spent his penny at Foxy Baxter's store.

PILES

Dr. Chase's Ointment will remove you at once and with certainty cure you. It is a box, all sizes of Piles, Hemorrhoids, Strains, Swellings, Tumor, Sore, hot from it if you mention this paper and enclose 25c. to Dr. Chase in New York.

"I know I hadn't ought to put the case on you, Waitstill, and I'm only fourteen," poor Mrs. Baxter sighed, as the young girl was watching with her one night when the old seemed drawing near. "I've made out to live till now when Patience is old enough to dress herself and help round, but I'm all beat out and can't try any more."

"Do you mean I'm to take your place, be a mother to Patience and keep house and everything?" asked Waitstill, quivering.

"I don't see but you'll have to, unless your father marries again. He'll never help, you know that?"

"I won't have another mother in this house," flashed the girl, who held her three here and there and enghel! If he brings anybody home I'll take Patience and run away, as Job did, and if he leaves me alone I'll wash and iron and enter the cook all Patience grows up, and then we'll go off together and hide somewhere. I'm fourteen. Oh, mother, how soon could I be married and take Patience to live with me, where you think anybody will ever want her?"

"Don't marry for a home, Waitstill! Your own mother did that, and so did I, and we were both punished for it! You've been a great help, and I've had sight of a concert out of the lobby, but I wouldn't go through it again, not even for her! You're real smart and capable for your age, and you've done your full share of the work every day, even when you were out at school. You can get along all right!"

"I don't know how I'm going to do everything alone," said the girl, frowning back her tears. "You've always made the brown bread, and mine will never suit father. I suppose I can wash, but I don't know how to iron starched clothes, nor make pickles, and oh! I can never kill a rooster, mother, it's no use to ask me to! I'm not big enough to be the head of the family."

Mrs. Baxter turned her pale, tired face away from Waitstill's appealing eyes.

"I know," she said faintly. "I hate to leave you to bear the brunt alone, but I must. * * * Take care of Patience and don't let her get into trouble. * * * You won't, will you?"

"I'll be careful," promised Waitstill, sobbing quietly. "I'll do my best." "You've got me out of my corner, I had; don't you 'pose you can stiffen up and defend yourself a little more? Your father ought to be opposed, for his own good, but I've never seen anybody that 'posed the 'L's' so much after a pause, she said with a dash of spirit. "Anyhow, Waitstill, he's your father after all. It's no blood relation of mine, and I can't stand him another day; that's the reason I'm willing to die."

The Rexall Store
There is a Rexall Store in nearly every town and city in the United States, Canada and Mexico. It is a place where you can get the best of nearly every ordinary human ailment. It is a place where you can get the best of the best. The Rexall Store is the greatest of all.

Foot Rot in Sheep.
Foot rot is caused by sheep being housed in wet, filthy stables and running in wet, wet fields. It can be cured by cutting off the diseased part of the hoof away with a sharp knife and washing the exposed part of the hoof with sheep dip, foot strength, and then applying blue vitriol mixed with a little grease. After doing this work thoroughly put the sheep in a clean, dry stable, well bedded with straw, and leave it in for about one day before turning out. If given two or three thorough treatments in this way it will cure them if kept out of wet, filthy stables.

The Cat's Bottle.
It will kill a baby to feed it constant by out of a dirty milk bottle. Why should a different effect be looked for from feeding a calf constantly from dirty milk vessels? It is hard to see where there is any essential difference.

Archie McMillan of Winnipeg, formerly of Purple Valley was in town this week on his way to Ottawa. Mr. McMillan is an Artilleryman in the army and was going to join his regiment.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

Effort of Germans to Cross Canal Is Frustrated by Allies.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The night bulletin issued by the War Office said: "The situation is without modification."

The afternoon bulletin was as follows:—

"During all of yesterday on the Canal, from Neuport to the point on the river opposite Dixmude, the fighting was limited to artillery exchanges, the country having been further inundated. The submerged territory now stretches to the south of Dixmude to a point five kilometers to the north of Dixmude."

"The forces of the enemy which endeavored to cross the canal to the region between Dixmude and Dixmude all were driven back beyond the bridge. A German regiment was completely destroyed at a point to the south of Dixmude."

"At the 'Boulevard of Ypres' two other German attacks were repulsed. 'On our part we have taken the offensive and reconquered certain points of support which the enemy some days ago succeeded in capturing.'"

"For the last few days, between the River Lys and the River Oise, there have been only small minor operations by small units, and we have made slight progress in our work of approach."

"In the region on the River Aisne, in the district of Champagne, only cannonades, without result, have occurred. In the Argonne district the Germans have made another attack upon St. Hubert without success."

"In the region of St. Mihiel the enemy has made a surprise attack in the forest of Apremont, and the Veges there is little activity."

Three British Soldiers Honored—Three of Them Have Died.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The first list of Victoria Cross awards to be published during the present war, contains the names of five officers and four non-commissioned officers, of which two recipients have since been given commissions and three have died of wounds.

Lt.-Gen. Sir Douglas Haig has been promoted to general for distinguished services in the war. Those on whom the crosses were conferred are Capt. Francisco Grenfell of the Ninth Lancers for gallantry in the capture of the British in Belgium, Aug. 24; on Capt. Douglas Reynolds of the artillery, who was wounded in a similar exploit; on Capt. Theodore Wright of the engineers, who was mortally wounded while rescuing a wounded man; on Surgeon Harry Sheppard Ranken for attending men under fire after he had received wounds from which he died later; on Lieut. Maurice Deane and four non-commissioned officers.

East Indian Troops Capture Prisoners and Guns in Engagement.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—It is officially announced that since the occupation of Fao, at the head of the Persian Gulf, by a British Indian force, on Nov. 8, two actions have been fought with the Turkish forces, who "on both occasions have been severely handled and defeated after stubborn resistance."

The announcement continues: "The first of these attacks occurred early in the morning of Nov. 11, when the Turks made a determined attack on the British outposts. On the fourteenth further reinforcements arrived from India, and the following day the Indians, commanded by Gen. Delamain, sortied and attacked the Turks, occupying a post about four miles distant, assisted by the sloops Espiegle and Odin."

"The enemy's camp was captured and many prisoners and guns were taken. The British casualties were two officers wounded and eight men killed and fifty-one wounded."

RUSSIANS RETALIATE.

They are Now Firing Prussian Towns as Per Belgium Schedule.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A Daily Mail Copenhagen dispatch says that it is feared that the Russians are imposing fines on the conquered East Prussian towns corresponding to the German ones imposed on the Belgian towns. The military authorities in East Prussia, adds the dispatch, have given orders that as the Russians advance the inhabitants must abandon their homes and remove all their flocks and herds, as well as their valuables, and burn their houses so as to prevent the Russians from establishing on the country. Many villages are reported to have been already evacuated.

The German General Staff has issued urgent orders for 10,000 soldiers for the winter campaign in Russia.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Capt. E. D. Carr Harris of the Royal Engineers, whose name appears to-day amongst those killed in the Indian forces operating in East Africa, belongs to a well-known Montreal family. He was graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston.

They were on their way to Gillis Lake investigating the water fall as to how much power could be developed there for an electric road.

Messrs. Cooper and Brown deserve credit as they are trying every possible way of getting a road made through this country.

Mr. John Boyle was over to Lions Head on Tuesday.

Mr. John Rouse was over to Lions Head on Saturday attending the Gordon cattle sale.

Mr. Michael Sadler went down to Winton on Saturday on a business trip.

Mr. Jim Myles passed through here on Sunday on his way to his camp. We are pleased to see that he is getting better again.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Martin were down to No. 1 Lindsay church on Sunday and heard another interesting sermon from Mr. Miers. Those that are attending Mr. Miers' sermons are getting a treat and those that could go but do not are missing it as the subject, Daniel's visions and the present war, concerns everyone. Mr. Miers makes it very interesting to his hearers as he has it well posted up.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boyle of Dyers Bay passed through here on Sunday evening on their way to Fernside and Lions Head.

Mr. Arthur Watson and Mrs. J. Watson of Tolmucore, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sadler's on Sunday.

The great event of the season here was the Rouse-Boyle nuptials, when Miss Hannah Jane Rouse and Mr. Earl Boyle were married on Nov. 4th at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rouse. They were there from Lions Head, Stokes Bay, Dyers Bay and Miller Lake. The morning was wet and very disappointing but the afternoon was as fine and bright as any one could wish for. About 4 o'clock the bridegroom supported by Mr. William Rouse, brother of the bride took their places under a very beautiful arch of evergreens and flowers and a few minutes later the bride leaning on her father's arm, followed by Miss Ethel Boyle as bridesmaid, came in and a very impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Etherington, the Mennonite minister. The bride was beautifully attired in a costume of dark blue silk and looked very charming. After the ceremony the 122 guests sat down to tables that were loaded with good things to eat.

The very high esteem the bride was held in by her friends could be seen by the many costly and useful presents that were given to her and we are sure that every one there wish them a very happy journey through all the changing scenes of this life. The couple intend to make their home at Dyers Bay.

where Mr. Boyle will go into the farming business.

Messrs. John Holmes and Michael Sadler were over to Fernside on Monday.

Wanted—Hides and raw furs highest cash prices paid. R. Ward.

After a number of months of enforced idleness due to economic conditions caused by the war, the Table Factory resumed operations last Monday. This is decidedly good news and may it run six days per week for a long time.

The Echo office was the big attraction Saturday night. Although the contest did not close until nine o'clock, long before that time a crowd had gathered in front of the office to await the announcement of the names of the prize winners.

There are about six million eggs in the fish hatchery and manager Eldridge is still busy gathering them in. Two tugs are busy near Meaford and there is a pond set near Gravelly Point. It will probably be a couple of weeks before a sufficient supply has been taken as the fishing has been very light this fall.

The Forsters are starting a carpet ball league and would like to meet a committee from each of the other lodges who meet in the same building. The idea is a good one and will likely meet with a hearty response from the lodges as it would mean many a pleasant evening for the members during the winter.

R. K. McAlpin, Contest Manager in the Echo's big circulation campaign, left Monday for Quebec, where he will conduct a similar contest. During his seven weeks stay in town he made many friends who wish him the same success in Quebec he had in Winton.

The choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian church held a concert on Monday night. They were assisted by Benough of Toronto. The concert was splendid, Mr. Benough being both instrumental and comical. The choir sang several beautiful anthems. They closed with "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

The large number of boats that have taken shelter in the Winton harbor this year is another proof that we have one of the best harbors on the lakes, and yet the large boats only come in here when forced by the weather. Couldn't the Board of Trade induce one of them to make regular calls next year.

Harry Knoll, the man who is charged with having been the cause of the death of Joseph Farr at Gravelly Point on Saturday night, came up for his preliminary hearing before Magistrate Johnston on Thursday afternoon and was to Owen Sound to stand trial on a murder charge. —Masthead Express.

After a three week's vacation the deer hunters arrived back. The party composed of Mr. Wilson, the Messrs. Byers, Mr. Baines, Dr. Fisher and W. Reekin. They report that they had fairly good luck. The weather, however, was against them, and the deer were not overly plentiful at Point Aux Baril.

Owing to the severe storm this week the harbour was filled with boats seeking safety. The boats were the German, City of Montreal and the Alpina. The latter being a large The Midland carried sixty-seven passengers and the Caribon forty-five.

On Saturday night the Midland and Caribon came into Winton harbor for shelter and attempted to go out Sunday but had to turn back. On Monday they again started on the up trip but were again forced to return on account of the heavy weather outside. The Midland was loaded with horses and a gang of men for the lumber camps at Blind River.

When the farmers of the surrounding townships brought in their last loads of oats to Enniskillen on Wednesday last for the Patriotic Contributions, the total amounted to 900 sacks. As the sacks contained three bushels each, this made 2700 bushels, which filled two cars. This is a very liberal showing for our farmers, and we have no doubt that when more are needed there will again be the same readiness to contribute. —Advocate.

Early in the fall the Council had sand put on the main street. Since the wet weather set in it has been churned up like a mud pie, the fine sand has been carried away in the gutter with the water, and in the spring when the streets are cleaned the rest of the sand will be scraped up and carted away. This is certainly economy. We have a stone crusher but it seems cheaper to hire it out to other towns for a couple of dollars a day and put sand on our main street.

Bert Fielding has been transferred from the Royal Bank at Sturgeon Falls to the branch at South River. He is to be teller and accountant. His many friends will be glad to learn of his promotion.

High Constable Ward and Game Warden Fletcher made a big seizure of fish at Owen Sound which had been taken during close season. The haul amounted to 1711 pounds. The case has not been brought up for trial yet.

Keep your eye on the Bazaar where you can get small fancy articles of crocheted and embroidered goods at very low prices for your Xmas gifts. Also home-made bak up and candies on Saturday, December 5th at 2:30 in the Siegert block. Also a cup of tea served.

All is not gold that glitters. A few years ago one of the most industrious residents of the Peninsula went west. We do not think that he was ever heard up for a dollar here but now he writes the Echo "I am not able to send you any money at present for our crops failed this year. It is alright The Echo knows he is all wool and a yard wide, and would trust him on one hundred years but wonder if he is as well off there as he was in the old days on the Bruce Peninsula.

Russia United For the First Time

"I do not think it is yet realized outside Russia how good a turn Germany did the Russian Government, and ultimately the Russian people, when she dictated Austria's note to Serbia and compelled Russia to make preparations for war." In these words, a well-known English author, who was in Russia at the time of mobilization, introduces an article in the Century Magazine, the purpose of which is to tell the outside world of the wonderful transformation that came over Russia almost in a day. He says that few outside Russia know how near to civil war the country was last summer. The facts did not get into the newspapers, but there can be no doubt that they were known in Berlin through the German spy system, and strengthened the German belief that Russia would back down when confronted with an ultimatum as she had backed down before when Austria seized Bosnia and Herzegovina. In Russia the Kaiser made the same mistake that he made with regard to Ireland. As somebody has well said, the Germans know everything and understand nothing.

Shaking With Revolt

Before the last days in August Russia was shaking with revolt. In anticipation of it the writer had gone from Finland to St. Petersburg, where 120,000 workmen had gone on strike, not for higher wages or for any other specific grievance, but because they were dissatisfied with their lives and intended to disorganize the State until existing conditions were altered. Many factories were garrikked with troops, and official Russia was momentarily expecting a worse outbreak than happened in 1905. "It has been suggested," says the writer, "that the stirring up of this unrest was done by German influence, and it is an undoubted fact that the first agitators were the employees of a German firm." Germany was evidently thought the time was ripe. Had she waited for two hours longer there is no doubt that there would have been serious rioting in St. Petersburg, on which date the repressive measures that had been decided upon by the Russian Government were to have come into effect. But she had misestimated upon Russian loyalty. It was not as it was seen that war was certain the repressive measures were countermanded, and the workmen went instantly and quietly back to work. Many of those who were not called to the colors by the mobilization order volunteered.

The Czar's Real Enthronement

But the Russian Government was not sure of the attitude of the people, and it is related that in the first few days it felt it necessary to organize demonstrations to excite the patriotism of the masses. Soon it was plain, however, that the heart of the Russian people was in the war, the most significant and amazing evidence being that the crowds on the streets actually cheered the mounted police. No doubt it was the first time in their lives that the police had ever received the approbation of the public, and they saluted shamefacedly like flattered children. Then came the great meeting in the Palace Square, where the Czar and the Czarina showed themselves on the balcony. In other countries this meeting would not have had the same significance, since in most other nations the people are more accustomed to seeing their rulers. It is not so in Russia. It was the first time in the reign of the Czar that such a meeting would have been possible.

Why Russia Dislikes Germany

There were not more than twenty or thirty policemen present, but tens of thousands of Russians, and above them on the balcony the Czar and the Czarina more in their people's midst than ever they had been before. The demonstration showed that they were also in the hearts of the people, and that the heart of the people was set upon war with Germany. The Russian hostility to Germany is akin to the Russian dislike of the Jew. The Russian business man finds himself hopelessly outclassed by the townbred German, with his keen attention to efficiency, to saving, to all the detail

Hockey Season Almost Here

Now is the time to get busy and get the hockey team together, appoint a manager and have all the small details arranged before the season is right on. Since the resignation of W. Sadler as manager, S. J. Cameron's name has been mentioned and it is quite likely "Jerry" will be the manager for the coming season. His success as manager of the old Garnet lacrosse team, who held the championship here for seven years, is sufficient guarantee that he would be a capable man to guide the hockey team to victory.

There is a movement on foot among the boys to take a trip to Detroit, Cleveland and other American cities to play exhibition games where they have artificial ice, and if the matter were taken up and boosted along our team would be in first class shape by the time the ice was ready here. The Echo will start a fund for this purpose and it is quite probable that other business men and private individuals of the town would donate something to the fund to have our boys in prime condition for the opening games. Let us get busy, call a meeting and see what can be done.

The line-up this year will be greatly strengthened by the addition of Earl Myers, George Shumie and Jordan Johnston, while all the well known members of last season's strong aggregation are again on the job.

The hockey committee met the managers of the rink last week and discussed with them the enlarging of the seating capacity of that institution, and the managers consented. The seating arrangements of the rink will probably be much improved, the seats arranged on an incline so that each one can see and see well. It is reserved so that it will not be necessary to be at the rink one hour before the game. The outlook for a winning hockey team this year is excellent, and there will be something doing just as soon as there is good ice. It is taken for granted that the matches will be well patronized, that last year people came twenty miles to see the games, and they will do so this winter. Hockey advertised Warton last year and we went right up to the semi-finals knocking heads off here and there—this year we propose to get into the finals, and have it out with Berlin.

The managers of the rink started last Saturday to make ice and if the present weather holds out it will not be a great while before the ice will be in a fit condition for practice.

It is rumored that the Bon Ton Minstrels will give a show in January in the interests of the hockey boys.

Like the British Allies

As far as the peasants are concerned, the Germans are atheists, and for that reason the natural enemies of the most religious people in the world. It is said and believed that the English Church is very much like the Greek Orthodox Church, and the fact that this is not so does not prevent the Russians from believing it, and from regarding the British as natural allies. German efficiency, moreover, has had to carry a handicap in German lack of tact, as is well shown in the German Embassy building in Petrograd. This enormous and pretentious building, larger even than the Russian State offices, and in striking contrast to the old-fashioned offices of the British Embassy is surrounded by a monstrous group in bronze, two gigantic horses led up from the west by two naked giants. The Russians have seen in it an allegory of Germany proudly advancing in Russia, and have deeply resented it. One of the first acts of the war was that of the Russian mob that tore down this flaunting challenge. But through all their hate of Germany the Russians have a very clear idea of the issues involved. As one peasant said just before leaving for the front, "I am fighting now so that, God grant, my son may not have to be a soldier."

Appeal for the Red Cross

Mrs. Needham, Toronto, a traveling representative of the Red Cross Society, gave a most interesting address in the Town Hall last Thursday night on behalf of the society. She had a most sympathetic audience. Before her were the gentlemen and ladies, who for months have worked for the patriotic fund, and the ladies who for weeks and weeks have been making garments for the soldiers and the destitute in Belgium. Her address, however, was timely. It enlarged the vision, told of the hospital work done by the Red Cross Society, and so important is it that all present pledged themselves to work for this society who have been ministering angels on the battlefield. Mr. J. J. Aston occupied the chair, and on the platform were the members of the home guard, the officers of the Ladies Patriotic League and the local clergymen.

Hills in Dangerous Condition

The hills in town are in a dangerous condition just now, owing to the children sleigh riding down them. It is the duty of the Chief of Police to look after them and keep the youngsters off the hills leading to the main street, but apparently he has not time to do so. It is about time some steps were taken to have the by-law enforced.

DYERS BAY

If this is winter, we will have plenty of time for sleigh riding before next May.

Mr. Archie Amos of Cameron Lake visited our burg on Saturday.

Measles will likely be the order of the day pretty soon as they are slowly getting nearer.

Mr. Ed. Wardrop visited Tobemore last week.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Hilditch is improving nicely.

Mr. Hacking was in our midst last Thursday having been called to Mr. R. Bartley who is quite ill. We hope to see her well again as quickly as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore and family, who have been visiting here for some time returned to their home in Hanover. Mrs. Moore is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Livingstone of this place.

Mr. Will Tyndal was in Owen Sound this week ordering his winter supply of store goods.

Mr. Robert Jackson of Harris, Sask., spent the past week the guest of Mr. Chas. Mathieson. He with his wife and family have decided to live in Port Elgin. He says times are dull in the west just now.

TOBERMORY

The steamer "Manitou" was forced to take refuge in Big Tub on Sunday night.

Mr. Fred Smith was fortunate enough to shoot a large black bear in its den last week.

According to reports, herring fishing is extremely light here this year.

Mr. Alex Smith of Stokes Bay spent a few days in Tobermory this week with his brother John Smith.

Two shelters have been erected for the soldiers at the wireless station and the material for a third is on its way on the "Meaford."

Mrs. John Smith has been seriously ill for a time. She was threatened with pneumonia but through careful attention, she rallied and is now progressing nicely.

Young and old Tobermory gathered in the Orange Hall on the evening of Monday November 16th to listen to the reports of the Tobermory delegates to the Sunday school convention which was held a few weeks ago in London. In spite of the inclement weather a fair-sized crowd was in attendance. The speakers were—Rev. Mr. Hyde who dealt with the aim of the convention; Miss Georgina Golden who dealt with the cradle roll department; Mrs. Golden who discussed the organized classes and Miss Margaret McLeod who read the motto of the convention. Interspersed throughout the program were several rousing choruses.

Another Bon Ton Minstrel Show

The Bon Ton Minstrels will give one of their popular shows in the Town Hall on tomorrow night, Nov. 26th, under the auspices of the Ladies Patriotic League. They have secured a lot of new scenery and will give an entire change of program. There will be new songs, high class specialties, etc., and the O'Connor Twins will be there with a new side splitting sketch entitled "Fun in a Gymnasium". Tim O'Connor, alias King George, will arrive in his Zeppelin, and when his twin brother "Comic" O'Connor, arrives on foot the fun will begin. There will be lively chubskies and plenty of music furnished by the Minstrel orchestra and the Warton Silver Band. So don't fail to be present and enjoy a night's fun and music. The cause is a worthy one and deserves the patronage of everyone and the price of admission is only 25 cents to all parts of the house. Tickets may be secured and seats reserved at Sawyer's Drug Store.

NAVIGATION CLOSED

This week will probably wind up navigation on the lakes, and it has been the poorest season for many years. At present the outlook for next year is not very optimistic.

The Meaford made her last trip this week, the Caribou on Sunday night with a load of freight and passengers, and with the exception of a few tugs which will make short trips there will be nothing more doing till next spring. There were very few accidents to boats on the lakes this season, the terrible disaster of last November being a warning to all officers, and few ventured out in a storm. If "safety first" had been the motto a year ago there would have been a great many wrecks averted and hundreds of lives saved.

Eighty years ago last Sunday was the anniversary of the wreck of the Jones, the saddest marine tragedy which ever visited the town of Warton.

ZION. AMABEL

Mrs. John Blythe, Shallow Lake is the guest of Mrs. Thos. Wilson.

Mr. John Walker and Misses Sarah and Jessie spent Saturday in Warton.

Mr. Fred Robinson spent Sunday visiting friends in Owen Sound.

Mr. J. Johnston, Park Head, called at Mr. Chas. Walkers on Sunday.

Mr. Joseph Hughes made a business trip to Warton Monday.

Mr. J. Eldridge sr. returned home Wednesday after visiting friends in Toronto, Stratford and London.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Richards spent Monday in Shallow Lake.

Mr. H. Maxwell and Miss Martha French Bay, called on Mr. and Mrs. Hughes Friday.

Mrs. Maggie McDonald, Skipsness visited Mr. and Mrs. M. McDonald, Friday.

Miss Flossie Hughes left on Tuesday for Clinton where she intends visiting for a few weeks.

Miss Gladys Johnston was the guest of her cousins the Misses Myrtle and Maggie Walker Sunday.

The Box Social held under the auspices of the Epworth League, was a splendid success. Rev. J. C. McClelland acted as chairman. The program was provided by The Choir, Mr. and Miss Eldridge, Miss Gerrie Robinson, Miss Florence Atchison, Mr. Bert Richards and Mr. W. Hughes.

Mr. Albert Guesstacted as auctioneer and the beautiful boxes quickly sold proceeds amounting to $42.35.

Mr. Finlon, Allenford, made several calls on this line Monday.

The hunting parties returned last week with their full allowance of deer. A. W. Baies' party got eight and D. Huether's party got eight deer, one moose, Mr. Huether's deer, a large buck, dressed 220 pounds. Mr. Simmie got a deer at close range with light bird shot, which is something unusual considering that rifles are always used for deer hunting.

The G.T.R. Will Reduce Service

On Monday, Nov. 30th, Warton will have no efficient train service as it has enjoyed for a number of years. But then we must remember that for a long time we have been very well served, we have had three mails in every day and have been receiving the Toronto dailies before noon. We were lucky, but the luck would have remained if good times had come as well. That economic condition prevail over which the Grand Trunk has no control is quite evident, and like many other institutions they are up against it. If they do not propose to haul empty cars over the country who can blame them. The service which they intend to give for this winter is leaving Warton 5:30 a.m. and 2:20 p.m. arriving at Warton 12:55 and 10:40 p.m. The early train from Toronto will leave at 7 a.m. and passengers from Toronto will be enabled to reach here at 12:55 instead of 4 p.m. Years ago any change that the Grand Trunk might have made would have been severely criticized, but not a word of criticism is now offered, and it is to be hoped that prosperity will come back and with it the efficient train service we so long enjoyed. Of course Kincardine, Port Elgin etc., are all in the same boat.

Has Applied for Chaplaincy

The Rev. Mr. Masters, who has been the efficient Rector of Trinity Church for the past year, announced on Sunday that he had applied to be sent out as Chaplain with a Canadian Contingent, and if he were accepted he would under his resignation as Rector of the Parish. It is only natural that a man of the undoubted loyalty of Mr. Masters should desire to go to the front, and The Echo hopes that his services may be accepted by the Militia Department, but should they be we trust that his resignation of this parish will not follow. We hope that a supply can be found if required.

Dear Mr. Editor—

As the contest is now over and your many new subscribers will be receiving their papers I take this opportunity of expressing through your columns my most sincere thanks to my many friends who so generously assisted me in winning a beautiful gold watch. It was not only those who have known me to whom I owe a debt of gratitude but also to the many strangers who so promptly and generously responded to my request for assistance. I also desire to thank you Mr. Logan for your unflinching courtesy of manners and genuine interest in my behalf during and throughout the entire contest.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGE

Owen Sound

The recent fall in prices and the resulting highness of the market and a great deal of produce is coming in, principally poultry and grain. The grain prices have a jump and oats are selling now at 45 to 52 cents a bushel, barley at 65 to 70 cents, peas $1.25 to $1.30 and wheat $1.00 to $1.10. Prices for poultry though are low in comparison to other years and are likely to be lower. Turkeys are 14c a pound, geese 10c, ducks 12 to 13 cents, chickens 10 to 14c and hens 9 cents. The dealers say that the outside demand is very poor this year. Other years, at this season, there were buyers for and lots of poultry to ship on the last boats but this year the outside orders have fallen off. There is no demand as people are cutting down expenses all over the country. Eggs and butter prices remain about the same. Eggs are easier and are worth 28 to 30 cents a dozen. Butter is plentiful selling at 28 to 32c a pound. Potatoes are worth 50 to 60 cents a bag and say remains about $17 and $18 a ton. Some apples and wood are also coming. Apples are about 75c to $1.25 a barrel. Dry wood is worth about $4.50 a cord. Live hogs were worth $7.25 a hundred this week. The hogs were unable to state to-day what next week's prices will be but they may probably be a little higher. In connection with the hog market the shippers will not accept lights or crippled hogs. The shippers claim the farmers abuse hogs too much in loading them and thus injure them by decreasing the value of the animals. No hogs under 100 pounds according to the dealers should be marketed. The grain dealers also insist that the farmers should clean their grain thoroughly before bringing it to the market.

John Johnson, aged fifty-five, homeless, penniless, no money and no work, appeared before acting Magistrate Menzies in the police court on Wednesday morning charged with vagrancy and asking to be sent to jail for the winter. Johnson is a respectable looking intelligent and fairly well-dressed man, but it was a hard luck story that he told the court. He had been out west during the fall fighting on a threshing outfit, but he was thrown out of employment as soon as the threshing season was over. He then came back to Ontario but he could not get work of any kind and was, to use his own words, heartless and weary. He said he did not want to beg or steal but he wanted to be put away for the winter. He had no place to go, no friends and no home and his money was gone. He came from Walkerton to Owen Sound and spent his last cent in buying the railway ticket. Asked if he did not try to get work on a farm, he said he had travelled for miles through the country looking for work but no one wanted him. Then the thought occurred to go to jail, where he could get enough to eat and a place to sleep. He was given a month as hard labor.

Home time ago a quantity of fresh beef was taken from Little's storehouse and no trace could be found of it, with the result that Mr. Little offered a ten dollar reward to anyone who would give information that would lead to the arrest of the man or men who had taken it. The matter came in the regular way into the hands of the police and also under the cognizance of the ex-chief, John McAnulty, who still retains his rank as a county officer. He instituted a few little inquiries and as a result had a warrant issued and with two policemen made the search of a house on a side hill. The meat or part of it, was found in a disused cistern sitting up in a hole and was promptly taken in charge. Two arrests were made and yesterday morning the men, Joe and Henry Higgins, appeared before the Police Magistrate and were allowed to go on suspended sentence, they having made a contribution for the value of the meat and paid all costs in connection with the matter. Incidentally the ex-chief collected the ten dollars which had been offered by Mr. Little. The old chief is now in the ranks of the Ontario Corps, which will go to the front with the second contingent is Lieut. J. E. Burgess son of the Public School Inspector, H. H. Burgess of Owen Sound. The corps is composed of two hundred and thirty-four men and these are now in the exhibition concentration camp in Toronto. The officers were chosen by Col. J. T. Fotheringham, A. D. M. S. on the principle of seniority. Lieut. Burgess is a member of the home staff of the Toronto General Hospital and volunteered for active service at the outbreak of the war. In a letter to his father recently,

Fell in a Faint

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes: "Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve and Brain Tonic I was in a terrible condition. My nerves were all over me and I would fall to the floor. I could not sleep without fainting. Dr. Chase's Nerve Tonic has built up my system that I can wash and do my own housework. My medicine cured me when doctors had failed."

he said the contingent would likely sail for England in January.

The deputations appointed by the town council to make a visit to the House of Refuge at Markdale and report on conditions as to the patients there, namely Mayor McQuarrie, Dr. Hensbey and Mr. Willoughby, went to Markdale on Wednesday forenoon. The members of the deputations stated they had nothing to say to the press regarding their visit to Markdale or the conditions they found there until they make their report to the council. It is expected though, that they will be soon to be reporting. The report is expected to be a very interesting one when the report is finally submitted.

The County Council meets on Monday evening Nov. 25, the following days for its November session but indications are that the session will be very quiet. In conversation with Warden Bruce yesterday, The Hon. Mr. Warden stated that the session was likely to bring forth nothing more than the regular routine business. The Warden said he had no special business to bring before the council and he did not know of anything of more than ordinary importance that was likely to come up.

Tired-out Kidneys

Kidney troubles are so frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by overwork or excesses of eating and drinking. Care is often taken in whipping them out of their groove, but by awakening the action of liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This restores the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and urinary disorder then disappear.

Tara

The ladies of the Red Cross Society are to be congratulated on the success of their Poinsettia Sale which was held in the Methodist church on Wednesday night. The tables were set in the basement of the church and from 6 to 9 o'clock over 400 people sat down to a sumptuous spread of fowl and other delicacies. The tables and walls were decorated with the flags of the allied nations and were very appropriate for the occasion. The entertainment in the auditorium of the church was appreciated especially the address by Mr. C. K. Mickie, of Chesley on "The War." The proceeds of the undertaking amounted to about $100.00 and after deducting expenses the Red Cross Society will have a surplus of over $150.

Mr. Andrew Telford has been on the sick list for the past week. On Thursday he drove to Port Elgin to attend a meeting of the Board of License Commissioners. The day was bleak and cold and he was not well before starting, having contracted a cold the day previous from being overexerted in handling produce at the C. T. R. Station. Since returning from Port Elgin he has been confined to bed.

Kincardine

J. A. Macpherson received word on Saturday of the serious illness of Frank Gordon, of Toronto, who in thirty days was a conspicuous figure in Kincardine. He had a drug store here afterwards conducted by the late J. P. Wright. He was also a grain dealer when Kincardine was a great wheat market. His competitors in the grain business were Robert Hark, Archibald Campbell, Ross Macfarlane and Robert Walker. Old times will tell of long processions from the harbor up Queen St. working their turn to unload. Mr. Gordon went into farming too, on the farm now owned by Mr. Macpherson. Durham Road. He was a politician as well. In 1867 he defeated the late Wm. Mackenzie Bowden and sat in the Dominion Parliament for one term for South Bruce. In 1872 the Hon. Edward Blake was elected. Mr. Gordon retiring after his nomination. Since then he has been living in Toronto. He had a position under the government which he lost after 1896. He married a Miss Wedgwood, of Peterborough. Mr. Gordon lived here, William in the general store business and John in hardware. William is now living in South St. Mary, Ont., and John in Brantford. They were cousins of the late H. T. Hurdon.

Two hundred dollars and costs were paid by Mrs. Koch, of North Bruce, for violation of the Local Option Law. The information was laid by Mr. J. W. Rainey, License Inspector for North Bruce, before Magistrates Quinn and McKenzie at Kincardine. The defendant pleaded guilty, and it is said, will pay an information now against the two who bought the liquor and who were to have been witnesses against her.

Robert and Ben Walpole were in Waterloo last week attending the funeral of the late Mr. Ed. Hodgins, of Kettle Township.

Her Revenge

She-I mean about the slopsteak. Has her mother forgiven them? He-I think not. I understand she has a taste to live with them.

Port Elgin

The party of hunters composed of Messrs. J. J. George, F. Thompson, G. McMurray, E. J. Ramsey, Dr. Phillips and Capt. Langford, returned home Saturday night, after a three weeks' hunting trip up near Sudbury. They report a splendid time. They secured four deer and a quantity of smaller game. There must be some good cooks in the party, as all have succeeded in obtaining supplies.

The blacksmiths of Port Elgin, Southampton and surrounding country have agreed on a uniform scale of prices and are issuing a schedule on December 1st. Circular letters are coming through the mail from what is called the United Farmers Co-operative Co., Toronto, to be mailed a few months ago. Its avowed object is to advise farmers in buying and selling, do away with middlemen and travelling agents. Make arrangements so that live stock might be sold direct to the consumer and find a ready market for all kind of farm produce, supply farm implements machinery and all other supplies that the farmer might need, at practically whole sale prices. Well, no doubt it would be a saving to the farmers if a few of the daily stragglers were gone away with, and he could deal direct at head quarters, but most farmers would rather meet a little and be independent.

Walkerton

Charles King, of Hopworth, is out on a $200 bail to appear before the Judge at Walkerton to answer to a charge of stealing a set of harness from the C. T. R. yard at Hopworth.

Mr. Ed Noble, who has been in Regina for the past few years, has returned with his wife and family to Brampton, and it is probable, will take up residence again in this section. The outlook in the west is not the most promising, and as Mr. Noble is in the contracting and contracting business, the present period of depression there has seriously affected his trade and been responsible for his decision to return East. As many people are trekking back here from various parts of the west, prosperity seems to have at least temporarily left the plains.

Sam Suncer, an Italian wholesale fruit merchant, here, suddenly closed his business in Walkerton last week, and mysteriously disappeared with his wife and family from town. It is now reported that he has left a lot of unpaid bills and sorrowing creditors behind. He is said to have shipped his horses and some effects to a distant point before he left here, but as he had generally been considered as strictly honest, no alarm or suspicion was aroused by this order of action, and it was only after he and his family had pulled out and the business was closed up here that his creditors began to suspect the cause and fear the worst. As Sam used to deal in a wholesale trade in oranges, bananas, etc., with stores in the surrounding country, as well as a big retail business, his departure will be considerably felt in these parts. He is said to have gone to Lockport, N. Y.

The audit brought by Mrs. Stampf, of Midland, against Messrs. Stevens and Puller bank, contractors, for the death of her husband, who was killed during the building of the Midland R. C. church, was concluded in the Fall Assize Court here on Thursday last. The jury awarded Mrs. Stampf the sum of $3,000. Of this amount the widow is to receive $1,400 while the balance is to be divided among the six youngest children. In giving judgment the jury stated that on the part of the contractor's there had been carelessness in erecting the scaffold as it had not been built in a proper condition as some braces having been removed and not replaced. Justice Magee complimented the jury on the able manner in which they disposed of the case.

10 CENT "CASCARETS"

IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

How the Dampers Work; Grate Arrangement; Where the Heat Goes—

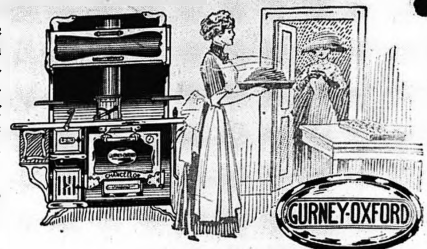

BUYING a stove is different from buying almost anything else. It is supposed to last a long time: it is in use three times every day—in fact, all day.

So buying a stove is not something to be decided off-hand. Cheapness is not the consideration. But—

Quality is. A cheap stove cannot last. In reality it is not cheap. A stove that is a trouble to look after, that gives poor results, is a baneful thing. When the fire goes out, when the oven will not heat, or heats only in one or two corners, then cooking is drudgery. If a stove is extravagant in fuel, it should not have a place in your house.

The Gurney-Oxford is a truly remarkable stove. It is heavily made and thoroughly well put together. It is practically indestructible.

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer, fitted to the stove pipe, gives you complete control of the fire always. One turn of the handle dampens the fire down to a spark that consumes practically no coal when the fire is not in use. Turn the handle the opposite way and in a short time the fire is burning brightly again.

Let us show you why the Gurney-Oxford is peerless among stoves!

The fire is supported on grates that present a large surface to the air. There is no smouldering of coal without heat. This perfect combustion means two things: a bright, hot fire with the minimum of coal, and no waste in the form of clinkers.

The heat from the Gurney-Oxford fire box goes through a series of divided flues over and around the oven, not up the chimney. There is no unevenness of heat.

Every housewife knows the absolute satisfaction and pleasure that comes from a stove that never fails.

Let us show you the Gurney-Oxford range and demonstrate its many good points.

Let us show you the construction of it—the arrangement of dampers—the fire box and flues that have made it peerless among stoves, and the most cherished possession of thousands of Canadian women.

Paisley

Some citizens of Paisley who have money to invest are showing their loyalty to the community by purchasing blocks of the school debenture. Others could not do better than follow the example. Legality binds us at home even to finance. As we said before, the investment is a very safe and profitable one that doubles the invested capital in fifteen years.

Rev. Donald M. McKay, an old Elderslie boy, was a few days ago inducted as pastor of St. James Presbyterian church in Winnipeg. Mr. McKay has filled pulpits at Russell and Carleton with marked acceptance and now enters up on ministerial work in the provincial metropolis under most encouraging and promising conditions. He is a bright able preacher, and an honor to the ranks of the synodists in the west who hail from Bruce.

Mr. Alex. B. McKay, of 4th Elderslie is a brother.

Value of Rheuma From the Court

Judge Barhorst was Relieved of Rheumatism after Doctors Failed

If you have tried many other remedies and doctors' treatments for Rheumatism and found they failed, do not be surprised about trying RHEUMA. Read the testimony of Judge John Barhorst of Fort Laramie, S. D.

"After treatment by three doctors without result, I have been cured of a very bad case of Rheumatism by using two bottles of RHEUMA. It is now two years since I used the remedy, and I am still as well as ever. Previously I was a cripple, walking with crutches."

Such testimony should be convincing. 50 cents of W. J. Manley, guaranteed.

Second to a Bird

He came home and found his young wife involved in tears. "What do you think has happened?" she cried. "I left the cage open and our canary has flown away."

He undertook to give what consolation he might, and took the poor distressed woman in his arms. As she rested against his shoulder a new source of sorrow convulsed her. "Ah, George," she murmured, in a choking voice, "now I've only you left."—Baltimore Star

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion containing pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy features.

SLAYS BREAK ADVANCE

Great Battle in Poland Turning in Favor of Russia.

Severe Reverse Has Been Inflicted Upon the Germans at Kutno According to Unofficial Reports—Gumbinnen, in Eastern Prussia, Has Been Captured After Five Day Battle—Successes in Galicia.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The battle which is being fought in the region between the Vistula and Warta rivers in Poland appears to have turned in favor of the Russians. In fact, a special despatch from Petrograd to Paris says that the Russian army already has won a decisive victory. While this may be an exaggeration, both the Russian and the German official reports suggest that Gen. von Hindenburg's second thrust at Warsaw has been checked.

Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces for two days in succession has recorded partial successes in the great battle and last night the German General Staff says that the arrival of Russian reinforcements has postponed a decisive battle. Both sides have expressed the greatest confidence in the outcome of this battle. Grand Duke Nicholas and Gen. von Hindenburg heretofore have been so successful in their strategy that their adherents look upon them as almost unbeatable.

The German papers only yesterday were talking of a general Russian retreat despite the fact that the Russians have been advancing steadily in Galicia, having repulsed an Austro-German attack before Gracze held part of the German territory in East Prussia and were opposing Gen. von Hindenburg's advance. Now, it is the same in Poland. All the correspondents there declare that it is certain that Russian numbers must tell when the Germans have reached the ground on which Grand Duke Nicholas has chosen to give the battle.

A Petrograd despatch says, commenting on the heavy fighting at Kutno, that it is now only a question of how many Germans succeed in escaping. The German losses are said to be enormous. At Kutno alone, 12,000 prisoners were taken. Another terrible battle is raging between Czestochowa and Gracze.

German cavalry patrols have penetrated to within thirty miles of Warsaw. Heavy fighting is still in progress between Lodz and Skierniewice, where the Russian force is opposing the main line of advance of the army of Gen. Hindenburg. Russian progress in Galicia against Austria is making steady headway. The situation of the Russian at Przemyśl is said to be desperate, and there have been reports of an order of capitulation from the commander, reported to have met with refusal by the Russians because it is known that the stronghold must fall ere long. It is not at all unlikely that the status of Russia with relation to the war for many months to come will be established by the operations now being waged. If the drive of Gen. Hindenburg should gather renewed impetus and break through to Warsaw, then the Russian position would be perilous, and a withdrawal from Galicia and East Prussia inevitable. The alternative of defeat is even more disastrous to the Russian, but the Russian must fight on their own doorstep under disadvantages.

As for the Russian advance in East Prussia, Petrograd dispatches report the capture of Gumbinnen, in northeastern Prussia by the Czar's armies. Although official despatches only mention skirmishes in East Prussia, a despatch from a correspondent with the active army reports, with circumstantial details, the Russian capture of Gumbinnen after a battle lasting five days, the Cossacks being the heroes of the most stirring incident of the struggle, capturing the enemy's batteries by a daring charge which put the gunners to flight.

The German defenders declined to await a bayonet attack and the Russians entered by a back door, capturing the town hall demolished by shell fire and abandoned by the population.

Gumbinnen is about midway between Stettinopolis, a point near the Russian frontier, which was captured after a stiff battle by the German army, and Insterburg, the latter an important railroad junction. Insterburg is believed to be the next objective of the Russian attack, and in the hands of the Czar would constitute a valuable base for operations against Koenigsberg, the principal city and fortress of East Prussia.

No Appointment Made.
OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—With regard to the revival of the rumor that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., is to be appointed Canadian High Commissioner in London, in succession to the late Lord Strathcona, it is stated here that no appointment will be made until George H. Perley returns, and it is unknown when that will be. He may not leave London until the end of the war.

The suggestion that Sir Thomas may be made High Commissioner receives little favor in official circles, and appointment from the Government would receive very general approval.

Jamaica Cable Was Cut.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—The official information bureau announced yesterday that a message from the Governor-General of Jamaica declares that there was interruption in the cable communication with Jamaica early in August of this year, which at the time was thought to be due to an earthquake.

It is now known that the Jamaica cable was cut by hostile cruisers on Aug. 3 at 6:40 a.m., without the declaration of war.

EAGER TO SERVE.

Many British Citizens Wish To Arm Against German Raids.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Plans for dealing with a possible German invasion were spoken of last night in the House of Commons by Under Secretary for War, Mr. Tennant. W. C. Bridgeman, member from Shropshire, asked whether the wearing of brassards would insure that persons who were volunteers for the country would not be regarded as civilians. He also asked if the Government was aware that many active citizens were desiring to be armed and are prepared to furnish their own arms and equipment, if the War Office will design a uniform for such a force.

Mr. Tennant replied that the War Office felt the first duty of the navy to prevent a raid.

"In event of its taking place," he said, "it is our duty to drive the German into the sea as fast as we can, and I hope we shall be enabled to do so."

In regard to the action of the civil population in a possible invasion, he pointed out that emergency committees had been formed in the various counties where there was any danger of an invasion, and instructions were being issued to those committees. He thought it was not desirable to state at this time what these instructions were.

The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to the report of "liveliest" at Emden, says it "accords very well with what passed in this country last week."

"Military movements took place," continues the paper, "which, of course, we shall not dwell upon in detail, but which have done the most universal belief that the authorities had news of some attempt to be made against us. The attitude of the public mind was one of interest. It certainly was so; one of alarm."

ZEPPELIN FACTORY DAMAGED

British Aviators Worked Extensive Damage at Friedrichshafen.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—It was announced yesterday afternoon that the British aviators who, Saturday afternoon raided Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance, had destroyed that all the bombs thrown by them reached their objective and that serious damage was done to the Zeppelin works.

Details were given in the House of Commons by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty.

"Commanded by Munro, it is reported to have been shot down," said Mr. Churchill, "and to have been taken wounded, to a hospital, as a prisoner. The aviators, Flight Commander Babington and Lieut. Sippe, returned safely to French territory, although their machines were damaged by the fire of the enemy. The report positively that all of the bombs reached their objective, and that serious damage was done to the Zeppelin factory."

"This flight of 250 miles, penetrating 120 miles into Germany across a mountainous country of difficult conditions, together with the attack, a fine feat of arms."

Another Raid Made.
BERLIN, Nov. 24.—The British aviators who intended to destroy the Zeppelin headquarters at Friedrichshafen on Saturday are said here today also to have made an attack on the buildings at Munster, to the west of Friedrichshafen, which are used for the housing of dirigibles. The attack was without results.

ZOUAVE GAVE WARNING.

One of Prisoners Used as Screen By Germans Firing the Hero.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—One of the most touching episodes of the war is told in a note appended to the official communiqué of yesterday afternoon: "A party of captured French Zouaves were driven before a German column advancing on the Dri Gracze bridge in Belgium a few days ago, and when near the French trenches were ordered to capture to shoot 'cease firing' in French. When almost up to the bridge one of the captured Zouaves suddenly cried, 'Open fire, in the name of God!' The men in the trenches instinctively obeyed the command, and not only killed the German ranks, but killed all the German officers. Miraculously they were turned on the Germans, and they fled in disorder."

"There was no means of telling which of the heroic Zouaves, all of whom lay in a crumpled heap, had given the warning cry."

HURRYING TO FRONT.

Russian Moving Troops West to Theatre of War.

PEKIN, Nov. 24.—Passengers coming to Pekin by way of the Trans-Siberian Railroad unite in declaring that there have been remarkable changes along this line of travel since the beginning of the war. "Food and other necessities, usually for sale at every small station, are now nowhere to be had. Almost every body of the day and night train is now accompanied going westward, while other trains carrying crowds of Russian prisoners are moving eastward to Siberia. A telegram from the Government press bureau is delivered twice a day to every station along the line.

GERMAN CRAFT SUNK

Submarine U18 Is Rammed by British Patrol Ship.

British Destroyer Garry Comes Alongside Just in Time to See German Boat Rise to the Surface and Disappear. A White Flag—All the German Crews Saved But One—German Destroyer Lost.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Secretary of the Admiralty yesterday said the German submarine boat U-18, which was reported off the north coast of Ireland yesterday morning, was rammed by a British patrolling vessel and destroyed.

The patrolling ship rammed the submarine at 12.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The German boat was again until 12.10, when she appeared on the surface flying a white flag. Shortly after this she disappeared as the British destroyer came alongside. The destroyer rescued three officers and twenty-three of the submarine's crew, only one being drowned.

The names of the German officers captured are Captain Lieut. von Hennrich, Lieut. Spengler and Lieut. Neuberger.

The submarine boat U-18 of the German navy was built in 1912. She had a maximum speed of 17 knots and a speed of fourteen knots above water and eight knots submerged.

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen says that the Danish steamer Angolander collided Sunday night in the Ore Sound with the German torpedo-boat destroyer S-124, which was rammed.

Another Copenhagen despatch says: The collision occurred in the Baltic Sea outside Falsterbo, Sweden, on Sunday night. The German boat was about to sink, and a majority of the crew was taken aboard them. Three of the crew were killed, and the Angolander, but one of them, the chief engineer, did a half-hour later.

The destroyer was towed by one of the German torpedo boats, the S-124, where she will be disarmed. The injured boat carried no lights. The Angolander sustained no damage in the collision.

The German torpedo-boat destroyer S-124 was built in 1903. She was 6,500 tons, and had a speed of 24 knots. She carried a crew of about sixty men.

FOOTBALL IN DISGRACE.

Fifty Thousand at London Match Did Not Yield Single Recruit.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Indignation against the hitherto universally popular game of football is expressed by the London press, and yesterday, because almost no men enlisted as a result of the recruiting rallies at Saturday's matches.

"The London football career," says The Pall Mall Gazette, "in an article which goes on to say that not a single man was recruited from the hundreds of thousands which was attended by 15,000 spectators. A colonel who lost a son at the front and was himself returning to the front, and who pleaded with the men to enlist, his words were drowned by shouts which greeted the appearance of the team."

In other parts of the country the same stolid refusal greeted the hands of speakers and recruiting officers.

"The London football career," says The Pall Mall Gazette, "in an article which goes on to say that not a single man was recruited from the hundreds of thousands which was attended by 15,000 spectators. A colonel who lost a son at the front and was himself returning to the front, and who pleaded with the men to enlist, his words were drowned by shouts which greeted the appearance of the team."

The Germans are expected to increase their army to 1,000,000 men in the near future. The German people are expected to be more active in the war effort.

ARMY AT FULL STRENGTH.
Germany's Western Force Not Diminished Says Copenhagen Despatch.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A despatch from Copenhagen says that it has been learned in German military circles that, despite the serious situation in the west, the German army has not diminished their strength in the western theatre.

The Germans will not give up their position in the west, and will continue to fight in the west, unless it becomes vitally necessary, for such action would cause the spirit of the German people to fall to a low level that revolution might follow.

The Germans are expected to increase their army to 1,000,000 men in the near future. The German people are expected to be more active in the war effort.

Kaiser's Fourth Son Improving.
AMSTERDAM, Nov. 24.—"Prince August Wilhelm, the fourth son of the German Emperor, who was injured in a motor car accident, is improving, but complete recovery will take a long time," says a newspaper correspondent of The-Telegraph. The correspondent adds: "The reports that the Crown Prince had been wounded are unfounded."

MAY ATTACK ITALY.

Austro-Turkish Fleet Ready For Hostilities Says Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A despatch from the Rome correspondent of The Standard says:

Germany, having succeeded in pushing Turkey into the war against the allies, Austria also is doing her utmost to induce Turkey to attack Italy. At the same time the Italian Government is well aware of what is going on, but none the less hesitates to believe the report that has just come in from one of its most reliable agents that a common action combined Austro-Turkish squadron is expected to be taken against Italy at a very early date.

"What is undeniable, however," it is being carried on by the Turkish navy, and the Austro-Turkish fleet is to be actively countenancing this movement, the first consequence of which have been the raising of a number of the present war. It is declared that the Italian army and navy is ready and that Italy must regain her lost provinces. His criticism of Italy's neutrality aroused the wildest enthusiasm.

Nathan Urges War.
ROME, Nov. 24.—"The hour for the supreme decision has struck," said Nathan of Rome, a leading figure in contemporary Italian affairs, at the Costanzi Theatre in an address to 6,000 people or more of the present war. He declared that the Italian army and navy is ready and that Italy must regain her lost provinces. His criticism of Italy's neutrality aroused the wildest enthusiasm.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.
A casualty list dated Nov. 20, made public last night, gives the names of five officers killed, eight wounded and one missing.

The Marine Department expects that the British fleet will be in the Baltic Sea outside Falsterbo, Sweden, on Sunday night.

The London Board of Control yesterday recommended to the City Council that the Dominion Railway be authorized to place underground of all wires in the downtown section of the city.

French artillery succeeded Sunday night in getting the range of a chateau south of Dixmude, where the German General Staff was installed. The French shells compelled 20 officers to run from the building in night attire, during a blizzard.

FIFTY-FIVE IN PERIL.
Seven Prisoners Already Drowned as Result of Wreck in Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 24.—Five members of a crew of life-savers trying to reach the steam schooner Hanel, wrecked on Duxbury Reef, off the north coast of San Francisco, were drowned last night. Two of the Hanel's crew were drowned late yesterday while trying to reach their way through the surf with life. Two men were saved.

The lives of 55 other men and women were in jeopardy in the stormy decks of the fast-breaking up schooner, hung in the balance. A thick fog prevented relief ships from taking the Hanel when darkness came, and the rescue craft sought safety in deep water. It was realized that the only possible hope was to get a line out from shore.

The crew of the Golden Gate Life-Saving Station started to the scene of the wreck with a life-throwing machine and an anchor to reach the ship at midnight.

TURKISH TOWNS TAKEN.
British Have Now Occupied Basrah and Jaffa.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—It is officially announced that British troops have occupied Basrah, a town at the mouth of the Tigris on the Persian Gulf, in Turkish territory. The occupation took place on the 21st instant.

Basrah is an important cable station, the line from that place running to Bushire, Persia.

An unofficial report received yesterday says the Turks have retired from the Shatt al-Arab as a result of their defeat at El Arish. It is also reported that Jaffa, the port of Jerusalem, has been occupied by British troops.

Two Are Reported Safe.
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 24.—Alarm for the safety of the steamers Niagara and Nipigon, which were feared to have met disaster with the C. F. Curtis and her barges in last Thursday's storm was dispelled yesterday afternoon when at least two of the vessels were reported under shelter. No hope, however, is held out for any members of the crews of the ill-fated Curtis, Annie M. Peterson and S. E. Marvin.

To Let Big Contracts.

The Ross rifle, the St. Etienne, and the St. Etienne rifle will be given at a special order to tender on a ten million dollar order for mitrailleuses and cartridges.

Girl Kills Mother.

NEW ASSAULT BEGINS

Germans Vigorously Bombard Ypres, Soissons and Rheims.

Belgian Town Held by British Is Now in Flames and German Generals Are Believed To Be About to Make a New Assault on Ypres to Break Through Line—Kaiser's Soldiers Chase Under Long Delay.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The late advice from France says that the town of Ypres, Belgium, held by the British, and the cities of Rheims and Soissons, in France, have been subjected to a heavy bombardment from hostile artillery, and that Ypres is in flames. The public parks, the cathedral and the belfry, the latter begun in 1200 and completed in 1304, are on fire. This bombardment is believed to herald another tremendous assault by the Germans, in an attempt to accomplish at Ypres what has failed at Neuport, Darnede and elsewhere.

The following official communication was issued last night by the French War Office:

"To-day, as yesterday, there was cannonading from the north and in the direction of Soissons and Rheims. In the Argonne there were violent attacks by both sides which, however, were without result."

The French Government issued the following communique Monday afternoon:

"Yesterday was marked by a violent artillery fire. The enemy directed his attention particularly to the town of Ypres, where the belfry, the cathedral, the public parks and a number of houses were set on fire, to Soissons and to Rheims."

In the Argonne the day was characterized by very hot fighting. The enemy delivered very spirited attacks, which were repulsed. In the Woëvre the situation is without change."

The bombardment of Rheims and Soissons is believed to be an effort to turn the French from the north and the vigorous campaign which they are prosecuting along the Meuse, and on the Lorraine frontier, where fresh troops have been moved to Basra by the armistice of the republic. It may also be intended to cover the transfer of German troops from the western to the eastern front.

There is a recrudescence of activity along the Belgian coast and British warships were engaged yesterday in a vigorous attack on the German batteries. The extent of this action cannot be learned, but all reports agree that the Kaiser is evidently bent on another try at Dunkirk. Heavy guns have been mounted from Neuport to Knocke, and the entire population of the latter town and Zeebrugge have been moved to Bruges. They were not allowed to rendezvous in Holland, but were coerced in going to Bruges. This place is declared to be a safe haven for the German troops suffering from trifling wounds. Similar reports of a wholesale exodus from St. Nicholas, a city of 40,000 people, between Antwerp and Ghent, comes by way of Holland. The German military officials have ordered every man in the town to leave by the next train, where they will be provided with quarters. The order is imperative, and is said to have specified that no one must remain in St. Nicholas."

A despatch from Thiel, Belgium, says:

"There are clear indications that 'General November' will take a leading part in the operations along the front by the Yser river. The days of cold weather have been followed by three days of frost over the entire territory outlined by the cities of Middelkerke, Thourout, Thiel, Roniers and Ypres, and a thick layer of ice with stable fields, over which there is a coating of ice, making them almost impassable for man or beast."

The German troops are living in the ruins of two acres of villages and small cities. They are becoming impatient at the delay and are suffering from the winds which penetrate the windowless buildings in which they seek some sort of shelter. They will probably prefer a general attack to the battle, but any such sudden movement is prevented by the inundation along the front."

"The Germans are awaiting with great hopes the arrival of engineers, whose duty it will be to find some means of crossing the inundated territory, but the methods which are being employed, if decided upon, are being kept secret."

Asquith at Salisbury.
SALISBURY, Nov. 24.—The Prime Minister, accompanied by his daughter, paid an unofficial visit here yesterday. He went over the whole four camps of the Salisbury district, and conversed freely with several Canadian officers. He seemed to take a particular interest in the arrangements made for the social entertainment of the soldiers.

The men soon recognized the Premier as he drove up in a motor, and gave him a warm welcome. He was greatly impressed with the appearance of the troops and spoke of their sturdy physique.

German Naval Station Found.
LIMA, Peru, Nov. 24.—It is declared here to-day on a reliable source that the German navy has been maintaining a station outside of Valparaiso, Chile. Here they brought together a number of vessels having on board coal and provisions.

Girl Kills Mother.
MONTREAL, Nov. 24.—Mrs. J. D. Roy, 631a St. Andre street, was yesterday morning shot and killed by her 16-year-old daughter Dorella. The girl had secured the revolver of a boarder and while playing with it pulled the trigger, the bullet entering her mother's breast.

ALL classes of fowl are much cheaper this year and when chickens are quoted at 10 cents and turkeys at 13 cents it almost seems incredible, but there are many who can remember when the prices were 5 cents for chicken and 7 1/2 cents for turkeys. And in those days people lived and prospered.

Municipal Elections

INSTEAD of holding the annual election on the first Monday of the year as has been the custom, Ontario municipalities may hold their elections on New Years Day. In order to make the change, however, a by-law to that effect must be passed before November 15th. Cities have had this privilege some time, the object being to give workingmen an opportunity to vote. New Years being generally observed as a holiday.

There was need of changing the date of our municipal elections, but when the change was being made elections ought to have been fixed for the first week of December instead of the first week of January. A municipal campaign in the Christmas holiday week is a nuisance. Many electors are away from home and, no doubt, many more would like to be, but remain to take part in the campaign. Holding the election on New Years Day will be no improvement over holding it on the first Monday. In fact it will only make matters worse: for nominations will be on Christmas Day, the campaign carried on during the following week and the voting will be on New Years Day. This will simply destroy the whole Christmas week of those who take an active part in municipal affairs.

The western provinces have improved on this arrangement by having the municipal elections about the first of December, so that the busy new year is in no way disturbed by the annual contests. —Lachlan Scott.

Gripped With Rheumatism

And Skeptical After Trying Many Medicines—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Cured Him.

When the kidneys fail to purify the blood the poisons left in the system cause pain and suffering, such as backache, lumbago and rheumatism. Read how this skeptic was cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. F. W. Brown, Kingsbury, Que., writes: "I have been completely cured of backache and lame back by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I also recommend the pills to a man who was a cripple from rheumatism. He was skeptical, as he said that he had tried nearly everything on earth. Finally he consented to try them, and to his surprise was greatly benefited in the first week, and the pains left his legs until he was so supple he could walk without pain or difficulty. ### ENTOR WIARTON ECHO

Dear Sir:—I see by the Bruce Times, you depend on the fact of so few recruits volunteering from Warton. I quite agree with you. As one from Bruce Co. on the Can. Exp. Force I am not proud of the representation. With the exception of Chesley the towns turned out very few men and the Motherland needs them all. It is true there are many soldiers in extraction in Bruce but they should remember their escape from Kaiserism and Kultur to a country which has assured their freedom. If they forget it let them read Nash's Magazine for November on the atrocious cruelties of the German military party. The enclosed clipping from the London Chronicle may interest you.

Yours truly,

"FALL IN"
THE GREAT RECRUITING SONG

We reprint below Mr. Harold Bebie's poem. "Fall in!" the stirring stanzas of which have a peculiar appeal at this moment of need for all the recruits that the country can get:—

What will you look, sonny, what will you look

When the girls line up the street,
Shouting their love to the lads come back
From the foe they rushed to meet?

Will you send a straggled cheer to the sky
And grin till your cheeks are red?

But what will you look when your mate goes by
With a girl who cuts you dead?

Where will you look, sonny, where will you look
When your children yet to be Chorus to learn of the part you took
In the war that kept me free?

Will you say it was naught to you if France stood up to her foe or looked?

But where will you look when they give
The glance That tells you they know you fought?

How will you fare, sonny, how will you fare
In the far-off winter night,
When you sit by the fire in an old man's chair
And your neighbors talk of the fight?

Will you sink away, as it were from a blow,
Your old head shamed and bent?

Or say—I was with the first to go,
But I won't, thank God, I won't.

Why do they call, "sonny, why do they call
For men who are brave and strong?"

Is it naught to you if your country fall,
And fight is snatched by wrong?

Is it naught to you if the picture show
The nub 'n' of the better odds,
When your brothers stand to the try
And England's call is God's?

And England's call is God's
HAROLD BEBIE

White As A Ghost

Pale or Sallow Checks One of the First Signs of Anaemia

Pale and sallow cheeks, with blanched lips and gums; and dark circles under the eyes, are the first signs that anaemia has begun its deadly progress. This condition is usually the result of great weariness and breathlessness after any exertion. You grow morbid, have frequent headaches, awake in the morning feeling tired. You become morbid and nervous, starting at the slightest noise, and your heart palpitates violently even on going upstairs. Most girls suffer from this condition, and it is a sign of anaemia. Neglect to supply new blood to the languishing, bloodless body, means a life of misery—indeed it is an open invitation to the most heinous of all diseases, consumption.

The new, rich blood that cures anaemia and gives you health and strength is readily created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. That is why these pills have cured cases of bloodlessness and blood disorders than any other medicine they have made thousands of girls and women strong, well and rosy, with bright eyes and low energy just because they carried the body with the new, rich blood of health. Here is a typical instance. Miss Laura Dunspey, Auburn, N. Y. says: "For several months I was in a very bad state health, with many of the symptoms that accompany anaemia. I was pale and bloodless, had terrible headaches, would be breathless at the least exertion. Having tried a number of medicines without relief I naturally became discouraged and began to fear that I was doomed to continued illness. At this stage a friend who had herself been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills urged me to try them. I did so and thanks to the pills I am now enjoying the best of health and feel that I cannot recommend this splendid medicine too highly."

Other weak and ailing girls can also obtain new health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or they will be sent by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brooklyn, Ont.

The Story of WAIT STILL BAXTER

BY KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

Copyright, 1913, by Kate Douglas Wiggin

Ivory Boynton lifted the bars that divided his land from the highway and walked slowly toward the house. It was April, but there was still a touch of snow here and there, still melting under a drizzling rain. It was a gray world, a black, black and brown world, above and below. The sky was leaden; the road and the cottages were swathed in a muddy ooze decked with white. The tree trunks, black, with bare branches, were outlined against the gray sky; nevertheless, spring had begun on the way for a week, and a few sunny days would bring the yearly miracle for which all hearts were longing.

Ivory was seven years old, and his quick eye had caught a sign as he walked through the woods from his schoolhouse. A new and different color haunted the tree tops, and one had only to look closely at the elm buds to see that they were beginning to swell. Some fat robins had been bouncing about in the schoolyard at noon, and the sparrows had been chirping and twittering on the fence rails. Besides, the winter was over, and Ivory was glad for it. He meant no contesting and skating and sleighing for him, but long walks in deep snow or slush, long evenings, good for study, but short days and greater loneliness for his mother. He could see her now as he neared the house, standing in the open doorway, her hand shading her eyes, watching, always watching, for some one who never came.

"Spring is on the way, mother, but it isn't here yet, so don't stand there in the rain," he called. "Look at the nose-eyes! I gathered for you as I came through the woods. Here are posy willows and red maple blossoms and mayflowers, would you believe it?"

Lola Boynton took the handful of budding things and sniffed their fragrance.

"You're late tonight, Ivory," she said. "Rod wanted his supper early so that he could go off to singing school, but I kept something warm for you, and I'll make you a fresh cup of tea."

CHAPTER III.

Something of a Hero.

Ivory went into the little shed room off the kitchen, changed his muddy boots for slippers and made himself generally tidy, then he came back to the living room bringing a pine knot which he hung on the fire, making it a brilliant flame.

"We can be as lavish as we like with the stumps now, mother, for spring is coming," he said, as he sat down to his meal.

"I've been looking out more than usual this afternoon," she replied. "There's hardly any snow left, and though the walking is so bad I've been rather expecting your father before night. You remember he said when he went away in January that he should be back before the mayflowers bloom."

It did not do any good to say: "Yes, mother, but the mayflowers have bloomed ten times since father went away."

"I've been looking out more than usual this afternoon."

away." He had tried that, gently and patiently, but she was making no sign to be comforted, from long grief and hurt love, stricken pride and sick suspense.

Instead of that Ivory turned the subject abruptly, saying, "Well, we're sure of a good season, I think. There's been a ground swell and that, they say, is the poor man's manure. Rod and I will put in more corn and potatoes this year. I don't have to work single handed very long, for he is going to be quite a farmer."

"Your father was very fond of green corn, but he never cared for potatoes," Mrs. Boynton said, vaguely, making up her knitting. "I always had great pride in my cooking, but I could never get your father to relish my potatoes."

"Well, his son does, anyway," Ivory replied, helping himself plentifully from a dish that held one of his mother's best concoctions, potatoes au gratin and put together into the spider with this bit of pork and all browned together.

"I saw the Baxter girls today, mother," he continued, not because he hoped she would give any heed to what he said, but from the sheer longing for companionship. "The deacon drove off with Lawyer Wilson, who wanted him to give testimony in some case or other down in Milton. The minute Patty saw him going up Saco hill she hurried the old stumped Baxter mare, and the girls started over to the Lower Center to see some friends. It seems it's Patty's birthday, and they were celebrating. I met them just as they were coming back and helped them lift the rickety wagon out of the mud. They were stuck in it up to the hubs of the wheels. I advised them to walk up the Town House hill if they ever expected to get the horse home."

"Town House hill," said Ivory's mother, dropping her knitting. "That was where we had such wonderful meetings. Truly the Lord was present in our midst. And oh, Ivory, the visions we saw in that place when Jacob Cochrane first unfolded his gospel to us! Was ever such a place?"

"Probably not, mother," remarked Ivory dryly.

"You were speaking of the Baxter. I remember how lonely and the little girl who used to stand in the gateway and watch when we came out of meeting. There was a boy too. Isn't there a Baxter baby, Ivory?"

"She didn't stay a baby. She is seventeen years old today, mother."

"You surprise me, but children do grow very fast. She had a strange name, but I can't recall it."

"Her name? Patience, but nobody but her father calls her anything but Patty, which suits her much better."

"No; the name wasn't Patience, not the name now, mother, for spring is coming," he said, as he sat down to his meal.

"I've been looking out more than usual this afternoon," she replied. "There's hardly any snow left, and though the walking is so bad I've been rather expecting your father before night. You remember he said when he went away in January that he should be back before the mayflowers bloom."

It did not do any good to say: "Yes, mother, but the mayflowers have bloomed ten times since father went away."

"He spoke as if the Lord of Hosts had given him inspiration; as if the angels were pouring words into his mouth just for him to utter," replied Mrs. Boynton. "Your father was spell-bound, and I only less so. When he ceased speaking the child's mother crossed the room and, saying to me, 'for, for his feet shod him and waiting and imploring God to forgive her sins. They carried her upstairs, and when we looked about after the confusion and excitement the stranger had vanished. But we found him again! As Elder Cochrane said: 'The prophet of the Lord can never be hid; no darkness is thick enough to cover him! There was a six weeks' revival meeting in North Saxton, where 300 souls were converted, and your father and I were among them. We had fancied ourselves true believers for years, but Jacob Cochrane unstopped our ears so that we could hear the truths revealed to him by the Almighty! It was all so simple and easy at the beginning, but it grew hard and grievous afterward; hard to keep the path, I mean. I never quite knew whether God was angry with me for backsliding at the end, but I could not always accept the revelations that Elder Cochrane and your father had!'"

Lola Boynton's hands were now, quietly folded over the knitting that lay forgotten in her lap, but her low, thrilling voice had a note in it that did not belong wholly to earth.

There was a long silence: one of many long silences at the Boynton household, broken only by the ticking of the clock, the purring of the cat and the clicking of Mrs. Boynton's needles, as her paroxysm of reminiscence over, she knitted on slowly, with her eyes on the window or the door.

"It's about time for Rod to be coming home, isn't it?" asked Ivory.

"The night to be here soon, but perhaps he is gone for good. It may be that he thinks he has made us a long enough stay. I don't know whether your father will like the boy when he comes home. He never did fancy company in the house."

Ivory looked up in astonishment from his Greek grammar. This was an entirely new turn of his mother's mind. Often when she was more than usually confused he would try to clear the cobwebs from her brain by gently questioning her until she brought herself back to a clearer understanding of her own thought. Thus far her vagaries had never made her unjust to any human creature. She was uniformly sweet and gentle in speech and demeanor.

"Why do you talk of Rod's visiting us when he is one of the family?" Ivory asked quietly.

"Is he one of the family? I didn't know he replied his mother absently. "Look at me, mother, straight in the eye. That's right. Now listen, dear, to what I say."

Mrs. Boynton's hair, that had been in her youth like an aureole of corn silk, was now a strange yellow white, and her blue eyes looked out from her pale face with a helpless appeal.

"You and I were living alone here after father went away," Ivory began. "I was a little boy, you know. You and father had saved something, there was the farm, you worked like a slave, I helped, and we lived somehow, do you remember?"

"I do indeed. It was cold, and the neighbors were cruel. Jacob Cochrane had gone away, and his disciples were not always true to him. When the congregation of his presence was withdrawn they could not follow all his revelations, and they forgot how he had awakened their spiritual life at the first of his preaching. Your father was always a staunch believer, but when he started on his mission and went to Parisville to help Elder Cochrane in his meetings the neighbors began to criticize him. They doubted him. You were too young to realize it, but I did, and it almost broke my heart."

"I was nearly twelve years old. Do you think I escaped all the gossip, mother?"

"You never spoke of it to me, Ivory."

"No, there is much that I never spoke of to you, mother, but some time when you grow stronger and your memory is better we will talk together. Do you remember the winter, long after father went away, that Parson Lane sent me to Parisville academy to get enough Greek and Latin to make me a school-master?"

"Yes," she answered uncertainly.

"Don't you remember I got a free ride downriver one Friday, and came home for Sunday, just to surprise you? And when I got here I found you in bed, with Mrs. Mason and Dr. Perry taking care of you. You could speak, you were so ill, but they told me you had been up in New Hampshire to see your sister, that she had died, and that you had brought back her boy, who was only four years old. That was Rod. I took him into bed with me that night, poor, home-sick little fellow, and, as you know, mother he's never left us since."

"I didn't remember I had a sister. Is she dead, Ivory?" asked Mrs. Boynton vaguely.

"No, she never died, do you suppose you would have kept Rodman with us when we hadn't bread enough for our own two mouths, mother?" questioned Ivory patiently.

"No," Ivory answered not. "I can't think how I can be so forgetful. It's worse sometimes than others. It's worse today because I knew the mayflowers were in bloom, and I was more certain it was time for your father to come home. You must forgive me, dear, and will you excuse me if I sit in the kitchen awhile? The window by the side door looks out toward the road, and if I put a candle on the sill it shines quite a distance. The lane is such a long one, and your father was always a sad stammer in the dark. I should like like him to think I was looking for him when he's been gone since January."

Ivory's pipe went out, and his book slipped from his knee unnoted.

"His pipe went out, and his book slipped from his knee unnoted," Mrs. Boynton was more confused than usual, but she always was when spring came to remind her of her husband's promise. Somehow, well used as he was to her mental wanderings, they made him uneasy tonight. His father had left home on a fabled mission, a duty he believed to be a revelation given by God through Jacob Cochrane. The first of the year, Ivory much at first. Ivory reflected bitterly, for since his fanciful espousal of Cochrane's his father's interest in such mundane matters as household expenses had diminished month by month until they had no meaning for him at all. Letters to wife and boy had come at first, but after six months, during which he had written from many places, continually deferring the date of his return, they had ceased altogether. The rest was silence. Rumors of his presence here or there came from time to time, but though Parson Lane and Dr. Perry did not believe in his case, none of them were ever substantiated.

Were those years of wandering been passed, and had they all been given even to an imaginary and fantastic service of God? Was his father dead? If he were alive, what could keep him from visiting? Nothing but a very strong reason or a very wrong one, so his son thought at times.

Since Ivory had grown to man's estate he understood that in the later days of Cochrane's preaching his "visions," "inspirations" and "revelations" concerning the marriage bond were a trifle startling from the old-fashioned, orthodox point of view. His mother's advanced disciples were to hold themselves in readiness to renounce their former vows and seek "spiritual consorts," sometimes according to his advice, sometimes at their inclinations prompted.

His Aaron Boynton forsaken willing the wife of his youth, the mother of his boy? If so he must have realized to what straits he was subjecting them. Ivory had not forgotten those first few years of grinding poverty, anxiety and suspense. His mother's mind had stood the strain bravely, but it gave way at last; not, however, until that fatal winter journey to New Hampshire, when cold, exposure and fatigue did their worst for her weak body. Religious enthusiast, exalted and impressionable, a natural mystic, she had probably always been, far more so in temperament, indeed, than her husband; but, although she left home on that journey a frail and beatific woman, she returned a different creature altogether, blurred and confused in mind with clouded memory and irrational fancies.

She must have given up hope just then, Ivory thought, and her love was so deep that when it was uprooted the soil came with it. Ivory's heart had returned because the cruel memory had faded altogether. She sat by the kitchen window in gentle expectation, watching, always watching.

And this is the way many of Ivory Boynton's evenings were spent, while the heart of him, the five-and-twenty-year-old heart of him, was longing to feel the beat of another heart, a girl's heart only a mile or more away. The ice in Saco water had broken up and the white bubbles sailed majestically down toward the sea. Sap was mounting and the elm trees were budding; the trailing arbutus was blossoming in the woods; the robins had come—everything was announcing the spring, yet Ivory saw no changing seasons in his future; nothing but winter, eternal winter there.

Women's Institute Meeting Held in Toronto, Nov. 10-13

"There is something vastly different about a convention of Women's Institutes from any other convention or meeting of a women's organization that is ever held in Toronto. There is something so real and earnest, so natural and unaffected, and something so eminently worth while, something about the members who come from towns, villages and farms." (Toronto News.)

At the opening session the hall was filled to overflowing, there were some 600 delegates present and many interested friends. This was a splendid attendance for this convention was for Central Ontario—conventions only the week preceding a convention had been held in London for Western Ontario, and the week previous to that one in Ottawa for the eastern counties. Mrs. A. M. Humes, Pres. of the local council of women gave the address of welcome, speaking optimistically of the great work of the Institutes throughout Ontario.

At the second day's meeting, Dr. Margaret Patterson presided. Dr. Patterson is known well and favorably throughout N. Bruce since her visit to the different branches last June.

Dr. Margaret Patterson and Mr. Noel Marshall and Mr. K. J. Dunstan gave some idea of the Canadian Red Cross work that is being carried on. Dr. Patterson created not only interest but amazement by illustrating on one of the men on the platform just how the Balalaava caps and the mufflers were used by the soldiers. She made a plea for the old-fashioned hand-knit socks of which there is a dire need, and referred to the great variety of garments needed by the Red Cross Society. Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, head of that branch of the Women's Patriotic League which sends girls to positions in the country, through the co-operation of Institute women, told something of the difficulties of her work.

Dr. Helen McHenry's opening and very sincere words: "We are all so glad to see and welcome the Women's Institute members in Toronto," sent a thrill through the audience. The speaker then dealt with the subject of the "Education of the Backward," and told of the act passed in April, 1914, as part of the harvest of Women's Institute efforts along these lines, which dealt with "Auxiliary Class Work" and provided that, any board of education throughout Ontario may have special classes for children who are mentally or physically defective and thus cannot take part in ordinary classes. Dr. MacMurdy referred to the hardships for physically defective and the danger of mentally defective children being obliged to be in the regular classes. The bill referred to, explained the speaker, also provided an opportunity to establish residential schools, farm colonies and so on for the mentally defective. The announcement was received with enthusiasm by the audience.

At this meeting reports and greetings were received from delegates from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In the afternoon a number of the delegates, by special invitation, visited some of the city schools and were greatly interested and delighted with the equipment, the manual training, the medical inspection and school nurse, and one delegate at least heaved a sigh because such advantages were conspicuous by a complete absence from the school where her kiddies were learning three R's.

From the school the teachers went to the art museum, where they were the guests of Mr. Noel Marshall, Pres. of the Red Cross Society. They were then taken to the art museum, where they were the guests of Mr. Noel Marshall, Pres. of the Red Cross Society. The evening meeting was held in state. The Convention Hall about 1500 being present and the portraits of past chairmen looked down on something never seen before. For here and there dotted through the audience was a delegate busily knitting away on the platform. Premier Harcourt made his first bow to a woman's organization. He may or may not think women should have a vote, but it was quite evident in thought that women were a large factor in shaping even the political issues of our country. Dr. Harcourt spoke very earnestly on "What the University can do for the people." And Dr. C. C. James held the attention and interest in a stirring address on the "Agricultural Problem of the Day."

On the third day the interest had not waned, the hall being packed. Addresses were given on Pains and Flower Shows, Community Improvement, Co-operation between Church and Institute, Medical Inspection in Schools, and the great problem of how we should help the stranger within our gates, because these stranger women will be the future of the race who will in a short time help to frame our laws. This closed a most splendid convention and the members returned to their homes tired and weary but full of enthusiasm and new plans.

Special services for the men particularly, will be held in the church here next Sunday. They were to be held last Sunday, but instead we had Rev. J. Jackson of the Dominion Alliance. His splendid address for local option was much appreciated.

We understand that the Home Guard of Warrington feels the need of a larger drill shed. How would the store-houses of the old sugar beet factory do? They would give more room for manoeuvring and as for the walk—well in Toronto the Home Guard are taking marches of several miles just to get in practice. We were delighted to see the farm men hauling wood etc. and thus making use of the excellent sleighing last Saturday. Special services for the men particularly, will be held in the church here next Sunday. They were to be held last Sunday, but instead we had Rev. J. Jackson of the Dominion Alliance. His splendid address for local option was much appreciated. This new law requiring a two-dollar fee for the privilege of tramping milk etc. is causing dismay to our local trappers. We indeed sympathize with the Editor and his broken rib. We have been there ourselves and it is indeed a painful experience. Some of the young people of this neighborhood attended the concert given by the Jubilee Singers in Warrington last Saturday evening. They report a good time. The Mothers Club meet at the school house next Friday at three o'clock. Please ladies don't forget. We hope to see a large attendance of the ladies at church next Sabbath come out to hear what the men can do without the ladies aid.

Fined $10 And Given Thirty Days

One of the most disgraceful scenes and the foulest language ever heard on the streets of Warton occurred last Wednesday night when Louie Plant got tanked up and started in to paint the town red. Chief Glover arrived on the scene, and when he attempted to arrest Plant he turned the air blue with unprintable language, and when the Chief got weak in the knees and started to swear in every citizen who happened to come along Louie simply told him to go to some place or other not marked on the map of North Wales, and walked down street. Not thinking it safe to make another attempt to arrest such a dangerous man the Chief went for a constable, and when the constable arrived he found Louie Plant in a peaceful slumber. He got him to go down street, and make the arrest. Mr. Ward found his man at the depot and immediately took possession of him. Louie put up a stiff fight, but seeing that he had a man to deal with he soon gave up the struggle, and was landed in the lockup and on Friday was fined $10 and costs for being drunk and disorderly, and given thirty days for using obscene language on the streets.

At Hymen's Altar

HARRY—MCDONALD

A pretty wedding took place last evening at 131 Delaware Ave., when Amy Barclay, daughter of Mrs. Macdonald and the late Rev. Dr. Macdonald was married to Dr. R. E. Harry of Warton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry of Sarnia. The marriage was solemnized at half past six by J. A. Macdonald, uncle of the bride, officiating and her brother, Dr. W. A. Macdonald, of St. Catharines, gave the bride away. The bridal train was of ivory duchess champagne tulle with princess point lace and pearls, her veil of silk net was trimmed with pearls and caught in a comb with true lilies kinds of roses and orange blossoms. Miss Macdonald played the wedding march. Dr. and Mrs. Harry have moved to their new home in Warton. Mr. Harry traveling in navy French dress velvet, hat to match and black fox fur.—Toronto Globe, Nov. 29.

HUTCHES—FOURTH

The marriage of Miss Jean Barrie, only daughter of Mrs. Thomas G. Forsyth, to Mr. Alvin David Hutches, only son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hutches of Warton, was solemnized on Wednesday at 5.30 o'clock at the bride's uncle, Mr. Dalgleish, Rev. Dr. Marous Scott performed the ceremony, among only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was given away by her brother Mr. Tom Forsyth, Hamilton. She looked beautiful in a pretty gown of Brussels net with over dress of chiffon, wearing a castle cap, and carried a bridal bouquet of lilies and roses. The house was decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums, ferns and palms. Miss Forsyth who was popular in social circles in the Twin-City will be missed, and will be welcomed back at all times. The couple left for the 7.45 train for Toronto, where they will spend a few days before going on to New York. On their return they will reside at 47 Highview Crescent, Toronto. Mr. Alvin Hutches was very popular in town and his many friends wish him and his wife every happiness.—Berlin Record, Nov. 26th.

The tug Sandford and scow left last week for Midland to move lumber for the Georgian Bay Shook Mill Co.

A Grave Injustice

Last week an officer from Ottawa arrived in town to interview two gentlemen who had been reported to the Department as pro-German, and one of these gentlemen was the Rev. Mr. Langholtz, pastor of the Lutheran church. It now appears that Mr. Langholtz came to Canada in 1863, took out naturalization papers in Quebec, and for twenty-five years was pastor of the Lutheran church at Phillipsburg.

He placed the matter before his congregation Sunday morning, and asked them to let the judges whether they had heard him expressing any disloyal sentiments or not, and by a standing vote they all showed their confidence in his loyalty. Just here it may be remarked that the German ladies are working heart and hand with others in all the patriotic work, and the Germans of this town are undoubtedly loyal to the core to British institutions.

The Charges Denied

Warton, Nov. 29, 1914

The Evang. Lutheran congregation of Warton, Ont., herewith emphatically declares, that the accusations against our Pastor, Rev. Mr. Langholtz, namely, that he spoke openly against the English from the pulpit, is not true. Not one sentence was expressed from our pastor either anti-British or pro-German.

The trustees of the Evang. Lutheran St. Peter church in Warton.

St. Andrew Night

On Monday evening the members of St. Andrew Society honored their patron saint and to the number of forty-two sat down to a sumptuous supper prepared by Mr. Watt. There were a number of guests present, and among those from a distance were Reeve McConnell, Sargeant; Mr. Branton, Bruce Township; Reeve Rausbury, Tolamory; and Reeve Scott, Spry. Toasts were proposed and responded to in a happy and able manner, and even the Belgians were not forgotten. Songs were sung to the enjoyment of all present and a telegram from Toronto conveying the greeting of the head St. Andrew Society was duly received and a suitable reply was sent. It was most enjoyable occasion, and the committee who had charge of the whole affair did their work well. Mr. B. B. Miller filled the chair in his usually happy manner and McLaren's pipe band supplied everything that was needed to make the evening Scotch to the satisfaction of all and the Scotch felt that night with Stevenson that the happiest lot on earth is to be born a Scotchman.

Another Man Given Thirty Days

Barrett Thompson was brought before Police Magistrate Miller on Monday on two charges. The first charge was laid by E. Daw. Thompson, who was a volunteer for the second Canadian Contingent and failed to pass the examinations at London, upon returning to Warton was given a bundle of clothes by a friend of Mr. Daw's to be delivered to him when he arrived home. Thompson evidently forgot to turn the key over to the right owner. For this absent mindedness Magistrate Miller gave him a thirty-day vacation in the County Jail. The second charge was laid by Thos. Arnold. Thompson had been drawing ties to town for Mr. Arnold and had been drawing the money for them. On this charge he was fined $5.00 and costs and given two weeks to pay his fine and the amount he had drawn over what was coming to him for hauling the ties to town. The arrest was made by Robert Ward, who found his man at Oliphant.

Bon Ton Minstrels Get Big Crowd

Last Thursday night J. R. Hamilton presented the Bon Ton Minstrels under the auspices of the Ladies Patriotic League to a packed house, and every member of the troop showed a thorough training through which he had undergone.

The first part of the program opened with catchy choruses, solos, and witty end-men jokes, and a specialty by George King, which brought down the house.

Part two started with a selection from the orchestra and a short address from Mayor Tyson, followed by a number of songs, specialties and solos. The whole performance was good from start to finish, but when George King arrived from somewhere up near the roof in his zeppelin, which was composed of two bananas crates and a clothes basket and an electric fan for a propeller the house was in an uproar. Then he and his assistant, Gordon Murray, pulled off some musical stunts that would do credit to any two professionals who make a living at such business. For about half an hour they kept the audience convulsed with laughter, and good the rest of the program was good, a whole lot of credit is due to George King and Gordon Murray for the entire success of the evening's performance.

The following was the programme:

The new scenery which was purchased from the proceeds of the minstrel show given the night of the fall fair, was given a hoarse hand-clap when exhibited to the audience.

O. H. A. Annual Convention

The business for the annual convention of the Ontario Hockey Association which is to be held at the Temple Building, Toronto, on Saturday, December 5, at 9 a.m. includes the discussion of a number of important questions that will doubtless attract a large attendance of delegates.

Mr. J. Ross Robertson, as chairman of the sub-committee, has a list of motions for the betterment of the game, based on the experiences of the governing board during the past year. The proposed changes summarized as follows:

1. To reinforce the student rule so that it covers a player who is absent from home and registered in actual and regular attendance at lectures at a preparatory school, a high school, a university, or an affiliated college.

2. To appoint an assistant referee in finals and semi-finals, if considered necessary.

3. To limit overtime games to 30 minutes actual play or 90 minutes in all.

4. To charge each team with a loss if the game is abandoned before the 90 minutes has been played.

5. To divide the playing time in 3 20 minute periods instead of two 30 minute periods.

6. To make this qualification to the outside rule: "A player having taken a pass from a team-mate, who is prevented from skating him outside through interference, tripping or other foul play, opponent, shall not be declared offside."

7. To make it optional for teams in the senior series to drop a man to equalize for one obliged to leave the game for any reason or to insist upon the opposing team substituting a player for the one retiring.

Chance for "Grooms" Players

Mr. J. H. Grooms, of Alvinston, desires a change in the residence rule so that a resident of a "village" shall have the same privilege as a player residing in a rural district or a police village viz., the privilege of playing with the O. H. A. club in the nearest town to his residence. Under the present rules the "villager" is debarred from playing anywhere except with the village team.

Mr. James T. Sutherland, of Kingston proposes to make an addition to the players' certificates showing where they played in 1911, 1912 and 1913 to establish their records; he also submits an amendment to debar from office in O. H. A. clubs any person who is the owner of, or has a controlling interest, or is employed in any capacity with any skating rink. Another amendment by Mr. Sutherland is to allow no substitutes except in the case of a goal tender who has been injured.

Grants to Worthy Objects

It is also proposed to make good use of some of the surplus funds of the association. Mr. Francis Nelson proposes a grant of $1000 to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, and Sheriff J. E. Paxton, of Whitley, proposes that the association endow a cot in perpetuity in the Hospital for sick children, to be known as the "Ontario Hockey Association bed," at a cost of $2000. In addition, the hundred and odd clubs of the association will be asked to play matches during Christmas week in the various groups wherever possible the receipts of which will be donated to the patriotic fund.

This is the last day for receiving nominations for the O. H. A. executive, and it appears as if President Charles Farquharson, of Stratford, would be re-elected by acclamation.

The annual fee for clubs already members of the association is $6 per team, while new clubs are required to pay $5 additional as entrance fee. All clubs desiring to play in the association in this coming winter are requested to notify the secretary, W. A. Hewitt, Daily Star office, Toronto specifying the series in which they are desirous of competing. All applications must be accompanied by the membership fee and a list of officers and colors of the club.

A young ladies Patriotic League has been formed with Miss Margaret Ewing as President, Miss Eva Fielding Sec'y, Miss F. Jackson Treas., and Miss Ward, Miss F. O'Hara, Miss B. McCartney, Miss M. Paterson as co-conveners. This league will begin work by giving a tea in the Union Bank.

The Kastner Lumber Co. Will Operate

The Echo is pleased to learn that the Kastner Lumber Co. will get out a cut of logs this winter, and consequently will operate their mill next summer. This is good news, and the outlook is decidedly better. Mr. Kastner is not doing this for business reasons, but entirely to give work to a number of men who have been employed with him for years. If he had to consider only his own convenience he would not get out any more lumber until he had sold what he has on hand, for the whole season's cut is there, and there is nothing moving, but in order to provide work for his men he has determined to get out another stock, and to trust to a revival in the market. As Mr. Kastner is doing this for the reasons stated we hope that the sales will come his way. This action upon his part restores confidence and revivifies business. The Echo has already stated that Johnston, Hunter & Crawford will take out a stock this winter.

NIGHT WATCHMAN NEEDED

The need of a night watchman was again emphasized last Thursday morning at 3 o'clock when the fire alarm sounded, and when it did a stable belonging to Mr. B. B. Miller, Louise street and used by H. Goodman for his horses and junk, was a mass of flames. The fire had probably been started one hour before that two horses were burnt to death, and all the junk destroyed. As there was no wind the fire did not spread, but had there been a strong wind the loss to the town would have been something enormous. We cannot always depend upon luck, we should have a night watchman. A night watchman is of far more need to Warton than a day constable. The work during the day could be handled by a special or a County Constable. The scheme may be a little difficult to work out, but the need of a night watchman is so great that it ought to be worked out as soon as possible. If the factories think a night watchman necessary, then should one man own the whole town he would probably have a similar opinion, and would not trust to luck after midnight.

Sold Bit by Bit

If the cement plant cannot be sold en-bloc it will be sold bit by bit to pay taxes and other necessary expenses while it is held by the Trust Company. The Trust Company has sold the two miles of steel rails lying in the yards of Johnston and Hunter & Crawford for a pleasure contract of lifting and shipping them to the Toronto buyer of the same, Mr. J. J. Gartshore. What they have brought we do not know, but they are no doubt worth a few thousand dollars. One thing is certain that they have not brought what it cost to grade the road and lay the rails. Perhaps they never would be used again should the plant be operated as the last operations depended upon the rock brought from White Cloud Island, and if something had to be sold there is nothing that would effect the working value of the plant less. But should the plant be sold within a year or two an en-bloc then something else will go until probably the walls alone will remain. It is safe enough to predict that they are fixtures. The cement plant was the spot of many triumphs of engineering skill, almost rivaling the Panama Canal, here was the longest belt conveyor in the world, and here was what many believed and still believe, a good cement proposition. It is to be hoped that before everything is torn asunder and sold the bondholders can come to the rescue and save the institution.

Read what the Mail and Empire says about Mr. Cameron. "His humor is of the artistic kind that distinguishes him from the average concert comedian and marks the truest art." He will appear in the town hall Dec. 4th. Don't fail to hear him. Admission 25c, reserved seats 50c and 50c.

Sad Incident At Lions Head

A very strange and sad incident occurred here early Monday morning which cast a gloom over this town, when one of our promising young ladies, Miss Flora Mitchell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell, aged 29 years, in a fit of temporary insanity, walked down to the dock and jumped into the bay. Before leaving Mr. R. Shaw's home where she was working she left a letter addressed to her mother containing some money and bidding them farewell. Another card containing the following: "If you want to find me look in the Georgian Bay. Her body was found in the morning about 8 o'clock. It is a mystery what caused her to do this rash deed as she was always cheerful and pleasant, friendly with everybody and was looked upon in high esteem by all. Interment took place in Easton cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. The funeral was a large one, friends and acquaintances turned out to show their last respect to the departed girl and to the parents, family and friends in this sad hour of bereavement. Dr. Fisher, coroner of Warton, held post mortem on Monday last.

Kincardine

$200 fine was handed out to Mrs. Knox North Bruce, for selling liquor by the bottle in a local option district. Messrs Quinn and McKenzie were the magistrates. If any one in this town comes up for such an infraction of the law a fine like that will give them a jar.

Knox Presbyterian church has inaugurated a campaign to clean up its indebtedness. It will have no trouble doing it if everybody puts their shoulder to the wheel.

The bulletin service which has been kept up by J. C. Cook since the war began was discontinued on Saturday as payment was not coming in to meet the charges. There were plenty of people willing to read them but only a few willing to pay. The public generally got the idea that it was a free service because it was not costing them anything. It did not occur to them that such a person had to pay for it to make it free to them. Two or three fairly wealthy men were constant readers but they paid nothing for the service.

Time isn't always money to the chaps who does a credit business. There may be gurus in blazes, but every girl thinks she is fortunate.

During the evening the audience sang, Rule Britannia and the Red, White and Blue and Rev. Mr. Matheson gave an address on "A True Patriot." The Institute held their regular meeting monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Jas. Aiken formerly Miss Molly Walfrey, Tomahawk, Wisconsin, on Thursday night, November 19th 1914. Much sympathy is felt for the young husband and parents.

A patriotic service will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. The Amabel Council met in the village on Saturday. Mrs. W. H. Sinclair and Mrs. Campbell, of Owen Sound, spent Sunday afternoon visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Moore, who is residing at the home of her nephew, Mr. Chas. Arnold. Mrs. Moore celebrated her 81st birthday on Saturday, and is an exceptionally smart lady for one of her years. Her many friends both in Allenford and Owen Sound wish her many more happy birthdays.

Up to the time of writing only one quarter the amount of salubrious food required by the Southampton hatching have been served. This hatchery can handle about ten million eggs. The top R. H. Gibson is still setting here to secure the yaws, but owing to the considerable storm weather they have met with very little success. Unless they are secured soon it will be in use trying further as the spawning season is nearly over. The Winton hatchery has secured about six million eggs and to get further amount they have a pond set at Gravel Point and two bags near Mesford.

Mr. M. Cole, the popular teller in the local branch of the Bank of Hamilton, who has been off duty all summer on account of illness, has been working at his home in Georgetown, in waiting here for a few days, and his many friends are pleased to find he has improved so much in his health. He does not expect to resume his duties in the bank until spring.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff; that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a far-reaching and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and fall—the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine scalp-scrub—any bottle—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knott's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can't have beautiful hair and lose it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Danard, will form a suitable body guard and a procession to the hall headed by the children and the band will be arranged. The banquet will be arranged. The reception and banquet will be entirely non political and Liberals and Conservatives have equal chance to secure tickets. A warm fight is anticipated in Tara for municipal honors.

Mrs. (Rev.) Deacon left on Tuesday to visit her daughter in Pembroke.

Mr. Louis Districh, a well-known farmer of Tara, died at his home about 6 miles north of Warkenton, on Sunday morning last after a long, lingering and complicated illness, aged 61 years and 6 months. Mr. Alex McCarter, who has been in the west for the past five years, has returned to town, accompanied by his brother, William, who has been also residing in the west for a time.

A very sad and sudden death occurred in Warkenton on Tuesday morning when Miss Maude Spittig, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spittig, passed away at the early age of twenty-three years. The deceased had been suffering from an affection of the lungs for some months and having spent the summer at the Muskoka sanatorium, returned about a month ago to apparently improved health. On Monday she was in better spirits than usual and after spending the evening with several girl friends, she retired about 10 o'clock. About eight o'clock Tuesday morning she was taken with a hemorrhage and died very suddenly before medical assistance could be secured.

Magistrates Melanson of Southampton, and Southampton of Amabel, on information of Inspector Raney of North Bruce, had before them Charles Dabek of Tara on Tuesday last, for having 5 gallons of whiskey sent to them by Randall & Boose of Be-lin. The whiskey was found in the express office at Tara addressed to J. M. Dabek, who is a bartender in Tara, which is under local option. Dabek did not claim the booze, and as there was no evidence to convict him, the case was dismissed, and the booze was confiscated. On the suggestion of Judge Klein, who was in Tara on the day of the trial, the two J. P.'s ordered that the whiskey be sent to Bruce Hospital at Warkenton, instead of being poured down the street gutter as it sometimes does.

The Warkenton Hockey club was organized at a meeting held in the town hall on Tuesday night, when it was decided to enter an intermediate team in the Northern Hockey League and join the bunch of foreign talent that Midway is importing in the hope of winning the district championship and getting a piece of Warkenton's cash by side bets and bribing the referee. The local home brew, however, look like real trophy matches, and when it comes to grabbing the "livestock" they will be there with their mitts off. The following officers were elected:—Hon. Pres., R. E. Traut; Hon. Vice Pres., F. W. Lippert; Pres., A. McCaskey; vice pres., R. M. Player; Sec. Treas., C. L. Oberle; Managing Committee, K. M. Taylor, F. G. Edin and Cloc Clara.

RAISER SHIFTS FORCES

He May Be Planning New Assault or Making a Retreat.

Indian Troops Are Said to Have Come Upon Deserted Troops in Belgium and German Defence Guns Are Reported to Be Taking Up a Position From Ostend to Courtrai.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Behind their battle front in Belgium the Germans are said to be engaged in shifting their forces, but whether these movements presage another onslaught or whether the Kaiser has ordered a retirement, has not been ascertained, by the aeroplane scouts of the allies.

From Germany comes an official report to the effect that new attacks may be expected against the allies in the near future.

Despatches from northern France say that the bombardments by the Germans in that region have been increased, and that it is believed that many of the heavy guns have been removed to a new defence line, probably along the line of Ostend, Roulers and Courtrai.

Another indication that the Germans are making preparations to fall back to positions which they have had time to prepare is seen in the fact that in a number of cases the front line of the allies have advanced and found the front rank trenches of the Germans unoccupied and nearly filled with water.

The following official communication was issued last evening in Paris: "There is nothing of importance to report, beyond some attacks from the enemy to the north of Arras, which were without result."

The official communiqué, given out yesterday afternoon is as follows: "In Belgium the enemy is remaining on the defensive. The artillery fire has been for some time more pronounced at certain points in the vicinity of Fay, we hold securely the positions we occupied Nov. 28."

"In the Woivre district there has been an intermittent artillery fire directed against the town."

"In the Argonne, several attacks on the town of Hazele were repulsed by our troops."

"There has been a heavy fog on the heights of the Meuse."

"In the Woivre district the enemy bombarded the forest of Apremont, but without result."

"There is nothing to report in the Vosges."

The London Daily Chronicle's correspondent in France sends the following despatch:

"The armies that Germany now has in France to oppose the French and British troops are six in number. The first is under command of Gen. von Kluck, who is still making vain endeavors to break through the allied line from a point southeast of Amiens to Soissons. The second, which was under command of Gen. von Below, is trying to force a passage in Somme and to the north of Arras. The third, under Gen. von Einart, is held in reserve. The fourth, under command of the Duke of Württemberg, is held in reserve between Ostend and Arras. We know what it lost in its vain and furious attacks and the loss of the line, when it tried to break through the French, British and Belgian lines, and what remains of it now is partly in the hands of the British, and partly in the hands of the French, and is in a state of utter exhaustion."

The fifth army, which extends from St. Emilion to Metz, with which the British are co-operating, suffered enormous losses in its attempts to storm the almost impregnable heights of the Meuse while under attack from the British and the French. The fact of the matter is that Verdun is so far from being besieged that its big guns have not yet been brought into action since the beginning of the war, and during the past few weeks the French line of battle has been forced forward to the point where the French field guns are now bombarding the German positions within sixteen kilometers of the fortifications of Metz. It is, therefore, which seems more likely to be threatened before long than Verdun."

The sixth German army, under command of the Crown Prince of Bavaria, is drawn between Arras and Amiens, and it has made no greater progress than any of the other five.

Bombardment Protested.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 1.—(Via London).—The Tild states that the Chamber of Commerce of Arras has sent to the American consul at Dunkirk, with a request that he forward to Washington, a protest against the bombardment by the Germans of Arras. The protest declares that several women and children have been killed, that houses have been set on fire, and that the city is not being used for military purposes by the allies, not a single soldier being there.

Mysterious Mine in Sea Lane.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—A mine with five triggers extending from it is about six miles west of Fire Island Light, according to Capt. Davies of the steamer Etolion, in yesterday from London. Capt. Davies said that he passed the mine about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, while his ship was bound in.

The spot where the mine is said to be a drift line in the pathway traveled by all trans-Atlantic vessels leaving and entering New York harbor.

Steamer Is Interred.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 1.—The German steamer Memphis has arrived in Lima, and will be detained until the end of the war.

The steamer Memphis belongs to the German Line. According to available shipping records, she left Punta Arenas on Nov. 20, but her destination is not given in any of them.

KING GEORGE AT FRONT

His Majesty Has Gone To France To See the Troops.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—England was surprised yesterday at the announcement that King George had left the palace at Windsor to visit the front, where he has received an enthusiastic reception from the soldiers.

The King was accompanied by his private secretary, Baron Stamfordham, and his equerry, Major Wigram, and other members of his suite.

The party left Buckingham Palace Sunday night and proceeded across the channel.

A despatch from the north of France says that King George arrived yesterday after a very rough passage. The King was received by the Prince of Wales and paid a visit to the hospitals.

Yesterday was the fortieth birthday of Winston Spencer Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty, and the papers, except a few of those antagonistic to him, pay a tribute to his remarkable career.

The 70th birthday of the Queen Mother Alexandra is being celebrated today.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

LT.-COL. Wilson, from the 21st Divisional Artillery, has been attached to the Canadian contingent.

Blakop Thorluc has accepted, and his divorce of Algoma has confirmed the divorce of Ottawa, with the title of archbishop.

General orders at Salisbury Plain, yesterday intimates that men marrying in the future will be required to separate allowances, as it will not be granted.

The German war tax on Belgium has been fixed at 100,000,000 francs ($75,000,000). A branch of the Reichsbank is to be founded at Antwerp.

C. B. Gordon, Montreal, ex-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and president of the Dominion Textile Co. will go to the front as a captain of the Army Service Corps.

Word was received yesterday by Sir George Grey, Ontario Reform leader, to the effect that Wm. Baxter, formerly a guard at the prison farm, but who was a British reservist, has been killed in action.

Hydro-electric power, for which the Strathroy ratepayers recently voted, was put on the market yesterday on three last night. Sir Adam Beck was present for the occasion as well as Mayor Graham of London.

Greatly to the credit of Montreal City Hall employees they have learned that instead of making reductions in their salaries, as had been threatened, the Board of Control decided to cut down the estimates in other directions.

TWAIN KITCHENER'S FEAT.

Retreat of Belgians From Antwerp Assailed By Britain.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—There is one point in Sir John French's despatch upon which the London papers do not make any comment, although it throws a strong light upon what has been a subject of heated controversy. Sir John's reference to Gen. Rawlinson shows plainly that Great Britain's policy in the Antwerp campaign was not confined to the landing of a naval brigade. Evidently a strong British force assisted in the retreat of the Belgians from Antwerp, and Gen. Rawlinson, who commanded it, was not under the orders of Marshal French, but of Lord Kitchener, from whom he received instructions direct.

Rawlinson's force was not placed under French's orders until Oct. 15. These instructions clearly show that the British War Office was solely responsible for the measures taken to assist Antwerp.

PRIZE AT HALIFAX.

Norwegian Steamer Suspected of Carrying Contraband.

HALIFAX, Dec. 1.—In charge of a prize crew of one of the British cruisers on duty in the Atlantic, the Norwegian steamer Sandefjord was brought into Halifax harbor yesterday.

The steamer has a suspicion of war on board. She was bound from New York for Copenhagen, when she was seized by the cruiser, a prize crew placed aboard and ordered to Halifax.

The cargo will be discharged and searched here. The registers 6,025 tons, was chartered by the Gans Steamship Co. and has a big general cargo. It is supposed that she has silk for sale among her cargo. The steamer will be docked today.

CRACOW IS OFFERING

Fall of City May Be Expected at Any Moment, Sav Despatched.

Reports From Great Battle in Poland Are Conflicting and Final Issue Has Not Been Reached—Germans Fighting Desperately to Extricate Themselves From Disastrous Defeat.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The fall of Cracow may be expected at any time, according to advice received here from the Petrograd press. The city has been shelled by the outer fortifications and the fire of their batteries has reached the city.

One suburb is already burning, and the entire city has been devastated.

The following official communication was issued from general headquarters at Petrograd last night: "Stubborn engagements continue in the direction have been reported by the Germans to advance in the region of Resowak which was repulsed with great losses to the Germans."

"On the rest of the front along the left bank of the Vistula an artillery engagement took place on Nov. 28."

"The Russian troops, after fighting lasting ten days, captured on Nov. 28 the Austrian positions which protected the passes in the Carpathians, extending about 33 miles from Bartfeld, which is situated north of Bartfeld, as far as Szekes, situated south of Bartfeld. The Austrians, who had been captured, were taken to the rear, and this district captured cannon, machine guns and many prisoners."

"During the first half of November we captured in all 50,000 Austro-Hungarian soldiers and 600 officers."

"At Plock, Poland, the Russian troops repulsed for several days the attacks of the Austrians with machine guns and mortars."

"In East Prussia, minor engagements continue."

"The Russian warship has been seen in the Black Sea since Nov. 21."

Reference in London to the Russian success in Poland has been accompanied by reports of a military report of Grand Duke Nicholas. Military critics are convinced, however, that the Germans have not suffered from the strenuous efforts of their commanders can save from degenerating into defeat.

From Petrograd, a despatch to the situation between the German and the Russian armies are conflicting. Both Berlin and Petrograd, however, agree that the Russian army has not yet been reached. Petrograd reports that the Germans are energetically retreating. The Russian advance in the direction of the Baltic coast is said to be favorable for the Russians.

The Berlin claim is that the Russian offensive movement has been effectively checked, but the final outcome is yet to be decided.

The violent battle which is still raging in the region of Strikow and Lodz, says a despatch to The Mail from its Petrograd correspondent.

The Russian army is steadily lighting about the three German army corps which were enveloped between Strikow and Lodz, and dispatched to the front to meet the German reinforcements, which are advancing from the rear.

The Germans have hastily sent a force of 30,000 men to strengthen the garrison at Breslau, in evident anticipation of a Russian success at Cracow.

It is now definitely known here that at least two army corps have been recalled from Belgium and France to the eastern front of war.

The Austrian army west of Cracow and Pryegrek has been dismembered.

GUARDS' SLAYERS CORNERED.

Peter White Duck and Anthony Jocko Surrounded by Poles.

PENROCK, Ont., Dec. 1.—Peter White Duck and Anthony Jocko, the two Indians who murdered Timothy Robert Cofford and seriously wounded John Robert Cofford, here Sunday night, have been rounded up by possees near Golden Lake, the Indian reserve, and their capture is nearly complete.

The capture of the two Indians received word last night from W. H. Williams and Magistrate J. Stewart, the leaders of the possees, that the desperadoes had been surrounded in a small bush.

A strict guard is being kept on the wooded area, and the Indians will likely be taken in the morning.

Queen's Man Goes To War Office.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Capt. Outman of Queen's University, Kingston, has been summoned to the War Office to assist the authorities with his knowledge of the situation in the East.

FRANCE IS OFFERING

French Government Publishes Documents Bearing on War.

Kaiser Wilhelm, Who Up to 1918 Had Pled as a Champion of Peace, Had Finally Come to Share the Ideas of Military Advisers—He Was Jealous of Crown Prince.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—An official statement, issued last night, which is, in part, as follows: "A few details about what has occurred on the front from Nov. 31 to Nov. 27, inclusive. The general situation has not materially changed in that period. The enemy has worn himself out in starting attacks, without result. Our counter-attacks have inflicted on him heavy losses and have brought some gain to ourselves."

"We are up, our military and moral situation from the sea to the Alps is very good. From the Alps to the sea the enemy has not shown on this point of the front greater activity than on the northern section. There was no attack by the infantry. The attacks by the artillery were very intermittent and were lacking in spirit. Our artillery during that week maintained its advantage."

"Our infantry has gained brilliant results. It is to be noted that every advance it makes is at once definitely secured by the establishment of entrenchments. At the end of the 21st our infantry brought to a head an audacious operation which had been prepared by sapping. Our troops invaded a German trench, killed 200 of its occupants and installed themselves in the trench, after having killed the enemy's sentries."

"In upper Alsace and in the Vosges our Alpine infantry has assumed a remarkably ascendancy over the enemy. When they are confronted by the 'Black Devils' the Germans do not lack the courage of a war which he thought would not be long delayed. In this region, as also in the vicinity of St. Mihiel, our heavy artillery has been very successful in the victualing of the enemy."

"In the vicinity of St. Mihiel, our heavy artillery has been very successful in the victualing of the enemy."

BUSY IN THE BALTIC.

German Fleet Preparing To Attack Russian Squadron?

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 1.—Via London.—The German fleet is becoming more active in the Baltic, Scandinavian and Russian despatches indicate preparations for a possible attack on the Russian fleet, even entering the Gulf of Finland and possibly bombarding Petrograd.

It is reported here from several sources that there is great concentration of the fleet and German transport ships in the Baltic coast, and a withdrawal of warships from Kiel to strengthen the Baltic squadron operating northwards on the Gulf of Bothnia (Exclusive of the coast here).

Battle Imminent.

MONTVIDEO, Dec. 1.—A squadron of German warships is at the mouth of the Plata river, and a battle with a British or a Japanese squadron is momentarily expected. Apparently the German squadron, under Admiral von Spee, has escaped from the pursuing Japanese in the Pacific and has passed through the Straits of Magellan and reached the south Atlantic.

AUSTRIAN LOSSES HUGE.

Total Casualties Are Estimated In Petrograd at 100,000.

PETROGRAD, Russia, Dec. 1.—On the basis of reports received in Petrograd from Hungary it is stated here that the Austro-Hungarian casualties to date amount to 19,000 officers and 90,000 men.

Six hundred prisoners, seven guns, many war materials, and a large amount of booty, were taken by the Russians in yesterday's fighting to the west of Lodz, where the Russians took ten miles of German trenches between Lodz and Silesia, according to information received yesterday through trustworthy sources.

It is semi-officially announced that the Germans have received reinforcements in the shape of two infantry divisions and one cavalry division.

The occupation of the Russian and Silesia straightens and strengthens the Russian right wing, which already is said to have widely outflanked the German left, bringing the Russian right from 20 to 25 miles in its advance on Strikow, where a battle now is raging, and puts the German centre under an attack from Glogow and Lodz.

Many C. P. R. Changes.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1.—The P. R. changes following Mr. Bury's promotion as general manager are: Grant Hall, Winnipeg, succeeds Mr. Bury as vice-president and general manager of western lines; D. O. Coleman of Calgary succeeds Mr. Hall as assistant general manager; H. E. Stevens of Vancouver succeeds Coleman as vice-president; James Manson, assistant to the vice-president, goes to Montreal as assistant to Bury; Stockfield, Mr. Bury's chief clerk, is made superintendent. Stevens' successor has not been decided upon. He may be Edward Duval of Saskatoon.

Dervish Port Taken.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—A detachment of camel constabulary attacked the Dervish fort at Dervish, Somalia, and from the 20th to the 23rd, demolishing the fort and putting the enemy to flight, a statement from the British High Commissioner at Dervish, Somaliland, is the British protectorate on the north coast of Africa, bordering on the Gulf of Aden.

Another General Rewarded.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—A news despatch received here from Danzig, in Poland, says that Emperor Wilhelm, in a telegram to Gen. Mackensen, expressed his great satisfaction with the successes achieved by the general's army in Poland. His majesty conferred on Gen. Mackensen the Order of Merit.

British Officers Killed.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The following British officers are reported killed: Capt. Grant and 2nd Lieut. Seaton. Several other officers were wounded. Blackett, Lieut. Colonel, has died of wounds.

YET IN THE ISSUED

French Government Publishes Documents Bearing on War.

Kaiser Wilhelm, Who Up to 1918 Had Pled as a Champion of Peace, Had Finally Come to Share the Ideas of Military Advisers—He Was Jealous of Crown Prince.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—The French Ministry of Foreign Affairs yesterday made public a Yellow Book bearing on the campaign of the present war. The French volume is much more complete than the publications of this nature given out up to the present time by other Governments. The French report comprises no fewer than one hundred and sixty documents.

"It was first in the spring of 1913," says the yellow book, "that I noted this colossal and expensive military effort which alone can explain the desire to impose on Russia a war which he thought would not be long delayed. In this region, as also in the vicinity of St. Mihiel, our heavy artillery has been very successful in the victualing of the enemy."

"The King of the Belgians had the same impression. In the presence of Von Moltke. The reason is, perhaps, that the Kaiser is jealous of the growing popularity of the Crown Prince, who is battering pan-Germanic passions."

PRINCE ALEXANDER IS COOL.

Soldier Describes Behavior of German-General-Designate at Front.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Corpl. Cook of the Second Buffs, writing home from the front, incidentally refers to Prince Alexander, Governor-General-designate of Russia. "During the 'recess'," he says, "with the Germans rapidly advancing and shells bursting less than 100 yards from him, Prince Alexander stood calmly by smoking as though nothing was happening. Whilst we were mounting to get away, his Serene Highness and Col. Ferguson, who accompanied him, were last to leave. In another instance, the prince was standing near a farm house when a shell burst within about ten yards of him. He merely looked round and took in the situation with remarkable coolness, exhibiting not the slightest fear."

RUSSIAN ARMY IN BUKOVINA.

Entire Area of Crown Land Is Occupied by Invaders.

ROME, Dec. 1.—A despatch to The Messenger from Bucharest says that the Russian army has occupied the whole of the crown land of Bukovina, capturing enormous quantities of ammunition, arms and provisions.

After the capture of Czernowitz, following the siege and bombardment of the capital of the Austrian crown land, the Russian army spread over the entire area, clear to the borders of Roumania.

The Austrian Catholic population of Bukovina has fled across the border into Hungary. The frontier is said to be entirely unguarded by the Austrians and to be open for an advance of the Russians.

Poincare Grateful to Canada.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Through the French Ambassador in London the Canadian Associated Press has been favored with a message from M. Poincare, the French president, regarding the presence of Canadians with the forces now preparing to join the allies.

"The President desires me to say," writes the Ambassador, "how highly he appreciates the valiant Canadian army, more particularly Canadians of French origin, who have hastened to defend and make triumphant the cause of liberty."

Straight Party Fight.

WINCHESTER SPRINGS, Ont., Dec. 1.—There will be a straight party fight to succeed the late Sir James Whitney as representative in the Legislature from Dundas County. John Campbell, Liberal, of Ormrod, was nominated by the Liberals, and Edwin Hilliard of Morrisburg by the Conservatives, at yesterday's nomination proceedings. The poll will take place on Monday, Dec. 7 next.

Editorial

THE Indians of the St. Lawrence River have voted $500 towards the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

HE didn't read but he heard a lot of talk about the war and finally said: "The British don't seem to make much headway, and we don't hear much about the French, nor those troops from India, but those 'Allies' seem to be into it all the time."

UPON the occasion of entering upon his 75th year Mr. Andrew Malcolm, Kincardine, was tendered a banquet by the citizens of that town, because he had been the leading citizen of the town and employer of labor.

A certain rich man did not approve of foreign missions. One Sunday at church, when the collection was being taken up, the collector approached the millionaire and held out the collection plate. The millionaire shook his head. "I never give to missions," he whispered. "Then take something off the plate, sir," whispered the collector. "The money is for the heathen."

Petered Out

MUNICIPAL ownership, as applied to the newspaper publishing business, has been given a good try-out by the city of Edmonton and been found wanting. An "Official Gazette" was started at the instigation of the Mayor last April and lasted as a weekly until the end of June, up to which time it cost the taxpayer $7,262.14. The proposal then was to continue its publication as a monthly but on August 5 the Mayor announced that its publication had been suspended altogether. One of the gentlemen jokingly proposed that it be gotten out once a year.

The whole idea was a farce from the start, being apparently the outgrowth of a personal animus on the part of the mayor and a few of his supporters against certain of the local newspapers. So that these dignitaries might not be misquoted or their motives misunderstood by the public the intention was to have the "Official Gazette" report all meetings of the Council and Commission Board verbatim but in this respect it is reported to have fallen down. It is interesting to recall that in commenting upon the venture in our May number we suggested that "the Edmonton publishers can rest content in the assurance that the journalistic enterprise of the city fathers will in all probability peter out after it has consumed a considerable portion of the tax-payers' money." These expectations have now been fulfilled. "Peter out" has proved an appropriate term.—Printer and Publisher.

Pike Bay

The beautiful snow departed and leaves the roads in a muddy condition again. The people in Pike Bay, who were laid up with measles have all recovered nicely, we are glad to see them able to be around again.

Arthur Law of Stokes Bay is visiting under the parental roof for a few days. John Robie on did business in Winton last Wednesday.

Wm. Williamson did business in Winton last Wednesday.

It is a sad ill wind that blows nobody good, so think some of the men around here who are hauling brimstone that was washed ashore in the gale a short time ago.

The meeting which was held last Friday evening in the church was not very well conducted. It is a pity that the church members here cannot agree on church and Sunday School affairs, it is time for a change.

When the Liver Gets Torpid

There is Nothing Like Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to Set it Right.

Mrs. C. L. Cook, 218 Tenth Street, Brandon, Man., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the last four years for liver trouble, and can say that I feel the best and greatest satisfaction and help from them. I find that I do not need any doctor if I use them when the liver gets torpid, and believe that they are exactly suited for my case. My husband has used them for kidney trouble with good results, and my daughter in Winnipeg has been helped a great deal by the use of these pills. We say we can't keep house without them, and have changed the doctors here out of a good many visits. I think Dr. Chase's medicines are just the thing, and have recommended them to many people who have used them with good results."

By keeping the liver and kidneys in the regular Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prevent and cure such disorders as Biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion and headache. One pill a day, like a box, 1 for 21¢, all dealers, or Dr. Chase, 24 C. Limited, Toronto.

WOMAN'S BEST MEDICINE

Mrs. Kelly Advises all Women to Take "Fruit-a-Lives"

HAVERHILL, Ont., Aug. 26th, 1913.
"I can highly recommend 'Fruit-a-Lives' because they did me as much good as I can speak too highly about them. About four years ago, I commenced taking 'Fruit-a-Lives' for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollars' worth, but it was money well spent because they did all that you claim for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other laxatives, that I found only pleasure, as well as health, in taking them. They seemed to me to be particularly suited to women, on account of their mild and gentle action, and I trust that some other women may start taking 'Fruit-a-Lives' after reading my letter, and if they do, I am satisfied the results will be the same as in my own case."

Mrs. W. N. KELLY

"Fruit-a-Lives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always bears Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

A Scheme That Failed. Mother—What are you doing, Harry? Harry—I'm counting. You told me when I got mad to count a hundred.

Mother—Yes; so I did. Harry—Well, I've counted 337, and I'm madder when I started.

Unpardonable. Andrus Author—What do you think of this play? Manager—You had better send it to a movie camera.

Andrus Author—Why? Manager—Words cannot express the sadness of it.

Lovely Eyes. To produce sparkling, curling lashes daily attention is necessary. Get a soft brush made for the purpose and gently brush them twice a day. The last thing at night apply the creamy cream: Sweet oil of almonds, one-half dram; simple tincture of benzoin, one-quarter dram; glycerin, one-half dram; kerosene, one-half dram; ether, one drop. This increases the growth and softness of the eyelashes. To make them curl upward by one finger under them and upward by the other as often as you can think of it.

MEAT MAKES PERFECT BREAD

Milady's Mirror

Cultivating Plump Elbows. The hot, drying, scorching rays of summer work havoc with the complexion, and the girl who wants to have a pretty skin to match her soft, supple white and faintly tinted summer gowns must take a great deal of care of her skin.

Fashionable change. It is true, but all girls love pretty, dimpled elbows, even if the elbows displaying them are not to be worn, and fortunately there is nothing easier than to bring sharp, thin, bony elbow joints into shape.

Where arms are too thin the use of cocoa butter is to be recommended. This, being a byproduct of the coconut bean, is nourishing and fattening, but the skin must be in condition to receive it properly. Thorough cleansing, softening and opening of the pores are necessary, that full benefit from the application may be felt. Cloths wrung out of warm water should be applied at night. They should be held on until the skin feels soft and is pink. Then rub with a generous amount of cocoa butter, slightly warmed, in each palm, the opposite elbow placed in the hand. Use the motion around and around until all greasy feeling is gone. This takes quite awhile, for cocoa butter is rather greasy, but a little practice will soon prove that the process is not too tiresome.

The rubbing may be continued up from the wrist if the forearm be a little too thin, and from there to the shoulder where the whole arm seems to require the addition of more flesh, but only if the joint is bony, just on that joint will answer.

Banishing Blackheads. To cure blackheads be careful of the diet. Eat nothing rich or greasy. Give up pastry, new bread and sweet things. Drink two or three glasses of milk a day. See that the digestion is kept in good order. Take one or two teaspoonfuls as required of cod-liver oil and sulphur every night and give this mixture made up: Sulphate of iron, sixteen grains; dilute sulphuric acid, one dram; magnesium sulphate, one ounce; peroxide water to make six ounces. Take a dessertspoonful in a little water half an hour before breakfast every morning. Walk two or three miles a day. Drink a glass of cold water an hour before each meal. Take a hot bath every night and a tepid one each morning. Use a tar toilet soap, and every morning, after washing and well drying the face, apply the following lotion lightly on: Boracic acid, one-half dram; rectified spirits, one and one-half ounce. Steam the face once a week; then squeeze out the largest blackheads and apply a mixture of equal parts of boracic ointment and sulphur ointment.

A Hint For Gaiety. A woman who over a beautiful, smooth complexion attributes the preservation of her skin to her plan of dissolving a little singeing in hot alkali, bathing her face in it and allowing it to dry on before she ventures out. Any feeling of contraction soon passes off, and the singeing forms an invisible coating to the skin and protects it from the ravages of the wind. Instead of singeing either gelatin or white of egg beaten to a froth may be employed. The latter is an excellent remedy against all chapping and is in itself a cleanser. A good plan after the face has been exposed to the wind or cold is to sponge it with rosewater into which has been dropped a little castile soap or lavender water, or as a further emollient apply cold milk to the skin.

Tinted Face Powders. Of recent times the Parisiennes seem to have gone mad over tinted face powders and tinted wigs. The very latest idea is a pale lemon yellow face powder, which is supposed to give an extraordinary softness to the skin.

An artistic but highly unnatural cry-cyan pink rouge is used in conjunction with the pale yellow powder, and the throat and neck are coated with flesh pink and pure white powder. This peculiar makeup is intended for evening use only.

The lemon yellow and cry-cyan pink makeup look effective on a fair haired woman who possesses a pair of dark gray eyes.

Have Pretty Hair

Thick, Soft, Fluffy, and no Dandruff—Use Parisian Sage

If your hair is losing its natural color, coming out and splitting, or lacks that desirable softness, gloss and beauty, do not despair—pretty hair is largely a matter of care. If it is too thin, make it grow. If it is harsh and brittle soften it up—lubricate it. If you have dandruff it is because the scalp is too dry and chafed off. Treat up the scalp with Parisian Sage—all dandruff disappears, falling hair and itching head cease, your hair is healthy again. Used by W. J. Manley and at all drug counters, is just what you need—a large bottle costs but 25c. It surely makes the hair lustrous and seems twice as abundant. You cannot be disappointed in Parisian Sage.

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

GREY COUNTY'S REPRESENTATIVES FOR THE SECOND CANADIAN CONTINGENT, TAKEN IN FRONT OF THE ARMORIES, OWEN SOUND

For King and Country

Orillia, Ont., Dec. 4th, 1914
To the Editor of The Echo.

Dear Sir:—I would you kindly permit me to draw the attention of the young men of the County of Bruce to their duty in the present struggle. The entire world is cognizant of the great struggle now going on in Europe, and each and every British subject is keyed up to that point of enthusiasm which words fail to express.

Canadians as well as those of other countries, have done and are doing a noble work in helping to alleviate the sufferings of the gallant soldiers, and their dependents, also those who by reason of the ravages of war have lost their all, and Canada like other British colonies has sent her best to give their lives if necessary, in the defence of the empire. Another contingent has been mobilized, and are preparing to join their brothers in arms, and a third contingent is to be mobilized in the near future.

The County of "Bruce" has already given of her sons to the number of one hundred and thirty and five officers, and we will be called upon very soon to supplement that number, in all probability by about one hundred more. Is the County of Bruce going to maintain her reputation when the call comes? I think she will, and I appeal to the young men to see to it that it will not be said that the County of Bruce was not equal to the occasion.

As commanding officer of the 32nd "Bruce" regiment, I would like to see a generous response when the call comes. This is our war, and we should not be backward in responding to the call.

The County has done nobly so far and I have every confidence that she will not be found wanting in the future.

I would suggest that any young man between the age of 18 and 45 who is physically fit, and in a position to do so, should hand in his name at once to the nearest officer in this district, so that no time will be lost when we are called upon for a further quota.

Young man, the Empire needs you, your country is calling you will you not respond?

Officers who will be glad to take the names of any offering their services, are, Major Fletcher, Winton; Capt. Danard, Allenford; Capt. Langford, Port Elgin; Capt. Klein, Walkerton; Lt. Eckel, Paisley; Lt. Savage, Chesley; Lt. Carson, Southampton; Lt. Malcolmson, Kincardine; Ex-Lt. Fowler, Teeswater.

W. J. Douglas, Lt. Col.,
Comd'g 32nd Regt.

The Town Council

On Monday night the Council requested the Hydro Electric Power Commission to make preliminary investigation and report with a view of building an electric radial line from Winton to Tobermory.

A deputation composed of Messrs. R. E. Trout, S. J. Cameron and Jas. Symon asked that the transient traders license be raised to $200. This was referred to a committee. The deputation felt that the present fee of $50 is altogether too small. There were a number of inquiries for depositions from buyers, who perhaps are after bargains.

The Council decided to issue depositions to the amount of $1000 on account of the sidewalk, and to pay for the same out of the sinking fund.

Arrangements were made for the holding of the municipal elections. If anyone is out of work the Council has arranged to give him a job of cutting wood.

Dr. Burt specialist in diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat will be at the Arlington Hotel, Winton, for consultation, Wednesday Dec. 16th from 1 to 4 p.m. Eyes tested and glasses supplied.

Back to the Lash.

During the past few years we have had several cases of gross immorality and adultery, but that which was before the Police Court last week in which a man and his wife's sister were involved was the most loathsome of all. One shudders to take in the whole situation and turns away in disgust. Such a shameful state of morals should scarcely be expected under any degree of Christian civilization. What has fallen down that it should come to pass. Has any agency that tends for the moral uplift of humanity failed in its duty? If the press has been too lenient then it is time for it to speak out. This wisdom in hushing every thing up is a questionable matter. But the press is only one agency, others must answer for themselves.

The question now is how can the society of our community be so improved that these repulsive disgraces are practically unknown? The general moral tone of every community is far above it, but there are always some members of society whose lives have been cast in a lower mould and it is for the church to reach them in some way, and when offences come then punishment must be severe.

For the man before the Court last week three months in goal may give him time for reflection. If he had not a wife and family the sentence of the Court would probably have been more severe. But why not the lash as well. Society must be protected, and the lash will do more towards that end than any other form of punishment.

Underwriters Warn Merchants

The following letter was received by Fire Chief Trout last week warning the merchants to use every precaution in guarding against fire in their Christmas decorations.

Toronto, Dec. 4th, 1914

RE CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS AND DISPLAYS

Dear Sir,—Following our usual custom at this season of the year I beg to call your attention to the dangers to life and property from Christmas decorations, displays, etc. which are frequently made at this time of the year. The use of Christmas greens harvest specimens and other inflammable materials such as draperies, scenery, cotton to represent snow, and the like, (especially in connection with electric and other lighting systems.) is decidedly an increase of hazard, it being impossible to make displays of that nature perfectly safe.

The Statutory conditions of your Insurance Policy read in part as follows:—

"Any change material to the risk, but within the control or knowledge of the assured, shall avoid the policy, as to the part affected thereby, unless the change is promptly notified in writing to the company or its local agent."

In addition to the danger to the property from the displays referred to, the danger to life in crowded stores or places of meeting, by reason of a panic occasioned by fire, even though it be small and easily controlled is so great that the underwriters, who have made a study of such hazards, would fail in their duty should they not give this warning.

By order,

JOHN A. ROBERTSON,

Secretary.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER

No business man, professional man or manufacturer in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns, says an exchange. "his appeal to all kinds of business—general stores, dry goods, groceries, furniture dealers, manufacturing establishments, auto mobile dealers, mechanics, professional men and in fact all kinds of business." This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter of a page ad, in every issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in a town by looking at the business mentioned in the paper. This is the best possible advertisement. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. He is the man who expects the most free boosting for his town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to a town but refuses to advertise his business is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of any town depends upon the live awake and liberal advertising business men.

Last week Messrs Dr. Hough and J. L. Siemon were appointed delegates to the O. H. A. meeting which was held in Toronto. Among the more important changes this year will be the appointment of assistant referees in the semi-final and final games. Overtime will be limited to thirty minutes and the hour of the hockey match will be divided into three periods of twenty minutes each, instead of two of thirty minutes each as formerly.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGE

Winkerton

Bell's Express Bldg. has held a complaint before Magistrate James Tolson at Winkerton charging Constable Macleod H. McKenzie, of Winkerton, with collecting $50.00 from certain parties for the Canada Weather Insurance Co. and failing to return the amount, and unlawfully converting the funds to his own use. A warrant has been sworn out for the arrest of McKenzie.

Mr. John Wolfe, the well known cattle dealer, left on Tuesday for Malta, Montana, where he is intended to assist his son, Charlie, who is in the butchering business. On his arrival at the American border, however, some blatant Yankee official refused to allow Mr. Wolfe to cross into the States, claiming that his repeated townsmen was not a genuine citizen, physically, to work. As a consequence of this gross outrage Mr. Wolfe was obliged to return to his home here.

That the lumber business is being hard hit in this section by the war is evidenced by the large number of men which are being let off by the Trux and Gault mills. The opening of the spring will probably see a brisk revival of the trade, but the prospects for an earlier resumption are stated to be anything but bright.

Messrs H. Fletcher and W. G. Seale, who for the past three years have been conducting the Winkerton flour mills under the firm name of Fletcher and Seale, have dissolved partnership. Mr. Seale withdrawing from the business and leaving Mr. Fletcher in entire charge. Mr. Seale, who came here from Ripley, where he ran a grist mill, will continue to reside in Winkerton for a time. The large back burn of Mr. Robt. Steele on the Durham road near Maple Hill was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last, together with all his implements and most of this season's crop. The origin of the fire is a mystery, the first intimation Mr. Steele having of the mishap being about 2 o'clock in the morning when he was awakened by the barking of his dog, and on looking out beheld his barn wrapped in flames. With the help of his son, John, who resides on the farm, he succeeded in rescuing all of the horses and cattle, and most of the sheep from the blaze. Besides the loss of his implements and crop, Mr. Steele had 25 pigs, 1 sheep and 15 hens burned. The loss, which is estimated at $5000, is partly covered by insurance. Neighbors, who came to the rescue, finally succeeded in subduing the flames, and were able to salvage about 2000 bushels of grain from the smoldering embers, most of which will be fit for use. The neighbors also turned themselves into a bee on Wednesday and commenced erecting a stable for Mr. Steele to house his horses and cows in for the winter. As his crop was an exceedingly large one, and his barn and implements especially good, his loss will be considerable.

Kincardine

Mr. Jas. Snowdon, proprietor of the Macdonald's Express, Swift Current, spent a few days with his brother Edward, Huron Township, and also with Mr. Thomas Watson, an old school mate. It is eight years since Mr. Snowdon left here and he finds the newspaper work congenial. He likes the country here.

Conductor W. Campbell, of Port Arthur, who was in Toronto last week on business, took a run up and spent the week end visiting friends here and at Tiverton. Mr. Campbell is another of Bruce's sons who has gained a place near the top of the ladder and if he follows the wishes of his many friends who occasionally drive we expect to be able to address him as Mayor Campbell.

David McCordle left Huron 23 years ago, to live in Oxford County, near Princeton, and never returned to pay a visit to his old home until last week when he came up with Mrs. McCordle to attend the funeral of his son-in-law who was a brother of Mr. McCordle. Needless to say he met many old friends in Kincardine on Saturday. Mr. McCordle lived on the farm now owned by Mr. Thomas Welch.

For striking a boy on the face with a whip while he was trying to climb on a sleigh, William Charlton of the north end was fined $5.00 and costs in the Police Court on Saturday. During the splendid sleighing a little over a week ago, the young lad tried to get a ride on Charlton's sleigh to have a ride. The latter picked up a whip and gave the boy a severe cut across the face, the mark of which was carried with him on Saturday when he told the magistrate about it. "Most men said His Worship "Would have told the boy to jump on instead of hitting him with a whip. Five dollars and costs or fifteen days jail," Charlton paid up the fine.

Engineer Sig, one of the engineers in charge of the hydro-electric development work at Engad, was in Owen Sound for the week-end and he states that two more weeks will see the completion of the concrete work on the dam. He did not predict when hydro-power would be turned on in Owen Sound but the work is going along rapidly. The concrete work has been finished on the power house and about 400 feet of the pipe which will carry the water from No. 2 dam to the power house has been laid.

Owen Sound next year will have a commission to manage the public utilities, gas water and electric light and power, and two commissioners will be elected at the municipal elections in January. The commission will be composed of two commissioners and the mayor, who becomes an ex-officio member of the commission. The commissioners are elected for a term of three years, but one of them will have to stand for re-election at the end of the first year as it is necessary to elect them alternately. The salary of the commissioners was fixed at the last meeting of the council at $300 per annum. Whether the commissioners will be given their duties immediately after their election has not yet been decided but it is quite likely that they will take charge of the utilities after their election.

Fresh Trout for dinner? Well perhaps the close season is over and the tug R. H. Nelson is still on the job and if conditions are favorable the very first run some fresh fish. Very little spawn was secured during the close season owing to the continued bad weather. The Port Arthur hatchery is the only one which secured sufficient spawn for their capacity.

Pang John Lee, who has conducted a laundry in Southampton for the last few years, left this week for Winkerton, where he has started up business. Pang was honest and upright and held the respect of our citizens, but it seems to us that the life of a Chinaman in a small Canadian town is not at all alluring.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. and Murdoch McLeod are home after six weeks fishing at Main Station. They had a good catch considering the weather conditions.

Capt. Charles Webster, who has been first mate on the Scottish Hero for the past season, is here to spend the winter with his wife and young son.

Port Elgin

The death occurred on Saturday morning of Caroline Elgin, widow of the late P. Elgin of Baden, Ont. The late Mrs. Elgin, had for the past two years been living with her daughter, Mrs. A. O. D. Elgin, Port Elgin. Deceased lady had been ailing for some time with dropsy. She was in her 70th year, and during her lifetime was an active member of the Lutheran church at Baden, where she had always lived until she came to reside with her daughter here. The family left are: Mrs. Elgin, Port Elgin; Mrs. Nitaray, Vernon, Wis.; Mrs. Schneider, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; Mrs. Porter, Chelmsford, and James Elgin, Owen Sound. The funeral was held on Tuesday. Interment taking place at Baden.

Inspector Reany has a leg of good old red eye, in other words whiskey, at his house which he secured at Tara the other day. Mr. Reany says it was shipped to a man there but he refused to claim it, and so it is for sale. Also a nice bottle of the stuff that keeps a man cool in summer and warm in winter, is offered, which the Inspector secured at Southampton. The Inspector says he has his eye on some operations in the north zone, where booze is being brought in and distributed freely, and that if these operations are not stopped some papers will be issued.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the hockey supporters on Monday night the club was reorganized. It was again decided to enter a team in the Northern League and as there are more hockey players in town now than there have been for many years the boys are sure to have a fast team. Besides there are a lot of the young blood ready to jump into the places held by the older players, and everyone will have to fight for his place. In Bobby Stephenson as play manager the club could not have chosen a more suitable man. Both on and off the ice Stephenson has always taken the greatest interest in the team, and under him the boys will have a bunch hand to down.

The death occurred at Regina last week of a former Elgin young man in the person of Alex McLeod. For over twenty years deceased had been residing in the west, engaged in farming. Some time ago he suffered from a kick from one of his horses, which left him in rather a weak condition, and from which he finally died. The remains were brought to Port Elgin for interment, the funeral taking place on Saturday from the residence of his sister Mrs. Dennis. Besides a mother, who will have the sympathy of all, there are left to mourn the loss of Alex, a brother, W. A. Elgin, and four sisters, Mrs. Burton, Regina, Mrs. Gordon, Jackson, Mrs. Black, Allenford, and Mrs. Dennis, Port Elgin.

(Crowded out last week)
The fall of beautiful snow has left us. The sleighing was short here but indeed very sweet.

We are sorry to report James Abraham is under the doctor's care at present, but we hope to hear soon of his recovery.

The young people here are busy practicing for the Xmas entertainment. Everyone has their chains put away now.

How do you like these nice moonlight nights?

There is little or nothing doing in the line of thundering this fall.

Now as it is drawing near election time we must soon see about getting a rove picked out on our line.

And still George Hummel smiles, although the sleighing is all gone.

Freddie Balin is expected home from the west next week.

Wm. Grant is on the sick list.

We are pleased to see that John Crawford has started up a general store in his residence near Colpoys. We must all patronize Mr. Crawford for we feel sure in saying that he is the right man in the right place.

The Gurney-Oxford is a Splendid, Dependable Stove

SUPPOSE you buy a range, and that range is a disappointment.

Suppose it doesn't hold the fire between meals. Suppose it burns too much coal—or that it bakes well to-day and to-morrow "falls down." That is a serious matter—is it not?

If three times a day you have to deal with a stove that is a source of trouble and worry—that fact has an influence on your domestic happiness.

That is a strong statement—but isn't it true?

The owner of a Gurney-Oxford never takes anything from the oven with uncertainty as to results.

So before you buy your stove is the time to investigate. The Gurney-Oxford Stove has a nation-wide reputation for reliability. It's not the cheapest stove. It is impossible to make so good a stove as this and sell it for what a cheap stove costs. But, it's a thoroughly well-made stove. The material and workmanship in it are the very best. It's an economical stove inasmuch as it's durable: it will outlast two or three stoves less well made. And during its long life it never fails to do its work. It's there to cook every meal with no trouble or worry.

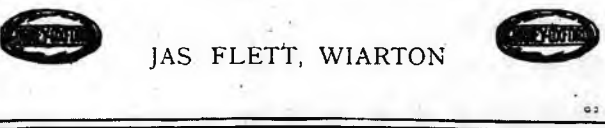

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer enables you to keep the fire in perfect control always. The grates are designed for perfect combustion.

The divided flues convey the heat from the fire to all sides and corners of the oven. The owner of a Gurney-Oxford does not know what it means to worry over a fire or to take a roast or a batch of biscuits from the oven with uncertainty.

The thousands of Canadian housewives who own Gurney-Oxfords rely on them without disappointment.

They have proved themselves to be splendid, dependable stoves, and extremely economical in fuel consumption.

We want to show you the Gurney-Oxford and demonstrate the features that have gained for it first place in everything that makes a stove valuable.

The Hon. William Howard Hearst, Prime Minister of Ontario

I have the honour to inform you that at a meeting of the Municipal Council of the Village of Tara, held on the 18th inst., the following complimentary resolution respecting yourself was introduced and unanimously carried, which I have directed to forward to you and which I trust you will be pleased to entertain:

"Resolved, that the Council of the Village of Tara is very much impressed and delighted to know that The Hon. Mr. William Howard Hearst has been called to the Crown to the high and responsible position of Prime Minister of Ontario.

"That Mr. Hearst is a native of our township of Arden, and in his early boyhood resided and went to school in Arden and Tara and that many of his old school mates are still in evidence here and have lived and attained recognition of him.

"It is therefore, with much pleasure that this Council extends to Mr. Hearst, an honored son of Arden and Tara, warm and hearty greetings and congratulations upon his having attained the eminent position of Prime Minister of this great province.

"It is the hope of the members of this Council that Mr. Hearst may live long to enjoy his well-earned and deserved honors, and they feel assured that under his guidance this Province will in no way suffer, but will continue to hold its place."

"The Banner Province of the Dominion."

"That this resolution be placed in the records of the village, and that a copy thereof be forwarded by the Clerk to the Prime Minister."

ITALY IS THREATENED

Austria-Hungary Stationed 200,000 Men Along the Border.

Anti-Italian Demonstrations Occur at Various Places in Austria and Italian Workmen are Insulted and Disabled—Austrian Troops to the Number of 100,000 are Taken to Pola.

ROME, Dec. 8.—A Milan despatch delayed in transmission says:—“Advices received from the Austrian frontier and published in the Italian press are that the stationing of Premier Salandra in the Italian Parliament Thursday had an immediate effect in Austrian military circles.

“Friday night, the correspondent says the railway lines poured troops all along the Italian border and also into Pola, the Austrian arsenal on the peninsula of Istria. It is estimated that 200,000 men were stationed along the Italian border and 100,000 at Pola.

“At the same time, the correspondent continues, anti-Italian manifestations took place at various points. At Pragerhof, Hungarian soldiers spat at the faces of Italian workmen. Officers who witnessed these attacks did not interfere. At Steinbrunn other soldiers ill-treated and disabled Italian workmen who were building their headquarters in the station. Eight battalions of Italian troops have been ordered to Libya, to reinforce the troops there, and, according to the announcement, “to be ready for any aggression.”

JAPANESE DIET OPENS.

Twenty Relations Grow in Cordiality Says Emperor.

TOKYO, Dec. 8.—The opening of the Diet yesterday was a brilliant function. The Chamber was crowded. Emperor Yoshihito's address dealt in part with the war, and requested the Diet to pass legislation requested by the Government.

“I am happy to announce,” the Emperor said, “that the friendship of the empire with treaty powers is growing in cordiality and that the alliance with Great Britain and the United States has been cemented in the present critical stage by stronger bonds of unity. Our army and navy have crushed the enemy in co-operation with our ally, and peace in the Orient is gradually being restored. But the great war is not yet ended. We rely on the loyalty and bravery of our subjects. We wish to attain the final object as quickly as possible.”

TO STRIKE TOGETHER?

German and Austrian Fleets Expected to Come Out Simultaneously.

ROME, Dec. 8.—The Stampa has received information from Pola that two German admirals have arrived in that town. It is asserted that Germany and Austria are preparing for simultaneous action in the Adriatic, and that when the German ships leave the Kiel Canal the Austrian fleet will come out of the harbor of Pola.

TO SEND MORE MEN.

Portugal Preparing 4,000 Troops for Service in Angola.

LISBON, Dec. 8.—The Government is preparing to send 4,000 more troops to Angola, Portuguese West Africa. Two thousand men were sent in September, 500 marines in October and another 500 marines are being sent out for departure this month. It appears that Germany has armed great numbers of Portuguese African colonies, which the expedition against German officers and provided with artillery. The prevailing view in Portugal appears to be that the most useful part Portugal can take in the great war is in the Portuguese African colonies and in aiding the British to carry the war into the German colonies which are contiguous to the Portuguese.

French Ambushed by Tribesmen.

MADRID, Dec. 8.—The correspondent of the Madrid Imparcial sends news of a severe French reverse in Morocco. A French column of considerable strength, returning to Kenitra after a punitive expedition against Galla tribesmen, was ambushed by a force of 5,000 Galla and almost wiped out. The French losses are placed at 35 officers and 500 killed, besides a number of wounded and prisoners. Two French batteries fell into the hands of the tribesmen.

Stranded Warship Escaped.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—A despatch to the Maritime Exchange from its station at Lewis, Del., says that a telephone message at 8 p.m. from Ocean City, Md., reported that the warship which had been grounded off that place had proceeded seaward. A 45-mile gale was blowing and the weather was very thick, therefore it was impossible to learn the identity of the ship.

Swedish Steamers, Sunk by Mines.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—A despatch from Stockholm to Reuters Telegram states that the Swedish steamers Lona and Everilda struck mines off the Finnish coast, and that both steamers sank. The crew of the Lona was saved, but seven aboard the Everilda, except one man, were lost.

KING PETER LEADS MEN.

Servian Monarch at Head of First Line Troops Wins Victory.

ROME, Dec. 8.—King Peter of Servia is commander of the first line of his army, according to official communication issued at Nish and received here yesterday.

The communication also states that the Servians have been enabled to resume the offensive against the Austrians by the arrival of reinforcements.

Heavy losses are reported to have been inflicted on the invaders. The Austrians reply that this is “the occupation of Belgrade necessitates regrouping of our troops.”

The political news of the day is the authoritative announcement from Sofia that it was not considered possible anything would intervene to make it necessary for Bulgaria to change her policy of strict neutrality until spring.

A despatch from Nish, Servia, to the Havas Agency reports that the Servians since Dec. 6 have resumed a vigorous offensive. The Servian troops on Friday, the despatch says, pursued the enemy's right wing as far as the Ribnava river, and it was there that the Austrians abandoned four of their batteries.

The despatch from Athens states that progress has been made toward an understanding in the Balkan States which will be satisfactory to the allies. The London Telegraph correspondent at Athens understands that a basis has been reached for a rapprochement between Servia and Bulgaria.

The British, Russian and French Ministers have visited Eleutherio Venizelos, the Greek Premier, and his Greek newspapers declare that the visits concerned proposals that Greece should assist Servia.

Servia To Make Peace? AMSTERDAM, Dec. 8.—A despatch from Vienna says the Reichspost declares that Servia intends to conclude a separate peace with Austria.

With the fall of Belgrade Servia's chief resistance has been broken, the Vienna newspaper asserts.

Editorial

THE hard times is all a myth. There never have been more concerns than this fall and they all have been well attended. It is a safe bet that the hockey matches will draw as big a crowd as ever.

THERE have been very few "extray" in the Echo this fall and the reason is obvious. An extra yearling represents $50 and a farmer is not apt to let one get out of his sight. A few years ago a yearling represented about $10 and the case was different.

IF the Editor of Tara Leader will look again he will find that we state that our County News is clipped from exchanges. Where two and three papers are clipped from in one town it is very difficult to give due credit although we have every desire to do so. The Echo is not insensible to the ethics of the profession.

THE British Weekly just to hand contains an excellent article on the need of recruits and is almost an advocate of conscription. We will quote a few trenchant sentences: "We have conscription but we have defeat infinitely more. All of us abhor conscription, all of us agree that it is foreign to the genius of our people. Every expedient short of conscription must be tried ere we come to the conclusion that the men cannot be got voluntarily. But it may be that too many will refuse unaccompanied to lift their share of the common burden. In that case Parliament must invoke its ancient common law right and if need be call upon every citizen to serve the country in arms until the war is over and the battle for freedom is won."

Tara and Arrao have done the right thing in giving a banquet in honor of Premier Hearst. There is something splendid in the whole affair. Years ago a boy born in Arran, and who attended the schools in Tara, passed on from one form to another in the regular way. He had no doubt a boy's ambition, and he was fired with a zeal to succeed. He left his native village, lived in Owen Sound, late in the Soo, rose to eminence in his profession, entered politics and in a surprisingly short time has been called upon to be the Premier of the Province. And this first citizen of Ontario does the right thing in accepting the honor of a banquet given by Tara and Arran. He will come to the scenes of his boyhood. How many reminiscences of the past will flood his memory. His heart will be touched for there is no place like home. The kindness and honor conferred upon him at Tara will be dearer to his heart and more appreciated than that which may later come from any other source. He will no doubt be the guest of far more elaborate functions, but they will never compare with this one for he will be among the friends of his boyhood. May this banquet be a great success. It is given by a village in honor of the first citizen of Ontario, who was a boy there years ago, and it has been accepted in a spirit of most generous appreciation.

Fancy hand bags are still popular. One made to wear with a taffeta gown was designed of plaid silk, the lower part of the bag being of figured silk ribbon. ## The Worst Gaffer.

An amusing incident was witnessed on the Braid Hill golf course, a gentleman, evidently a first, was going over the course, making futile attempts to propel the ball in the direction required, and, indeed, sometimes missing it.

His caddy meekly followed at his heels while he continued his exertions, and eventually the gentleman broke one of his clubs. At this he turned round and remarked deprecatingly to his caddy: "I don't suppose there are many worse players than I?" "Oh, ay, sir," responded the caddy "but I dinna think they play."

A Rabbit and a Whistle.

Did you know that a short, sharp whistle from the mouth would stop a rabbit? It surely does. Next time you see little Molly Cottontail leap from her burrow and make off don't shoot; just whistle. Whether from fear or curiosity I cannot tell, but she will stop still in her tracks. As antelope has been known to do likewise. An African hunter once said that the element in the most timid of all animals and can be frightened into a cold sweat by a mysterious noise.

Medicine and Mortgage.

Certainly no patient could receive a dose of medicine like that prescribed to Brown and have the patience to take it. Yet Brown's doctor was a hand speculator. When not making out prescriptions he was making out mortgages. It was when in a dual state of mind that he gave Brown the following prescriptions along with the prescription: "One half mortgage and the balance every six months for four years."

Immense Crowds

at the Opening Sale of the Ontario Clothing Co.

At the low prices which we have offered our goods caused a sensation among buyers, and our store room was crowded every day from eight a. m. until closing with anxious buyers from Warton and surrounding country. It was probably the biggest event ever known in the history of Warton. We have been selling goods during the last few days to hundreds of Grey and Bruce county people, who are well pleased with their purchases, evidenced by the number of their friends they are sending us every day. Many are coming from 5 to 25 miles to secure our great bargains. The time is short and now is your best time to buy useful and sensible Xmas gifts from 30 to 50 cents on the dollar. When the public of this vicinity learned our prices they were doubtful whether we would sell high grade, stylish and up-to-date merchandise at the prices quoted in our advertising but we have proved our statements to be correct, as merchants from near-by towns have purchased goods in great quantities. This stock must be sold at the mercy of the public. Remember that hundreds of sensible people will take advantage of this great money saving opportunity and that every train, auto, or horse carriage in this vicinity will carry its share of passengers to the Siegrist Block during the last few days of the Ontario Clothing Co great sale to share in special values, which they may never be able to obtain again at such ridiculously low prices.

Opportunity knocks but once at your door, so come early and get first choice. We do not ask you to take our word for it but come and see for your self, as seeing is believing. Our loss will be your gain. We hope that you will find in this sale the greatest money saving opportunity that ever occurred.

Everybody votes but mother. (J. W. BENGOURG) Everybody votes but mother. She used to vote once, too, But when she got married to father The law said it wouldn't do.

When mother was just a spinster, Like my spectacled sister Ann, She had a right to the ballot, But alas! she married a man! So every body votes but mother; Father, Sister Ann and I, My widowed aunt and my brother, And mother wants to know why: Everybody votes but mother.

'Cause mother she changed her name; Looks as though, somehow or other, Getting married must be a shame: They take away votes from fellows Who have been once convicted in court, And it seems that women who marry Are included with that sort.

So that's where they rank poor mother; They've struck her name from the roll, While sister and aunt and father And I all go to the poll. Everybody votes but mother, Through our stupid and senseless law, And there's not on the list another, Who needs the vote more than maw: She cares for the home and children And she has a good right to say On the laws that affect the household In every possible way. So we must have a vote for mother, Without waiting for dad to die; For the wife, as well as the widow And spinster or we'll know why

The Echo for 1915

During 1914 THE ECHO became an all home print paper—cast away the patent inside used by the other local papers, which is printed and sent from Toronto. Thus while other local papers have only four pages of local news THE ECHO has eight and frequently ten. This change was greatly appreciated by our subscribers, who knew that it was a forward step. The result has been that we were enabled not only to carry a large advertising patronage, but to give the County news as well as the local news. In this respect THE ECHO is simply in a class by itself in this district. It gives not only twice as much, but often four times as much local news as any other local paper, which claims to be a competitor. If it is local news for which a local paper is taken then THE ECHO can surely hope to retain its large circulation.

To put THE ECHO in this class has cost a considerable amount of money. The paper on which we print the news is of a very superior quality. Every week we go to the expense of giving the very latest war news, and everything which will make the paper interesting.

The position THE ECHO occupies was never so good. In the field now served by this paper there are three other papers. We believe that the paid up circulation of THE ECHO is as great as twice the paid up circulation of the other three put together, and ten times as great as the paid up circulation of one. In some localities THE ECHO goes into practically every home.

THE ECHO for 1915 will be the best value ever given by a local newspaper in this district for one dollar. New features will be introduced, and we invite everyone who reads this to become a subscriber, and if one, to send the paper as a gift to an absent member of the family.

Wishing our thousands of readers the compliments of the season and hoping that THE ECHO will gladden every home for 1915. We remain as ever

Grey County Live Stock at Guelph

Never did stock from Grey show off to better advantage at the Guelph Winter Fair than it did this year. The prizes offered by the County Council are doing their work and bringing live stock from Grey County to the front. In the beef cattle classes, a two year old steer "Bob" won the 4th prize in the open class, 1st in the amateur class and 1st in the Grey County special. This steer was bred, fed and exhibited by Jas. McPherson & Sons, of Dundalk, and weighed 1,650 pounds when he was two years, four months of age. He was sold for 10 cents per pound live weight. The first prize steer in the open class was also bred and reared by the McPherson firm although not exhibited by them. Surely a good showing in the beef classes.

In sheep Ernest Fleming of Twp. Derby township, was exhibiting for the first time at the large fairs. He showed four Shropshire lambs and in a class of twenty won sixth place. In the class for the best pen of three ewe lambs he won fourth place in a class of six pens. The two pens below his were owned by the noted breeders J. R. Kelsey and J. Lloyd Jones. Mr. Fleming was also proud of winning the Grey County special prizes for medium woolled sheep. Grey county farmers are as proud of Mr. Fleming as he is of his victories.

Antelope was a good Hackney exhibited by the Henry Douglas Co. of Manford. He had the style and action so desired in the perfect Hackney. He is an imported horse and was able to make the others sit up and take notice before he went into the ring.

Congratulations to those who went to Guelph and won out. They have advertised the county and buyers will come in. This should be followed up by all contributing what animals they can to a county sale of pure bred stock.

This German is Not a Hypocrite

MAXIMILIEN HARDEN is about the only German editor who is well known outside his native land. Before the war broke out he was the steadfast critic of many German institutions. He undertook a campaign against the infamous "round table" composed of the close friends of the Kaiser, and succeeded in driving some of its members into private life and others into the grave. Since the war began Harden has appeared in a new role. One might say that he incarnates the German spirit even more truly than the Kaiser, for in the Emperor's appeal to the nation there is a frequent note of piety that is absent from Harden's appeals. Harden thinks clearly, and his thoughts are not clouded by sentimentality. He would never say, for instance, that his heart bled for any sufferings endured by enemies of Germany. He makes no professions of sympathy with Belgium or with France. He says boldly that Germany brought on the war because she wished to do so. She denies the right of the world to judge her. So long as Germany approves of Germany's actions no more is to be said.

Worse Scourge Than War

In a recent article Harden remarks that all the Germans, who before the war preached peace have suddenly fallen silent, or are singing songs of the soldier. There are some who speak of the scourge of war, and whose minds seem hypnotized by its horrors. He likens them to children who see a surgeon cutting off a hand or leg, and are shocked because they do not realize that by the amputation of a member the whole body may be saved. He asserts that however terrible may be the scourge of war, it is less terrible than other scourges that threatened Germany, though what these he fails to mention. War was a divine necessity for Germany. Therefore he bids those who attempt to argue about it to be silent.

No Hypocrisy Here

"Therefore cease the pitiful attempts to excuse Germany's action. No longer wait to strangers, who do not care to hear you, telling them how dear to us were the smiles, we have suffered like rags upon our lips, and how deeply we regret in our hearts that the treachery of conspirators dragged us unwillingly into a forced war. Cease, you publicists, your words war against hostile brothers in the profession, whose superiority you cannot scold away, and who merely smile while they pick up out of your laboriously stirred porridge slowly warmed over a flame of borrowed alcohol, the crumbs on which their selfishness is to choke. That selfishness does not seem a duty to you but a sin, is something you must conceal from foreign eyes."

"Cease, also, you popular writers, the legging and scolding of enemies that does not emanate from passion but of greedy hankering for the applause of the masses, and which continually persecutes us amid the plety of this hour. Because our statesman failed to discover and foil ahead plans of deception is no reason why we may blot the flag of most pious morality. Not as weak willed blunders have we undertaken the fearful risk of this war. We wanted it, because we had to wish it and could wish it. May the Teuton Devil throttle those whiners whose pleas for excuses make us ludicrous in these hours of lofty experience. We do not stand, and shall not place ourselves before the Court of Europe. Our power shall create new law in Europe. Germany strikes. It conquers new realms for its genius, the priesthood of all the gods will sing songs of praise to the good war."

Why Germany Fights

Germany wages war, he says, because she believes that as a result of her achievements and in proportion to them she is entitled to a wider field for the exercise of her genius. What he means by this is not clear. Before the war began Germans were free to go to any part of the earth and spread their culture. Indeed their achievements have enriched many other countries, but Harden appears to have in mind the acquisition of more territory, though he says that more European territory is not exactly what Germany needs. Belgium is already, or was before the beginning of the war, the most densely populated country in Europe. There was no room there for Germany. "To hoist the storm flag of the Empire on the narrow channel that opens and locks the road into the ocean"—this, says Harden, is why Germany is at war. With the Belgian canal in her possession, and with German mortars pointed at England, the British Empire would have to come to a friendly agreement as a power of equal strength, entitled to equal rights.

Hated of Britain

This is not as clear as one could wish. We are sensible of the deep feeling that animates Harden, but his passion and enthusiasm at times cloud his meaning. To say that Germany went to war in order that she might be received by Britain as an equal is to talk gibberish. It is not German equality that the rest of the world feared but German supremacy—Deutschland über alles. In another passage he admits that every German heart yearns for a victory over England, but says that such victory cannot be quickly won, indeed can never be won without great sacrifice. Probably the idea running through Harden's mind is that the capture of the Belgium coast and the humbling of France ought to be followed by a peace. Then Germany would slowly gather her forces together, increase her great navy, and when the opportunity came hurl herself against Great Britain. However, Germany will not be permitted to do her fighting just when she wishes to. She must fight when the allies force her to.—Mail and Empire.

LEWIS—At Colpoys Dec. 11 th. to Henry Lemoke and wife a son.

An Appalling Moral Condition

Last week a resident of Oliphant came into the office and objected to our coupling the name of Oliphant with the foul crime committed against society and stated that it belonged to the 24th Amal, and there are those on the 24th Amal who will feel just the same. Since that time two reputable citizens were in the office and told us of several other homes where disgrace is committed, and sorrow in the family. This coupled with a recent death would seem as if an epidemic of the foulest and lowest crimes were being committed, and people who want to see the moral life of every community at its best are shocked, and yet they are not making any organized effort to save those who are still pure, and the joy of their homes.

Something will have to be done. The better elements of society will have to mingle more freely with these degenerates, the churches must go down to home missionary work with just as much zeal as the work being done for the Belgians, and some must be punished with such a severity that will make the guilty tremble. The lash would seem to be the one thing now that must be used. Society must be protected at any price, and parents must feel that their sons and daughters can mingle with others with perfect safety. And there is another society, namely that of the Women's Institute, which might well take up this question. They are mothers, and there should not be any hesitancy in discussing the matter at all. It may be that we cannot hope for an ideal state of society, but it is quite easy for us to vastly improve present conditions.

We hope that something will be done to save any community and home from shame, sorrow and disgrace.

GALLOWAY—STROME

A very pretty wedding was solemnized late this afternoon at the home of the bride, when Miss Bertha Strome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Strome, and one of this city's most popular young ladies, was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew S. J. Galloway, manager of the Merchant's Bank, Humboldt, Sask., and formerly of this city. Rev. R. S. Laidlaw performed the ceremony.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, including a Royal Crown Derby cream and sugar set from the bride's fellow teachers of the Park school among whom for the past few years she has been a general favorite, and a cut glass water set from the boys of the Union Bank chambers, where the groom formerly resided.

Mr. and Mrs. Galloway leave on the 6-50 train for Edmonton, Calgary and Banff, and on their return will reside at Humboldt, Sask.—The Brandon Daily Sun, Tuesday Oct. 20.

Mr. Galloway is an old Warthon boy. The Echo extends congratulations.

Presbytery of Owen Sound.

The Presbytery met on the 1st of December. The docket of business was short and the attendance of members below the average. Some important matters were, however, disposed of, among which was the resignation of Rev. Mr. Berendse of Rocklin, which was respectfully accepted. Representatives from his congregations testified to the general appreciation of his services and the regret that is felt at his leaving. Rev. Mr. Parker of Markdale was appointed Moderator during the vacancy, which will be officially intimated on the first Sunday of 1915. The congregations of Max and Adamsville were reported as wishing to call a minister, and leave was granted them to do so. Session records of Allenford and Edinboro were examined and certified as satisfactory. A special committee, with Dr. Thielow Fraser as convener, was appointed to report to the March meeting on the draft of the proposed revision of the Book of Prayer, which has now been in use for nearly eighteen years. Copies of the draft will be sent soon to members of the Presbytery, who are requested to report their views thereon to Dr. Fraser not later than the middle of February next, as the report of his committee will be largely based on the reports received from the members of Presbytery.

It was agreed to defer consideration of remits from Bygon and Assembly till next regular meeting, which will be held in the Board room of Knox church, Owen Sound, on the first Tuesday in March, 1915.

Rev. Mr. Scott of Kitchik, was appointed to conduct the opening devotional services at the March meeting.—J. B. Fraser, presbytery Clerk.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGE

Chester

Last Friday Dr. W. A. Crow received an official notice from the Ontario Gov't. appointing him a magistrate for the County of Bruce. Though Magistrate Montgomery has not been dismissed from office he has not had a single case before him since he was up before Magistrates Miller and Tolton for violation of the Local Option law. Since that trial he has been very much in the background. Magistrates Bell and Crow will now be the dispensers of justice for this town and locality.

Our townsman, F. Fry and E. Dods, worth hands 12 entries at the poultry show in Hanover last week and captured 13 prizes. As that is 100 per cent it can't be beaten. With his light brahma Mr. Fry took 3 firsts, 4 seconds, 1 third, and 2 specials. Mr. Dods-worth with his white leghorns took 2 second, 1 third, and 1 fourth making 13 in all. We congratulate these poultry men on their success. Chester Poultry Show will be held Jan. 12th, 13th and 14th. We can't understand why the local Retail Merchants' Association has not undertaken to stimulate business in town by a Christmas Fair.

The Medical Health Officer says: In order to correct the false impression through the country regarding the outbreak of Diphtheria in the town of Chester, I would like you to publish the following in your paper. Since November 9th when the first case broke out until the present time there have occurred only 14 cases (not 40 as was current throughout the country). I ordered the Public School closed in order to have it thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. It was closed from Nov. 30 to Nov. 30 on which date it was reopened, a school nurse being in attendance to examine the children. All cases will be released from quarantine this week, with one exception. No I may say that the epidemic is practically at an end. These facts I would kindly ask you to print.

Warkenton

The charge against William Forsythe of charging the funds of the local court of the Woodmen of the World was heard by Judge Barrett at the court house on Saturday. Mr. Forsythe pleaded guilty and the judge was very lenient allowing the accused to go on suspended sentence on condition that he repay the amount taken, about $200, to the society in monthly payments.

The charge laid before Magistrate Tolton at Warkenton against Murdoch H. McKenzie, constable of Hepworth, for the collection of certain sums of money from various parties for the Canada Western Insurance Co., and the alleged appropriation of the funds to his own use, has been withdrawn, the accused having since honorably settled same with the above firm. It turned out that the defendant had taken notes for the premiums and that these notes hadn't been paid, but he since advanced the money himself to close the matter up.

The December Session of the County Court, which opened in Warkenton on Tuesday before Judge Barrett, is decorated with the largest docket known in Bruce for a quarter of a century, there being no less than one criminal case and eleven civil actions entered for trial. The criminal case was for the theft of a set of brass which Charles King of Hepworth, stole out of a box car at the C. T. B. station, Hepworth, on July 10th. The prisoner pleaded guilty, but as he had a wife and family to support, and had, it seems, ratu and the baronet, the Judge let him off on suspended sentence. Of the eleven civil actions, three were adjourned to another court, leaving seven jury and one non jury case on the list for argument as we went to press.

Mr. Norman O. McKay, B. S. A., the general manager of the Warkenton branch of the Dept. of Agriculture, was married in Guelph on Wednesday of this week, to Miss Anna Maud O'Donoghue, a popular and young lady of that city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. J. McGillicray, D. D., of Knox Presbyterian church Guelph. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret O'Donoghue of Guelph, while the groom was supported by Mr. S. G. Fraeborn, formerly assistant manager of the Dept. of Agriculture here. The young couple after a wedding tour of Toronto and other cities, will take up their abode in Warkenton in West Ward. The many friends of the groom, who is widely known and generally esteemed throughout this region, will wish Mr. and Mrs. McKay long and happy married life.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

are their oldest achievement in curing Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica by their power of stimulating and strengthening the blood. They enable them to capture the poisons which filter from the blood the urea acid (the product of waste matter) which gets into the joints and muscles and causes these painful diseases. Over half a century of constant use has proved conclusively that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are the only cure for Rheumatism.

10 CENT "CIGARETTES" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Head aches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Tara

Municipal matters are again occupying the attention of the citizens of Tara and Arran Township. In Tara it looks like the calm before the storm, and although no one has announced himself as a candidate for either the Township or the council, there seems to be a strong undercurrent that a change is needed in our municipal management. In the Township, municipal matters are even warmer, and it looks like a three-cornered fight for the Township viz.—Messrs. James Coleman, John Brindley and James Crawford. Messrs. Crawford and Brindley have both stated that they will be in the field and there is a possibility that Mr. Wm. Tipples will also enter the race. There are rumors also that there are several new aspirants for the council.

William Exham, who stole $130 from Mr. Morris Crawford last July and who afterwards owned up to the charge and returned most of the money, came before Judge Klein at Warkenton on Monday and was let go on suspended sentence. Exham has been working for different parties in this district for the past few years and his employers always spoke very highly of him.

John Langton, the man who stole the horses etc. from Mr. Wm. Trillford and who pleaded guilty to the charge and afterwards escaped from the custody of County Constable Mills, is still at large. However the authorities got some trace of him last week near Chatham. He had made at several places between Durham and Chatham and sold a number of cows which was hanging on the fence, where a farmer who was ploughing in the field had left it. Since last Friday nothing has been seen or heard of him and he may yet succeed in making his escape.

The Banquet and Reception given by Arran and Tara to Hon. W. H. Hearst, Premier of Ontario as previously announced will take place on Friday night, Dec. 19th. There will be a procession at about two o'clock in the afternoon from the Hearst residence opposite the foundry to Van Duyn's Hall, headed by the school children and the band. No. 4 C. Band Regt. under Captain Danard, will furnish a suitable bodyguard. An address will be presented to the Premier by the Municipal Councils of Arran and Tara. Mr. Hearst and Hon. I. R. Lucas will address the meeting and other short addresses may be made. The banquet will be held in the evening at the Queen's Hotel, where addresses will be given by the Premier, Hon. Mr. Lucas, Mr. Hugh Clark M. P., W. S. Middlebro, M. P., and a few short speeches from Arran and Tara gentlemen. The public have been invited without respect to party as long as the tickets last, and to correct any misapprehension on the part of any one, we are authorized to state that there have been no special invitations or compliments, any tickets, given by the committee to any one outside the Premier and the accompanying him.

Your Hair Needs Parisian Sage

It Quickly Removes Dandruff

Just because your hair is full of dandruff, it isn't strong. Dandruff will do up to look pretty, but it isn't healthy. It will fall out, thick, fluffy, and it will leave your hair looking only a matter of days.

Parisian Sage frequently applied will work wonders. Just a few applications will rid your hair of dandruff and leave it soft and shining. It goes right to the roots and feeds the hair, making it grow again. The hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life.

Parisian Sage not only saves the hair but it also grows long and heavy. It is a 50-cent bottle for "J. W. Manly" at a store. There is nothing "just as good."

Column From Moscow

After several days of Patient Waiting, the Russian Army has moved into the north of the Dnieper River. The Russian Army has moved into the north of the Dnieper River. The Russian Army has moved into the north of the Dnieper River.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The Daily Telegraph's special correspondent at Petrograd telegraphs:—

It is expected that the Russian success on the front at Prasnay and Gostochwa will soon be reflected in the operations around Lwów. The fact that the Russian cavalry was able to strike a blow at the retreating enemy as far northwest as Zarnow, only five miles from the frontier of East Prussia, shows that the German retreat has been hurried, and need not order. The Russians have taken into their own hands the initiative to the north of the Dnieper River. There are grounds for assuming that the further development of the struggle in the north of the Dnieper River was necessary for them to fall back a little in order to take up a new line. The Russian attacks were rapid, and the attack is quite satisfactory.

The Morning Post's correspondent at Petrograd telegraphs as follows:—

While attributing the failure to the enemy's superior force, the Austrian War Office announces plainly an extended retreat and many losses. "New measures will consequently be taken to repel the enemy," says the Austrian statement. Apparently the Austrian army will assume a defensive line. Against its repulse Austria balances the occupation of Belgrade by the Russian army. An official dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Co. from Nish, however, reports that "the Serbians, after a fierce battle, have re-occupied Belgrade."

MUST FREE EGYPT.

British Must Helve Country of Turkish Influence, Says Cromer.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—An interesting letter on the future of Egypt from Lord Cromer, former British Agent-General in Egypt, appears in the Times. He says:—

If, as appears to be the case, the Khedive has decided to go in with the Germans, his defection will probably be of no great political importance. The personal influence of his highness in Egypt is of present slight. Whatever may be the future political status of that country, Abbas Hilmi can no longer be the ruler. The artificial connections between Turkey and Egypt have long been seriously detrimental to the interests of the latter country. Egypt, as a result of the war, must be wholly and irrevocably relieved of the pernicious morass of Turkish sovereignty.

CASUALTIES HEAVY.

British Officers To Number 3,400

Are Wounded or Killed to Nov. 30.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The official report issued last week and now that Nov. 30 has been made public. It shows that in these seven days the British forces on the continent lost 19 officers and 181 men. The total of 33 was reported missing. This gives a total of 252 for the week.

Added to the previous totals, the last report shows that since the outbreak of hostilities Great Britain has had 945 officers killed and 1,918 wounded, while 562 have been reported missing. The total of casualties of officers up to date is, therefore, 2,464 men.

Belgrade Recaptured?

Reuters' Agent at Nish Sends Unconfirmed Report.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The most striking feature of the day's official news is the candid admission by the Austrian Government of the defeat of their army in Serbia, and apparently of the abandonment of their first attempt at invasion of the territory of the small Slav neighbor.

While attributing the failure to the enemy's superior force, the Austrian War Office announces plainly an extended retreat and many losses. "New measures will consequently be taken to repel the enemy," says the Austrian statement. Apparently the Austrian army will assume a defensive line. Against its repulse Austria balances the occupation of Belgrade by the Russian army. An official dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Co. from Nish, however, reports that "the Serbians, after a fierce battle, have re-occupied Belgrade."

Much Pain From Kidney Disease

Doctored in Vain Until Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Were Used.

Kidney derangements are often associated with disorders of the liver and bowels, and the most common ordinary kidney medicine usually fails to cure it. It is because the liver and bowels are not properly treated. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are generally successful, even in the most complicated cases.

THE DEBENTURE DEBT OF BRUCE COUNTY

THINK is this difference between the present war and the great war of history that preceded it, that whereas the cost of living went up very high, now it is actually lower than before the war began.

THE peace feeling of a few months ago is disappearing, and business as usual is the order of the day. Everything has to go on whether there is a war or not. There will be Christmas shopping just the same as last year.

THE Education Department has sent out a circular instructing H. B. Principals that the causes of the present war and the interests of the British Empire has at stake must form part of the course of study in History.

HURON Township has over 1000 names of municipal voters on its voters list for 1914 and will be entitled to a Deputy Reeve as well as Reeve at Bruce County Council next year. This will increase the membership from 31 to 32.

THE Bruce Herald cannot be accused of lack of nerve when it had the following in its pages last week. "Rev. D. McLennan is on his way to near Tobemorey, to see after neglected children. There is no religion above the Sauble river."

Kincardine has a woollen mill proposition on its hands. A local company is ready to invest $15,000 providing the town will loan another $15,000. A by-law will probably be submitted to the ratepayers. The idea is no doubt to catch part of the war orders.

THERE is very little likelihood of many buyers going to Owen Sound these days no matter how many excursions they put on because the great majority of the people have no more money than they need, and they can buy very reasonably at home. However, these sales and excursions show enterprise upon the part of the Owen Sound merchants, and if they succeed in killing the mail order business they will have served a good turn.

YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleans little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because it is a new bowel all the clogged-up, fasto, your life and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children need it to be cleared to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a "Sweet bottle of California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for its use, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Will Soon Meet

The Ontario Legislature is due to convene in the third week of January. Although no official announcement of the date has been made, there is an understanding among the members throughout the province that their presence will be required about this time. The 1915 session will thus be called three weeks earlier than was usual during the later years of Sir James Whitney's Government. As far as can be ascertained the session will be a brief one. The expression of public opinion at the June election will tend to quiet contentious subjects heretofore causing much prolonged discussion. Moreover, it is publicly recognized that the war season will discourage voluminous party debate.

One of the important matters to be handled will be the amending of measures adopted by cities in view of unemployment and war conditions. The house as a whole is also likely to put on record an expression of their patriotic and imperial attitude towards the empire.

The most difficult part of drinking soup is the refusal.

Let her talk and she knows who does the thinking.

Last season when the big hockey matches were on anyone who wanted to make sure of a seat, had to let at the door about an hour before the game started. Well, a rink is a place to spend an hour, the foot get cold. In order to provide against this the managers have arranged reserved seats in the west and east ends of the rink. On the east side there will be 10 boxes each of which will hold a party of four and a coal oil heater can easily be taken along for solid comfort. On the west side there are 160 reserved seats, so everyone will relieve the pressure. The managers have certainly risen to the occasion.

LAST THREE DAYS THE ONTARIO CLOTHING CO'S BIG SALE

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 17th, 18th and 19th

LET NOTHING KEEP YOU AWAY

From visiting the last three days of the Ontario Clothing Co's Big Sale. We have been selling goods during the past two weeks at unheard of low prices, but this last three days we are going to do more slashing. There will be bargains never before offered in Northern Ontario. We still have some large quantities of goods which we don't want to move away from Warton and we are not going to if we can help it. To save expense of hauling these goods away from here we are going to offer you anything and everything in our Store at prices that will be a miracle in the history of the disposal of merchandise. Goods will be thrown to the four winds, losing sight of profits. Come and let your own eyes witness the greatest puzzle of merchandise ever known to Warton people and vicinity, as seeing is believing. Great were the offerings and big were our sales during the past two weeks, but this last three days we have added more goods to our stock which were delayed in transportation and which we were unable to offer to the buying public during the opening sale. Some are remarkable values for Xmas gifts. We are sure that every man or woman who will attend this last three days sale will share in special bargains which they will remember for many a day, no matter what goods they may choose. Thousands of specials, some of the biggest values are in limited quantities, therefore we have not advertised them at all, but they will be displayed on special tables for quick and easy selection.

Thanking the public for their patronage during the past two weeks, we remain,

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

from typhoid fever and pneumonia last Sunday morning. His remains will be brought here this week for interment. Much sympathy is also extended to the bereaved relatives in hours of sadness and affliction.

Last Friday a gloom was cast over our village when word was received from Toronto that Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wheeler, of Barrow Bay, was dangerously ill in the hospital, later in the evening word came that he died. Mr. Thomas Maund, his brother-in-law, left that night to take the early train Saturday morning for Toronto to bring the remains home, he arrived in Warton on the late train where the friends met him and conveyed it to Barrow Bay to his home. About the middle of October Ross left for Toronto to learn the barbing and intended to finish his course and come home last Saturday night. On Thursday last we understand he did not feel well and on Friday a doctor was called, who ordered his removal to the hospital where he died the same afternoon from Rheumatism which affected the heart. The last few years Ross had some attacks of Rheumatism which weakened him considerably but seemed to rally again. This autumn he was bothered with a sore hand which caused some to believe he died of blood poisoning from the same.

Ross, who was 21 years 8 months and 25 days old, was employed for a number of years with Mr. W. B. Moore, he was always bright and cheerful, full of spirit and took an interest in everything going on. He won many friends and they turned out from far and near in spite of the inclemency of the weather to his funeral which took place from his fathers home to the Methodist church where the service was conducted by Rev. Stapleton in a very nice and sympathetic way at two o'clock and proceeded to Eastnor cemetery where his remains were laid on Monday afternoon. The decorations which adorned his casket were wreaths given by the mistress of the house where he boarded, and his college friends also one from his boy friends at home to show how he was esteemed. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents and family relatives and near friends in this sad hour of bereavement and tribulation.

Big Guns Bury in Alsace.

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—(Via The Hague to London.)—Despatches from the southwestern war zone report that a violent artillery duel was in progress Sunday in upper Alsace, arising apparently from an attempt by the French to advance in the direction of Altkirch. The firing lasted from 11 in the morning until late in the afternoon. The result of the fighting has not been reported.

No Money For Funeral.

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 15.—Because he had no money to pay the funeral expenses of his child, which it is claimed died without receiving needed medical attention at birth, Mark Woodbury, a blacksmith, of Park avenue, threw the body of the infant in a creek in East London.

He was arrested and in the police court yesterday pleaded guilty. He was remanded a week for sentence.

Society Nurses Inefficient.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—As a result of a protest from the National Council of Trained Nurses, that incompetent nurses are serving at the front, and in hospitals, Lord Kitchener, the War Secretary, has called on the council for a detailed report.

The press some time ago directed public attention to the fact that many eager young women, either wealthy or socially prominent, were clamoring for positions as nurses. While the motives of these young women are to be commended, it has been said that meagre training was hardly beneficial to the wounded.

Fire in Winchester Camp.

MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—The news that a fire had broken out in the camp of the Princess Patricia Regiment at Winchester, Eng., which had been responsible for the injury of at least one man, came in a cable from Major Hamilton Gault, notifying Mrs. L. J. Papieneau, that her son, Lieut. Papieneau, would have to undergo treatment in a hospital for a week. The cable added that the Lieutenant had been injured in the course of a fire which broke out last Saturday in the Patricia's camp.

Teaching Mammas Golf.

Former minister returned from his first term at school to find his mother badly off her drive.
"You've absolutely rotted your game, mamma," he declared. "Wood's clubs take a lifetime to learn, you know. You'd much better stick to nature of the tee, considering that you haven't much longer to live!"

Belians For the Panel Gate.

The ordinary panel gate made of 4 by 6 boards with one end swung on a crosspiece between two posts is so heavy that it is a strain on the whole body of a full grown man and a waste of strength, yet such gates will be used on many corn belt farms for years to come. Here is a good way to avoid this strain. Nail a board to each side of the top rail of the stationary end of the gate, extending two and one-half feet, as shown in the illustration, and bolt or nail the ends of these to one end of a 2 by 4 brace, the other end of which rests on a block nailed at the end of the bottom rail. Then hang a weight at the end of your extension which will almost balance the weight of the gate. It is well to fasten strap iron where the gate rests on its pivot board in order to avoid wear. When this arrangement is made the strain of opening the gate is gone, and all you have to do is to guide the end around.

Nightmare.

Nightmare, according to one theory, is due to a suspension of power in the muscles of inspiration. The weight, the want of breathing and the sense of suffocation seem to prove this, and a still greater proof is that after the sufferer can speak only one syllable the paroxysm is at an end. The word cannot be spoken without breath. Breath cannot come out of the lungs until it is brought in or brought in without the action of the muscles of the breast and ribs. Nothing can be more simple than the cause. It is the temporary paralysis of the pectoral muscles, through the medium of the nerves which supply them with feeling.

Napoleon's Bible.

An Italian Journalist has the copy of the Bible which Napoleon used during his compulsory sojourn in the Isle of Elba. It is a copy of a cheap popular edition, illustrated with rough wood-cuts, with the initial "N" and the imperial crown stamped upon its back. A number of texts are underlined, and the inference is that the exiled emperor searched the Scriptures for passages appropriate to his misfortune and his hopes. "I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered," is perhaps the most significant of them. The Bible was discovered in the sanctuary of the Madonna del Monte, in Elba.

Joseph Smith Expressed Wish To Leave World

"Don't Try To Keep Me," He Said To Those At His Bedside.

HEAD OF REORGANIZED CHURCH FOR FIFTY YEARS

His Father, Who Founded Mormonism, Was Shot To Death by Mob When Son Was Only 12.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 11.—Joseph Smith, president of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, who died at his home here yesterday, was 82 years old and had been in ill health for several months. Recently he became blind and was forced to abandon many of his duties as head of the church. He had been blind for some time. Two weeks ago he was stricken with heart disease and he had been in a critical condition since.

Expressed Wish To Die

Three days ago the aged patriarch expressed a wish to die. "Don't try to keep me," he said to those at his bedside. "It is the will of the Lord that I should go, I have no right to attempt to stay."

A stenographer was in constant attendance on the dying man, who gave directions for carrying on the work of the church. His family and the officers of the church also waited his last remarks preserved for posterity.

His six sons were at his bedside all the time until his death, and he gave special instructions to the son who is to succeed him.

His History That of Church.

A history of Joseph Smith, who was a son of Joseph Smith, prophet and founder of Mormonism, is a history of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints. It was he who brought together the little bands of Mormons in Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri, led behind when the main body emigrated to Utah. He became the first president of the reorganized church, and held the office more than half a century, until his death. He was a cousin of Joseph Fielding Smith, the present president of the Latter Day Saints of Utah.

The greater part of President Joseph Smith's life was a struggle, as had been the life of his father, to place Mormonism upon a solid footing. During the last years of his life he was blind.

He was born on November 6, 1832, at Kirkland, O., where his father had done two years earlier with a few followers, from Manchester, N. Y. Soon after the colony moved to Missouri. There at Independence, the prophet, as he was known, established the "New Jerusalem" of the church, obeying, he said a revelation. Enmity of other settlers, however, resulted in the Mormons being driven out. Prophet Joseph Smith was arrested and placed in jail at Liberty, Mo.

In Jail With Father.

In the jail, where the younger Joseph, then five years old, spent the first night with his father, the prophet told the child as he sobbed himself to sleep.

W. J. Manley, Druggist, Warton and to him commended the hopes and aspirations of the church.

"My mother accompanied my father to Liberty," Joseph Smith told in later years, "but during her life, my father induced her to go with members of the church to Illinois."

"Trapped across the almost uninhabited prairies of Missouri to Nauvoo, Ill., where my father, when he was released, joined us. Then, in 1844, when I was 12 years old, one day his dead body was brought to me. He had been shot by a mob in Carthage, Ill."

After the death of the prophet most of the members of the church emigrated to Utah under the leadership of Brigham Young. Joseph Smith, remaining behind, worked as farmer and as a clerk and studied law. This he gave up to perfect the reorganization of the church, which was formally accomplished at Amboy, Ill., in 1860.

Twenty years later headquarters of the church was established in Lamoni, Ia., and in 1906 a removal was made to Independence, Mo., where President Smith made his home and where he resided until his death.

Looked Like a Farmer.

President Smith lived simply, occupying a modest cottage, one room of which constituted his office. He arose early and until his health began to fail a few years ago and blindness overtook him, he devoted his days to editorial work for the "Herald," the official publication of the church, and governmental affairs of the organization. The aged church-head was a familiar figure in Independence. With heavy whitened beard and dressed plainly, he had much the appearance of a well-to-do farmer. He was in close touch with members of his church, and was familiarly addressed by the "Brother Joseph." Much of the active conduct of his office he turned over in 1912 to his son, Frederick M. Smith, who, he declared a revelation had said should succeed him.

President Smith was married three times, losing his first and second wives by death. He denounced polygamous teachings and practice and most emphatically denied that his father was a polygamist or sanctioned polygamy.

8 Boxes Cured Psoriasis.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont., writes: "Three doctors described my trouble as psoriasis, and one said I could never be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was too bad to bear. I tried the lotions of Dr. Chase's Ointment and was entirely cured. Not a sign of it left. I can hardly praise this Ointment enough."

December County Council

The December Session of the County Council was held at Walkerton, opening on Tuesday the last inst. The Warden was in the chair and all members present.

The December Session is the closing session for the year when all business possible is closed, and always means a large number of accounts to be paid and Council reports to be made into and settled, items which take time and care, but little new business brought up.

One of the largest matters to engage the attention of Council as new business was the question of a grant for Patriotic purposes. The whole matter was fully discussed and it was decided to make a grant of $500 to the Canadian Relief Fund and $100 to the Red Cross Society now as they were pressing needs, and leave the question of a grant to the Patriotic Fund to be dealt with at the January session. This Council sending on a recommendation to the January Council that a liberal grant be made then.

The Warden in his report called the attention of Council to the general situation in which the County was being financed, the practice being to raise barely enough for each year. The result was the County had to commence early in the year to borrow money for current expenses and a considerable sum was paid each year for interest, and at times a good deal of difficulty was experienced in obtaining money to meet payment when due. A small part of a mill rate would do this in interest and a great deal of inconvenience and allow payment on accounts and grants when due.

Two pending law suits against the County were reported—one by C. Lloyd of Stratford, for damages to his automobile, said to be caused by a roadway being out of repair; the other by A. G. Liverpool, of Walkerton, to compel the completion of the west end bridge at Walkerton and for damages caused by him through it not being completed before. Both matters were referred to Committee to look into.

Mr. Root of Keston, brought up the question of the proposed electric railway from Warton to Tobemorey, pointing out how badly needed this was on the Peninsula and that it would also be a considerable extent serve the Manitowish Island and north shore. Council passed a resolution asking that the Hydro Commission investigate the proposal.

Board addressed Council pointing out certain badly needed improvements at the Hospital. A Committee was appointed to investigate and they recommended a grant of $300 to assist in improvements which amount was granted.

The question of the liability of the County for the bridge at Carleton was again and occasioned a long discussion. It was finally agreed that the County and the Township of Brant should each pay half of all future maintenance.

A letter was read from the Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, thanking the people of the County for the very generous donations received from the different parts of the County for Patriotic purposes.

The Warden's Committee in their report highly complimented Mr. McWhinney on the able manner in which he had discharged the duties of the office during a strenuous year.

P. A. MALCOLMSON, County Clerk.

Owen Sound

It is stated as good authority that the Dominion Transportation Company will move their boats from Owen Sound to Collingwood in the Spring, and will make Collingwood the headquarters of the fleet, with Owen Sound as a port of call. The company, it is understood, has had this move in view for some time and when Mr. C. E. Alworth, the General Manager of the Company, was in town some days ago, he stated that it was quite likely such a move would be made.

The reason given for the proposed action of the company is that they have not received the support from the shippers of Owen Sound that they have a right to expect. Being the only navigation company making Owen Sound a terminal point, they felt that they had a right to expect better treatment in Owen Sound than they had received at the hands of the local business men.

It is said that the company spent over $1000 in Owen Sound last year fitting out their boats. They have had to contend against keen and sometimes what they consider unfair, competition for the business they did. The company are securing comparative figures regarding freight ship rates in Owen Sound and Collingwood and are considering the matter very seriously. Another thing they are taking into consideration is the shorter distance to Toronto. No definite announcement of course, has been made and may not be made for some time. While Owen Sound would be loath to see the company leave, if they decide to do so, it is hardly likely that anything the town could do would alter their decision.

Mr. T. J. Conley, the local freight and passenger agent of the company, when asked regarding the matter, said he thought it was quite likely that the company would make Collingwood their headquarters next summer. The move, in his opinion, would be a good one from a business standpoint.

—The Ben.

By order of the Crown Attorney for Bruce Dr. Fisher went to Lions Head Saturday and held a post-mortem examination of the body of the late Flora Mitchell, whose body was found about two weeks ago in the Georgian Bay. The post-mortem showed that death was due to drowning, there were no signs of violence, and everything pointed to suicide in a moment of temporary insanity.

The turkey trot this year is to the tune of 10 and 12c per pound, live weight. This is a vast difference from recent years when these birds retailed at 25c, and only the lucky rich could afford to eat them, but this year the case is different, there are hundreds and hundreds of turkeys in the country, and the outside demand is not heavy, so it looks like those at home will be able to have a turkey dinner for Christmas.

Lions Head is in mourning this week because of the death of two young men, natives of that village, who died away from home, and whose bodies were brought their this week for burial. Ross Wheeler one of the young men was learning the barbering business in Toronto. Where he contracted blood poisoning and death soon followed. The other, Jarvis Martindale, who had been in Halesbury for the past few years contracted typhoid fever and pneumonia followed which proved fatal. Both of these young men were about 22 years of age.

Last February when the Warton fans accompanied the hockey team to Orillia, Mr. James Symon, who was one of the party, had the misfortune to get a thumb jammed in the door of the pullman, which caused a fracture. The injury was most painful. He brought a suit against the Grand Trunk Railway on the ground that the excessive speed of the train caused it to sway to such an extent that he was knocked off his balance, and in putting his hand to the door to steady himself the accident happened. The jury brought in a verdict for Mr. Symonds of $84.00.

The storm which struck this district on Monday night was a wild one. The stages on Tuesday night were all late and reported miles of the road bare, while in places the drifts were so high that the horses could not get through. On the rural mail routes the difficulties encountered were even greater.

The Hockey teams were on the ice Tuesday having a work out, and they were not long striking their last years pace. Hockey will start off this year at high water mark and the interest taken in the games will be the greatest in years. In both junior and intermediate teams we expect to make other towns sit up.

Norman Johnston, the crack net guardian of last year's Orillia junior champions, is now living in Warton and will play with the team this winter. E. They should have a strong team.—Toronto Star.

Toronto Telegram.—An order winding up the Owen Sound Lumber Co. was granted at Osgoode Hall by Mr. Justice Kelly. The company was incorporated in 1910 with a nominal capital stock, afterwards increased to $200,000. The order was made on the petition of Johnston, Hunter and Crawford, sawmillers of Warton. Last March a statement of the company's affairs showed that the capital stock had been impaired to the extent of $45,000 and the company was indebted to the extent of $12,000. A statement in October last showed a deficit of about $30,000.

Tara Honors the Premier

The Globe of Saturday had the following account of the banquet given to the Hon. W. H. Hearst, at Tara, Friday evening, and which was attended by several from Warton.

(Tara, Bruce county, to-day honours Ontario's Premier, Hon. W. H. Hearst, one of her foremost sons. It was the welcome of boyhood friends, despite their political leanings, to the leader of Ontario's Government, and not to a politician. However, it was fitting that the Conservative leader should be welcomed in his home Tory township of Arnan, which is a lonesome spot, strange in the Grit county of Bruce as an isolated German cruiser in the North Sea. But the demonstration was not only of Arnan township and Bruce county, but of the northwestern counties of Ontario.

Tribute to Boyhood Friends

It was a tribute to "Willie" Hearst as well as to Hon. W. H. Hearst, Tara, the village wherein the Prime Minister received some of his early education, was in holiday attire, and the farmers for miles around flocked in to the village. That district around Arnan Lake where the Premier was born and brought up was very largely represented, and the Premier was recognized by his old school friends at the first sight. Liberals sought his hand eagerly to pay their tribute to a boyhood friend. A public reception in the afternoon and a banquet at night were features of the welcome.

Good Advice to School Children

Several hundred school children, many of them from the school section where the Premier attended school, marched to the hall in the procession. A guard accompanied the Premier's sleigh, who was cheered en route by hundreds of people. The hall was incapable of accommodating those desiring admittance, and the children were requested to leave after Mr. Hearst had addressed them briefly.

Speaking to the children who forty years after, were attending the school he had previously attended, Mr. Hearst for a moment grew reminiscent of the days when, in bare feet, he had trudged unwillingly the three miles to Arkwright School, as described by Chairman C. E. Stuart. He exhorted the children to exercise their opportunities of the present.

Addresses Congratulatory

The addresses of the day were absolutely non-political and mostly congratulatory to the Prime Minister. An address from the township of Arnan and the village of Tara spoke of the honor he had brought to the county and the district.

Premier Hearst, in reply, expressed his thanks to the grand old county and spoke at some length of his Bruce county connection and that with Grey, where also he lived for some time.

Will Follow Star of Duty.

In the matter of his government Mr. Hearst, after paying a tribute to the late Sir James Whitney, said he would follow the star of duty as he saw it. Mr. Hearst was touched by the welcome home and appreciation of the remembrance of his barefoot days. He adverted at some length to the war, praising the work already accomplished by Bruce county, and appealing for a continuance of patriotic endeavor. Hon. I. H. Lucas spoke, paying a tribute to Mr. Hearst and praising Britain's attitude in the present struggle.

Among those present were: Col. Hugh Clark, M. P., William McDonald, M. P., Dr. Jamieson, M. P., W. S. Chambers, M. P., C. Middlebro, M. P., W. S. Belcher and D. Robertson. Almost every village and town in the county was represented.

Speakers at Banquet

Scores could not secure tickets for the banquet. H. A. Vandusen presided, and the speakers were: Col. Hugh Clark, M. P.; W. S. Middlebro, M. P.; Dr. Jamieson, M. P.; H. T. Potts, Reeve Coleman of

Worst Fire for Years

Last Wednesday afternoon the store and hardware stock of James Flett were completely destroyed by fire, and the loss was easily $10,000. In addition to this the safe in the office was open and all the books and lien notes were destroyed which represented another amount of $9,000, and of this latter amount it is very problematic how much can be called in, certainly some and we hope all. Against this loss was an insurance of $5400 so it will be seen that Mr. Flett has lost heavily. Few men have received more sympathy in a loss and none more deserving. It is the hope of everyone that Mr. Flett will soon be in business again and he is going about bearing his loss in a splendid spirit.

The fire was due to an explosion of gas in a heater in the office—off went the top of the stove and the flames caught the paper on the wall and in a moment it was impossible to get into the office. The firemen were immediately at hand, the water pressure was all that was required, three streams were kept pouring into the fire, and at times it looked like it would be put out, but that was a false hope. There was so much of an inflammable nature in the shop that it was impossible to check it, and the fact that the adjoining buildings were saved was a credit to the brigade. Besides Mr. Flett's store Mr. James Spragg lost all his stock and Mr. Wm. McGarvey, who had a wood working shop in the rear, was also a loser. Mr. F. Watt whose restaurant is in the adjoining building, moved his stock when danger seemed imminent, but fortunately he was able to move it soon back again. As the fire was a big one an immense crowd watched it for hours. The reflection could be seen far out in the country and strangely enough Mr. Flett was in the country that day when it happened.

Warton was again lucky, there was not a breath of wind, and this aided the brigade in keeping the fire from spreading. The brigade certainly did splendid work that day.

Something Doing in Hockey

Mr. Henry Dobell, who was formerly a member of the East Ottawa Hockey team has been engaged as coach for the Warton Hockey Club to instruct the boys in the five points of the game. All last years stars are back on the ice for Warton. Gidner, Ashley brothers, Simmie, Lock, Barrett, Porter and Nimmo, who made themselves famous last season, in addition to Johnston, the goal keeper of the three champions. Orilla Juniors, Miers who previous to last year was Warton's great goal getter and Matheson, who was strong in last years Owen Sound Intermediate team will wear Warton sweaters this season.

Everybody is looking forward to the greatest season in Hockey Warton has yet experienced. There will be a match with Owen Sound in the rink here Christmas night, and there should be a bumper house. This is Warton's year for hockey, get in touch with the game at the beginning.

Mr. Hearst spoke along much the same lines as in the afternoon. He first talked in a reminiscent vein, and later emphasized the necessity of greater agricultural development in this present crisis. While in Tara Mr. Hearst was the guest of his sister, Miss Mary Hearst.

The Old, Sweet Story of the First Christmas

AND there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the sayings which were told them concerning this child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

The annual financial statement and report of the M. O. H. were presented to the Council they being both of the most satisfactory character.

Successful Entertainment

The Sunday School entertainment given by Trinity Church last Thursday evening was most successful, and the contributions to the Belgians was most praiseworthy. Instead of giving presents to the scholars, all contributed to the relief of these suffering heroes, and a most generous contribution of woolen goods was received. The Superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. W. S. Pope, was chairman, and the following program was most efficiently rendered. Particular mention should be made of the doll drill and the pole drill which were well received. The scholars were often heartily encouraged.

PROGRAM

Rule Britannia	by the S. S.
Address	the Rector
Flag drill
Song	Miss C. Miller
Doll drill	Infant class
Song and drill	by the boys
Secretary's report
May pole drill
Recitation and song	by girls
Dialogue: H. Williams, A. Bevil, E. Steacy, Miss Moore, Miss Gregit, entitled Why John didn't get married.

One of the main features of the evening was the song of the ship on its way to the Belgian children containing numerous articles of wearing apparel. Donated by the S. S. children.

A Jew was arrested by H. Ward this week and brought before Police Magistrate Miller for peddling goods without a license. He was fined $25 and costs.

Municipal Matters

As we go to press this week we are not able to give an accurate forecast of the different municipalities in the district but so far as we can learn the situation is as follows:

In Keppel the present council will probably be returned by acclamation. In Anabel there will probably be an election. Reeve Eldridge will drop out of it is said and Councillors Swale and Craig will contest the re-election and there is a possibility of an ex-reeve running.

James Wilson of Claverham will probably be a candidate for the council. In Albion there will be an election, at least all signs point that way. It is understood that Mr. C. E. Wheeler is out for the honor of reeve and his opponent will probably be Reeve Given.

There have been rumors also that John Prinder and Mr. Fred Ball being in the race. Of the present councilors two will stand for re-election and probably four.

In Easton there may be the most unusual sight in that township of an election by acclamation—at least this has been reported to the office.

There have been no word from Lindsay and St. Edmunds, but of the usual custom is followed there will be a contest. In Warton there may be an election—at all events there will be opposition to the present council.

Owing to illness in his family, Mr. A. J. Kyle has decided to sever his connection with the firm of Kyle & Hunter.

The Dissolution of Partnership will take effect January 1st, 1915. To close up the business it will be necessary for all accounts to be settled by cash or note not later than February 1st 1915. Customers will kindly govern themselves accordingly.

In making this announcement the old firm of Kyle & Hunter wish to thank their numerous customers for their patronage in the past and to wish them, one and all, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The business will be conducted in the future practically as heretofore by J. J. Hunter and Staff.

Those having work out for the Patriotic League are requested to send finished work to the Council Chamber, St. Edwards, as parcels are sent to headquarters immediately after last Saturday of each month.

Communication

To the Editor of The Echo

Dear Sir:—

Re your article in last week's paper on "An Appalling Moral Condition" I note with great thankfulness your expressed desire for a better condition of things. I note also your suggestion that the Women's Institute might well take up this question. Let me say that the Women's Institute are doing a great educative work along this very line, and we are earnestly striving to do what we can for the uplift of the standard of the home. Last June at our mid-summer meeting, the speaker sent from the Department of Agriculture, spoke to us on Social Law relating to cases of immorality. I feel that you have given us a great compliment by suggesting that we might succeed where others have failed.

You will well know that educational work, being cumulative, is not of rapid growth, it goes on from year to year, "line upon line, precept upon precept". To be effective, education must begin in the home, in childhood, carried on through youth, and is complete only when the taught in turn becomes the teacher. The Women's Institute is not a young organization, but had I the power and space I could cite you many instances of good work done, and yet after all that has been done by noble women and mothers, what state of things have we? The churches have been preaching against and teaching against vice for ages, but it is still rampant, causing the people who most need the teaching to be reached. Your article in the paper will, I venture to say, reach more of this class, than all the ministers in Warton combined, can reach from the pulpit. These degenerates have to be compelled to learn anything. Do we not have to have compulsory education in our schools, and a truant officer? Yet compelling them to learn, compelling them to obey our laws does not make them clean, only they themselves can do that. God did not cleanse the leper until he did as he was told and went down to the river to wash. Christ did not heal the unclean woman until she came of her own volition and touched the hem of His garment.

Why, Mr. Editor, instead of saying, "There is the Women's Institute. They are mothers" did you not say "there is the Laymen's Missionary Society" or "The Social and Moral Reform Committee. They are fathers". Why not? You may perhaps say to me that in matters of education in the home, the mother must of necessity be the teacher. True, but for that teaching to be of the greatest and highest value she needs the help, the co-operation and the example of the father. In the ideal home he has his share of the responsibility. Why is it left too solely to the mother? Why should the work of cleaning the moral standard of our town the scavenger work be left to the women? Men, who have the ballot, can demand legislation to fit any case of immorality. You can add the lash, if necessary. You can, if you so desire, make law so efficient that the betrayer of innocent childhood cannot get off with a few months in prison, or the man who sends a woman to hide herself and child in the waters of oblivion, shall not walk scot-free.

You say in your article "Society must be protected" it would almost seem that society utterly indifferent. What actually happens where a young girl is betrayed? She seeks to hide her shame some way, she knows she is an outcast and in a moment of agony kills herself but of the man who sends her to find a grave what? He seldom has any moments of agony. Seldom goes insane, for other men will barter with him just as usual, women will touch his hand and sit at table with him, young girls will be in his company and perhaps he may do the same thing again. Society merely shrugs its shoulders and is thankful it is not their fault or their John, quite forgetting that Jane may be the next victim or John the next transgressor. Only when the scorching enters into our lives, as some very honest men do they cry for protection.

Death of Mrs.

Henry Loney

The death occurred at Oxenden Sunday night of Mrs. Henry Loney at the advanced age of 83 years. The deceased who was a native of Devonshire, England, came to Canada about seventy years ago, and became the wife of Henry Loney 63 years ago in Kingston, near which they resided until 40 years ago when they moved to Keppel—where they lived and prospered.

The surviving members of the family are the husband who has reached the advanced age of 82 years while the sons are George, John, Arnold, Hiram, Robert and William, who lives in the west; the daughters are Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Brown, who resides on Amberist Island.

Desperate Convict

at Large

This convict escaped some two months ago, and was last seen in Warton in town hall.

Having released so many he has decided to show himself again on Tuesday Dec. 29 in the town hall at the popular price of 25c. "Think of it", plan of hall and tickets at Sweeney Drug Store.

This is being staged again for the benefit of the Junior Hockey Club. An institution which will make Warton famous this winter. So everyone who reads this notice will be good enough to dig down and get a quarter to help finance this team.

The Town Council

At the meeting of the Town Council Monday night some routine work was put through, and there will be another meeting to wind up the business of the year.

The assessment committee decided to leave Dr. McKean's assessment as it is, and recommended that the assessment of James Hunter be reduced $11.55.

The Transient Traders license was allowed to stand as it is, and the Red Cross Society were given the town hall free for a dance the proceeds of which will go towards their funds. Upon motion of Messrs. Byers and Moore the Clerk will advertise for tenders for Chief of Police, Sanitary Inspector, Clerk, Treasurer, Assessor etc. for 1915, salaries are to be stated and tenders to be in by January 1st, 1915.

It appears that the Medical Health Officer is now in the same class as the Canadian Senator, he has a life appointment, and can only be removed upon good and sufficient reasons, while the Council are asking for applications for all the other officers this is one they cannot touch.

A large number of accounts were passed as follows—campaign. Start the fathers to work, with the ballot behind them, and I will pledge you every woman in our Women's Institute, and in our W. O. C. T. U. When the fathers accept their share of the responsibility the mothers will be right beside them. It is only when the men and women join hands that successful work can be carried on. At the very least scientific truths can be taught, that the morally unfit are physically unfit, and the unfit are left behind, a very good instance of this, at the present time, is the rigid examination of those enlisting for active service. The unfit are rejected. So it is in the battle of life.

Editorial

THE ECHO congratulates the Hayworth Progress upon its Christmas issue. The Progress has always been a well edited paper.

The town council have advertised for a whole set of new officers, applications to be in by January 11th. As last year's council will have to deal with the matter, would it not have been better to have allowed next year's council the right to say whether they wanted new officers or not.

AND so it is another tax and this time it is our assessment to the Workmen's Compensation Act. We are not told that they would like to have it, but the amount is stated and we are requested to pay within 15 days or if we prefer we can remit one-half now, and the balance with interest at 6 per cent. six months later. There does not seem to be any alternative in the matter. Well what end of the business is it to come out of?

AND Friday will be Christmas. The seasons revolve with wonderful rapidity to those advanced in years, but Christmas is very slow in coming to those who believe in the annual visit of Santa Claus. This Christmas is so different from any we have ever known. No cruel war of the magnitude of this ever marked a Christmas joy. Millions of homes are to-day represented in the trenches of Europe and joy there cannot be in these homes. And then thousands have died on the battlefields due to a war brought on for no cause save greed and ambition for power.

With so much suffering in the world, with Great Britain and Canada at war, with the commercial depression in the land, Christmas will not be the joyous occasion of former years, but, however, it will be Christmas and let us make the best of the day.

Skin Trouble on the Scalp

Itch Dried and Cracked and Hair Fall Out—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Itch is annoying and distressing at any time, but doubly so when it gets into the scalp and causes the hair to fall out. Here is a grateful letter from a lady who was cured by using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mrs. Hector Currie, Tobermory, Ont., writes: "I was cured of a disagreeable skin disease of the scalp by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. The trouble started with itching and redness in the scalp, the skin would get dry and crack, and at times would bleed, and the hair would fall out. I tried three doctors without benefit, and suffered for three years. Reading in the Almanac about Dr. Chase's Ointment, I began its use, and am now completely cured. The hair has grown again, and I am as well as I ever was. You are at liberty to use this letter, for I am glad to recommend so excellent a treatment."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has no rival as a cure for itching skin disease.

Christmas

We send you our heartiest wish that every moment may be golden with Christmas cheer and that each remembrance be bright with pleasure to-day and in the years to come.

A Merry, Merry Christmas and many of them to you and yours.

The Town Treasurer's Statement

Since Dec. 15th 1912, we have paid $916.57 for law, of course this does not mean that all the bills were collected during that time, but then on the other hand they may have been a few collected that have not yet been presented. At all events it looks like it takes a good deal of law to keep us straight.

Last year Dec. 15th we had $937.71 in the bank and this year we have only $38.02.

Our streets cost $854.43, considerably more than last year which was only $— but it is not too much to spend on our streets. However, even this amount of an expenditure should indicate that something of a permanent character is being done—gum hauling on sand in the summer and hauling it off in the spring.

The water works last year brought in $4991.20 and it took $3158.63 to run the institution—leaving a balance in favor of the town of $1732.57.

For the first time in history Kemp's Park appears as an asset, and the value placed on it is the modest amount of $500.

For strict economy the Board of Health beats every other institution in the town. It only cost $1.50 to run that institution last year. But then only $48.02 were spent on charity so it looks as if we have not much poor within the corporation.

The Patriotic Fund, which is a new item of expenditure, cost $116.70.

The amount of $15000 was loaned to the Canada Casket Co. This amount was borrowed, and the debentures have not yet been sold.

The amount of $2610 is reported as uncollected taxes, which is exceptionally large. We collected for dog taxes $172.00 and $26 as a poll tax.

With the extra assessment this year of 2 mills—the extra amount of $400 received from the hotels and $300 less paid to the fire brigade, and notwithstanding that more money has been spent on the streets the council of 1914 has had about $1540 more at their disposal than the council of 1913.

Renewed Vigor in Old Age

This Letter Brings a Message of Cheer to the Aged—Results of Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

New, rich blood is what is most needed in the declining years to keep energy and vitality. That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a wonderful help in maintaining good health and prolonging life is attested by the writer of this letter.

Mr. Stephen J. Leard, North Tryon, P.E.I., writes: "At seventy-five years of age my heart gave out and became very irregular and weak in action and would palpitate. My nerves also became weak, and I could do nothing but lie in bed in a languishing condition, losing strength and weight. In that condition I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and am cured. Had I not obtained this treatment I could not be in my bed with the roof over my nose. At eighty-one I have an energy which means joy, and I am writing this letter so that old people like myself may prolong their health and strength by using this great medicine. It is a hot, 8 for 15.00. For sale by all dealers."

TRICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girl Try Hi Hair gets soft, shiny and free from dandruff in 24 hours.

If you care for heavy hair that grows with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is shiny and lustrous, try Dandruff. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have also heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scourge robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness which attacks the scalp; the hair roots become loosened and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knovion's Dandruff from any drug store and just try it.

A number from here took in the Xmas tree at Purple Valley last Thursday evening and report that it was very good.

Eggs to demand the highest market prices must be fertile, uniform and fresh. By keeping the hens and roosters separate, gathering the eggs several times a day, storing them in a cool, dark place and marketing them before they are more than a few days old a commodity can be delivered that will delight the palates of city customers.

In order to make assurance doubly certain, producers of fancy eggs always candle their products before placing them upon the market. Eggs handled in this manner may be placed to cold storage for any reasonable length of time and will come out wholesome and stable without the bad reputation so characteristic of storage eggs—James G. Halpin, Secretary Wisconsin Poultry Association.

Official Record of German Atrocities

SOON after the war began, we heard many stories of the horrible cruelties committed by the German troops in Belgium. Some of these stories have proved to be "taken" and on this account there is a certain disposition in some quarters to suppose that most of the others are unfounded, and that the Germans have been prosecuting the war in a righteous, but in a not altogether uncivilized, way. It is well to know that for one charge of cruelty disproved by the Germans, or admitted to be untrue, a hundred have been definitely proved. Leaving aside particular instances of crimes against women and the murder of children, which have been officially established. It has been absolutely proved that on the 22nd of August the Germans in the Belgian village of Tamines massacred 400 men, standing them up against a wall and firing at them first with rifles, and later on, as this proved too slow, a machine gun, turning a machine gun on them. In the Belgian province of Luxembourg 1,000 men were killed without reason, without excuse.

The Sacks of Tamines

These facts have been made public in a document issued through the Belgian Legation at London from a member of the Commission of Enquiry on the Violation of the Rights of Nations and the Laws and Customs of War. The most terrible of the massacres there recorded the names of the victims being given, and only the evidence of eyewitnesses being submitted, was that of Tamines, a rich and populous village on the Samber between Charleroi and Valenciennes. The village was occupied by the French on August 17, 18 and 19. On the 20th a German patrol appeared, but was routed by the French. Some members of the Civic Guards of Charleroi assisted in the engagement, and the people of the village shouted encouragement to the French and Belgians as they attacked the Germans. On August 21 the Germans entered the village in force, the French soldiers having retired. Then they proceeded to take vengeance upon the citizens who had shown their delight in the defeat of the Germans a day or two previously.

Wholesale Executions

On the evening of the 22nd a group of between 400 and 450 men was collected in front of the church, near the bank of the river. A German detachment opened fire on them, but soon a machine gun was brought into play. Some of them struck staggered to their feet and tried to escape. They were again shot. In some cases they were hanged as they lay on the ground. The evidence of this holocaust was obtained by some of the men who were wounded and feigned death, lying for hours on the ground until the Germans became so drunk by excess that when they awoke they were able to escape. The next day another batch of prisoners was drawn up and ordered to form the victims of the first night's butchery. It is said that at least 250 died after. After this day and night passed the remaining prisoners, their children and wives were driven through the streets, carrying the bodies of the dead in their arms. The women were not taken from the streets until the next day, when they were all packed up in a train and sent to Germany. They were all packed up in a train and sent to Germany. They were all packed up in a train and sent to Germany.

Germans Had no Provocation

Not more than 250 houses were burnt in Tamines after the first day's shooting and there are no killed in the village and its vicinity about 400 people. Every surviving witness declared that none of the village had fired upon the Germans. The house was sacked and destroyed between August 22 and 23. As they marched into the town the soldiers began to fire through the windows of the houses.

The Rexall Store, 200 American College, Long Beach, California.

They entered the village, entered the houses and when partly drunk began shooting the women. The inhabitants remained locked in their houses. The next day being Sunday the soldiers invaded the church, separating the men from the women, and selecting fifty men about them in the street. In the evening having herded together men, women and children in the Parade Square, they separated the men from the women, and in the presence of wives and children, who begged that their fathers and husbands might be spared, they opened fire. Wholesale Slaughter.

How many fell here is not stated, but there were 50 bodies lying in the square next morning. Again, some of the wounded made their escape by feigning death. The next day there was still more butchery. One paralytic was killed in his arm chair. A boy fourteen was shot. An old woman and her children were done to death in a cellar. Several other women were killed, one of them in the street. The town of Dinant contained 1,400 houses. When the Germans left there were 200 standing. Seven hundred of its inhabitants were killed. Others were taken prisoners to Germany. The survivors declare that there was no "salping" of German soldiers. In many cases the Germans did not make any such charge against the villages they destroyed. It is admitted that many of the crimes were committed by drunken soldiers. In other cases it is evident that the savagery of the Germans was due to their rage at the resistance that the Belgian troops had made. Sometimes it appeared as though they were following instructions from headquarters, and that their motive was a determination to strike terror into the hearts of the Belgians, so that they would never again dare to commit a hostile act against any of the German soldiers—Mali and Empire.

The Little Christmas Tree

By Susan Toolidge

The Christmas day was coming. The Christmas eve drew near. The first trees they were talking low and soft. It is what the fir tree said, all in the pale moonlight.

"How much of me shall I have to be to grace the holy night?" The tall trees and the gaudy trees, each a little head in cloud and secret confidence, though they were all so small.

"I am so small, my very small, on me will mark of love." How thick and green my needles are. How low my branches grow. I will be a real Christmas tree—be held, but heart and will are free. And in my heart of hearts I know I am a Christmas tree.

Saints are all powerful, we know, so it befell that day. That as on midnight, to the grave a wooden tree he lay. Our baby girl he had at home, and he went forth to find. A little tree as small as she, just suited to his mind.

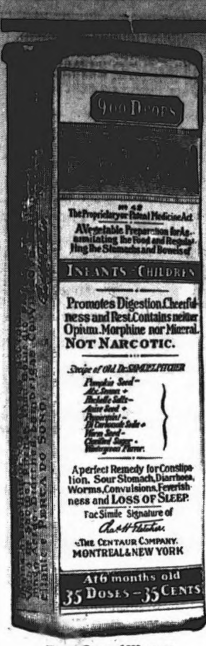

On glad and proud the baby fir, amid its brethren tall. To be thus chosen and singled out, the first among them all. He stretched his fragrant branches; his little heart beat fast. He was a real Christmas tree—he held his wish at last.

One large and shining apple, with cheek of ruddy gold. Six tapers as tiny doll were all that he could hold. The baby laughed, the baby crowed, to see the tapers so bright. The forest baby felt the joy and shared in the delight.

And when at last the tapers died and when the baby slept. The little fir in silent night, a patient vigil kept. Though scorched and brown his needles were, he had no heart to grieve. "I have no 'lived in vain,'" he said. "Thank God for Christmas eve!"

The opening game of hockey Xmas night. Owen Sound vs. Warton

Parties requiring funeral folders will please leave their order personally with The Echo office.

The Ontario Clothing Co. have packed their goods and gone to Lion's Head for a week.

Councillor Hepburn, Hope Bay and James Shindler, Barrow Bay, were visitors to Warton last week.

R. H. White, writing from Rivers, Man., informs The Echo that there will be a great acreage in wheat next year.

A lady in Lions Head wrote to the office ordering The Echo as a Xmas present to her brothers in the West. This makes a splendid gift and others would do well to follow her example.

The best tea in the world comes from the hill-top gardens of Ceylon and India. The best products of these gardens are in turn selected for Salada. It contains no cheapening dust, stems or coarse leaves.

Butter wrappers are now required by law to be printed. The Echo is prepared to do all such printing for the farmers wives of this district. We have done a lot of that kind of work, but can do a great deal more. Prices as low as any. Leave us your order for paper and printing.

It has been snowing practically every day lately and consequently the snow is getting deep. Up the Peninsula, between Lions Head and Thernory it is very deep and travelling is exceedingly difficult. Mr. J. E. Johnston, who was north last week, had a difficult trip.

The Echo would be a splendid Christmas gift to the boy or girl away from home. Once a week as they would read it, they would be reminded of the love that inspired the gift. $1.00 sends it to any address in Canada, and $1.50 to any address in the United States. It is not an expensive gift, but one that will give more pleasure than almost anything else.

St. Paul's Presbyterian church Sunday Dec 27. The minister will preach at both services, Morning Subject "The Name Christian," Evening subject, "The Omnipotence of God" seventh in series on the Prophecy of Amos. Good music. Strangers welcome.

The Girls Club, North Keppel met at the home of Mr. D. Davidson Dec 11th and finished the quilt which they were making and sent it to Miss Notter, Owen Sound to be given where most needed and also forwarded the six shirts they were making for the soldiers. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Lister, Jan 8th 1915 from 2 to 4 p.m.

The death occurred at Laker's Swamp Anabel, Monday of a squaw by the name of Mrs. John Sturgeon, who with her mother and two daughters were living there in a wigwam and making baskets. Death was due to pneumonia. The Board of Health, Anabel, decided to bury her and had taken steps in that direction, when her relatives from the Sauble claimed the body.

Mike Simon, who has conducted a restaurant here for the past year has sold his business to his brother, A. Simon of Owen Sound. Mr. Simon does not intend to continue the business here any longer and is selling everything at cost. This is a good opportunity at the right time to get Christmas confectionery cheap. During his stay here Mike made many friends who regret to see him leaving town.

The Women's Institute throughout North Bruce will hold mid-winter meetings in Warton on January 13 1915. The Department has had to curtail the number of meetings for this year. The Speaker will be Miss S. Campbell, Toronto. Miss Campbell organized the Warton Branch in 1909, since then she has travelled extensively throughout the Province of Ontario and the West, and is one of the prominent women at the Provincial Conventions. Subjects and program which will be specially prepared by the Warton Branch will be published later.

For the absence of correspondence from the Peninsula this week the weather man is solely responsible. On Tuesday the stages on the east and west shore both failed to show up in Town, and no wonder for the roads are more like the last of February than the last of December.

A representative of the Toronto General Trust Company was in town this week seeing after the cement plant. The Company have an offer for the marl beds, which is a great deal less than was paid for them—but they were sold for marl beds and will now be bought for pasture.

The general public will regret to learn that Mr. A. J. Kyle of Kyle & Hunter, has decided to withdraw from the business life of Warton. It may be noted that for four years Mr Kyle has practically lived in Toronto and his presence there has been due to the very serious illness of Mrs. Kyle, whom all remember very kindly. For upwards of 40 years Mr Kyle was engaged in business in this town and his name stood for integrity every time. He served on the Town Council, the Public School Board, and was a public spirited citizen. That he may enjoy the rest of his life freed of all business cares is the wish of his many friends in this town. Mr. D. J. Hunter, who has had the entire management of the firm for many years, has build up an exceedingly good business connection and as he thoroughly understands the business it is safe to say that the best days of the firm are still to come.

Millions For The Ashcroft's

Three million dollars each for John Daniel and William Ashcroft seems a dream, but sometimes dreams come true. A lawyer in New York advises them that $40,000,000 awaits the heirs of their grandfather's brother, who many years ago gave a 99 years lease of 40 acres to the City of New York. It is said that he was an eccentric old gentleman, a bachelor, that he would not sell the land, so he gave a lease for 99 years, which has now expired, and the heirs are now advised that it is worth nearly $1,000,000 per acre. There are a number of heirs, but it will figure out three millions each. Well this is a splendid way to begin the new year, and The Echo fondly hopes it is true.

At Hymen's Altar

RHSBURY—CRAIG.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Currie, George street, was last Wednesday the scene of a pretty wedding, when their second daughter Sadie Maude was united in marriage to Mr. Wesley J. Rhsbury, the Grand Trunk Agent, Owen Sound, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhsbury of Bright. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. J. M. Nicol of Lestown in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.
The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of roses. The wedding march was played by the brides sister Mrs. L. W. Fells, Essex. After the ceremony was performed and refreshments served, Mr. and Mrs. Rhsbury left on the afternoon train for Chicago and other American cities, upon their return will reside in Owen Sound.
The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhsbury, Bright, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Barnes, Sault Ste Marie, The Rev. J. M. Nicol and wife (Lestown), Mrs. R. K. Rhsbury, Medina, Wis., Mrs. M. Riddell, St. Pauls, Ont., Mrs. L. W. Fells, Essex, Mr. Percy Currie, Preston, Mrs. M. Stewart, Toronto.

ROBERTSON—BOSWELL

Under an arch of evergreens, on last Wednesday, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties the marriage took place of Mr. John H. Robertson and Mrs. Boswell, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Bradford. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left on the evening train for Toronto and other points.

Mr. R. Gatis is at home for the holidays.

Municipal Honors Must Go To Winners

The idea that there should be a truce in municipal affairs this year in Ontario because of the war has not been taken very seriously in this end of North Bruce, and those who are to sit at the council board in a number of municipalities must win their right again next Monday. So far as the Town of Wiarton is concerned there will be an election—The Candidates are as follows:

For Mayor—J. J. Tyson and S. J. Cameron
For Reeve—George Steary and G. Kastner
For Councillors—John McVannell, W. S. Pope, A. Hurlbut, R. E. Craze, A. W. Barnes, Edward Reekin, F. W. Plante
For Wiarton Public School Trustees—H. W. Hull, F. Wolmeyer and H. E. McDonald by acclamation.

For Water Commissioner—V. Gilpin by acclamation.
The town meeting Monday night was the most extraordinary for many years. In spite of the fact that there was a council in, and a number of whom wanted to stay in, and that there were a large number who want a change, yet the meeting was worthy to rank among the most harmonious of its kind ever held. Those who spoke discussed municipal issues and personalities were not heard. It would be utterly impossible to give an account of the various speeches, and we do not think that it would serve any useful purpose.

Mayor Tyson, who is again a candidate for the same office, had decided during last week to contest the office of reeve and had spent a few days soliciting votes for that position, but on Monday night he decided to stand his ground, and not show the white feather. This was his logical position from the first and switching about will probably prove unfortunate for him. As one speaker remarked it does not do to swap horses in crossing a stream. The Mayor was quite ready to give a full account of the actions of the council during the past year and he certainly made the best of his position. The Echo would like to believe him that we are $10,000 better off than last year, but if we are, figures cannot be depended upon.

According to the auditors reports the net debenture debt for various years has been as follows:

1904	$151,146
1905	148,782
1906	143,861
1907	136,000
1908	130,426
1909	130,946
1910	148,809

Now these figures scarcely bear out the Mayor's contention—He only got mixed in figures, that is all, for if we were correct the fact should be reflected by fireworks.

Reeve Steary spoke of the County Council the fairness of the members of that body who will do all they can for the northern township, the excellent condition of the House of Refuge, and as it was only his first term he solicited the rates of the electors to be returned.

Councillors Byers, Pickard, Keimpt, McVannell, Moore and Crane spoke giving an account of departments over which they had control and the candidates for official positions for 1915 were heard. It may be said that of the council of 1914 three are dropping out, they are Messrs. Pickard, Moore and Byers and there are remaining namely Messrs. McVannell, and Crane.

Mr. S. J. Cameron, a candidate for the mayoralty also, he had no reports to make or sins to answer for. A few years ago he had been honored with the position as Mayor of Wiarton and circumstances only permitted him to retain the position one year, now he had been asked by representative men in every line in Wiarton to offer again for the position and he had determined to do so. Upon the subject of street improvement he favored something which would be permanent.

G. Kastner, who is a candidate for the reeveship stated that through his efforts to have the assessment of Wiarton and other towns in the county had been reduced, and this had been a saving to this town of many hundred dollars. He appealed to the electors for their support if they thought he should serve him better than Mr. Steary.

Mr. A. W. Barnes maintained that it was a healthy sign to see so many in the field for the various offices, he was a candidate and if elected, would give the best that was in him to the work.

Addresses were also made by C. E. Reekin, E. Hurlbut, W. S. Pope, Thos. Dargavel and H. Gilpin.

Township of Albemarle

There will be a battle royal for the reeveship—Reeve Given, who has held down his job for three years, supplanted by Mr. C. E. Whitcher, for nearly thirty three years, clerk of that municipality, but who retired from that office a few years ago.
For the council there will be a big race and the following are in the field: John Ashcroft, John Lemcke, W. Warr, Dougal Couch, S. Adams, Frank Smith, Charles Craig and B. Schell. Out of the abundance of material Albemarle should get a good council.

Township of Lindsay

The meeting on Monday at McDonalds hall brought out the following ticket:
For Reeve—Phil Forbes and John Rouse
For Councillors—Dan McDonald, Norman McDonald, Hugh McArthur, James Watson, A. J. McDonald and Frank Steip

Township of St Edmunds

It would appear that the meeting on Monday in Tobemory failed to secure an election by acclamation because the ticket is a very large one for a small municipality. According to a special telephone message to The Echo, The line up next Monday will be as follows:
For Reeve—W. W. Ransbury, and Andrew Mann
For Council G. H. Butchart, G. W. Golden, H. F. Murphy, Samuel McCormack, M. Vail, A. H. Watson and J. A. Watson

Township of Eastnor

Reeve Scott was more fortunate than his council, he was elected by acclamation, but the number running for the office of Councillor is unusually large. They are Louis Sutter, James Dodgson, Alex. Hepburn, W. T. Hewton, W. J. Walpole, E. Warder, James Spears, George Eyre, Robert Golden and Nathan London. If the good natured people of Eastnor have to read the Chronicles about all these gentlemen they will wish that they had not put so many in the field.

Your Vote and Influence for

S. J. CAMERON
as Mayor of Wiarton for 1915

Township of Keppel

Village of Hepworth

For council the following are in the field—E. J. Downs, Wm. Drifill, John Koenig, Henry Beabrook and V. S. Campbell.

Indigestion and Headaches

Arising From Constipation, Cured and Regular Habits Established by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

In the western Provinces, where so many thousands live far from doctors and drug stores, very many rely on Dr. Chase's medicine to cure disease and maintain health and vigor.

This letter gives some idea of what perfect control Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills can give over the most common ills of life.

Mrs. E. K. Kewer, farmer's wife, Southport, Alta., writes: "For about ten years I suffered from constipation, indigestion, headache and nervousness. I was unable to sleep or to do any work. I consulted three or four doctors, but received only temporary relief. So I turned to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and with most satisfactory results. Headaches and nervousness are entirely gone, and I am now a healthy, happy woman. I can eat and sleep as well as I ever did. I feel like a new woman. I am now 50 years of age, and I feel like a new woman. I am now 50 years of age, and I feel like a new woman."

COLPOYS BAY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Caudle and children spent Christmas with Mrs. Caudle's parents.
 On Dec. 26th, our esteemed friends Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Brown celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage. Time is dealing kindly with them and their many friends join in wishing them many years of wedded happiness and that they will be spared to celebrate their golden wedding.
 Mrs. H. Petter received a letter from Mrs. Eggleton last week, telling of her safe arrival in England. The voyage took 15 days. Mr. Eggleton had gone to the front the week before she landed, which was a great disappointment.
 Plenty of snow and ice the pitch-holes between here and Warton.
 Mr. H. Talbot of Dorchester Station spent the Christmas holidays the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Brown. Mr. Talbot is attending College in Kingston.
 Miss Anna Brown left Xmas morning for Toronto where she has gone for a month's visit.
 Miss Givens of Mar has been engaged by the School Board as teacher for the year. Her duties begin Jan. 4th, 1915.
 Mr. Leslie Post has gone to Toronto for a while.
 There were a number of family gatherings on Christmas Day. Mayor and Mrs. Tyson and family of Warton, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens and family of Amabel, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Whicker and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Parke and family enjoying a home coming with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whicker and family.
 Mr. and Mrs. Reg Fane and sons ate their Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Wenhew Purple Valley.

At the Nomination Monday in Bell's hall for Aldermans Council for 1915. Mr. Given Mr. Ashcroft and Mr. C. E. Whicker were nominated for Reeve. The Councillors were too numerous to mention. We hope the right men will get the various positions on Monday next.
 The Young Peoples Society to the number of 30 enjoyed a sleigh ride last Monday evening returning to Bell's hall where a tasty lunch was served. Toasts and impromptu speeches were given. Some of the latter almost as inspiring as those given at the Nomination in the afternoon. Messrs J. Bull, Alf Spragge and Bruce Smith kindly furnished the conveyance. A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by singing God save the King. The President presided.
 A large and very appreciative audience filled the Methodist church at the S. S. entertainment given Dec. 22nd. The program was A 1 from beginning to finish. It takes the men folks to do things up properly. Two or three numbers were specially good "The Doll Drill", "The song", "Waiting for Santa Claus" and "The Snow Flakes". Santa Claus made lots of amusement. Rev. W. Matthews presided, as chairman. Proceeds $17.

LIVE STOCK NOTES
NAVEL ILL IN FOALS.
 Preventive Measures the Only Safe Way With This Disease.
 One of the greatest dangers to the young colt is what is known as "navel ill." This is an infectious disease. Navel ill cannot develop unless the specific organism producing it is present. The organism producing navel ill enters the animal's body through the navel. Where mares foal on open pasture the colt is almost never affected with this disease. The germ is not there and without it the disease cannot develop. Germs are apt to be found in barns and stalls where horses and colts have been raised for a good many years.
 A colt which is affected with this disease becomes dull and indifferent to nourishment and soon develops fever. Lameness develops in the limbs and sometimes the owner of the mare assumes that the mare has stepped on the colt. Most frequently the back is affected. The colt usually continues to get weaker and finally dies. There is practically no treatment for the disease that is worth while.
 Practically the only successful treatment is to destroy the germs in the quarters where the colt is to be foaled. The stall should be thoroughly cleaned

There is no good reason why a draft stallion should not work and there are a good many reasons why he should work. Says a Kansas horse raiser:
 "I have the only proof of the strength and staying qualities of a work horse. An animal kept in harness cannot be expected to possess any great amount of strength and endurance and one of the strongest laws of breeding is 'like begets like.' A horse cannot transmit good qualities which he himself does not possess. The stallion pictured is a pure bred Shire."

SUNNER JACKETS.
 Delight Lightweight Affairs to Wear With Washable Gowns.
ATTRACTIVE JACKETS.
 The dainty wash gown shown here is fashioned of cotton crepe in a plain and striped fabric. A stylish effect is achieved by the use of the short fitted jacket. The little jacket with the long shoulder lines is caught together in front with a ribbon bow and buckle. It is short in front and slopes down to a moderate length in the back.
 Coats of the Norfolk type are very popular this season. The fullness of the coat from the yoke to the waist edge is gathered in at the shoulders, is fitted smoothly under the arms and confined at the waist under a fairly broad belt made of the coat material. Large patch pockets are a most necessary detail which should never be omitted. They will hold without undue weighing various little accessories which will be found handy to possess when indulging in cross country walking.

COUNTRY BOYS' CREED.
 In every schoolhouse in Prince Edward county, Va., a placard containing a creed for the American country boy and dedicated to the Boy's Corn Club of Virginia has been posted. It reads:
 "I believe that the country which God made is more beautiful than the city which man made; that life out of doors and in touch with the earth is the natural life of man. I believe that work with nature is more inspiring than work with the most intricate machinery. I believe that the dignity of labor depends not on what you do, but how you do it; that opportunity comes to a boy on the farm as often as to a boy in the city; that life is larger and freer and happier on the farm than in the town; that my success depends not upon my location, but upon myself; that life out of doors and upon what I actually do; not upon luck, but upon pluck. I believe in working when you work and in playing when you play, and in giving and demanding a square deal in every act of life."

SOWING CLOVER SEED.
 In General Too Little Rather Than Too Much Is Put Into the Ground.
 Clover should invariably be sown in the spring and, under normal conditions, comparatively early.
 Broadcasting the seed and following with a harrow has been frequently advised and is successful in Minnesota during wet seasons and on heavy soils, but is often unsatisfactory in dry seasons and on light soils. Clover should not be sown too deeply, and yet it is desirable to sow it sufficiently deep that it will neither blow out nor dry out easily. Under most conditions either using the grass seed attachment to the drill or mixing the seed with the grain is to be recommended. Excellent stands of grass have been obtained by mixing the red clover with the grain and sowing the balance of the grass seed mixture broadcast. If grass seed is mixed with the grain and sown with the drill the seed should not be run more than from one to two inches deep. The amount of seed per acre will vary slightly with the method of sowing and the purity and germinating power of the seed. It is believed that in general too little rather than too much seed is sown. If clover is sown separately it should be at the rate of from eight to ten pounds of red or mammoth, from four to six of alsike and from three to four of white clover.

AFRAID SHE WAS DYING

Suffered Terribly Until She Took "Fruit-a-lives"

ST. JUAN DE MATIA, JAN. 27th, 1914.
"After suffering for a long time with dyspepsia, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-lives'. I suffered so much that I would not dare eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of 'Fruit-a-lives'. I did not wish to try them for I had little confidence in them but, seeing my husband's anxiety, I decided to do so and at once I felt relief. Then I sent for three boxes and I kept improving until I was cured. While sick, I lost several pounds; but after taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I quickly regained what I had lost. I eat, sleep and digest well—in a word, I am completely cured, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives'."

"Don't play tricks on me, Patty, and keep shoving me off so an' girls' wrong reasons," pleaded Cephas. "What's the trouble with me? I know mother's temper's on me, but we never need to go into the main house daytime, and father'd alter stand up ag'in her if she didn't treat you right. I've got a good trade, and father has $1000 of my savings that I can draw out tomorrow if you'll have me."

"I can't, Cephas. Don't move—stay where you are. No, don't come any nearer. I'm not fond of you that way, and, besides—"

Her bluish and her evident embarrassment gave Cephas a new fear. "You ain't promised a'ready, be you?" he asked anxiously. "When there ain't a feller anywheres around that's ever stepped foot over your father's doornail but just me?"

"I haven't promised anything or anybody," Patty answered steadily, gaining her self control by degrees. "But I won't deny that I'm considering—that's true!"

"Considerin' who?" asked Cephas, turning pale.

"Oh—several, if you must know the truth;—and Patty's tone was cruel in its faintness.

"Several?" The word did not sound like ordinary work-a-day Riverboro English to Cephas' ears. He knew that "several" meant more than one, but he was too stunned to define the term properly in its present strange connection.

"Whoever 't' wouldn't do any better by you'n I would. I'd take a lickin' for you any day," Cephas exclaimed abruptly, after a long pause.

"That wouldn't make any difference, Cephas," said Patty firmly, moving toward the front door as if to end the interview. "If I don't love you unlicked I couldn't love you any better licked, now, could I? Goodness gracious, what am I stepping in?" Cephas, quick! Something has been running all over the floor. My feet are sticking to it."

"Good gosh! It's Mr. Morrill's molasses!" cried Cephas, brought to his senses suddenly.

It was too true! The gallon measure, forgotten by Cephas, had been filled to the brim ten minutes before, and ever since the treacherous liquid had been overflowing the top and spreading in a brown flood, unnoticed, over the floor. Patty's feet were glued to it, her but calico skirts lifted high to escape harm.

"I can't move," she cried. "Oh, you stupid, stupid Cephas! How could you leave the molasses spilt turned on? See what you've done! You've wasted quarts and quarts! What will father say and how will he ever clean up such a mess? You never can get the floor to look so that he won't notice it, and he is sure to miss the molasses. You've ruined my shoes, and I simply can't bear the sight of 'em!"

At this Cephas all but blubbered in the agony of his soul. It was bad enough to be told by Patty that she was "considering several," but his first romance had ended in such complete disaster that he was in a vision his life blasted—changed in one brief moment from that of a prosperous young painter to that of a blighted and despondent wanderer, whose week's wages were likely to be expended in molasses to make good the deacon's loss.

"I can't move," she cried.

"Fled those cleaning cloths I left in the back room," ordered Patty, with a flashing eye. "Get some blocks or bits of board or stones for me to walk on so that I can get out of your nasty mess. Fill Bill Morrill's jug, quick, and set it out on the steps for him to pick up. I don't know what you'd do without me to plan for you! Look the front door and hang father's sign that he's up to dinner on the doorknob. Scoop up all the molasses you can reach with one of those new towels on the counter. Scoop and scrape and scoop and scrape; then put a cloth on your oldest broom, pour lots of water on, pull after pat, and sweep. When you've swabbed till it won't do any more good, then scrub. After that I shouldn't wonder if you had to fan the floor with a newspaper or if I'll never get dry before father comes home. I'll sit on the floor barrel a little while and advise, but I can't stay long because I'm going to a picnic. Hurry up and don't look as if you were going to die any minute! It's no use crying over spilt molasses. You don't suppose I'm going to tell any tales after you've made me an offer of marriage, do you? I'm not so mean as all that, though I may have my faults."

It was nearly 2 o'clock before the card announcing Deacon Baxter's absence at dinner was removed from the front doorknob, and when the store was finally reopened for business it was a most dejected clerk who dealt out groceries to the public. The worst feature of the affair was that every one in the two villages suddenly and contemporaneously wasted molasses, so that Cephas spent the afternoon reviewing his misery by continually turning the tap and drawing off the fatal liquid. Then, too, every inquisitive boy in the neighborhood came to the back of the store to view the operation, exclaiming: "What makes the floor so wet? Hain't been spillin' molasses, have yer? Bet yer hain't! Good joke on Old Fozzy!"

CHAPTER VIII.

On Terry Hill.

IT had been a heavenly picnic, the little trio all agreed as to that, and when Ivory saw the Baxter girls coming up the shady path that led along the river from the Indian cellar to the bridge it was a merry group and a transfigured Rodman that caught his eye. The boy, trailing on behind with the baskets and laden with tin dippers and wild flowers, seemed another creature from the big, quiet little lake he saw every day. He had chattered like a magpie, eaten like a bear, torn his jacket getting wild columbines for Patty, been nicely darning by Waitstill and was in a state of hilarity that rendered him quite unreasonable.

"We've had a lovely picnic!" called Patty. "I wish you had been with us!"

"You didn't ask me," smiled Ivory, picking up Waitstill's meandering basket from the nook in the trees where she had hidden it for safe keeping.

"We've played games, Ivory," cried the boy. "Patty made them up herself. First we had the 'Land of the Pilgrims' and Waitstill made believe she was the firebrand of the Mayflower. She stood on a great boulder and sang—"

"The breaking waves dashed high
On a stern and rockbound coast
On, oh, she was splendid! Then Paty was Pocahontas, and I was Capt. John Smith, and look, we are all dressed up for the Indian wedding!"

"I shall have to run into father's store to put myself tidy," Waitstill said. "So goodbye, Rodman, we'll have another picnic some day. Patty, you must do the chores this afternoon, you know, so that I can go to choir rehearsal."

Rodman and Patty started up the hill gaily with their burdens, and Ivory waited by Waitstill's side as she pulled off her black bark crown and twisted her braid around her head with a highest color at being watered.

"I'll say goodbye now, Ivory, but I'll see you at the meeting house," said she as she passed the store. "I'll go in here and brush the pine needles off my hands and rest a little before rehearsal. That's a punning as them we have for tomorrow."

"I have my horse here," Let me drive you up to the church, then, and I can't, Ivory, thank you. Father's orders are against my driving out with any one, you know."

"Very well. The church is close, at any rate. I'll hitch my horse down here in the woods somewhere, and when you start to walk I shall follow and catch up with you. There's just only one way to reach the church from here, and your father can't blame us if we both take it."

And so it fell out that Ivory and Waitstill walked together in the cool of the afternoon by the river, the beat on path on one side and Ivory that on the other, so that the width of the country road, deep in dust, was between them, yet their nearness seemed so tangible a thing that each could feel the heart beating in the other's side.

Their talk was only that of tried friends, a talk interrupted by long, beautiful silences—silences that could only to a man and woman whose understanding of each other is beyond question and answer. Not a sound broke the stillness yet the very air, it seemed to them, was shedding meanings, the flowers were exhaling a love secret with their fragrances, the birds were singing it boldly from the tree-tops, yet no word passed the man's lips or the girl's. Patty would have hung out all sorts of signals and lures to draw the truth from Ivory and break through the walls of his self-control, but Waitstill, never, and Ivory Boynton was made of stuff so strong that he would not speak a syllable of love to a woman unless he could say all. He was only ten and twenty, but he had been reared in a rigorous school and had learned in its poverty, loneliness and anxiety lessons of self denial and self control that bore date fruit now. He knew that Deacon Baxter would never allow any engagement to exist between Waitstill and himself. He also knew that Waitstill would never desert and disobey her father if it meant leaving her younger sister to fight alone a dreary battle for which she was not fitted. If there was little hope on her side there seemed even less on his.

His mother's mental illness made her peculiarly dependent upon him and at the same time held him in such strict bondage that it was almost impossible for him to get on in the world or even to give her the comforts she needed.

In villages like Riverboro in those early days there was no putting away even of men or women so decorated as to be something of a menace to the peace of the household. But Lois Boynton was so gentle, so fragile, so exquisite a spirit, that she seemed in her sad aloofness simply a thing to be sheltered and shielded somehow in her difficult life journey. Ivory often thought how sorely she needed a daughter in her affliction. If the baby sister had only lived the home might have been different; but, alas, there was only a son who was to be tender and sympathetic, but after all was nothing but a big, clumsy, uncomprehending man creature, who ought to be feeling tears, plowing, sowing, reaping or at least studying law, making his own fortune and that of some future wife.

Old Mrs. Mason, a garrulous, good hearted grandmother, was their only near neighbor, and her visits always left his mother worse rather than better. How such a girl as Waitstill would pour comfort and beauty and joy into a lonely house like his if only he were weak enough to call upon her strength and put it to so cruel a test! God help him! He would never do that, especially as he could not earn enough to keep a large family, bound down as he was by inextorable responsibilities.

Waitstill thus far in life had suffered many sorrows and shared few pleasures. Marriage ought to bring her freedom and plenty, not caring and poverty. He stole long looks at the girl across the separating space that was so helpless to separate, seeing his starved heart upon her womanly grace. Her quick, springing step was in harmony with the fire and courage of her mind. There was a fire or two in her face—small wonder. But an "unconquerable soul" alone in her eyes, shone, too, in no uncertain way, but brightly and steadily, expressing an unshaken joy in living. Waitstill spelled, indomitable Waitstill! He could never tell her, alas! But how he gloried in her!

It is needless to say that no woman could be the possessor of such a love as Ivory Boynton's and not know of its existence. Waitstill never heard a breath of it from Ivory's lips; even his eyes were under control and confessed nothing, and his heart never clasped her to show by a telltale touch the truth he dared not utter; nevertheless she felt that she was beloved. She hid the knowledge deep in her heart and covered it softly with a veil, but her own, taking it out in the safe darkness sometimes to wonder: over and adore in secret. Did her love for Ivory rest partly on a sense of vocation, of proper opinion on it, of his vast need of her? He was so strong, yet so weak because of the yoke he bore, so bitterly alone in his desperate struggle with life, that her heart melted like wax whenever she thought of him. When she contemplated the hidden mutiny in her own heart she was a weakling sometimes at the almost divined patience of Ivory's conduct as a son.

"How is your mother this summer, Ivory?" she asked as they sat down on the meeting house steps waiting for Ted Morrill to open the door.

"There is little change in her from year to year, Waitstill—by the way, why don't we get out of this afternoon sun and sit in the old graveyard under the trees. We're early but the sun won't get here for half an hour. Dr. Perry says that he does not understand mother's case in the least and that no one but some great Boston physician and his personal supervision since his infancy, that it is impossible to present."

They sat down on the grass underneath one of the elms, and Waitstill took off her hat and leaned back against the tree trunk.

"Tell me more," she said; "it is so long since we talked together quietly, and we have never really spoken of you."

"Of course," Ivory continued, "the people of the village all think and speak of mother's illness as religious insanity, but to me it seems nothing of the kind. I remember a child when father first fell in with Jacob Cochrane, but I was twelve when father went away from home on his 'mission,' and there was any one suffering from delusion and on my family it was he, not mother. She had altogether given up going to the Cochrane meetings, and I will remember the scene when my father returned about going through the state and into New Hampshire in order to convert others and extend the movement. She had no sympathy with his self imposed mission, you may be sure, though now she goes back in her married life, when she tried hard, poor soul, to read the same path that father was treading, so as to be by his side at every turn of the road."

"I am sure" (here Ivory's tone was somewhat dry and satirical) "that father's road had many turns. Waitstill! He was a schoolmaster in the Saco, you know, when I was born, and he soon turned from teaching to preaching, and here my mother followed with entire sympathy, for she was intensely, devoutly religious. I saw there was little chance in the future, for there is one new symptom. She has ceased to refer to her conversion to Cochraneism as a blessed experience. Her memory of those first days seems to be to her a curse. As to her sister's death and all the circumstances of her bringing Rodman home, her mind is a blank. Her expectation of father's return, on the other hand, is much more intense than ever."

"She must have loved your father dearly, Ivory, and to lose him in this terrible way is much worse than death. Uncle Bart says he had a great gift of language!"

"Yes, and it was that, in my mind, that led him astray. I fear that the spirit of God was never so strong in father as in the desire to influence people by his oratory. That was what drew him to preaching in the first place, and when he found in Jacob Cochrane a man who could move an audience to frenzy, lift them out of the body and do with their spirits as he willed he acknowledged him as master. Whether his gospel was a pure and undefiled religion I doubt, but he certainly was a master of mesmerism control. My mother was beguiled, entranced, even bewitched at first, I doubt not, for she translated all that Cochrane said into her own speech and regarded him as the prophet of a new era. But Cochrane's last 'revelations' differed from the first and were of the earth, earthly. My mother's eyes were so revolted, but she was not strong enough to drag father from his allegiance. Mother was of better family than father, but they were both well educated and had the best schooling to be had in their day. So far as I can judge, mother always had more balance than father and much better judgment—yet look at her she recounted it indignantly, yet never received a word from father with which to refute it. At this time, as nearly as I can judge, she was a recluse and subject to periods of profound melancholy, but nothing worse. Then she took that winter journey to her sister's deathbed, brought home the boy, and, sustained by expense and child and grief, I suppose, her mind gave way—that's all. And Ivory sighed deeply as he stretched out toward the greenward and looked at the snowed New Hampshire hills. "I've meant to write the story of the 'Cochrane craze' some time or such part of it as has to do with my family history, and you shall read it in my life."

How to Carve Turkey

First of all, make the usual witicism about turkeys not being cosmopolitan, and that, therefore, every one can't expect a leg. This will put the company in good humor. Next lightly draw the edge of the carving knife over the palm of your hand. If you draw blood first time, you needn't trouble about the steel. The knife is sharp.

You will find your victim has four ball-and-socket joints. One on each leg and one on each wing. Carve away as much meat as you can from these socket joints. This exposes the ball-and-socket arrangements. That done, take a cycle wrench from your pocket, and with a few rapid twists remove the legs and wings.

When you have separated the bird from its limbs you can begin collecting up the stuff that has been distributed itself over the guests.

With a few well-directed blows from a hammer, smash the breastbone and back of the bird, which by now is beginning to have a carved appearance. Neatly divide the broken body into as many equal portions as there are guests present, and serve. With each portion hand out a leg or a wing as far as they will go round.

You wipe the perspiration off your brow and in the last stage of exhaustion you untie the clothesline from your waist, and the neck of the turkey. The neck is your share of the bird. After the guests have had good night, you can go the pantry and get a piece of bread and cheese to satisfy your hunger. But you have carved the turkey.

War Orders for Listowel

The Banner is pleased to learn that Mr. H. B. Morphy, M. P., as a result of another visit to Ottawa last week, has secured additional war orders for 10,000 Balaclava caps, which will be shared between the Listowel and Bradford factories also an order for 7,000 shell boxes, to hold shell ammunition, which will be shared between Listowel, Stratford and Milverton factories.

This raises the aggregate value of orders secured through Mr. Morphy's aid for factories in North Perth to nearly, if not quite, $100,000.

The various orders include 57,000 pairs of gloves, 29,000 Balaclava caps, 6,000 sweater coats of one quality, 6,000 sweater coats of slightly different, 100,000 mottled caps, 7,000 shell boxes.

Commenting on this, the Stratford Herald says: "Very properly, no question of politics has entered into the matter. Mr. Morphy displaying alacrity to promote home industries irrespective of politics. Indeed, it might be said that, while he is delighted to promote the interests of home manufactures, his chief motive is to help to keep the operatives busy, as important consideration under the conditions brought about by the war."

Purity is the first consideration in the preparation of Salada tea. Only the fragrant buds and most delicate leaves are used. Salada no stems, bark, twigs or dust.

The reason Mr. George Kempf is not running for Councillor this year is because he did not think it necessary for old Councillors to qualify and neglected that duty.

The party that removed the robe from the top cutter on the night of my fire will have one week to return it if not back to my house by that time he can look for trouble.—J. Fleet.

It is the same with a local paper as with any other thing when the price of each is one dollar the man who pays the price wants the best and The Echo modestly claims to be not only the best, but about five times the best.

The holiday season affords an opportunity for a family group photo which if neglected may never come again as the children grow up they soon get scattered. Make an appointment for New Year's Day. Studio open all day. H. E. McDonald, Photographer.

The Echo regrets to learn of the death of Albert L. Graham, only son of Capt and Mrs. Graham of the Manitoulin Island. The deceased was well known in Wiarton as he attended the Public School prior to his removal to the Manitoulin in 1900. The many friends of Capt. and Mrs. Graham will regret to learn of their sad bereavement.

Opening Game Northern League

Juniors Win at Chesley

The juniors accompanied by about thirty fans, went to Chesley Monday and played with the junior team of that town. In three minutes after the game had started they made a score, and at half time the score stood 3 to 0 in their favor, as full time drew in favor of Wiarton.

The Wiarton seven showed up good, in fact there was not a weak spot in the whole team. The first half of the game was superior hockey. Chesley has fast skaters. The Wiarton team received excellent treatment from the Chesley team.

The line up was as follows:

Wiarton	Chesley
Nimmo.....goal.....	Goodwin
Smith.....defence.....	Pine
Steen.....defence.....	Lamont
McDonald.....forward.....	Haiber
Kreuzer.....centre.....	McCahey
Suber.....forward.....	McDonald

Opening Game Of Hockey

It was not the first game of hockey I was ever at, and I hope that it will not be the last, for when I have a quarter, feel kind of blue, want an hour's fun, give me a hockey match every time. I would run away from a Christmas dinner to see a hockey match. Am I foolish—perhaps so—but there are hundreds of others just like me, that is, some consolation anyway.

It is the same old game, the red sweaters, the bell rings and off they go. And the crowd were there Christmas night to see an exhibition game pure and simple. Of course many went to see Wiarton's new combination, to see whether they would stop at Orillia or march this year to Berlin, even before French and Joffe get there, and bring the silverware to the town on Colpoys Bay.

Well, the boys are getting down to a new game under coach Burgoine. To tell the truth I did not like it so well at first. I wanted to see the rush, the dash at the other fellow's stick. Occasionally I saw the former, but only occasionally. It is now steady boys, team work is the thing that counts and as Kitchener gets his men into condition before he sends them to the front, that is just what a coach wants too.

Well everyone wanted to see Johnston at goal. We wanted to know that supposing Von Klack was at the other end with a ball and ten tons of powder behind it if he could make connection with the net. Johnston gives you the opinion that he will guard his net and any time that the puck gets past him can be accounted for by good and sufficient reasons.

The Ashley brothers will star again for they take to hockey just like a duck to water, and off they go with the puck, down the ice, and it takes a zeppelin to catch them. Miers is there on the job, level-headed, with the eye of an eagle, ready to land a goal. Matheson, who is a new man on this ice, is made of the right kind of cloth for hockey, all wool and a yard wide, while Gildner can get from one end of the rink to the other with the puck like a chain of lightning. Both Rock and Tommie Nimmo showed up in excellent form, and everyone was glad to see Rob. Simme again on the ice for when he is there, well there is something doing. Owen Sound has a good team, some of them are good stick handlers, their team work was good, and Racine on goal showed that he was the right man in the right place. Wilson and Struthers are also good players and will be heard from before the season ends.

The game is now divided into three periods of twenty minutes each, which perhaps makes it a faster game and is easier on the players.

The line up was as follows:

Owen Sound	Wiarton
Racine.....goal.....	Johnston
Orford.....R D.....	Gildner
Fletcher.....L D.....	Matheson
McFarrath.....K.....	Rock
Wilson.....C.....	Miers
Struthers.....R W.....	A. Ashley
Brownson.....L W.....	A. Ashley

The game was refereed by Burgoine. The Wiarton team will play an exhibition game in Berlin New Year's night, and the Berlin Braves will return the compliment later. Watch this paper for hockey news.
